The New Celery Culture.

The introduction of White Plume cel-Here to the transfer of the tr that comparatively few gardeners have with her red, plump cheeks, bright eyes, undertaken to grow their own home and 150 pounds of good healthy bone, supply, and then only limited to the fall and winter crop. It was thought quite an achievement for the amateur of did so. She advised Mrs. Brown to take to have good celery in October.

The White Plume gives a chance of beginning with the harvesting of good | cine which cures all kinds of delicate celery by the middle of July, and to grow this product with less than half the labor required for the crop only a few years ago, What fine stalks it is possible to grow with ordinary good management may be interred from the picture here presented of one of many plants taken up at the end of August and in September. Its natural size is indicated by the foot rule across the plant. That such celery—almost as white as snow—would be in good demand at any time during that season nobody will dispute.

Anybody can grow such celery, says The American Garden, which sets forth the requirements of the caop as fol-1. Good plants set early in June. 2. Lavishness in the application of good compost. 3. A continuous supply of moisture. The northern grower, if he has a greenhouse or hot-bed available in early February, can raise his own plants. Sow in flats, pick the young plants out in other flats, a few inches apart each way, or set in open ground; keep the plants well watered, not too warm if under glass, and in early June you will have plants worth setting. If you don't want to raise the plants you can buy good ones by June 1 for three or four dollars per thousand. Another way is to buy in April small untransplated seedling plants from a celery plant Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., had a run-grower farther south and set in open ning sore on his leg of eight years' standground in rows a foot or less apart and plants two or three inches apart in the ters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnirows. Nitrate of soda scattered over the beds at the rate of a pound or two to the square rod has in our experience large Fever sores on his leg, doctors said seldom failed to show very marked effects in promoting thrifty growth.

The earlier in June the plants are set out the better, if early celery is wanted. Open a deep furrow and fill it nearly full with old, well rotted compost or barnyard scrapings and the like, then put the soil back, and mix soil and manure well together in any convenient manner. Make the rows directly over the manure filled furrows, setting the plants, six inches apart, clergyman waited patiently and at last along a tightly stretched garden line, or in marks made with a marker. Always press the soil firmly about the of his fishing tackle vanished simul liberally right after setting them, and most a minute, and then, turning to his if possible shade for a few days. Give friend, remarked: same cultivation and general treatment as is required for other garden crops. Early in July the plants should be large enough for handling or firm-

Disastrous Earthquakes on the Pacific Coast

San Francisco, April 20. - The earthquake was felt all over the north-ern part of the State aud was the most severe since the disturbance of 1868. While many person were injured, thus far no deaths have been reported, although there are numerous unverified rumors of loss of life in portions of the State inaccessible by telegraph. In this city but slight damage was done only one building collapsing. The shock was distinctly felt all over the city, however, and hundreds rushed to the street in their night clothing.

At Williams brick walls were cracked and chimneys jarred down. In many houses in Sacramento dished were toppled from the cupboards. There were three heavy shocks at Chico, lasting about two and one-half minutes.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.-There towns where the greatest damage occurdegree of the town of Woodland. The town of Winters was the centre of dis-turbance. It is a town of 1,800 people, its main street being mostly brick buildings. These were all demolished, or so injured as to render them unsafe. At Woodland there are a few walls in the town that will probably have to be taken down and rebuilt. A force of men is at work taking down chimneys that are considered unsafe. Forty four were taken down Thursday afternoon and the work has been going on to-day.

The only building in Woodland approaching a complete wreck is the Capitol hotel. It it now estimated that the total damage at all points will not exceed $100,000. The only fatal casualty is that of a workman named Wick Dary, injured by falling bricks at Winters, who died at the hospital to day.)

Mother and Child are Doing Well.

Mrs. Brown was sick. Her friends said she would never get well. "What's the trouble?" "O, some kind of female weakness. The doctors have given up her case as hopeless. 'She may live for some time,' they say, 'but as for a cure that is quite out of the question.''
"I don't believe it." said a woman,

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Mrs. Brown took the advice, also the medidiseased so common among woman, and get well. That was two years ago.

Last month she presented Mr. Brown with a ten-pound son, and "mother and child are doing well."

DIES. USES THEM 7 MONTHS, AND IS ENTIRELY CURED.

I was in the war during 1863-64, and took a heavy cold at Gettysburg, from which I never fully recovered. In 1875 I broke out in sores all over my chest and shoulder, which seemed impossible to cure. I tried all the famed doctors I could find, and to no avail. I expended some five thousand dollars trying to find a cure, but could not, and finally giving myself up to die, my good wife suggested to me, one day to try the Cuticura Remedies, which were so extensively advertised and used. I followed her suggestion, and am happy to say by diligent application of your Cuticura Remedies for seven months I was entirely cured, after spending five years of time and money without avail, and am a sound and well man to-day. You may refer to me if you wish, as I will tell any one who may call on me my experience.
