THINGS ABOUT TOWN & COUNTY

—Miss Mary Thomas is visiting in Philadelphia.

—The Annie Mitchell comedy company will hold the boards, in the opera house, all of next week.

—Quite a number of Phillipsburgers were in town on Tuesday. All interested in the license court.

—A Half-moon township colored boy was brought to town, on Monday, and jailed for malicious mischief.

—Mrs. George T. Brew is at home, for a short stay, from Soranton, Md., where Mr. Brew is now in business.

—The Misses Smith, of East Bishop street, entertained Miss Wooden, of Tyrone, during the fore part of the week.

—G. W. Rumbarger, ex-Commissioner clerk, has sold his property at Unionville and will move to Phillipsburg, where he is in business.

—Misses McFarlane, and Adaline Roush, of Altoona and Miss Wooden of Tyrone, all visitors in town for a week, returned to their homes on Wednesday evening.

—We are pleased to learn that Isaac A. Harvey, the noted geologist of Beech Creek, has been appointed a member of the American Institute of Mining Engineers.

—Jas. I. Crozier, formerly employed as a driver for the Acme Oil Co., at Lock Haven, has decided to become a resident of this county and will go to farming at Pleasant Gap.

—Frank Decillo's Italian orchestra furnished the music for a little informal dance given by the young men, on Tuesday night, to some of the strangers who are visiting in town.

—The old furniture, which had been removed from the vaults in the Prothonotary's and Commissioners' offices, was auctioned off, on Saturday morning, and brought about twenty dollars.

—Jno. P. Harris, Jr., the third son of cashier John P. Harris, of this place, celebrated his fifth birthday on last Monday. John is just twenty years old having been born on the 29th of February 1872.

—Among the visitors in town in whose honor the dance was given, on Tuesday evening, are Miss McFarlane, of Altoona, with Miss Roebie Garman, and Miss Marie Haas, of Sunbury, with Miss Triple.

—Owing to bad weather and an opera house attraction a satisfactory organization of the singing class was not effected and Prof. Meyer will have another meeting, for the same purpose, next Monday evening.

—If you would laugh 'til your sides ache go and see Mackie, in "Grimes' Cellar door," to-night. It is a clean farce comedy with just enough of a plot to hold one's attention and introducing specialties of a high order.

—The Schofield lecture, at Zion, last Thursday evening, netted the Grange $6.00. Unfortunately Jina reached his climax before he had exhausted his subject, but otherwise his talk is said to have been very entertaining.

—The remains of the late Dr. E. W. Hale are now on the ocean, on their way to burial at Lewistown. Mrs. Hale and Ella sailed from France on Saturday and are expected to land at New York some time to-morrow.

—Monday night's big snow delay ed all trains on Tuesday. Some of them having been five hours late, but Bellefonters didn't realize the loss of time for the town clock conveniently stopped at half past seven in the morning and forgot to start again.

—The prizes offered to the public, school scholars for the best essay on a horse, by the Bristol horse show, were tried for by quite a number of little ones. Daniel Keller secured the $5 gold piece Blanche Underwood the $2.50 coin and Lillie Parsons the two reserved seats for the evening performance.

—To-morrow evening several members of the Bellefonte Temperance club will go down to Howard to organize a society at that place. If they succeed in getting enough charter members to start it and it does as much good as the one has done here, the people of that place will have great cause for rejoicing.

—A shifting engine came very near running into Swigert's drove of Mules, at the High street crossing, on Wednesday afternoon, but the presence of mind of the driver saved them from being run over. He was riding at the head of the drove and was clear on the tracks before he noticed the engine, which was coming down at great speed, and quickly turning to the left he rode rapidly down the track, the mules all following, and thus kept them out of danger until the train could be stopped.

