Wit and Humor.

There is a wide difference in horse sense and horse talk.

An argument results from the collision of two trains of thought.

"Were you upset by the bank failure?" "Yes. I lost my balance."

The desirability of bonds depends on whether you hold them or they hold you.

The chimney swallow ought to outfly all other birds, for it is hatched in a flue.

Don't speak lightly of the graduate; he knows a great deal that you have forgotten.

A great many people who claim that the shoe does not fit them howl because it pinches.

"What is so rare as a steak well done?" said the June poet sadly to himself as he contemplated the ill-cooked meat.

"No one can understand what the wild waves are saying," she—"Of course not. The ocean is so very deep."

"My wife gave me a blowing up because I didn't get her an oil stove."

"Well, I got her one and then she blew herself up."

The average man devotes his engagement to wishing he was rich enough to have a nice home for his wife and in spending what money he has on nonsense for her.

The official title of the Governor of Rhode Island is the Captain-General of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations. The title runs out of the State into deep water.

"The way to succeed," said the rich philosopher, "is to begin right, my boy." "I suppose you mean that I should have been born rich, as you were," said the young man.

Old Gentleman—"Don't you think it is cruel to shut up a bird in a little cage like that?" Little Girl—"O, I don't know. I have a pretty good time, and I live in a flat."

Satan—"Who are those two new arrivals?" Asmodeus—"The 'didn't-know-it-was-loaded' fool and the 'rock-the-boat' fool." Satan—"Give them nice front rooms."

Little Sadie—"O, Uncle Harry Miss Brown and Mr. Swift are in the parlor, and she has her head on his shoulder." Uncle Harry—"That's all right. She has a lien on him."

Harry—"Blowitz proved to his wife that he didn't marry her for money." Jack—"How?" Harry—"To show her how little he cared for it, he spent every cent she had."

Tanks—"I tried to get old Soak to go to Asbury Park this year for his vacation, but it was no use."

Banks—"Where is he going?" Tanks—"Bar Harbor, of course."

Briggs—"Isn't that the same suit you had last year?"

Griggs—"Yes; and it's the same suit that you asked me last year if it wasn't the same suit I had the year before."

"I usually judge a man," said the philosopher, "by what his near neighbors say of him. If the most of them roundly abuse him, you can depend on his having considerable individuality."

"A gentleman," said the philosopher "a true gentleman may be defined as a man who can buy another man a cigar without wondering whether the other man will ever return the compliment."

"What is the name of that lady who sneezed so much?" he asked. "I don't know," replied his sister; "she seems very intense." "I should say she was intense, she's a grass widow with the hay fever."

"Where do you think old Gotrox will go when he dies?" "If he continues in the same course as here he will put in one-seventh of his time in heaven and the other six-sevenths—er—ah—elsewhere."

Toto stands in ecstatic contemplation in front of an India-rubber warehouse. "Mamma, say, what's that?" "That is a diver's costume." "Oh, do buy me one, mamma, dear." "What for?" "For when you wash me!"

"Why do you put the bracketed word 'laughter' after those jokes in Depeew's speech?" "Because they're funny." "What should they put?" "Why, Puck, Judge or Truth, or whatever other source Chauncey got 'em from."

William Ann—"In this country every boy is supposed to learn a useful trade." Lord Forgivuz—"But surely the President isn't an artisan?" William Ann—"Oh yes, he is; he is a cabinet-maker."

Little Bobby—"Mamma, the boys is goin' to have a circus. May I act?" Mamma—"Oh, I suppose so. What are you to do?" Little Bobby—"Nothin' much. They is goin' to have a pyramid of sixteen boys an' all I has to do is to stand on top."

Mrs. Pennifeather—"Goodness gracious! I wonder what in the world has become of all my tarts?" Mr. Pennifeather—"Where did you put them?" Right on the window sill, here. That accounts for it. You have carelessly exposed them to the sun.

