THE LAND OF THE LAZY

The land of the lazy is "Sometime" land, Its boundaries all are "After a while." Its citizens wear the "Mean-to" brand, And "Going to" garments are all the style

In the land of the lazy little is done, For the dwellers crowd to the county "Shirk," And they moan like martyrs every one At the very sound of the name of work.

In the land of the lazy they want to get Just as much as the toilers do, And then, if they don't they fume and fret, And grumble about "Fate's favored few."

In the land of the lazy Ambition dies, For it cannot live in unattended soil, And its bright twin, Progress, straightway

Away, away to the town of Toil.

In the land of the lazy you and I, As a matter of course, have never been; But I tell you what, we had best look spry, Or, before we know it, we'll enter in. —Susie M Best.

Fair Flower Lovers.

The Hunger and Thirst of Chrysanthe mums-Many Matters of Many Kinds for Many Read-ers of Wholesome Minds.

An occasional cool night now reminds us that Jack Frost will soon appear with blighting touch destroying some of our most treasured blossoms; but intelligent cultivation during September will give us quantities of flowers which would otherwise be blasted before they reach maturity.

Dahlias-They have been so handsome during the past month; but notice the number of tiny buds. If they are not forced they will be ready to develop into beauty just as Jack is ready to claim them, but we can easily get ahead of him. Keep the soil well cultivated and pulverized about the roots, fertilize occasionally, give them the suds from the weekly wash, and keep all the flowers picked off as soon as they begin to fade. The last two points are especially important. It does not pay to give them a little water during the dry weather -- in fact, it is time wasted ; what they need is a good, thorough soaking way down below the roots. If this is done once a week, and the soil kept mellow and finely pulverized, they will not suffer from the dry weather. Nothing spoils a clump of dahlias so much as the fading flowers; the beauties in full bloom and the opening buds are not half appreciated if the plants are disfigured by a quantity of these ugly brown objects, always a sign of neglect-and, besides being unsightly, these faded flowers are forming seed, and by thus appropriating the strength of the plant, which should be used to develop the buds, are cheating us out of numberless flowers laser. As soon as the flowers are fully developed pick them off

The Umbrella is Very Valuable.

"An umbrella is one of the most useful articles that a man can carry with him," said Lamar J. Saunders, from Jackson, Miss. "One can be used in a dozen different ways. When the sun 1s shining hot, or when it is raining, a man without an umbrella must either remain in doors or suffer. As a weapon of defense there is no thing better.
