THINGS ABOUT TOWN & COUNTY

Monday's rain filled a long felt want.

Next week will be devoted to the picnic.

Let us have a Sunday train with Sunday mails.

Dr. C. B. Church and wife, of Milesburg, are in Philadelphia.

If you feel as if you were getting the cholera don't tell any one of it.

The gypsies have been keeping our horse traders jumping for the past week.

The Bellefonte ball club has still a chance to win the Mountain League pennant.

Next week the Grangers will have their gala time over at Grange Park at Centre Hall.

A sacred concert will be given by the Meyers orchestra on the pavilion next Sunday afternoon.

Jas. McCullys grocery, next door to this office, was closed by the sheriff last Monday morning.

Bellefonte youngsters have started to school again and many parents are happy in consequence.

The Houtzdale hall club is a thing of the past. It disbanded the day it was to have played here.

About one hundred Bellefonters expect to visit Washington, during the Grand Army encampment.

The curb market is well attended now and you can buy anything you want from a red pepper to a pumpkin.

W. R. Camp, of Centre Hall, has purchased the undertaking establishment of J. W. McCormick, of Tyrone.

Harry the infant son of P. H. Musser, of Millheim, died at his home last Tuesday morning of membranous croup.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Gray, are rejoicing over the arrival of a young Mr. Gray, who is to be called Samuel T. the second.

A great attraction awaits you at the opera house on Monday evening, when Jane Coombs will appear in "Bleak House."

Harry T. Bush, youngest son of Mrs. D. G. Bush, came home last evening after nearly three years in every gold state of the west.

Editor Charles Kurtz, of the Democrat, and Robt. F. Hunter, commissioners clerk, spent Sunday in the city of brotherly love.

James Ginter, formerly with John Anderson, is now running a restaurant of his own in the room on Allegheny street occupied by Howly Bros. grocers.

There has been a falling off in the travel up to the park the past week. People, we presume, are waiting for the fun at the Grangers picnic, which begins next Monday.

A Democratic club room has been secured for the convenience of Bellefonters' Cleveland and Stevenson club. It is in Reynolds bank building and will be fitted up in good style.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brew, formerly of Bellefonte but for years residents of Tyrone, have sold their house in that place, and are coming back to make their home in Bellefonte, which is much more convenient for Mr. Brew, who travels for the Standard Scale company.

Alfred Derr had the misfortune to have two of his fingers amputated last Saturday morning. He is an employe of the Phoenix planing mill Co. and was sent down to Jenkins & Lingles foundry to have some work done. While there the accident happened whereby he lost the fourth and fifth fingers of his right hand.

The Bellefonte team was defeated at Tyrone, on last Saturday, by the score of 9 to 3. The home club batted Meany very freely and their hits combined with hard luck at critical moments lost the game for us. The audience was "hoodlum" in a large percentage. Though appearances are against her Bellefonte has strong hopes of winning the pennant yet.

Bellefonte hotel clerks have rules for telling newly married couples, which we presume they have arrived at after close observation: They are as follows: He always carries two new grips and two umbrellas. He always offers her his arm. He's always clean shaven, and wears, besides immaculate linen, a careworn, worried expression. He always pulls out his watch, presumably to see how much of his honeymoon is left. When he registers at the hotel the "and wife" is written twice as large as his own name. She never fails to ask how many lamps of sugar he takes in his coffee.

AUTHENTIC PROGRAM FOR THE GRANGERS' PICNIC NEXT WEEK.

That the 19th annual session of the Grangers Picnic and Exhibition, to be held on Grange Park, near Centre Hall, next week, promises to excel all former efforts is now beyond doubt. The exhibits will be far larger and more interesting than they have ever been, especially in the stock, machinery, agricultural and floral displays.

The week's programme is arranged as follows:

At 9 a. m.—Women's meeting, presided over by Mrs. Anna M. Holstein, of Montgomery county. This part will be highly interesting from the fact that Prof. H. L. Ball, of Philadelphia, will lecture on the Signal Service Department of the United States. No one should miss hearing it.

It will be remembered that these specials accommodate all points along the line.

Peter Persinger, a tramp by profession, is in jail at Lock Haven awaiting trial for attempt to wreck a freight train near Cook's Run.

Monday was Labor day, but our streets did not show any unusual sights in consequence, Bellefonte has had so many galadays this year that enthusiasm over legal holidays is very low indeed.

