

which to cross the Desert. After three days hard travelling we reached the mountains, with just about a gallon of water for ourselves and none for the burros, and to our dismay the tanks, which we had no trouble in finding, were empty.

We then gave up all hopes of prospecting unless we could find water. After hunting the remainder of the day we found another tank but the burros emptied that before we could get any.

That settled the prospecting and the only thing we thought of was how to get over the 70 miles of desert with only a gallon of water. We decided that Jim should ride one of the burros and go on about 30 miles to a tank which was never known to be dry, where he should fill the water bags and come back to meet me, as I was to follow with the other animals.

Giving Jim all the remaining water, as I had about a dozen cans of tomatoes, we separated. The following day I reached the tank to find it empty, and a note from Jim, traced in the sand, saying that he had gone on to the Arho for help.

There was nothing for me to do but follow. That afternoon the burros commenced to suffer for want of water and it was hard work to keep them moving but giving each two cans of tomatoes which seemed to revive them, I decided to travel all night with the hopes of getting far enough so that if I had to abandon them, I would have strength enough to pull me through.

I travelled all night until about noon the next day when the burros gave out. Taking their packs off I rolled two cans of tomatoes in my blanket, giving the rest to the burros, and, slinging my pack on my back, started; but the loss of sleep and tomato diet had so exhausted me that I was too weak to carry my pack, so making a tent of my blanket I crawled under and slept until dark. I then decided to try to reach the Dripping Spring which judged was about 80 miles to the East. Taking off all my clothes but my shirt, hat and shoes leaving them and my blanket in a bundle, started, with my revolver, compass and remaining can of tomatoes. At this point I first actually began to suffer for lack of water. My tongue was swollen and my throat dry and parched. Filling my mouth with tomato juice I hurried along as fast as possible, for I dreaded the day, when the sun would beat down at about 140°, and wished to cover as great a distance as possible before then.

By seven o'clock the next morning I could see the mountains in which the spring was located; I knew them well, having been there but a few weeks before, they were only about two miles away but by this time I was so weak that I stumbled and fell frequently. The last tomato can had disappeared a couple of hours before. My tongue had swollen and pushed itself out of my mouth; when I breathed my throat felt as though it were lined with leather. By ten o'clock I had traveled about four miles but was so weak with difficulty get on my feet and breathing was intensely painful. My only thought was water—I could see it just ahead of me. At first it looked like a large lake. I started to run when it commenced to get smaller and smaller, then to disappear altogether and I could see nothing but the mountain. I laughed. What was that strange noise? It sounded like a combination between a croak and a gurgle, I stopped and looked around but could see nothing. I thought then I was getting delirious and knew when I lost my reason that I would be lost, which made me laugh again, then I discovered the cause of the strange sound, it was my laugh!!!! I fell again and lay there for about ten minutes, then staggered to my feet and in my misery cried "Good God am I crazy?"—the mountains had disappeared and in their place were huge demons laughing, grinning and mocking me. One of them offered me a drink of water. I reached for it only to have it tantalizingly poured out on the sand and disappear before I could gather it in my hands. I begged for only a drop but the demon laughed me to scorn. In my misery I shook my fist and cursed him, but the vision faded and there were the mountains grim and forboding; sole witnesses of my sufferings.

For two weary hours I pushed on, my eyes burning like live coals while strange fantasies danced through my throbbing brain, and finally reached the top of a small hill whence looking down into a gully, beheld a ghastly sight. Three dead corpses, not decomposed, but dried and wizened by the scorching sun and hot dry air, were stretched under a wagon bed where they had doubtless crawled in their death agonies to get a little protection from old Sol's burning rays. After frantically searching in vain through the rubbish strewn around if perchance some kind Fate might find me just a drop of water to slake my maddening thirst, I dragged the bodies from their ghastly retreat and crawling under, lay down to suffer a thousand deaths until kind Providence should put an end to my miserable existence. About dark I awoke from the stupor into which I had fallen, only to find myself surrounded by a pack of fiendish, looking skeletons grinning at and deriding me with their long bony fingers. Staggering up I drew my revolver and with trembling hand aimed at these horrible mockers. They scattered but my horror was only intensified when there came swooping down upon me, something less of man and more of devil, striking with its hooked talons at my senseless flesh. Happily insensibility overcame me and I knew nothing more until I awoke next morning at Dripping Spring to find Jim pouring water into a sponge thrust between my teeth.

After leaving me Jim had pushed on to the tank and, finding it empty, continued his journeying toward the Arho until his burro gave out. Then he wandered on foot over the remaining distance reaching the Arho more dead than alive. Finding no one there he pursued his wearisome journey to the ranch, three miles distant, and meeting George Lane by the wayside, started back to succor me. Discovering my dead burros, they took to my trail, gathering my scattered garments and pushing on in haste with the fear of finding me dead. Enabled at first to follow by the empty tomato cans, they finally lost the trail and had about despaired of finding me when they were startled at hearing several shots. Searching for a short time they found me sitting beneath the wagon shooting at the bodies which I had placed a few feet away, for a target. Jim shouted and started on a run to me when I fired, the bullet whizzing through the rim of his hat. Knocking the revolver out of my hand he poured the contents of his canteen on my face, and then placing me in the wagon made for Dripping Spring a distance of three miles. Here, as though it had been the stream of Lethe, we tried to seek forgetfulness from our past agonies, but after resting for several days I decided truly time and distance could help to banish these horrible memories and hence started for Pennsylvania where the cooling winds fanned my feverish brow almost making me think I had just been the victim of a hideous nightmare.

