THINGS ABOUT TOWN & COUNTY

The Methodist chapel, at Coleville, has a new organ.

With our mail carriers it is always a case of let'er-go.

Philipsburg Methodists are carrying on a very successful revival meeting.

A handsome new sign points out "Fauble's" to the shopper on Allegheny street.

Three weeks from yesterday some turkeys will wish they had never been hatched.

Bellefonte firemen have been covering themselves with glory during the past week.

A delightful rain, on Wednesday night, relieved the parched condition of the country hereabouts.

The Ladies will find it to their advantage to look up the Cash Bazaar advertisement of this week.

Freight wrecks at Vail and Unionville delayed trains for an hour, on Tuesday. No one was hurt.

A. A. Witter and wife, of Tyrone, celebrated the 25th anniversary of their wedding on Friday evening.

Jenkins Brothers and Lingle's Howard rolling mill, which was burned about a month ago, is nearly rebuilt.

Fire destroyed the dwelling house, at Mill Hall, occupied by Mrs. M. McKissic, on Monday night. Her furniture was saved.

Wm. P. Humes, of this place, spent part of last week near Salisbury, Md., where he is interested in some coal and fire clay lands.

Farmers, throughout the county, are complaining that the corn is so dry while it is being husked it shells out, entailing considerable loss.

Nelson A. Lucas, an attaché of the Pension department at Washington, D. C. is shaking hands with his friends about his old home here.

The Osceola Methodist church was reopened, on last Sunday, after having undergone repairs which cost $1,800. Rev. E. J. Gray, D. D., of Williamsport, officiated, and the entire indebtedness was lifted.

Miss May Barrett will succeed Miss Emma Butts as sales lady in J. A. Harper & Co's store, on Allegheny street. Miss Butts will be married to Commissioners' clerk Robert F. Hunter some time during the latter part of the month.

Miss Harriet L. Thomas, who has made her home at the Bush House, in this place, for some time, was called to Philadelphia, on Monday morning, on account of the serious illness of a brother. He died shortly after her arrival in the Quaker city.

Master Willie Brouse, son of J. Stewart Brouse, of South Thomas street, was severely injured while playing in the North ward school house yard, last Monday afternoon. A playmate shot him with a sling shot. The stone severing an artery on the temple.

While feeding a steam corn husker in Woodward township, Clinton county, on Friday, C. J. Wetzel, a young man from Lock Haven, got his hand in the rolls and the machinery had to be broken before it could be gotten out. Later the physicians found amputation necessary.

William Derstine, oldest son of John Derstine builder and contractor of this place, was married in Snow Shoe, on Tuesday evening, to Miss Ella Linn, a daughter of James Linn. A number of Bellefonte friends were present at the ceremony. The young couple will go to housekeeping on Lamb street.

The young ladies of the church Guild of the Episcopal church, in this place, gave a very delightful entertainment in the parlors of Mr. George Valentine's home, No. 332 North Allegheny street, on Monday evening. Amateur theatricals and music made up a well received program.

Bellefonte children enjoyed themselves on last Monday night. They were given all the liberties they wanted and the streets were thronged with merry parties of little ones. Some in masquerade, others with corn and cabbage heads, ready to pelt every one they met. No property was destroyed, but the children had lots of fun.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dunham have the sympathy of this entire community in this their time of sad bereavement. Two little children, the youngest a boy, and the bright little eight year old daughter, having died within a day of each other. The nature of their disease rendered the administration of those last sad rites which the living offer for the dead impossible and the little ones were buried with the greatest possible privacy.

A BIG FIRE SUNDAY MORNING.—A fire which threatened to wipe out a large portion of Bellefonte was started in an ice house, at the rear of the Bush Arcade, just across the creek from this office, early Sunday morning. When it was discovered the flames had made such headway that the saving of adjoining property was all that was possible.

With the wind blowing a gale of sixty miles an hour, right into the business portion of the town, and five frame stables and numerous outbuildings already in a blaze, the firemen went to work with a determination that was desperate. It was a fight for hundreds of homes and a score of business houses but after five hours hard work the firemen came out victorious.

DETAILS OF THE FIRE.
From the ice-house, in which it started, it communicated to an old oil house near by. Thence it ran up through a long shed to the stable on the rear of Mrs. D. G. Bush's Spring street lot. The stable being full of hay and fodder made a frightful blaze. Showers of sparks being carried by a terrific gale clear to the extreme eastern end of town. In the Bush stable was a cow, a carriage, two costly phaetons and the old family horse, all of which were burned but the cow.

