THINGS ABOUT TOWN & COUNTY

—Clean up.
—Base ball at the Park to-day.
—Miss Minnie Brew is visiting her brother Harry in Tyrone.

—Will there be a Mountain League next summer?
—See that all decaying matter is removed from your cellars.

—Miss Emma Montgomery, of Bishop street, is visiting friends at Superior, Michigan.

—Phillipsburg versus Bellefonte, at the Park, this afternoon. The last League game of the season.

—On Tuesday night, Sept 20th, "Silver King" company will hold the boards at the opera house.

—Mr. James Williams, the popular clerk in Harris & Co's hardware, is smiling all over his face. It is a boy.

—Thus far this week old Probs has been trying his best to give us the most disagreeable weather possible.

—Mr. Jacob Struble, who is employed by the Union Block and Signal Switch Co., is visiting his parents near Zion.

—Mrs. John H. Herman, who lives on the farm of Adam Wagner, near this place, recently presented her husband with twins.

—Mr. Guyer Mattern is attending the Granger's picnic. He has been connected with the Carnegie Homestead mills for the past six weeks.

—The Pennsylvania State College opened on Wednesday for the year 1892-3. The class rolls are considerably larger than they have ever been.

—Mr. D. C. Hall, of Fleming, was a very pleasant visitor on Tuesday morning. His call was one of those kind which makes the printer's heart glad.

—The gayest man at the picnic was the fellow who was drunk with pleasure at all the nice things he saw. Did someone remark that it could not have taken much to get him full.

—Simeon Baum, who for such a long time was connected with Montgomery & Co. of this place, returned home from Evanston, Indiana, on Tuesday morning. Sim. don't like the west.
—Rev. Hovek gave the first of a series of lectures on his trip abroad, on Sunday night. His talk covered the Atlantic ocean and London. Next Sunday evening Paris will be his theme.

—Eddie Brennan, the six year old son of Joseph Brennan, of Sandy Ridge, jumped off a train, on Monday, and his right leg was cut off above the knee. Will parents never learn to keep their children away from the cars.

—Miss Jane Coombs played "Bleak Hole" before a fair audience, in the opera house, on Monday night. Her rendition of the strong lines of Dickens' great play was wonderful. Every one was delighted with the production.

—Mr. W. H. Frain, a former Bellefonte boy, but now an inspector of passenger cars in the Altoona yards, was in town on Wednesday greeting his old friends. He looks as natural as can be and is delighted with his new home. He was on his way to the picnic.

—The Young Men's Christian Association held its meeting in the Court House yard on last Sunday afternoon. Quite a large crowd attended and the novelty of an out door gathering, with the Meyer's orchestra as an additional attraction, proved quite successful.

—Tobacco chewing is going out of fashion. An old citizen declares that not more than one-third as many men chew tobacco now as did a third of a century ago. But as chewing is put to the rear among these necessary (?) accomplishments, smoking has rapidly advanced. Doctors declare that chewing is the filthier custom, but smoking the more injurious.

—Members of the G. A. R. who purpose attending the encampment at Washington are notified that the location assigned the Centre county members has been changed from the grounds in Monumental Square to Garfield Park, between the P. R. R. and the capitol. Comrades are expected to wear upon their caps the mark of their respective companies.

—The WATCHMAN acknowledges its receipt of an invitation and complimentary to the eighth annual exhibition of the Milton Driving Park and Fair Association, September 27th to 30th. We would be pleased to attend and enjoy the sights, for Milton always has a good show and plenty of fun, but for fear we cannot get down, we would advise the thousands of people, who look to us for information about fairs as everything else, to go and see for themselves.

A Week With the Grangers.

The 19th Annual Picnic and Exhibition at Grange Park.—Thousands of Visitors.—Good Times for All.—Many Speakers of Note.—All Kinds of Weather, But the Tenters are Content.

Another cycle has been completed, another milestone scored off by our generation, and as if glad that the seasons have flown with such speed our farmer friends meet for their harvest home picnics and to talk over the summer's outcome and the future of their calling. 'Tis always the last gala time before winter sets in and with its mad abandon comes thoughts of the brown and searing autumn, when everything is beginning to decay and summer has lost all that bloom which has kept her fresh and sweet to us all. The varicolored foliage, the browning nuts and the chirp of the katydid, the inevitable signs of fall, bring to mind that when this week is over perhaps the last outdoor gathering of the year has taken place.