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONIALS
SEVERE EYE TROUBLE.

I have been troubled with some Eye disease for some time. The pain was almost unbearable at times, and I couldn't think of reading or sewing at any time. I put myself under the care of Dr. Salm, who visits Bellefonte every four weeks, and after only three months treatment, I consider myself entirely cured, and I can safely say that my eyes feel better and have better vision than at any time within the last twelve years. Mrs. F. GOLDEN,
Butler, Pa., W. Jefferson street.

CROSS EYE OPERATION.
I have been cross-eyed ever since infancy. On August 27, 1890, I went to Dr. Salm, who visits Indiana every four weeks. He operated on my eye with perfect success, without pain or loss of blood in about a minutes time. Respectfully,
KALE KUNKEL,
E. Parkwood, Indiana county, Pa., Oct. 25, 1890.

EAR TROUBLE AND CATARRH.
I have been troubled with catarrh and deafness, ringing in the ears, about six years. Tried two different doctors in Pittsburg and ever so many patent medicines, without the least benefit. I have now been under Dr. Salm's treatment four months, and the improvement is remarkable, and I am certain that within a short time I'll be entirely cured. Ho, Ho, Ho! Doctor to go to, to get cured.
W. R. MILLER,
Kelley Station, Armstrong Co., Pa. Oct. 1, 1894.

FISSURE, FISTULA AND ULCERATION OF RECTUM.
After first treatment in the most intense pain had vanished as if by magic. For nearly five years I have suffered most fearfully from fissure, fissure and ulceration of rectum. The pain produced by same was at times almost intolerable, and my doing any work was out of the question. After having read the first treatment from Dr. Salm, the relief was remarkable and the fearful pain of years' standing had vanished as if by magic, and now after a short course of treatment I consider myself entirely cured. Gratefully,
JOHN HOBBS,
Indiana, Pa., March 11, 1891.

GROWTH REMOVED FROM THE EYE BALL.
Dr. Salm has removed a hard, gritty growth from my left eye with perfect success and but little pain. The sight has also improved to a great extent. Respectfully,
MISS ELMIRA ADAMS,
Wheat, Butler county, Pa., January 22, 1891.

REMOVAL OF TUMOR FROM THE EYE BALL.
A few months ago Dr. Salm removed from my left eye-ball a tumor size of a small hard nut, with perfect success and no pain whatever, and was not kept in the house a single day on account of the operation.
ALICE WORK,
Rochester Mills, Indiana Co., Pa., Jan. 14, 1891.

TUMOR REMOVED FROM THE EAR DRUM.
I have had a tumor growing in the ear almost attached to the drum. Dr. Salm removed the same four weeks ago without any pain, and as I can see now, with splendid results. He is a great physician.
PETER ANMAN,
Somerset, Pa., January 16, 1891.

PRIVATE DISEASES.
On account of having been Attending Physician at Hot Springs Dr. Salm has never failed to cure a case of Private Disease peculiar to either sex, no matter of what nature or how long standing.

RUNNING OF THE EARS.
Our little son Brinton has for the last five years had running of both ears, and the same was so offensive that it was almost impossible to be near him; he became emaciated pale and puny, and was nearly always crying on account of the pain. We had him treated in Linesville, Clarion and Oil City by the best home physicians but no cure resulted, and we might just as well have thrown our money in the fire. Dr. Salm has been treating him for three months, and an entire and splendid cure has been made by him on Brinton.
Mrs. R. V. McNAUGHTEN,
Kingsville, Clarion Co., Pa., Jan. 27, 1891.

LUNG TROUBLE CURED.
In June of last year I put myself under treatment for a bad case of lung trouble. I was losing flesh rapidly and became weaker daily, so that my friends and myself became very much alarmed. Although treated by some of our very best home physicians, I began to sink more and more. At this date I consider myself entirely cured of all my previous trouble, have once more a good appetite and can eat and sleep with pleasure, and am indeed very much satisfied with the result. Dr. Salm has done all he promised.
S. E. RAINE,
Blaines, Armstrong Co., Pa., Feb. 23, 1891.

CATARACT SUCCESSFULLY REMOVED.
Having heard of successful cataract operations Dr. Salm has made, particularly of one case of an old lady in Columbus, I decided to have him operate on my right eye, in which I was blind for nine years. The operation was performed some time in July; the pain was not worth mentioning and no chloroform was given. As a result I can to-day see far and near, read and write again, and from having been in ill health and puny, I am also rapidly improving in strength. I will gladly answer any correspondence and personal inquiry regarding this successful operation. I was 72 years of age when the operation was performed.

Ashley, Delaware Co., Ohio.
