THINGS ABOUT TOWN & COUNTY

—Rebersburg, this county, is getting a two story brick school building.

—Among other Phillipsburg attractions for the 4th there will be a barbecue.

—The Cash Bazar advertisement of this week will interest the fairer sex; look it up.

—June 23rd has been fixed as the date for the Catholic school entertainment in the opera house.

—Mrs. Harvey McClure is dangerously ill at her home on Spring street. She is thought to have Pneumonia.

—All parts of Centre and adjoining counties have had hail storms but Bellefonte. We don't feel slighted however.

—Stopper and Fiske's orchestra will play during the whole of Commencement week at the College. Quite an attraction.

—Preparatory to an extended trip east Miss Kathryn Harris entertained her friends with a delightful dance on Wednesday night.

—The Wylie chapter of the Epworth League will hold a festival in the lecture room of the Methodist church on next Thursday evening.

—Miss Laura Peters, a former employe of this office, will marry Frank Graw, of Selinsgrove, some time during the latter part of this month.

—Another communication went into our scrap basket this morning. It was from Centre Hall, but as no name was signed we could not use it.

—The Bellefonte Temperance club attended the Reformed church, on last Sabbath evening and Rev. Noll rendered a sermon especially for them.

—Sheriff Ishler's children are suffering with measles, an epidemic which is just now troubling many of the younger members of Bellefonte families.

—A sneak thief took $25.00 in cash and a diamond ring from a bureau drawer in Prop. Emanuel Brown's room of the Fountain house, on Monday afternoon.

—In appreciation of the valuable services rendered by our fire men, at their recent conflagration, the good people of Milesburg have tendered them checks.

—A new iron railroad bridge has been built over the Buffalo Run creek, at the round house, and another is being made ready to span the Bald Eagle at Milesburg.

—On next Wednesday Miss Margaret Sechler, the eldest daughter of Hammon Sechler, of East Linn street, will graduate from Wilson College, at Chambersburg.

—Two charming young ladies who are guests of Mrs. Will Conley, at her Logan street home, are Miss Cora Powell, of Chicago, and Miss Sara Lucas, of Howard.

—Mr. Earnest Kitson, Supt. of the Edison Electric Illuminating company's plant at this place, left for New York, on Saturday morning, whence he sailed for Europe to visit his parents.

—On last Thursday evening Samuel C. Brooks, of Pleasant Gap, was married to Miss Annie Bell, of State College. The ceremony was performed at Rev. Nesbitt's home in Lock Haven.

—After the home boys had won the ball game between the Academy and the College Preps, on Saturday afternoon, they played so loosely that the visitors defeated them 10 to 9. At one time they had the Preps 8 to 0.

—Old Jacob Halderman, who formerly lived up along Buffalo Run, was struck by a freight train while walking on the track, near Spruce Creek. Four ribs being broken, he was taken to the Altoona hospital for repairs.

—Clarence Osmer, a little boy who was fishing at the breast of the mill dam of Geo. W. Jackson & Co. on Saturday, fell into the water and was carried over the falls. He rode the current bravely, but emerged from the foam below with the starch all taken out of him.

—About two o'clock yesterday afternoon a thunder storm passed over this section and the electrical accompaniment was very startling. The Bush House was struck and every heart in this office stopped beating for an instant. No more damage than a shattered chimney was done.

—Last evening Miss Annie Wright of Milesburg, a daughter of Rev. W. O. Wright, was married, in the Presbyterian church of that place, to Dr. C. B. Church. The bride is an accomplished and prepossessing young woman. The lateness of the ceremony prevents our publishing a full account of the brilliant event.

COUNCILMANIC TROUBLES.—Council met as usual, on Monday evening, and each member, as he entered the chamber, was surprised to see the other one there. It was the best attended session which has convened for some time and the way the business was hustled through surprised every one.

The first business which occupied the attention of the council was a request from Jas. McCulley that he be exonerated from $14.00 real estate tax. Council decided that it had no jurisdiction in the premises. The street committee then reported the fixing of the Lamb street bridge, as well as another smaller one, that was destroyed at the recent fire.

Several residents of South Allegheny street, better known as reservoir hill, here asked council to fix up the street up there and put more lights for their convenience. The request was referred to the street committee and the petitioners went away imagining that their complaints are to be immediately attended to. The Water committee rendered a report about the waste of water also a repair to one of the boilers at the pumping house, which cost $60.00.

The Fire and Police committee was instructed to advertise for bids for furnishing the Logan Steamer Co. with 500 feet of new hose and two nozzles for the Undines. This committee found lots to do within the last month as the fire here and at Milesburg tried all of the apparatus thoroughly.