This, the third annual picnic and exhibition held in Grange Park, at Centre Hall, under the direction of Centre county Pomona Grange opened under the most auspicious circumstances. For months previous heralds and advertisements had been proclaiming the beauties and conveniences of the Park, both for exhibitor and camper. What then could one be surprised that when the grounds were formally opened, on Saturday afternoon a general rush for quarters was the result.

Over one hundred tents were occupied during Sunday and when Monday came as many more were taken and quickly filled by the merry campers. The delightful weather of Saturday and Sunday made it very pleasant at the Park, and church services, in the auditorium, were well attended. In the morning at 10 o'clock, Rev. W. E. Fisher, Lutheran pastor at Centre Hall, preached from Gal. II, 20th. In the afternoon Rev. Baskerville, the Presbyterian minister occupied the auditorium pulpit and delivered a very able sermon on "Faith." The third service for the day was conducted by Rev. Eisenberg, of the Reformed church, who preached from Luke 10th and 23d.

MONDAY.

Monday at the picnic did not amount to much outside of a general hustle by late comers for tents and of fakirs and exhibitors for room. Those who had gotten there on Saturday were comfortably fixed up and enjoying themselves and as the WATCHMAN correspondent strolled around the grounds he noticed every quarter alive with men who were putting up sheds for exhibits and wares. The scene was indeed one of activity. It pleased the eye too to see so much fuss and hurry for it augured well for a successful week. The threatening weather of the morning kept a large crowd from gathering on the grounds, but when the sun showed out clear in the afternoon people became more venturesome and the wide Park avenues became fairly alive with gay strollers.

In the evening the formal services which opened the picnic and exhibition were held in the auditorium, at one end of which a nicely decorated stage furnished room for those who took part. The Grange motto: "Esto perpetua" in flowers, is a prominent feature of the decorations and it, with a handsome floral cross, and some flags complete a very pretty effect. A choir opened the services. Hon. Leonard Rhone then delivered the address of welcome. Isaac Frain, Master of the county grange and Prof. Neff, of Millheim, both spoke. A number of other gentlemen made short addresses and the meeting closed.

TUESDAY.

Reveille is not sounded on the grounds and campers can sleep as long as they want, but when one is accustomed to rising early in the morning he seldom makes an exception of a time like this. The people who peeped out of their tents on Tuesday morning saw a heavy fog settled over the grounds and an ugly, drizzling rain falling. It augured ill for a big day in camp and as the rain continued during the entire day there was not much done. People kept to their tents. Visitors were few and in general it was a tiresome day at the Park. We took advantage of the general quiet to look around the grounds. Outside the erection of a few shelter tents and a new fence along the railroad there has been no improvement made since last year. A few of the large exhibits such as that of the Pennsylvania State College, Harry Chaapel, florist, of Williamsport; Wolf & Crawford's Department store, of Centre Hall; Harper & Kramer, of Centre Hall; Booser Bros., implements, of Centre Hall; Lyon & Co., McCalmont & Co., implements, of this place, and several others attracted our attention, but aside from them there was nothing on the ground to incite interest. No stock, no specially interesting impemented exhibits, or anything of the kind intended to hold a crowd. And it was a wonder to us that anyone came at all when there was absolutely nothing to see.

Down along the railroad there was some signs of activity for despite the rain the peanut booths and fakirs were plying their trade with some hearty youngsters for whom the water and the prospects of a cold had no terrors. Down in that locality is the only place where any amusement can be had, and if you want it there you must make it for yourself, by trying your luck with the swinging ball, the travelling marble or fortune cards. It comes high sometimes, but they all must have it.

The signal service on the grounds proved interesting to those who cared to investigate the method of taking observations on the weather. Prof. Ball's fair weather flag caused much enjoyment as it looked as though it would like to crawl down the pole on Tuesday.

In the morning at nine o'clock a meeting was held in the auditorium, under the auspices of the women of the State Grange. At 10 o'clock Hon. S. R. Downing, of West Chester, and D. C. Kennedy addressed the meeting.

The afternoon meeting was quite well attended. The people had to have a place to go and they all went to the auditorium. Dr. H. P. Armsby, Director of the Penna. State College Experiment Station was introduced and had gotten well along with a very entertaining talk, when a big storm came up and threatened to demolish the tent. Half of it blew down causing a panic among the audience. The Doctor's speech was brought to an abrupt end and everybody fled. The storm only lasted for a few moments, however, and things were straightway fixed up. Hon. Giles D. Price, of Erie, was then introduced to the frightened people, who couldn't sit still long enough to hear his excellent talk on "money and currency."

