EXCELLENT HOTEL PROPERTY FOR SALE.

STATE COLLEGE.
The undersigned offers his hotel property, at State College, for sale and invites correspondence with all parties desiring to invest money in an excellent paying business. It is the leading hotel at the college and enjoys a large student and transient custom.
The hotel has lately been remodeled and fitted throughout with steam heat. Everything has been arranged for convenience and comfort. A large stable, ice house and all necessary outbuildings are on the property and in the best of condition.
The building occupies the corner lot at the main entrance to the college grounds and has the most desirable location in the town. The owner desires to sell owing to sickness in his family and must leave the place on that account.

Road Drainage.

It is Absolutely Indispensable to the Best of Results.

The one thing necessary to a good road—earth, gravel, macadam, or paved—is thorough drainage of the foundation. Money has been misapplied in road-making because of neglect of thorough drainage, even when the money has been used to build roads of material that should give them a permanent character. On the Western prairies, where the natural drainage is poor, undrained gravel roads have suddenly become mud roads when put to the severe test of a long rainy spell in winter and early spring. Not in the least unfortunate result of this has been a prejudice against gravel roads in a particular, and a scarcely less pronounced distrust of permanent roads in general. Lack of drainage was the real cause of the failure.

Whether the road is to be of earth, gravel, or macadam, the earth road should be graded, crowning it twelve to fifteen feet wide, and twelve to eighteen inches higher in the middle than at the edges. Along each edge should be cut a shallow ditch. This is a correct general statement, which, of course, should be modified to suit peculiar circumstances. Thus, in a very hilly country, especially if the soil washes easily, the ditches should not be cut at the sides, as they are not necessary, and will become serious gullies. In a hilly country it is not necessary to crown the road so high, but the crowning must always be sufficient to insure ready surface drainage. Twelve to fourteen feet in width is sufficient. Making the road wider has been found a needless expense.

With these soils and subsoils specially well adapted to drainage, crowning the roadbed and cutting the ditches at the sides will secure the necessary drainage, but where the soil and subsoil are not favorable to drainage, additional measures must be taken. In the country in which I reside, a gravel road has been made for twenty miles, near the Mississippi river bluffs. This road is on a soil and subsoil decidedly gravelly, giving splendid drainage. This gravel road is now eighteen years old, and has proven satisfactory. The only means taken to secure drainage was to crown the roadbed a little in low places. To make a gravel road in this way over the greater part of the same country would be a waste of money, for in most places the soil is black prairie loam, and the subsoil is tenacious clay.

It has been found quite satisfactory in most localities, having a black surface soil and clay subsoil, to crown the roadbed a little in low places. To make a gravel road in this way over the greater part of the same country would be a waste of money, for in most places the soil is black prairie loam, and the subsoil is tenacious clay.

When the roadbed is to be graveled or macadamized, the crowning earth foundation should be nicely smoothed and rolled until quite solid. It is well also, in this case to put the clay subsoil from the ditches onto the surface. When rolled it makes a hard, smooth surface almost impervious to water, and over which it will flow, off to the ditches at the sides, the rain water that may sink through the gravel or macadam. When the surface is to be of earth only, the clay subsoil should be kept underneath, and the natural soil be placed on top. The surface soil will usually afford much better drainage than the subsoils, and make the better road surface.—American Agriculturist.

Authors of Famous Hymns.

It seems a singular fact that apparently nothing in a literary way will relate a writer to oblivion so surely as to be the author of a world famous hymn. Take a few instances:
Nearly everyone has heard or sung the line of "Shall We Gather at the River?" and yet how many know even the name of the author, much less the fact that he is living?
The writer is the Rev. Robert Lowry, D. D., a resident of Plainfield, N. J. In Richmond, Ill, lives Dr. S. Fillmore Bennett. To how many is the name familiar, yet to whom is his familiar church song, "The Sweet By and By," not known?
In the interior of New York State lives Mrs. Ann Sherwood Hawks, who wrote those famed lines of "I Need Thee Every Hour."
Hardly known and never recognized on the streets of New York as she walks out is Fannie Crosby, the author of countless hymns, among them the famous one, "Safe in the Arms of Jesus."
It is odd that the evil of obscurity should seem to be the inevitable reward of those whose pens have given us the hymns which have brought consolation and joy to so many thousands.