Councilmen Crissman, of the West ward and Longacre, of the North ward, were at this juncture threatened with impeachment for neglect of official duties and if they do not attend meeting more regularly their resignations are to be asked for.

The Finance committee reported the debt keeping well, and the Nuisance contingent brought in a bad report about Sheriff Ishler's and Abo Jackson's pig sties. If the latter committee could only include that $144,000 indebtedness on its list of nuisances and abate it by burning those bonds how happy we all would be. The borough solicitor, Mr. Dale, has instituted proceedings against Samuel Deihl and William Steele for trespassing on borough property.

Both cases arising from the location of line fences and after the usual talk on such matters the bills were taken up for payment. All went well until a bill of $8 presented by Wm. T. Hillibish & Co. was reached. Dr. Dart objected to its payment on the ground that a councilman was not allowed to furnish work for the Borough, during his incumbency.

The bill was paid, however, and the member from the North ward made a note of the fact. What he proposes doing is rather hard to tell, but we suppose he'll appear with something of interest at the next meeting.

FIFTY YEARS AGO.—The WATCHMAN takes special pleasure in publishing the following from the Lock Haven Democrat, of Wednesday, and with our esteemed contemporary extend the hand of good fellowship to these most excellent people who have passed the half century mark of conjugal bliss. Long and happy may be the path of thy and theirs.

"A half of a century is a long time when charged up to the life score. The person who passes the fiftieth mile-post is usually fortunate, and when that person can say he has dwelt in the bans of matrimony for five times ten years and maintained the high esteem of his neighbors he is indeed a man of rare merit. No less is his good wife a sharer of the glory. These remarks were suggested by the golden wedding of our good friend Perry McDowell and wife, of Nittany Valley, which event was celebrated yesterday. Who does not know Perry McDowell and his estimable life partner? Reared among the beauties bestowed upon this section by Nature, Mr. and Mrs. McDowell are fully appreciative of the grand gifts of the Creator. That they have utilized those gifts to the best of their knowledge and ability needs but a glance at their home and its surroundings, in the Valley.

To return to the subject. Mr. and Mrs. McDowell's golden wedding was one of the most enjoyable affairs that it has been our privilege to record in many years. The couple who half a century ago promised the parson to remain true to each other and kept the promise, were surrounded by friends and their offspring, some of who came from the far west to "honor thy father and mother." It was truly a delightful affair, although the silver threads were visible. Mr. and Mrs. McDowell have the best wishes of many friends, including the Democrat, who hope they may be so smiled upon that the diamond wedding anniversary will find them as young as ever. They are good people, and we wish them the full measure of good fortune."

—On last Tuesday evening Walter Lembkay, well known as a boy in this place, was graduated from the Columbia law school in Washington D. C. Walter's many friends here will be delighted to learn that he has successfully passed the school life requisite to becoming an attorney at law. He is a member of the class of '89 of the Bellefonte High school.

—Pi chapter, of the Theta Nu Epsilon fraternity, of State College, banqueted at the Fallon House, in Lock Haven, on last Friday night.

—Henry Schrock, formerly of this place, had a thumb cut off while working in Hipple's planing mill, at Lock Haven on last Thursday afternoon. A buzz saw did the work.

—A Hungarian woman, who keeps a boarding house in Phillipsburg, was arrested the other day for stealing $97. She confessed, but friends secured her release by paying the money back.

—Twenty empty coal cars piled on top of each other at Bald Eagle station, on Saturday evening, delaying the Lock Haven express so long that it did not arrive here until Sunday morning. A cow wrecked the train and there was no one hurt, but a tramp who was stealing a ride.

—The death of Miss Isabella Jameson, at her home at Snow Shoe Intersection, on Sunday afternoon, removed from that community one of its most loved and honored women. She was a sister of Mrs. M. E. Hoover, of North Spring street, and was a devout member of the United Brethren church. Internment was made in this place on Wednesday afternoon.

—Mr. Reuben Pletcher, of Howard, broke his left leg just above the ankle on last Saturday. The accident occurred at Mt. Eagle while he was descending a ladder. One of the rungs breaking, he was precipitated to the ground. Yesterday morning he died at his home in Howard from apparently unknown causes. A widow with two sons and two daughters mourn his sudden death. He was sixty years of age. Internment will be made this afternoon.

—Phillipsburg is beginning to realize that there is not so much fun in having a hospital after all. It seems inconsistent that the little town among the mountains should always include the Cottage hospital when blowing of her attractions, but when a helpless sick man chances to be thrust upon her she gladly concedes the infirmary to Rush township and tries to saddle the expense of keeping him onto the township.

