Democratic Watchman Bellefonte, Pa., May 20, 1892. Farm Notes

Fertilizers may contain a greater portion of plant food than is equivalent to their cost, and yet the plant food may be in such shape and condition as to be useless to the farmer for immediate effect on his crops. It is true that of solubility, but farmers who procure fertilizers do so with the view of securing available plant food for the crops which are to be grown immediately. It is when the fertilizers contain their nitrogen in the shape of nitrates and sulphates, or their phosphates as acid-ulated bone, that the best results are obtained. Peruvian guano and the several salts of potash are always in arculus form for shart food. Bafus excellent form for plant food. Refuse materials from manufactories, however, en feet in height, the leaves of which though often rich in the required elements, are not always in an available

Soil varies in plant food so greatly that it is not unusual to find two adjoining fields entirely unlike. One field may be light and sandy and the other of a clay texture and heavy. The frequency of the application of manures or fertilizers, their quality and the character of the crops grown on the soil make it almost impossible to deter-mine the relative proportions of plant food contained in any plot by analysis, as an analysis of a selected portion of the soil only gives knowledge of the kind of soil used, that adjoining, per-haps, being entirely different. To add to the difficulty, the plant foods may be in a soluble condition on one plot, while on other plots plant foods may be abundant but not available. It is an imperative necessity, therefore, for the farmer to determine for himself by observation and experiment what his soil requires in the shape of plant food.

At the stations where experiments were made, six pounds of cornmeal and two pounds of bran are considered a standard winter ration for a cow. When gluten meal was substituted for cornmeal the result was increased flow of milk, but less butter. When lin-seed meal was used in place of cornmeal more butter was obtained but less milk. Cottonseed meal equaled linseed meal, but was not so wholesome. Gluten meal made poor butter, linseed meal soft butter, and cornmeal, hard butter. Oats made dry, yellow butter. It has been suggested that an excellent linseed meal, and plenty of clover hay.

There are legions of farmers who do not realize the fact that they use tons of manure which is useless to plants some time, and finally invited the little man to leave the car and settle the mat-ter on the sidewalk. Greatly to his astonishment, the latter accepted. Those who witnessed the contest say that it didn't last long, but that the big fellow had to be carried home in an ambulance, while his diminutive antagonist walked away with a cheerful smile. Some twelve miles north of Tuscarora, N. M., there grows-or at least, recently grew-a tree or shrub about sevwere luminious, in general appearance it resembled the barberry, the leaves favoring somewhat the aromatic bay tree of California. At certain seasons of the year the foliage is so bright that on the darkest night it can be plainly seen at a distance of one mile while the light at the tree is sufficient to admit the reading of the finest print. The luminous substance is a guinmy matter on the outside of the leaves, which im

"She lives to love and loves to live, She loves to live because she lives to love." Many think it is a sin to be sick; being so, one cannot bestow their affections on others as the Creator intended; being so, it certainly is a duty to cure yourself. Most women, these days, need an invig-orating tonic. Worn-out teachers, "shop-girls," dressmakers, milliners, and those subject to tiresome labor, have found a boon in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a soothing and strengthening nervine, inducing refreshing sleep relieves despondency and re-stores to full use all the appetites and affections of one's nature. It is sold, by all druggists, under a guarantee from its makers that it will, in every case, give satisfaction, or price ($1.00) will be promptly refunded.

"The population of the pocrer parts of London is a floating one. From twenty-five to forty per cent. of the inhabitants migrate each year. This makes the mission work perpetual. The East End is divided into districts, with one clergyman at the head of the work. who has his corps of assistants. Each district has either a church or rooms used as a mission station. In some cases these churches are fitted up with gymnattic appliances, lodging apart-ments, kitchen and reading-rooms, be-sides the audience-room. In Spital-fields and White chapel, where the most desperate classes exist, magic lantern entertainments on scriptural subjects illustrating various Bible scenes are given in order to attract the people. Working people's conferences are held regularly in every district, at which subjects are discussed pertaining to the welfare of the masses. On Sunday afternoons lectures are given by able men. Special boys' clubs are formed and much attention given to athletics, as well as instruction in Bible classes. The aim of the whole work is to blend the secular with the religious instruction. Nurses are employed, who pro-vide food for the sick and attend to their wants. The uplifting influence of the personal association with these people is a powerful factor in the amelioration of their wretched condition." -Chicago Herald.