The next place that was noticed to be on fire was the rear end of the handsome Arcade building, which fronts on High street. The prompt work of firemen rescued it for the time; then turned their attention to the stables of D. G. Garman and Dr. Robert Hayes, both of which were on fire. All that human hands could do was done without avail, and seeing the futility of their work the water was all turned on the big brick house, on Spring street, occupied by Dr. Hayes and Harry Keller. Again and again it was on fire and each time it was put out, but at last the flames and smoke from the burning stables drove the firemen from their posts and the flames got in between the roofs on the house. It was a mansard, with tin on top of shingles. The fire must have caught at a gable window which had been left open. Five streams were immediately turned on it, but as the fire was all inside it got such a headway that it was difficult to arrest. Finally when it did burst out the work had telling effect, for 'twas but a very few moments until it was under control. The building was gutted, though the walls are intact and will not have to be taken down.

It seems almost impossible that during the fire sparks were carried, nearly a mile, to the home of Robert Hepburn, which was on fire several times. The home of Abe Baum, Mrs. Schrock, and Brockerhoff's feed store, on Bishop street, were all on fire and only the hardest kind of work saved them. Brockerhoff's house, Meyer's and Wm. Grauer's, on Spring street, were ignited several times, but escaped with slight damage to the roofs.

The fire assumed its most serious aspect when the Arcade building took fire the second time. Everyone seemed to realize that if it should burn Bellefonte would lose her beauty spot. The windows were burned out of the new part and the old end was completely gutted on the second and third floors, though Powers' shoe store and Twitmyer's tin store escaped without a penny's damage. The fact that both new and old portions of the building had metal roofs and the former metal cornices is all that saved them. Fire got under the roof of the old portion however and the water that was required to stop it did considerable damage to the plastering.

In all her history Bellefonte has never witnessed a fire that looked as forboding as the one looked on Sunday morning. Everything seemed against the arrest of the flames until they had burned their course, but the desperate work of the firemen and the wall of brick houses, with slate roofs, on Spring street, are all that saved us from the most disastrous conflagration we have ever been visited with. The water was there in abundance. At one time there were six streams playing on the fire and all of them with a head that carried clear over the highest buildings. But with all that the escape was miraculous. Bellefonte firemen are to be congratulated. Certainly a trained, paid department could not have done better. They have clearly demonstrated to our citizens that they are deserving of all the praise that is being bestowed upon them and every man worked as though his life depended on the result. Surely the Logan steamer has paid for itself and the New Undine Fire Co., merits your support. The Hookies too, came in for a large share of the laurels. All of them were firemen in every sense of the word. Let your generosity measure your appreciation of the work they have done for you.

WHO THE LOSERS WERE.
Dr. R. G. Hayes is the heaviest loser. A stable, a new buggy, harness and other stuff, all of his outbuildings and his brick house, on Spring street, having been consumed. Together with much furniture and carpet which could not be gotten out of his house. Loss covered by insurance.

Mrs. D. G. Bush is the next heaviest loser. For her the flames destroyed two ice houses, a good barn, a horse, two phaetons, a carriage, harness and damaged the back of the Arcade building to the extent of $1,500. Her loss is covered by insurance.

Next on the list comes Daniel Garman, whose stable containing four sleighs, a buggy and a carriage is a total loss.

Harry Keller, who occupied rooms in the Hayes house, lost furniture and clothing to the extent of $75. He did not carry insurance.

George Lonberger, who lived in the back part of the old portion of the Arcade suffered a slight loss from water. And two boys who had just fitted up a room there for sleeping purposes were drowned out before they go into it.

Twenty-four carat gold is all gold; 22 carat has 22 parts of gold, 1 of silver and one of copper; 18 carat gold has 18 parts of gold and three each of silver and copper; 13 carat gold is half gold and has 3 parts of silver and 8 parts of copper. Its specific gravity is 15, and that of pure gold is 19.

Elsewhere in these columns will be found an interesting communication from Dr. J. E. Tibbins, of Beech Creek, about the destruction of the farmers' pest, Canada thistle. It will prove salient reading for those of you who have the pesty things on your fields and the doctor seems to know what he is writing about.

Mrs. Jacob Gotschall, of Gallagher township, Clinton county, hanged herself to the shaker of a threshing machine on last Friday afternoon. Her husband and daughter were in the corn field at the time and when they entered the barn made the horrible discovery. She was dead with her toes severely of the floor. She had made two attempts at suicide before. One by setting herself afire, the other by a dose of laudanum.

WHERE MEETINGS WILL BE HELD.
Democratic meetings will be held this evening in the Holt's Hollow school house, in Boggs township, and in Mann's school house, at Axe Mann. Tomorrow, Saturday night, at Eagleville and at Millheim, and on Monday night at Show Shoe.

Good speakers will be in attendance at all of the meetings and every one should turn out.

