HEARTS EBB AND FLOW.

BY KEZIAH SHELTON. The human heart like a restless sea, One hour it rises, next it falls in gloom...

How like the sea hearts ebb and flow! How brave the tide, how come and go! How brave the tide, how come and go!

But when the sea is falling back, With fainting heart, one cries: "Alack, Our all is gone, no more for us is left a hope in universe!"

Yet still again, some other day, Fair hope will come awhile to stay; Will come as tide, that wets the shore, When we have said, "I will come no more."

Overworked Words.

"Professor" is one of them. It properly belongs to a teacher, especially to a teacher in a college or university who reads lectures to students, or who gives instruction in a particular branch.

"Requies" is a word that is subject to hard usage these days. The Tribune has one or two correspondents who take pains to apply it to almost every human being of the masculine gender of whom they write and they persist in it with a zeal worthy of a better cause, notwithstanding the ravages of the editorial pencil upon their manuscript.

There are writers who offend against good style by applying the titles of professional man to their wives. Such expressions as "Mrs. Rev. John Smith," "Mrs. Dr. James Jones," "Mrs. President Harrison," etc., are common.

There is also a decided tendency in this country to misapply and overrate another word which has an indescribable charm in its proper relations, but which becomes coarse and ridiculous in the mouths of certain well-meaning but inconsiderate persons. We refer to the word "lady."

The word "gentleman" has also been abused, though not to the same extent. No advertisements have yet been offered in this paper asking for the services of a gentleman of all work or a gentleman to take care of horses.

As a miser counts his gold, nickel and day, So I count the minutes told in this way. My eye is dim, my hair is thin and gray, And I know I'm growing old as they say.

When we approach "the serene and lowly leaf" of our days we are prone to look back regretfully. A clear eye and science and sound health will lighten our gloomy reflections.

"Here's to the maiden of bashful fifteen, And here's to the widow of forty!" They have each reached a period in life when most females need assistance in tiding them over the shoals which so often completely wreck their after lives.