The post office at Olivia, which is at Bald Eagle station on the B. E. V. railroad was robbed the other night. Stamps, postal cards and valuable papers made up the plunder. The same night Hoover's store was entered and several hundred dollars worth of goods taken.

Nearly a thousand bushels of wheat, several hundred bushels of oats, two cows, a calf and numerous implements were burned up in the flames which destroyed Elias Snyder's barn, in the east end of Nittany valley, on last Sunday night. The origin of the fire is unknown.

On Sunday evening Jacob Rodgers, of Honestown, was instantly killed while walking on the railroad below Tyrone. He was returning from church at Birmingham when a shifting engine ran him down. He leaves a wife and six children to mourn their loss.

The Houtzdale ball club failed to materialize, on Wednesday, so manager Hard P. Harris had his players give an exhibition game. Two nines were chosen and a game played which resulted in the score of 3 to 3 at the end of the ninth inning. Somers and Moore, of Clearfield, and Knouff and Soper were the batteries. The boys had plenty of sport gying each other during the good natured game and the small audience enjoyed it immensely.

The Pittsburgh Post will be 50 years old on Saturday, the 10th of September, and it proposes to celebrate its semi-centennial anniversary by beginning the issue of a Sunday edition on the 11th of September. This is a notable departure in the journalism of Pittsburgh. There is no better paper printed in that city than The Post, and it should be found every day in the hands of Democratic readers who take a daily paper at all. In no respect has it any superior, while in the matter of Democratic politics and Democratic news it is simply impossible for Democrats who wish to keep posted touching what is going on in their party to get along without it. The Sunday Post will be up to the highest standard of journalism in every respect, and we hope that Democrats everywhere will give it cordial support. It will be regularly a 16 page paper, and larger as occasion may require. The price will be 5 cents. Look out for it!

The following notice of the Baker family re-union in Iowa, will be read with interest, particularly down in the neighborhood of Howard, from which place they emigrated. The fact that they all propose voting for Harrison this fall shows that they have not made the political progress that was hoped would follow a change of location, and a wider knowledge of the needs of the country, than they possessed when they left Centre county. But some people are built in a way that they will not, or cannot learn, and from the evidence furnished by the Des Moines Register, from which the notice is clipped, we infer that the Baker family is of this kind. All the same however, their Centre county friends are glad to hear from them.

One of the most remarkable family reunions that ever took place in Iowa occurred in this city Sunday and yesterday, that of Mr. Hiram Baker and his twelve children. Samuel W., James M., John E., Jacob S., Charles W., Irvin C., Edwin H., Harry M., George H., Mrs. Lizzie M. Barnard, Mrs. Sarah M. Arnold and Mrs. Anna E. White. One lives in Kansas, two in Nebraska and the remainder in Iowa. All but one were born in Centre county Pennsylvania, near the home of Gov. Curtin. There has never been a death in the family. All are members of the Methodist church; all are Republicans; none of them ever drank any liquor or tobacco. The youngest will be a voter this year, and the family, including the son-in-law, will cast thirteen votes for Harrison and Reid. The reunion is being held at the residence of the oldest child, Mr. Sam W. Baker.

A beautiful line of ladies fall coats in tan and other light shades and black for $3.50 to $12.00. Lyon & Co.

The contest for the Demorest silver medal, which was held in the rooms of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, on Tuesday evening, was a very interesting affair, well attended and highly successful in every way. Mr. James Harris, in his introduction, announced that the contest was to promote and strengthen the Temperance sentiment as well as to encourage excellence in elocution and that he hoped, the audience, which filled every available space in the hall would be especially attentive during the recitations as he wanted each of the six contestants to have a fair and square opportunity. This precaution was hardly necessary—for from the first the recitations were all so good that no one had time to criticize the personality of the speaker. Miss Elizabeth Smith, who came first on the program, recited in an excellent manner "What Should the Christian Voter do with the Saloon?" The text was especially appropriate for this stage of the presidential campaign and if Miss Smith, with her clear strong voice, did not convince the voters of her audience the need of a Prohibition party, they are beyond convincing.

Edith Holtz, the youngest by several years of the contestants, came second on the list with "The Deacon's Match" and although she hesitated once or twice for a word she did, on the whole, very well.