Chinese Dentists.

"Chinese practice dentistry to a considerable extent and with remarkable success in Chinatown, San Francisco," said G. C. Cochrane, of that city, at the Leland yesterday. "There is one of the tooth-pulling craft among them who has a string attached to the upper window of his house and reaching to the lower, in which is set an array of white teeth, with a notice to the effect that they have all been extracted in a certain space of time. The celestials claim that they have in their own country a powder a pinch of which will cause an attack of sneezing, during which the aching tooth will drop out. A voyage across the ocean, they say, destroys its effect. But they have introduced something in this country which rots away the tissue of the gum and causes swelling, suppuration and eventual destruction of the tooth. Arsenic for one thing will do it, but it is exceedingly dangerous. It is curious that the Chinese, who lack sensibility, should dread an operation which the white man undergoes without any fear."

Unmistakable Symptoms.

Detroit Free Press.
I had stopped for the night at a house overlooking the Cumberland River near its source in Kentucky, and after supper I had taken a seat on the front porch and was talking with the owner of the house, and my host temporarily.

"Is the young lady who waited on the table your daughter?" I inquired after a short and desultory colloquy on the crops.
"Yes, pretty likely gal, ain't she?" he answered with a fatherly pride.
"Very handsome, much more so than most of the girls I have seen in this section," I admitted frankly.
He pulled his chair closer to mine in a confidential way.

"Do you know much about gals?" he inquired, almost in a whisper.
"Some little by observation. I've known a good many during a long and more or less eventful life in that respect."
"Did you notice anything out of the way about my gal?"
"Not that I can recall."
"Didn't notice that she was kinder forgetful and awkward?"
"No."
"Ner quiet like, without much to say to nobody?"
"I noticed she didn't talk much."
"Nor hain't," he corroborated, "for a week or two. Didn't strike you as she had a wanderin' in her mind, did she?"
"No."
"Ner a hankerin' after something that wuzn't in sight?"
"No."
"That's odd you didn't," he said, with a puzzled expression; "me and the old woman has been a noticin' it fer ten days or more."
"What do you think is the matter?"
"We ain't right sure," he whispered, "but the symptoms is powerful like she was going to be tuck down with the matrimony. There's the young fellow now," and he got up and went out to meet a strapping young man who was hitching his horse at the gate.

The Handsomest of All Cots.

This proud distinction is generally conceded to the United States' twenty-dollar gold piece, a marvel of beauty in design and finish. The loveliest of God's handiwork is a handsome woman, in the bloom of health; if she is not, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will restore her. Ladies who use this peerless remedy are unanimous in its praise, for it cures those countless ills which are the bane of their sex—irregularities, dragging-down pains, inflammation, hysteria, sleeplessness, and the "all-gone" sensations which burden their daily lives. A tonic and nerve, without alcohol.

Absentmindedness.

"I was with a surveying party in New Mexico," said an old civil engineer. "Our supplies ran short and it was a long way to town. Among other things we got out of tobacco. One man found a package of cigars in the pocket of an old coat, and there was rejoicing. But a package of cigars did not last long and after they had been distributed and consumed an odd cigarette remained. Six men wanted it. I was the seventh. I wanted it too but was too dignified to say so.
"Finally I proposed that the fellows race for it. It was decided that they should go half a mile, stand in line, and when they saw me fire a pistol run for the tent, the first to get the prize. They started to walk to the half mile point. The day was warm and I sat lazily watching them. They squared around, signaled ready, and I fired. The six large panting and sweating over from the sands. "Where's my cigarette?" shouted the victor. Well, what could I say for the stump of it was between my lips.
"A clear case," he continued, "a clear case of absentmindedness.—San Francisco Examiner.

