Old Men Go Back.

An Eventful Day in the Homestead Struggle— Twenty-Seven of the Former Employes of theskilled Laborers Than the Firm Can Employthe Strike - Amalgamated Men Undaunted.

Homestead, Aug. 1.—One of the most eventful days in the great Homestead struggle is closing this evening with a result that the firm says through Superintendent Potter's announcement applied and had been granted their posilocked out men was plainly to be seen, particularly this evening, by the excited groups of men denouncing the deserters. The Amalgamated men are apparently nothing daunted, however, and it is a rash and unwarranted conclusion that, they will flock at once to the mill. In-stead they worked might and main all of the mechanical departments.

AMALGAMATED MEN SATISFIED They are well satisfied this evening that they have succeeded, and Chairman Crawford said that not only would there not be farther desertions, but that in a day or so some of those who did go into the mill would reconsider their ac-Homestead, and this evening when they left the mill for their homes they were met by committees who endeavored to get them to promise not to return. No threats were made. There has been much misunderstanding among Amalgamated men over the question as to whether they would be entitled to strike benefits. It was alleged that being locked out they would not be, and that the iron and steel workers of the Pittsburg and Ohio valley district now on a strike would reap the benefit of the Amalgamated treasury. On this subject Trustee William T. Roberts, who is a leader here, announced this evening; NO CAUSE FOR ALARM. "The Homestead men need not be SHELLED CORN, OATS, fits as soon as they need them. Carried Up in the Skies at the End of a Rope.

WORCESTER, Mass. July 31 .- Crowds The hotel has tately been remodeled and fitted throughout with steam heat. Everything has been arranged for convenience and comfort. A large stable, ice house and all necessary outbuildings are on the property and in the best of condition.

The building occupies the corner lot at the main entrance to the College grounds and has the most desirable location in the town. The owner desires to sell owing to sickness in his family and must leave the place on that account.

The balloon escaped from the crowd trying to hold it. One lackless spectator, Benjamin Long was caught by the right foot in a loop of the anchor rope and carried heavenward head down.