CELEBRATE THE 4TH AT HOME.—As many of our sister towns are going to have a big 4th of July demonstration we deem it proper to inform our readers what they may expect to see by staying at home on Independence day. We would not advise such a course if a start to celebrate here had not been made long before any of our neighbors had thought of such a thing. Early last fall the two camps of P. O. S. of A. located here began preparations for an elaborate reunion and on this account we advise our readers to spend the 4th at home. Otherwise we would freely say go and help those who have always lent so much to the success of our former demonstrations.

Last year we proved conclusively that Bellefonte can have a gala time when she wants to and this year you eyes will be opened still wider than they were then. Everything indicates a glorious celebration and camps from Clinton, Blair, Clearfield, Huntingdon and the grand city will make one of the grandest parades the town has ever seen. Athletic sports, pyrotechnics, dancing, base ball, bicycle races, etc. will add to the splendor of the occasion.

Stay at home or you will miss something.

ONE OF BELLEFONTE'S SONS.—From the Trenton, N. J. Town Talk, an illustrated weekly publication, we clip the following complimentary notice of a boy, who is well known in Bellefonte. Accompanying the brief sketch, which we append is a full, cabinet half tone cut of the original in which the resemblance to our former Joe is so striking that no one could fail to recognize it. Since leaving Bellefonte he has made quite a success in the line of typography and we are certainly gratified to hear of the honor which his union has bestowed upon him and which we have no doubt he will represent with becoming dignity.

—Joseph D. Powers resides at No. 210 North Montgomery street. He was born in Bellefonte, Pa., and came to Trenton in 1884. He learned his trade at his place of nativity and worked on both the Democrat Watchman and the Republican. Before coming to Trenton he was engaged upon both the Times and Review, published in Curwensville, Clearfield county, Pa. He has, since he came to Trenton, worked on nearly every newspaper in the city and now holds cases that he has had for three years upon the State Gazette, now the foremost daily paper in the city. He goes as the representative of the Union in general and the newspaper compositors in particular, and will be found keeping up his end of the log whether in the sessions of the International Union, or at the good times the delegates usually have between those times of business."

—Little Frank Biehl, a two year old Tyrone child, fell into the Juniata river, on Sunday night, and was drowned.

The Tail of a Day.
And Nature with all her lavish graces on train
Made her master work in La Belle Fontaine
—Bill Shope.

The sun had just shot his last fleeting ray o'er the tips of yon tall pines, which keep sentinel watch on the crest of the Muncy, and twilight settled o'er our town when, in quest of diversion, we shook the lethargy from our bones and sallied out into the cool evening. All day the mercury had been playing "hide and seek" with the top of the thermometer and the gentle evening zephyrs were as balm to our Spring fevered being. The streets of the town looked strangely quiet. No rattle of dray, no scurrying of feet hastening to complete some pending business coup d'etat. No gabble of school children to disturb the serenity of our thoughts, we wandered, through the well known thoroughfares, in quest of some one, something that would lend variance to the humdrum routine in which we have been living for the past half of a century.

Spring creek was lined with sportsmen and as its waters danced and rippled, on their way to the Susquehanna, tails were being conceived which would put to shame the war stories of our well known Wm. Muckelhatton-Tails which coming generations will recount, and over which many youngsters will fight purely for the love of their ancestral veracity. We watched the anglers for a time and the closer the observations the more keenly did we realize what a vain cause some of those dear youths will struggle to uphold. It grew dusk. The more exciting scenes to be witnessed on Allegheny street claimed our attention and we strolled thither. Maids in the first pink of full summer lawn and youths with natty clothes and linen were flitting about with an airy flippancy that made our thoughts fly back to a time when "done up in our Sunday-go-to-meetin' best" we trotted miles over the dusty country roads to see that rustic swain, who afterwards married the store keeper at the cross roads because "he didn't wear homespuns and a tickin' shirt." We forgave the nocturnal vigils we had kept with her and fell in with the gaiety of the throng that was passing. The crowd led, hither and thither, up one street and down another. At this time the girls were in excess, but presently the lights in the store windows began to flicker and die and then those young fellows, who had spent the day "thumping" calicoes and wetting sugar, burst forth upon the street in mad quest of game. They got it, and we rubbed our sides as we saw the parade head for the soda fountains and cream saloons. The day's fancies were soon spent and the mooning and spooning soon over. Homeward the belated beau wended his weary way, while the object of his squandered wealth laughed at his bungling gallantries.