Pennsylvania Railroad to the G. A. R. Encampment at Washington during September.

Undoubtedly the most interesting encampment of G. A. R. men ever held will convene at Washington during September. The interest manifested in the encampment has been national, and the Government and local authorities in the National City are making elaborate preparations for entertaining the old soldiers.
The Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell excursion tickets from all stations on its lines to Washington, from September 13th to 20th, valid for return until October 10th, inclusive, at a rate of a single fare for the round trip. These tickets will be valid to stop off at Baltimore and Philadelphia in each direction within limit. A stop over privilege will also be allowed at Harrisburg and other points south of Washington on foreign roads' issue of tickets from the West.

An Extinct Volcano.

On the Island of Maui is Haleakala (House of the Sun), the largest known extinct volcano in the world, its giant crater pit, resembling the yawning craters in the moon, being twenty-four miles in circumference and 2,000 feet deep. Sixteen subsidiary cones rise from its base, some solitary, others in clusters. The base of the mountain itself is a circumference of ninety miles. On the Island of Molokai is Kalamao, a fertile valley of about 20,000 acres, walled in by precipices 3,000 feet high. Here is the home of the lepers. All who contract the disease are exiled here by order of the government with the view of extirpating if possible the dire disease from among the people. It was here that Father Damien sacrificed his life, and that others, equally heroic, still labor at his work.—Asiatic Quarterly.

Wan Lung.

This is the queer name of a Chinese laundryman in Hartford, but he has probably two lungs, like most of us. Some crying babies seem to have a dozen. Lungs should be sound, or the voice will have a weakly sound. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes strong lungs, drives the cough away, generates good blood, tones the nerves, builds up the human wreck and makes "another man" of him. Night-sweats, blood-spitting, short breath, bronchitis, asthma, and all alarming fore-runners of Consumption, are positively cured by this unapproachable remedy. If taken in time, Consumption itself can be baffled.

"The largest ever known in the state" is the report of the wheat crop in Kansas, while the corn crop in some parts of the state will be exceptionally great. Kansas is rapidly throwing off those blanket mortgages that covered her fair lands. But if the price of wheat changes as it has done, the rich lands of the grasshopper state will have to be used to grow something else for a while till prices catch up. That is what the south has begun to do in regard to her staple of cotton.

Little Borden in Jail.

She Will Remain There to Await the Action of the Grand Jury.
FALL RIVER, Mass., Sept. 2.—Lizzie Borden was taken from the Central Station at 1.15 o'clock this afternoon to the 1.29 train for Taunton. She will remain there in the county jail until the sitting of the grand jury in November. She was accompanied by Marshal Hilliard, Detective Scaver and Rev. Mr. Buck. There was a large and curious crowd at the depot. She was not disturbed in the least by the gaze of a hundred spectators, and if anything she looked firmer and more contented than she has appeared since the hearing was opened.

BLOOD POISONING
LONG AND TERRIBLE ILLNESS.
COMPLETELY CURED BY HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA.
Mrs. Mary E. Fallon, a very intelligent lady of Piqua, Ohio, formerly a professional nurse, was poisoned while assisting physicians at an autopsy 5 years ago, and soon terrible ulcers broke out on her head, arms, tongue and throat. Her hair all came out. Her arms swelled to near twice their natural size. Her tongue was nearly split in two by an ulcer, and a rot of her mouth was nearly destroyed. She was indeed in a MOST PITIABLE CONDITION.

For three years she was constantly under the treatment of several eminent physicians. She says "At one time I felt death was close at hand. Heaven only knows what I suffered. I became greatly emaciated, weighing at one time but 78 pounds. At last I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and at once improved; food soon got out of bed and walk. I became perfectly cured by HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA and am now a well woman. I weigh 128 lbs. eat well and do the work for a large family. My case seems a wonderful recovery and physicians look at me in astonishment, as almost like one raised from the dead."
HOOD'S PILLS should be in every family medicine chest. Once used, always preferred. Sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass. 37 35