In the evening a musicale and literary entertainment was given under the direction of Miss Emma Brewer, of Delaware county. This concluded a dull though memorable day at the picnic. All those who didn't get wet got mad and vowed that they would never go to another picnic, but when next year comes around they'll be the first fellows on the grounds. With all its discomfits there's fun it too.

WEDNESDAY.

Contrary to expectations the third day did not turn out a very large crowd. The threatening weather had a bad effect on the inclinations of those who had perhaps intended going and though it was Temperance day the blue ribboned army of Centre county must have concluded that water was all right when taken internally, but entirely out of place for external application. However it did not rain until evening and those who did go, had a very pleasant time. Occasional peeps of sunshine added to the pleasure of the day for old Sol. has been very chary with his rays during the whole week. The Aaronburg band kept up a continual "toot," the fakirs did a land office business and the "dago" with the monkey had all the girls on the grounds after him.

In the big auditorium the ladies held sway during the morning. Their meetings were well attended and quite entertaining. During the afternoon and evening the Temperance people held the boards. Rev. Zeigler is always on hand with a lot of forcible speakers. If the grangers were as good as he is at carrying out advertised programs we are certain that disappointments would not be of such frequent occurrence. He had Hon. H. T. Ames, of Williamsport, and Rev. J. T. McCrory, of Pittsburg, both of whom delivered most excellent talks on the license question. These meetings, though usually supposed to be dry, proved as entertaining as any that were held on the ground.

There was a general stampede for the trains about six o'clock when a wind squall came up and threatened the camp with destruction. The crowd soon thinned out, but only a little rain fell and the evening in camp turned out to be quite pleasant, notwithstanding the cold. A pyrotechnic display, made at Supt. Westfall's tent, attracted many to that quarter and the band concerts at various parts of the grounds amused many.

THURSDAY.

True to the WATCHMAN's prediction, yesterday was the biggest day thus far. Thousands of people packed the picnic grounds. Every incoming train, from early morning until noon, was packed with people all eager to spend the day away from home. The weather looked very threatening in the morning, but by eleven o'clock it cleared off nicely and the day proved all that could possibly have been expected. The crowds of people, who thronged through the avenues, the exhibition buildings, and down past the "fakirs" stands, were merry and contented as the day was long. There must have been eight or ten thousand people on the ground. It was indeed a big day, though there was nothing more for the people to do than to gorge themselves with peanuts and lemonade then go and regret it on the merry-go-round.

The women were again supreme in the auditorium, in the morning. Many people went to their meeting for want of some place else to go. At 10 o'clock Senator Brown, of York county, and Wm. Benninger, State Grange Deputy, were the spokesmen. At 2 o'clock Hon. Mortimer Whitehead, National Grange lecturer, Dr. Groff, of Bucknell University at Lewisburg, and Dr. Armsby, of State College, entertained large crowds of people with their instructive talks. In the evening Miss Brewer entertained the people with another of her delightfully arranged literary and musical entertainments.

To-day the Veterans of the county are having their annual reunion and picnic. Ex-President Rutherford B. Hayes and a number of other dignitaries are supposed to be there.

Now that there remains but two more days of this, the 19th annual picnic and exhibition of the Grangers, we look back over the four days that have passed and ask ourselves what makes these gatherings assume the proportions that they do. There is but one answer to our self put question and that is, a natural desire for an outing. When the 18th annual picnic closed there was much complaint made by visitors that those who had the affair in charge had done nothing for public comfort and many of the thousands who were there last year were loud in their professions that they would never return. The same crowd has been there this year, notwithstanding the fact that little has been done to attract. The grounds in themselves are perfectly void of beauty; there is not an exhibit which one would care to go out of his way to see; no amusements, except one merry-go-round which drives possible patrons away with a wheezy organ that plays nothing but Annie Rooney; the auditorium is too small for the crowds which would like to hear the few advertised speakers who get there; and to cap the climax the railroad company furnishes cars, for transportation, which immigrants would not ride in. Now this is a fair and unbiased resume of the picnic yet we cannot understand what attracts such crowds day after day. 'Tis true there has been a very material falling off in the attendance this year, but this we ascribe to the threatening weather rather than to the fact that the managers, by discrimination, high rates, and by offering no incentives for exhibitors, have done everything in their power to lessen rather than increase the interest.