Here and there on a store box some local politician was to be seen haranguing his little contingent of sympathizers, and an occasional strain of a waltz was heard as we passed several houses. This, with the flood of light which streamed from the sides of a drawn blind, told of the inmates occupation. Leander Green had not deserted the high and mighty post to which his fellow citizens had called him, for away down Lamb street we heard his sonorous bass rumbling out "g'long they 'they" and other epithets of encouragement to a belated bovine beauty which he evidently had in charge.

Shutters began to slam, locks to creak and lights to go out. Then we thought of our own rest and started homeward. On the way. Oh! such weary pedestrians as we did meet. Men actually so hard worked, with the cares of business turmoil that they could scarcely bear up under their load of trouble. Others zig-zagging from curb to fence as though they were trying to find the longest way home to a broom stick reception and still others jubilant, over success at something, whose merriment would ever and anon burst forth in snatches of "Comrades." These men so engrossed in the weal of the community and of themselves we knew to be the builders (?) of the nation.

We are home and this has been written. From its erratic nature you will perhaps think us to have been one of the public benefactors we have just written about, but we are not. Simply drunk with the desire to see something that is actually our own before the public we have indited this. Surely you will not cry, "plagiarist" over the effort.

—P. B. Crider and Son have done the handsome thing in substantially recognizing the different volunteer fire companies of the town for their services during the recent fire. A check for $20.00 has been drawn and presented to the treasurer of each company, with the expressed gratitude of the firm which shows that the usually thankless work of the volunteer has received consideration at the hands of some people at least. One of the companies was especially in need of help and the Crider check proved a veritable wind fall.

TYRONE VS BELLEFONTE.—The Championship season of the Mountain League was opened here, on Wednesday, by the game between Tyrone and Bellefonte, owing to the unfinished condition of the new Park grounds the game was played on the old field at the Glass Works and fully five hundred people were there to witness it.

Much interest was taken in this first game as it was expected to give a fair idea as to the strength of the respective teams. Bellefonte played much the prettier game in the field and would have won despite its poor batting had the ball not have been lost at a most critical moment in the 9th inning, when two men were out and the "chances to 'kill' the third most excellent.

Tyrone put up a much better game than was expected of her, but 'twas entirely through the battery that she won at all. The home team showed the result of not having had a single practice since the Phillipsburg game, by stupid base running and lack of team work, but all will be fixed when we go on the trip next week and it is safe to say we will win all four games.

The score by innings was as follows:
Tyrone.....2 0 0 0 2 0 1-5
Bellefonte.....0 2 0 0 1 0 1-4

—June is certainly keeping up her reputation as the month of roses and weddings for never in this community were the former more beautiful or the latter—shall we say more common indeed in glancing over the week's papers we find more wedding notices than a matrimonial sheet publishes.

One of the prettiest affairs of the season was the marriage of Mr. Archie Allison and Miss Rachel B. Humes, that was solemnized last evening at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. William Humes. The house was beautifully decorated with palms, ferns and roses making an artistic background for the bridal party.

The ushers Mr. O'Donohue and Mr. Hard Harris led the party followed by Dr. Edith Harris, the maid of honor. The bride was given away by her cousin Mr. Hamilton Humes, of Jersey Shore, and was met by the groom with his best man, Mr. Charlie Richards, at the end of the reception room where the ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Elliott. Congratulations and refreshments followed and after a pleasant reception Mr. and Mrs. Allison started on a tour of the eastern cities.

"Archie" and "Rach" have lived all their lives in this community and were it necessary for us to tell the one hundred and one good qualities of the fair bride, or the excellency of the groom we would gladly give them two columns; but as we are sorely pressed for time we will only add our congratulations and good wishes and not even mention the diamond pins that the groom presented to the ushers and best man.

A CHURCH ON WHEELS.—Attached the second section of Pacific Express Friday morning, was the famous car "Evangel," known as the Baptist missionary church on wheels. The car was presented to the Baptist Publication society by Messrs. C. I. Colby, Colgate Hoyt, J. B. Colgate, J. D. Rocketteller, E. J. Barney and J. B. Trevor, and is intended for use as a church building for holding religious exercises in the sections of the west where no church edifices exist. The car is divided into three sections, one for culinary purposes, one for dormitory purposes and one for chapel purposes. The latter is equipped with an Estey organ, the gift of Col. Estey. The car is now on its way to the Pacific coast in charge of Rev. E. G. Wheeler and wife, of Portland, Oregon, who are engaged in the missionary work.—Huntingdon News.