HICK'S FORECAST FOR MARCH.—Rev. Irl R. Hick's makes the following prognostications for March weather:

"Mercury is at the center of its disturbing period on the 2nd. Reactionary storms are also due from that date to the 5th. The moon's first quarter being on the 6th, and the electric tension being greatly increased by our approaching vernal equinox, it will be prudent to anticipate storms and hard trying weather from about the second to the 5th. The period will come in with winds shifting to southerly; rain will appear first, turning to heavy sleet, and finally to snow in Northern Central.

"Don't forget that mercury is our sleet god, that his power begins five before, and reaches five or six days beyond the 2nd, and expect sleet coats of mail to envelop shrubbery, and play diabolical pranks with the wires in many parts of the land. A severe dash of arctic breath will follow. See if the mercury doesn't touch a low point, generally, but especially of course, to the north, between the 3d and 7th.

"About the 11th of March is always a critical time. The vernal equinox is about the crisis of its electrical excitement with in three or four days of that date. A regular storm period is central on the 9th, its day of greatest violence being from that date to the 11th. These facts, added to the full moon on the morning of the 13th, indicate atmospheric and electrical disturbances of marked violence. Storms of general rain and snow will result at the same time, and a cold wave of great intensity will spread eastward and southward from about the 10th to 13th. The 14th and 15th are dates upon and touching which there will be a sudden change to very warm, attended by electrical storms, and followed by change of wind and sharp freezing up, to about the 18th.

"A regular storm period is central on March 20th, being within forty-eight hours of the Sun's central bearing on our equator. The moon is on the equator, also on the 21st. The equinox of Mars, on April 12th, will also bring its full disturbing power into play by this time, so that every warning given for the period 8th to 18th, will apply with added force to the period 19th and 23rd inclusive. Great gales on sea and land must result upon about these dates. They who are looking for an open passage into warmer summer weather, will find their hopes, and perhaps other possessions, blighted by frost between the 23rd and 28th. Plan for the care of your stock and the protection of early vegetation. Another sudden change from cold to very warm will occur 26th to 28th, with rain southward turning to snow in the far west and north. The final dash of cold for the month will follow, up to the 30th. March will go out with rising temperature and the appearance of storms in the West which will run into the opening days of April.

A WONDERFUL CASE.—Several weeks ago the WATCHMAN mentioned the death of Dr. J. H. Pierce, which had just occurred in a Philadelphia hospital whither he had gone for treatment. Few people who knew of the venerable Phillipsburg physician, realized the trying conditions under which he had lived for seven years previous to his death.

From the time he was honorably mustered out of the army, in '65, where for three years he had served as a lieutenant and surgeon, he had suffered, more or less, with a throat affection. Finally it developed into cancer of the larynx and as it became necessary to have an operation performed the doctor entered the dispensary of his brother, the eminent specialist Dr. R. V. Pierce, at Buffalo, N. Y., under whose care he remained until discharged with the cancer removed, but after having undergone one of the most remarkable operations known to the medical fraternity. His whole throat had been cut out and in place of the gullet a little silver tube had been substituted. This tube carried the food over the opening to the wind pipe and on into the stomach and for the past seven years it has done duty of a natural throat for the physician. Of course it necessitated his taking soft foods, at all times, and the operation destroyed the faculty of speech, though he was able to articulate without voice. Persons who attended the Hopkins trial in '90, will remember his testimony as given in a peculiar hissing sound though every word was audible and distinct.

Dr. Pierce was an Englishman by birth. A man of marked ability in his profession and with a constitution which certainly must have been a marvel for endurance and elasticity.

A CONCERT AT ZION.—To-morrow, Saturday, evening, March 5th, there will be a musical concert, in the Evangelical church, at Zion. It will be given for the benefit of the church and when it becomes known that Professors Lowell and Wm. Meyer, Centre county's great musicians, will conduct it there will doubtless be a large crowd in attendance. Only fifteen cents admission will be charged and a crowded house should reward such low prices. Lowell Meyer will sing several catchy solos in his own inimitable way and altogether the concert will be well worth attending.

—A 25 per cent. dividend has been declared in favor of the depositors of the defunct Clearfield National bank.