Our good granger friends—for the WATCHMAN is the best friend you have take our advice. Be more liberal next year. Have good music, such as the Milton band would make. Offer prizes for exhibits. Encourage the legitimate dealers of this and adjoining counties if they desire to make display of their wares. Erect a large dancing pavilion, and other such places of amusement. Suppress the "fakirs" and your picnic will then assume the proportion and degree of success you desire to see it meet with. Help amuse the people. Nothing will be lost if your time and money is expended on the ideas we suggest. If a crowd is to be held for a week there must be something to attract it.

The following is the list of tent holders on the ground:

—Don't forget the "Silver King" next Tuesday night.

—Two hundred men's winter coats $1.50, $1.75, $2.00 Lyon & Co.

—Lock Haven had quite a conflagration on Saturday night. Four stables burned.

—Ladies fur trimmed jackets and reefers from $4.75 to $15.00. Lyon & Co.

A very pleasant sociable and musicale was held in the Y. M. C. A. Gymnasium, on Saturday evening.

—Overcoats of all styles and grades light, tan, brown, silk lined, silk faced from $7.00 to $15.00. Lyon & Co.

—Everyone should turn out to day and see Bellefonte down Phillipsburg to-day at the Park. It will be the last game of the season.

—Ladies, misses and children's fall and winter coats all in, already, and a great big line it is. Lyon & Co.

—The Lock Haven Democrat is mad because the council of that town buys limestone up here. Lock Haven money is as good as any other even if it does come under protest.

—We are all ready for fall and winter. The grandest line of children's misses and ladies coats just opened. Lyon & Co.

A COPPERHEAD IN THE BASKET.

Last Friday Mr. N. J. Bittner, of Beech Creek, cut the grass in the lawn in front of his house and a young man living with him gathered the grass and placed it in a basket. He then picked up the basket, but quickly dropped it on account of a sting on his finger from what he supposed was a bee. Mr. Bittner, in attempting to carry the basket, was also stung on the leg. As it was about dusk neither knew exactly what caused the trouble, but after getting a lantern they discovered a good sized copperhead snake, and they were not long in dispatching his snakeship.—Lock Haven Express.

—Our little girls winter coats all beautiful styles with long caps $2.00, $2.50, $3.00, $4.00, and up to $10.00 Lyon & Co.

ON THE RUN FROM CHOLERA.— Within the past three or four days the colored population of Bellefonte has been almost stampeded from fear of cholera. Some one has evidently told the darkies that the fall scourge was imminent and that they would be especially susceptible to its germs, for every drug store in the town reports an unusual sale of camphor and asafetida to colored buyers. The old spring white wash bucket is being hauled out again and there is being such a cleaning up in colored quarters as has not been made for years. A cholera scare often might be good for the community.

—A beautiful line of ladies fall coats in tan and other light shades and black for $3.50 to $12.00. Lyon & Co.

THE NEW MONEY ORDER CONVENIENCE.—This month the new postal money orders will go into use. The system is such that there is little or no complication, and at the same time it is a good way to send money. A sheet calling for amounts from one cent to $3.00 has been prepared, and which on payment of one cent and the amount to be sent, will be torn off about the same as an express order. There will be no writing on it by the post master, the sender endorsing it as a check or draft. The government guarantees its safe transportation. It is thought that the system will be used extensively by senders of small amounts.

—Special, great big bargains in boys suits at $1.25, $1.50, $2.00. Lyon & Co.

FOR OUR GUNNING READERS.—The following is a list of game which may be hunted in this section, with the dates of its season:—Turkey, Oct. 15 to Jan. 1; ducks, Sept. 1 to May 1; plover, July 15 to Jan. 1; woodcock, July 4 to Jan. 1; quail, Nov. 1 to Dec. 15; ruffed grouse or pheasants, Oct. 1 to Jan. 1; rail and reed birds, Sept. 1 to Dec. 15; elk and deer, Oct. 1 to Dec. 15; squirrels, Sept. 1 to Jan. 1; hares and rabbits, Nov. 1 to Jan. 1.

—The greatest line of children's and misses coats from $1.25 to $10.00. Lyon & Co.

Sale Register.
Oct. 22—at the late residence of Aaron R. Hall, deceased, in Union township. Horses, cattle, sheep, farm implements etc. Sale at 10 a. m.

—Don't miss seeing those $10 suits at Fauble's.