After Miss Robbins and Mr. Harvey's beautiful duet, Miss Mary Faxon told, in a clear and easy manner, that the evil authorities of New Haven had declared war against the English Sparrow and allowed the saloon to stay. Number four on the program was "Personal Responsibility" by Miss Margaret Teats who possibly has had more experience before an audience than any of the other girls; but who nevertheless deserves much credit for her easy manner and expressive delivery. "Miss Mary Underwood, who recited "The Saloon the Great Problem of the Hour," and Miss Ella Gault whose selection was entitled "Nationalism against sectionalism," both did so well that their hearers would gladly have given them honorable mention had it been within their power to do so.

While the judges were making their decision that awarded number four (Miss Teats) the medal, Miss Robbins, of Philadelphia, and Myers orchestra filled up the time so well with their good music that every one went home pleased with the first of the series of the contests.

COUNCIL'S REGULAR MEETING.—On Monday evening members Dartt, Garman, Longacre, Jamison and president Hillbush met in the council chamber to transact the business of the borough which had been accumulating for three weeks. They went at it with a rush and were through in less than an hour.

A petition, from members of the Logan and Undine fire companies, prayed that the ordinance restricting the election of fire marshalls to men of more than thirty years of age be changed so that those of twenty-five years would be eligible. A motion to change the ordinance was carried.

The solicitor reported that the court had finally confirmed the opening of Wilson street with the Linn, Lamb and Curtin street extensions. Also that objections to Armor street and the High street extension had been filed. Council ordered the street commissioner to begin work at once on the new thoroughfares.

Several nuisances and complaints were reported and bills aggregating $650 approved, after which council adjourned.

SEPTEMBER WEATHER IN STORE FOR US.—Hicks' predicts for September are cooler weather for the opening of the month with rising temperature about the 3rd followed by storms about the 4th and 5th inst, a warm wave about the 7th to 12th, with electric storms about the 9th 10th and 11th, with a fall of temperature immediately after. A regular storm period is due about the 20th to 23d, followed by a cold wave and admonitions of the approach of autumn a hard winter. Some very cool weather may be expected, followed by a high temperature about the 28th and storms. Another cool wave will follow about the 29th.

LOW RATES TO GRANGERS PICNIC.—For the accommodation of visitors to the Patrons of Husbandry Picnic, at Centre Hall, Sep. 12th, to 17th, 1892, The Pennsylvania Railroad Co. will sell Excursion tickets on the above dates to Centre Hall, good to return Sep. 20th, 1892, at the low rate of single fare for the round trip, and will run special trains on the Lewisburg and Tyrone railroad.

A FRIEND?—When you are being fitted for your first pair of glasses it is decidedly annoying to have some one who knows you laugh at the evidence of approaching age, and twit you upon your slight infirmity. You will avoid this by calling on Queen's Eye Specialist, who will be found at the Brokerhoff House Bellefonte, Wednesday, Sept. 21.

The dramatization of Charles Dickens' interesting novel, "Bleak House," has made one of the most entertaining plays on the American stage and is meeting with success wherever produced. Mr. John C. Calhoun, one of Philipsburg's oldest and most highly respected citizens, died very suddenly at the residence of his son, in that borough, on Friday morning last. He had strolled out to a field not far distant to gather some mullen leaves, and on his return told his daughter-in-law that he was not feeling well. She proceeded immediately to arrange a bed for him on the lounge, on which to lie down, and while thus engaged he walked behind the stove and dropped dead. The deceased was born near Unionville this county, on October 10, 1810, and was consequently nearly 82 years old.

EX-SHERIFF GEO. ALEXANDER—of Unionville, died on Wednesday, at 4:30 o'clock at the home of his daughter, Mrs. S. F. Amerman, in Unionville, Pa. He had been a sufferer with rheumatism for the past ten years. On Wednesday morning he ate a hearty breakfast, and at his dinner he remarked his appetite was improving and he felt much better. About 4 o'clock he walked out of the house and upon going to look for him half an hour later his daughter found him dead. Heart failure was the cause.

He was elected, in the fall of 1860, on the Republican ticket, Sheriff of the county, served his term, and moved back to Unionville, where he has resided ever since. About the year 1880 he returned to the Democratic party, which he had left in the year 1854 to join the Know-nothing party. After the collapse of the Know-nothing party he connected himself with the Republican party and remained with them until 1880 when he came back to his old original Democratic party. He was about 80 years of age. He was a man known in the community as an honorable citizen, upright in all his dealings with men, and a member of the Presbyterian church. He leaves, to mourn his loss, one daughter, Mrs. Amerman, one son, Geo. P. Alexander, of Altoona, two brothers, Wm., and John his twin brother, and many friends in the county.

We understand that the College authorities will turn the College works over to the operation of the new company for the present.