—The stable on the property of Judge C. A. Mayer, at Lock Haven, was entirely consumed by fire, early last Friday morning.

—On last Thursday afternoon Miss Fannie Copelin was married to Harry Walters, of Altoona, at the home of the bride's parents in Phillipsburg.

—The two paroled boys, from the Huntingdon reformatory, who ran away from the charge of Charles Nau, have been arrested and returned to the institution.

—The wife of John T. Mallon, who resides near Sandy Ridge, this county, recently gave birth to triplets. All of them were girls. One died, but the others are doing well.

—The Children's Aid society, of one of Clearfield's churches, realized $137 from the Hastings lecture. Dan. is making money for them all and himself exceedingly popular.

—The 1st of April will come on Friday this year and many superstitious people will find it hard to move. "A Friday fit, a short sit" is a time worn saying, but it will scare many into believing that they can't move on the 1st.

—A meeting to organize a lodge of the P. O. S. of A., in this place, was held in the Mechanics' Hall, in the McLain block, last night, but as it was too late for our time of going to press we are unable to state whether and organization was effected.

—The telephone girls at Altoona struck for higher wages, on Monday, and from the outlook now it will not be long 'til they strike for new positions. Tuesday morning Miss Margaret Haupt, of our exchange, and a young lady from Tyrone, went up to "hello" to the Altoona people; but they will return to their own positions as soon as the trouble is adjusted.

—Telephone and telegraph wires were down on Tuesday and Wednesday and no communication could be had with the outside world. Trains ran as they pleased and not until yesterday did the linemen get the wires all up and in working order again. The snow was the heaviest that has fallen in this section for a year and it is likely that it will go off with a flood.

—The Young Men's Christian Association will hold a union meeting in the Reform Church next Sunday afternoon, at 4 o'clock. It will be addressed by several of the best speakers of the town. The subject will be "What good can the Young Men's Christian Association do our town." Each speaker will speak from his business standpoint, which will not only be interesting, but instructive as well. The ladies are especially invited to this meeting.

—Mrs. D. P. McKinney, the Howard milliner, is going to make a great advancement in her line of business this summer and when her spring opening takes place the people of that borough and community can look for something fine in the way of millinery. She has secured the services of a tasteful city trimmer and the products of her store will doubtless be as handsome and attractive as those of the more pretentious establishments of larger towns.

—Two weeks ago this paper published a short account of Mary Musser's illness, in which it mentioned that her parents were going to take her, for treatment, to Philadelphia the following Saturday. The journey from Bellefonte to Philadelphia did not seem to tire her nearly so much as did the short drive from the Broad street station to the University Hospital. The doctors pronounced her a very sick child and said there was no hope for her recovery unless her general system could be strengthened. For several days she seemed bright and cheerful, even planning to knit some lace for a little baby that was in the next cot, however, neither medicine nor stimulants had any effect and she continued to grow weaker until Thursday evening, when "God's fingers touched her and she slept." Friday evening she was brought home and was buried, from the Methodist church, Sunday afternoon. A large proportion of the great crowd that attended the funeral services were personally acquainted with the dear little girl, who had been so hopeful and bright the nineteen months of her affliction, for no one who had visited her during that time, or who had heard the story of the sad accident and its result, could be but impressed with her gentle, sweet disposition and her wonderful patience and submission all through her terrible sufferings.

Mary was eleven years old, last November, and in person was a beautiful child, she was the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Musser who have buried three children out of a family of

HE WAS DROWNED.—We clip the following, from Saturday's Phillipsburg Ledger, as to the finding of R. K. Nelson's body. The WATCHMAN gave a full account of his mysterious disappearance, on Christmas eve, of 1891, since which time no clue had been discovered as to his whereabouts until his body was fished out of Moshannon creek, on Wednesday of last week.