PRING FEVER.

SPRING FEVER. The graudal opening of the budding trees and the shooting upwards of the blades of grass are signs of the advent of spring. The farmer is already at work stimulating the growth of his crop by fertilizers to insure a rich harvest. Nature needs stimulation and why should not man? The system needs building up after the attacks of Grippe and cold, and the only tonic is pure whiskey. Max Klein, of Allegheny, Pa., has the endorse-ment of eminent physicians, certifying to the purity of his famous Silver Age and Du-quesne Rye Whiskies. HARNESS HOUSE.

We extend a most cordial invitation to our patrons and the public, in general, to witness one of the

GRANDEST DISPLAYS OF

Light and Heavy Harness

Light and Heavy Harness ever put on the Bellefonte market, which will be made in the large room, formerly occupied by Harper Bros., on Spring street. It has been added to my factory and will be used exclu-sively for the sale of harness, being the first exclusive salesroom ever used in this town, as heretofore the custom has been to sell goods in the room in which they were made. This elegant room has been refitted and furnished with glass cases in which the harness can be nicely displayed and still kept away from heat and dust, the enemies of long wear in leather. Our factory now occupies a room 16x74 feet and the store 20x60 added makes it the largest establishment of its kind outside of Philadelphia and Pittsburg. of Philadelphia and Pittsburg. We are prepared to offer better bargains in the future than we have done in the past and we want everyone to see our goods and get prices for when you do this, out of self defense you will buy. Our profits are not large, but by selling lots of goods we can afford to live in Bellefonte. We are not indulging in idle philanthropy. It is purely business. We are not making much, but trade is growing and that is what we are intræsted in now. Profits will take care of themselves. When other houses discharged their work-men during the winter they were all put to work in my factory, nevertheless the big (?) houses of this city and county would smile if we compared ourselves to them, but we do not mean to be so odious, except to venture the as-section that none of them can say, as we can say "NO ONE OWES US A CENT THAT WE CAN'T GET." This is the whole story. Say ACO School of the story in the CAN'T GET." This is the whole story.
The following are kept constantly on hand.
50 SETS OF LIGHT HARNESS, prices from $8.00 to $15.00 and upwards, LARGE STOOCK OF HEAVY HARNESS per set$25.00 and upwards, 500 HORSE COLLARS from $1.50 to $5.00 each, over $100.00 worth of HARNESS OILS and AXLE GREASE,
$400 worth of Fly Nets sold cheap $150 worth of whips from 15c to $3.00 each, Horse Brushes, Cury Combs Sponges, Chamois, RI1011NG SADDLES, LADY SIDESADDLES Harness Doap, Knee Dusters, at low prices, Saddlery-hardware always on hand for sale, Harness Leather as low as 25c per pound. We keep everything to be found in a FIRST CLASS HARNESS STORE—no changing, over 20 years in the same room. No two shops in the same town to catch trade-NO SELLING OUT for the want of trade or prices. DIE CURED IN SIX WEEKS BY CUTICURA REMEDIES. I have been afflicted for twenty years with an obstinate skin disease, called by some M. D.s Psoriasis and others Leprosy, commenc-ing on my scalp; and, in spite of all I could do, with the help of the most skilful doctors, it slowly but surely extended, until a year ago this winter it covered my entire person in the form of dry scales. For the last three years I have been unable to do any labor, and suffer-ing intensely all the time. Every morning there could be nearly a dustpanful of scal's taken from the sheet on my bed, some of them half as large as the envelope contain-ing this letter. In the latter part of the winter my skin commenced cracking open. I tried everything, almost, tha could be thought of, without any relief. The 12th of June I started West, in hones I could reach the Hot Springs. I reached Detroit, and was so low I thought I should have to go to the hospital, but finally got as far as Lansinz, (Mich., where I had a sister living. One Dr. — treated me about two weeks, but did me no good. All thought I hed but a short time to live. I earnestly rayed to die. Cracked through the skin all over my back, across my ribs, arms, hands, limb-s; feet badly swolled; toe-nails came off; inger-nails dead, and hard as a bone; hair dead, dry and lifeless as old straw.
