Peas are rapidly coming into favor as a food for milk cows, especially in the winter production of milk, as they are easily grown and worth twice and a half their weight in bran. Use the Canadian field pea. Sow two and a quarter bushels per acre.

Many years ago it was the belief of gardeners that to take hold of a cabbage and pull it strong enough to break a few of its roots, aided it to form a larger head. This accords with recent experiments in a United States station, which resulted in showing that cabbages slightly tilted over with the plow in the fall produced large heads.

Estimations of copper on grapes after spraying have been made at one of our experiment stations to test whether the application of a certain copper mixture to the vines affects the fruit or makes it unsafe as food. One sample of the fruit was covered in spots with copper salt in great abundance, so that the test was distinctly and disagreebly metallic. Doubtless either the appearance or the taste of the fruit would have condemned it on the market. Analysis showed to be present about 47 parts of the copper per million, less than has been found in some articles of food admitted to be healthful, as beef and liver. Hence it seems reasonable to regard as safe in respect to the poisonous action of copper salts any sample of fruit treated with the mixture in question, provided the taste is not markedly and disagreeably metallic. Then the machine is often Company, Columbus, O. and In driven until some bearings are dry, and the steel is cutting. More machines are worn out through lack of proper oiling than amount of work done. When a boxing once becomes hot it is a difficult matter forever afterward to keep it from cutting. If farm machinery was kept carefully oiled, its usefulness would be increased 50 per cent. A little wear and looseness leads to rapid wear. If a careless driver has allowed the boxing of mower or reaper to become loose, it should be repaired at once if possible, as no amount of oil can prevent wear to a great extent. Then use a good grade of oil often. Strange such advice is needed, when the buying of new machinery is so burdensome to all of us, but the rattle and creaking of many farm implements makes such counsel seem necessary. A few drops of oil applied every half hour are worth more to a bearing than 10 times that amount applied every two hours. It pays to

It is a common practice to haul out the barnyard manure after harvest, epreading it on land intended for fallsown crops. The ground is usually dry, and less damage by tramping is done than when manure is hauled in the spring. Manure is much more effective for fall sown grass and wheat when used as a top-dressing than when plowed under. It is needed on or near the surface, so that it can feed the plants as soon as the first roots are formed! Top-dressing almost invariably gives the best results on small

But there is much in the way of applying the manure. A single large forkful in the centre of a square yard of ground is not worth one-fourth as much as an equal amount thoroughly finer and incorporated with all the surface toil of that square yard. Herein is one of the advantages of commercial fertilizers. They are spread evenly, and their effect is greater partly for this reason. Each plant gets its due share of the food, while the coarse manure feeds only a part of them. To render the manure available for all the plants it must be put close to them. For this reason it is advisable to scatter manure on plowed ground as evenly as possibly, and then use the harrow freely. The fining and scattering done by the teeth or discs of the harrow add much to the availability of the manure. This method is pref erable to top-dressing after seeding, and a few tests by our readers will make the fact apparent. If barnyard manures could be incorporated with the soil as evenly and perfectly as commercial fertilizers, results would follow that would occasion surprise to many.

My children, nine in number, were all troubled with an itching of the skin. They could not sleep at night, and through the day my wife felt ashamed to see the way those little ones had to suffer. So we concluded to try Cuticura Remedies, and believe if we had not used your valuable remedies our little family would not have been cured yet. Cuticura Remedies took all of this itch out of their skins inside of six weeks. My wife then bought more, and kept on giving it to the children, and thank God and your valuable Cuticura Remedies, my children have not got a blemish on them ROBERT SHUMAN, President Bricklayers Union No. 18, Elizabeth N. CUTICURA REMEDIES

If the thousands of little babies who have been cured of agonizing, itching, burning bleeping, scaly, and blotchy skin and scalp diseases could write, what a host of letters would be received by the proprietors of the Cuticura Remedies. Few can appreciate the agony these little ones suffer, and when these great remedies relieve in a single application the most distressing eczemae and itching and burning skin disease, and point to a speedy and permanent cure, it is positively jinhuman not to use them without a moment's delay.

BLENDED TEAS.

It is a pretty well settled principal with all expert tea men that the highest perfection in tea cannot be attained from any one kind or variety of tea plant. But that the best value and choicest flavor can be obtained only by a skillful blending of carefully selected high grade goods of different varieties.

When teas are perfectly blended the original flavor of each variety disappears in the blend, and from the combination we get something entirely new and much finer than any of the original flavors.

We have a new blend of our own. In the preparation of which we have spent considerable time and labor and have also had the aid and counsel of several as good tea men as are to be found in the United States. It is with entire confidence that we offer the goods for sale and unhesitatingly claim them to be very superior both in value and flavor.

If you want a cup of ROYAL TEA, try our new blended goods. We also carry a full line of Teas, Oolongs, Japan, Young Hyson, Imperials, Gunpowder, English Breakfast, also several grades of blended goods, and can suit the trade on anything in the tea line. You may not be exactly suited on the goods you are using, and we feel confident that you will be able to get from us just what you are wanting. We sell fine teas at very reasonable prices. Try them.

We have a clean dry sugar 8lbs for 3octs. the cheapest sugar ever sold in Bellefonte.