"The body of R. K. Nelson, who disappeared on Christmas night, was found, on Wednesday, in the Moshannon creek at a point below town along the Beech Creek railroad. The discovery was made by two miners, John Muller and Wm. Morgan, who were coming home from work about 4 o'clock in the evening. Their attention was attracted to an object protruding from the water, which resembled a man's head, and one of them going closer was horrified to discover that it was a human head. With the assistance of Wm. Johns, another miner, the body was taken from the water and proved to be that of Nelson the missing man. The corpse was much decomposed and was covered with sand and mud. It was taken to Harworth's undertaking rooms and examined, but no marks of foul play were found and there is no doubt, but that the man fell into the water accidentally. He was last seen about 11 o'clock on Christmas night and was deeply intoxicated, a condition common to him when ever he could get liquor. He was a native of Phillipsburg and leaves a wife and large family of adult children. At one time he was in good circumstances, a good citizen and a member of the M. E. church. He was a man of more than ordinary intelligence, well educated and but for his unfortunate habit might have been a useful, honorable member of society, but he contracted a fondness for liquor which ruined him. He left his family and lived by himself in a cabin on the outskirts of the town and made tool handles, which he sold for enough to keep himself in food and liquor. His death is an awful warning to young men who tamper with liquor.

THE EXTENSION EXTENDING.—In an interview, with one of the managers of the Bellefonte Central's extension to State College, yesterday, a WATCHMAN reporter learned that the road will be completed for the rolling stock much sooner than was first expected. So sanguine was he, of the early completion of the work, that he said: "had the weather remained good we would have had the iron nearly all done in two weeks." The big snow of Monday and Tuesday retarded the workmen somewhat, but they have been steadily pushing through it, and the mud, until at this writing the grading of half the distance has been completed ready for the ballast. Though the easiest part of the work has been completed—as there yet remains the hollow just below the college barn, which must be crossed, and the heavy grade at the junction—we fully believe that the people at State College will see a train running into their village by the first week of April.

The iron and ties for the switches and Y, at the junction, are on the ground ready to be laid and when the grading is completed it will be a matter of a very few days until the track is down. Forty men and sixteen carts are now at work and, under the practical direction of the superintendent of the road, are making it go with surprising rapidity.

PLAYING TO CROWDED HOUSES.—The Abrie Mitchell Co., which appears at the opera house next week, is playing this week in Williamsport Pa., to crowded houses. At a recent matinee performance 367 persons witnessed the play. They do not carry a band or other street attraction, but evidently give very fine dramatic performances, The Norristown Daily Herald says:

The seven or eight hundred persons who braved the Arctic weather last night to witness the presentation of the popular comedy: "The Phoenix," by the Annie Mitchell Company, evidently thought themselves amply repaid for their visit, judging from the laughter and applause which greeted the play. The character of Gerald Gray, the impecunious author, with an over fondness for whiskey—but who reforms after the first act—was capably interpreted by Harry Knight, and Blanche, the orange girl who takes more than a sisterly interest in him, was spiritedly portrayed by Miss Mitchell. Frank Burt, a Mike O'Connell and Moses Mosier, furnished plenty of fun. The singing, dancing and other specialties by Mr. Burt, Addie Wade, Annie Mitchell and others, gave additional spice to the performance.

—On Tuesday the up town office of the Bellefonte Fuel and Supply Co., was closed and moved to the new quarters of the firm, in the old Snow Shoe R. R. office, on Race street, formerly occupied by Hoover & Miller. The enterprising young managers of the company now have one of the best equipped coal and supply yards in central Pennsylvania. Farmers will find it easy of access as they will not be required to cross the railroad track as they did when going to the Glass Works yard.

—Watch our sale Register and keep the dates fresh in your mind.

—Robert Bartley, Mr. David Bartley's second son, has typhoid fever.

—Dockstader, the great minstrel, will make Tyrone people laugh next Tuesday night.

—"Grime's Cellar Door" to-night. One of the most laughable farce comedies on the road.

—Charles Granley and family, of Spring Mills, have departed for their new home in Illinois.

—Clinton county has instructed its delegates, to the State Convention, to vote for Cleveland for the presidential nomination.