Bulfinch—"How are Naggadat and his wife getting along together?" Wood—"O, I don't know; what makes you ask?" Bulfinch—"O, nothing; only when they got married they had one of those mottoes, 'God bless Our Home,' in the sitting-room; and now he has it up in his smoking-room; and 'As Far as Possible' written underneath it."

The Immigration Question.

The inspection of American immigrants in Europe is more thorough than most people on this side of the water have any appreciation of but this is in the north of Europe and the conditions much worse in the Mediterranean ports, whence come the most undesirable classes. Mr. Spaulding, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, has just returned from a tour of inspection of the immigration business abroad and from information gained will issue new regulations governing the manner in which immigration will be regulated. At the German ports, including Hamburg, Bremen, Rotterdam and Antwerp, he found excellent arrangements for the examination and shipment of emigrants. In the first place the German government requires a thorough examination by official surgeons to be made of all people coming from Russia and German frontier, and they allow none to pass into their country who come from infected districts or who are liable to bring disease into Germany. The German emigrants, or the people who emigrate from Germany, whether they are Germans or not, on their arrival at all sea ports whence they expect to sail, are placed in boarding houses under rigid sanitary rules. Before going on shipboard the immigrants are further examined by surgeons and have the approval of the American Consul. Says Mr. Spaulding:

At this examination all who might be classed as doubtful are stopped. The rest are all placed on board ship. Before they go abroad, however, they are taken to a large building erected by the steamship company, with all modern appliances and conveniences, with concrete floors, ample sleeping accommodations and good kitchens for preparing food. There they are also obliged to take a bath. Just off the bath rooms are disinfecting rooms, where the clothing of these people is taken, put through a disinfecting process and returned to them. These conditions they must comply with in every particular and in every case before they can go aboard the ship.

The steamship companies do this for their own protection. At Liverpool, Mr. Spaulding, says the examinations are also very thorough, but it is done by the steamship companies without any authority of law. Business considerations forbid their taking people of the forbidden class only to carry them back again at their own expense. If they are rejected here. An epidemic disease breaking out on shipboard discredits the line.

We get no information from Mr. Spaulding about the conditions at the French ports on the Mediterranean.

There has been much exaggeration as to the immigration of criminals, paupers and afflicted people likely to become a burden. If poverty was an objection, of course many thousands would be rejected who now come. The great proportion of the immigration is able-bodied and very poor, but ambitious to get along in the world, and the making of good citizens. They are discredited by the exceptions, and by the further fact we have above, all the cheap labor we can absorb without ruinous competition in the labor market. That is part of the question that presents the greatest difficulties in the way of remedial legislation.—Pittsburg Post.

Quinine and Peruna.

Two Great Malarial Remedies Compared.

Nothing is more clearly demonstrated than that there are two distinct forms of malaria, which for the want of better names, may be denominated acute and chronic. It has been recently shown that the parasite which causes malaria are different in the acute and chronic forms. The acute form is commonly known as fever and ague, or chills and fever. This form of the disease is too well known in malarious districts to need description, and is generally curable by large doses of quinine, though this is not so favorable a remedy as Peruna.

The chronic form of malaria is, by no means so well understood, as the symptoms are hardly ever exactly alike in any two cases, and it is rarely, if ever, curable by taking quinine. Each case presents slightly different symptoms, the most common ones being dull headache, sallow complexion, furred tongue, bad taste, poor digestion, shivering feeling, hot flashes, cold feet and hands, and constant tired feelings.

Quinine will not cure cases of chronic malaria as above described. Peruna is the only specific for such cases. Peruna is sure to cure, leaves the system with no derangement, and produces no drug habit hard to leave off, which quinine will do.

Peruna is for sale at most drug-stores, accompanied with directions for use; but those who are using it should send for the Family Physician No. 1, a treatise on malaria. Sent free by the Peruna Drug Manufacturing company, Columbus, Ohio.

A New Industry in Chicago. The campaign is booming in Chicago. One night last week 1,002 aliens took the oath of allegiance and secured their final naturalization papers. It is claimed that no great effort to complete the naturalization of aliens and secure the registration of foreign-born citizens entitled to vote has been made in Chicago, and that as a result of the unprecedented work in that direction now being done at least 75,000 names will be added to the voting lists. Two-thirds of the new voters are said to be Democrats.—World.