—Messrs Jim Lane, of Philadelphia, and Elliot, of Camden, were home this week on account of the serious illness of their mother who is somewhat better to-day.

—Margaret Stewart of Snow Shoe, was in town yesterday en route to Wilkes-Barre where her brother Dr. Walter Stewart is a prominent physician.

—Commodore Perry Hassinger, aged 65 years, died in Phillipsburg, on Friday last. At one time he was a resident of this place and leaves a wife and nine children to mourn his death.

—Duncan Clarke's female extravaganzas Co., played to a highly disappointed crowd of Lock Haven bald heads on Tuesday night. Nether limbs were conspicuous by their obscurity.

—Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence L. Brown and daughter have this week been receiving the good wishes and congratulations of their Bellefonte friends, on Mr. Brown's recovery from his recent serious illness.

—Williams' Wall paper store has a new Ad. in this week. Be careful to read it as some excellent bargains for spring work are offered. Williams' is the old reliable place and the best of satisfaction is guaranteed.

—Colonel E. Kremer was married to Ida B. Miller, at the home of the bride's parents, in Milesburg, on Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock. A pleasant company was present to witness the nuptials. The WATCHMAN tenders its best wishes.

—An alarm of fire was sent in from the West ward, on Monday night, but before the department could respond it was found to have been false. An electric light and telephone wire got crossed, the current from the electric light wire ran into the exchange and played havoc with the switch board. Things were badly scorched but the young ladies soon became calmed.

—The WATCHMAN sale bills are beginning to be heard from already. At Charley Lutz's sale, up Buffalo Run, on Tuesday, the most disagreeable day we have had this winter, there was nevertheless a fair crowd of buyers and every article except the horses and a team of mules sold at good prices. The low prices on the horses is ascribed to the general depression in the horse market this spring.

—Mrs. Elizabeth E. Woodcock, of Altoona, widow of the late S. M. Woodcock, died Wednesday morning at Mt. Union, where she had gone to take care of her brother Mr. David Etnier who died of pneumonia last week. Mrs. Woodcock contracted the same disease and from the beginning there was very little hope of her recovery she leaves two children Byron and Gertrude, who is now Mrs. Robert S. Seibert of Pueblo Col. They were both with their mother during her sickness and are well known in Bellefonte where they have visited a number of times.

MRS. LEWIS H. BARNARD'S DEATH.

—The sad intelligence of the death of Mrs. Barnard, wife of L. H. Barnard, professor of Civil Engineering at the Pennsylvania State College, reached us early Monday morning. Her demise, which occurred on Sunday night at 12 o'clock, was the result of a cold contracted while convalescing from a severe attack of the grip. Deceased was a Miss Francis Torrey, daughter of Hiram Torrey, a writer of considerable note, of New York city, and though never enjoying perfect health was a woman of exceptional attainment and rare culture. Her indefatigable labors for the promotion of Art and her sweet and amiable disposition made her beloved by all who knew her and when her summons came 'twas but the transposition of her soul from mortality into immortality. Mrs. Barnard was a member of the Centre county commission for the promotion of Arts and art relics at the World's Fair and for years had been president of the Art Society, at State College. She was a member of St. John's Roman Catholic church, in this place.

Private funeral services were held at her late home on the College Campus, on Wednesday, and interment was made in the Branch cemetery.

THE HORSE SHOW.—Professor Bristol's show of equine wonders which was given in the opera house, on Monday and Tuesday evening, was one of the most satisfactory entertainments that has ever been presented to Bellefonte audiences. Though fifteen inches of snow fell on the days of their performance, and the weather was extremely disagreeable, fair sized houses greeted all three appearances and every one was delighted with the almost human intelligence of the horses and mules. It was certainly the most remarkable school of trained animals that has ever appeared in Bellefonte.

—The Lock Haven Democrat gives encouraging news, as to its able editor's condition, in the following: "Editor Furey, we are glad to say, continues to mend." This will be a relief to his many friends in this section who were much concerned over his precarious condition.