For scrufula in every form Hood's Sarsaparilla is a radical, reliable remedy. It has an unequalled record of cures.

Leaf by Leaf.

The dropping of the leaves is not always caused by the ending of summer, or the advent of the fall season, but indeed by many causes. So with the health and life of the human being. One by one they are carried to an early grave. You take a cold and say, "Oh, well, it is nothing but a cold," and so it is, but if not checked in time and neglected, it leads to consumption and other diseases. Prevent it, stop it, by using a pure eye whiskey. Ministers, physician and hospital superintendents agree in recommending as a perfect stimulant, Klein's Silver Eye or Duquesne Ryes. The former sells at $1.50 and the latter at $1.25 per full quart sold by S. Shloss, Williamsport, Pa.

FINE SELECTED

BLENDED TEAS.

It is a pretty well settled principal with all expert tea men that the highest perfection in tea cannot be attained from any one kind or variety of tea plant. But that the best value and choicest flavor can be obtained only by a skillful blending of carefully selected high grade goods of different varieties. When teas are perfectly blended the original flavor of each variety disappears in the blend, and from the combination we get something entirely new and much finer than any of the original flavors.

We have a new blend of our own. In the preparation of which we have spent considerable time and labor and have also had the aid and counsel of several as good tea men as are to be found in the United States. It is with entire confidence that we offer the goods for sale and unhesitatingly claim them to be very superior both in value and flavor.

If you want a cup of ROYAL TEA, try our new blended goods.

We also carry a full line of Teas, Oolongs, Japan, Young Hyson, Imperials, Gunpowder, English Breakfast, also several grades of blended goods, and can suit the trade on anything in the tea line. You may not be exactly suited to the goods you are using, and we feel confident that you will be able to get from us just what you are wanting. We sell fine teas at very reasonable prices. Try them.

We have a clean dry sugar 8lbs for 30cts. the cheapest sugar ever sold in Bellefonte.

Respectfully,

SCHOFIELD'S NEW

We extend a most cordial invitation to our patrons and the public, in general, to witness one of the ever put on the Bellefonte market, which will be made in the large room, formerly occupied by Harper Bros., on Spring street. It has been added to my factory and will be used exclusively for the sale of harness, being the first exclusive sales-room ever made in this town, as heretofore the custom has been to sell goods in the room in which they were made. This elegant room has been refitted and furnished with glass cases in which the harness can be nicely displayed and still kept away from heat and dust, the enemies of long wear in leather. Our factory now occupies a room 10x74 feet and the store 20x60 makes it the largest establishment of its kind outside of Philadelphia and Pittsburg.

We are prepared to offer better bargains in the future than we have done in the past and we want everyone to see our goods and get prices for when you do this, out of self defense you will buy. Our profits are not large, but by selling lots of goods we can afford to live in Bellefonte. We are not indulging in idle philanthropy. It is purely business. We are not making much, but trade is growing and that is what we are interested in now. Profits will take care of themselves.

When other houses discharged their workmen during the winter they were all put to work in my factory, nevertheless the big (1) houses of this city and county would smile if we compared ourselves to them, but we do not mean to be so odious, except to venture the assertion that none of them can say, as we can say "NO ONE OWES US A CENT THAT WE CAN'T GET." This is the whole story.

The following are kept constantly on hand. 50 SETS OF LIGHT HARNESS, prices from $2.00 to $10.00 and upwards. LARGE STOCK OF HEAVY HARNESS per set $25.00 and upwards, 500 HORSE COLLARS from $1.50 to $3.00 each, over $100.00 worth of HARNESS OILS and AXLE GREASE.

$400 worth of Fly Nets sold cheap $150 worth of whips from 15c to $3.00 each. Horse Brushes, Curry Combs, Sponges, Chamols, RIVING SADDLES, LADY SIDES