FOOT-BALL AT THE COLLEGE.—On Saturday afternoon Nov. 12th, the football eleven from Bucknell university, at Lewisburg, will line up against the strong State College team. It will be a game worth witnessing, for it is needless to say that the rivalry between the two institutions will be an incentive to the hardest kind of work. The game will be played on Beaver field and will be called at two o'clock sharp. A special train will run over the Bellefonte Central R. R., leaving here at 1 o'clock p. m. and returning in time for connections to Tyrone and Lock Haven. The admission will be 50cts.

FIRE AT STATE COLLEGE.—Between eleven and twelve o'clock last Monday morning some students who were working in the chemical laboratory, at the Pennsylvania State College, noticed that the roof of the middle wing of the main building was on fire. They quickly gave the alarm and for a little while excitement reigned supreme, but the flames were extinguished before much damage was done.

It is supposed to have caught from a spark from the stack which runs up through that portion of the building. Some men had been burning rubbish down in the cellar. The prompt response of the students, and workmen about the place, prevented a serious conflagration.

The Washington and Cresson literary society halls are located on the fifth floor at that wing, the latter being considerably damaged by a bursted hose.

A BIRTHDAY PARTY.—On Tuesday evening, October 25th, the residence of Mr. James W. Beck, near Jacksonville, was the scene of a delightful birthday party given in honor of John Beck, who had just completed his twentieth year. A large party of young folks were present and spent the evening in enjoyable amusements. At 10 o'clock refreshments were served much to the delight of the merry young people.

The following is a list of persons who were present: Misses Lavina McEwen, Alice Bergstresser, Laura Welsh, Eva Yearick, Nellie Johnson, Katie Kling, Emma Bergstresser, Mary Gensil, Emma Long, Ada Yearick, Minnie Leathurs, Jessie Beck, Bertha Wilson, Sanctie Yearick, Laura Johnson, Edith Irvin, Maggie Long, Minnie Yearick. Messrs. Jake Bergstresser, Mervin Betz, Sam Kling, Charles Miller, Joe Strunk, John McEwen, Lew Robb, George Hoy, Newton Thompson, Elwood Winkelman, Charles Crap, Harry Martin, Calvin Kling, George Johnsonbaugh, Harry McClinton, Elmer Bartley, Newton Kling, Lewis Dorman, Harry Yearick, Charles Decker, Fred Best, Irvin McClinton, Rod Hockman and Oscar Kling.

THANKSGIVING EVE BALL.—With the opening of the holiday season the amusement lovers of Bellefonte always have two enjoyable occasions to look forward to. The firemen of the town find nearly as much enjoyment in an evening of dancing, at which they delight to entertain their friends, as they do in trying to save the property of our citizens from destruction by fire, and the companies have selected the winter holiday season as the one most advantageous during which to hold their balls.

According to the time honored custom of the old Undine Fire Co., No. 2, the new Undine Fire Co., No. 2, which has risen phoenix like from the ashes of the old organization, will continue to give the annual Thanksgiving eve ball which the blue shirts have been giving for years past. These affairs have proven an easy way of raising funds for the organizations which have them in charge. For a person will pay fifty cents for a ticket and go and dance a whole night; never thinking what a great help his money—though small the amount may have seemed—will be to the firemen. Our companies are all volunteers and while the borough gives them a small appropriation, there are many little things which are conducive to their comfort which must be paid for in some way. Isn't it far more grateful in us and encouraging to them to help them along a little, especially when opportunities of this sort are given. Every business man or property owner should buy a ticket or two, and all combined a handsome sum will be realized without anyone having missed the small outlay.

The new Undine Fire Co., No. 2, will give its first annual ball in Bush's Arcade, on Wednesday evening, November 23rd, 1892. The proceeds will be devoted to the better equipment of the company and a large attendance should reward their efforts to please the public. The full "Orpheus" orchestra, of eight pieces, composed of such elegant musicians as Geo. Brandon, the Smith and Beirley brothers, Prof. Robert Tipple, George Flory and John Meyer will furnish the music for the occasion. No other recommendation is needed for the excellence of the music than the publication of the performers names. Everything will be conducted in the finest possible manner and the comfort of those attending will be carefully looked after. The best of order will be preserved.

Go and help the firemen along. Their heroic work during the last few days should be a sufficient incentive for you to do all you can.

To vote the full Democratic ticket place a cross mark in the square to the right of the word Democratic, thus:

DEMOCRATIC X

wherever the word Democratic appears on the Official ballot. Nothing could be simpler.

BAUER'S STORE ON FIRE.—At 9:15 Monday night fire was discovered in the cellar of the store-room occupied by J. N. Bauer & Son, in the three story brick block owned by the T. R. Reynolds' estate, at No. 15, South Allegheny street. An alarm was quickly sounded and firemen responded with a promptness that was startling. Two streams were turned into the cellar and before the fire had time to do much more than fill the building with smoke it was completely extinguished. Aside from the inevitable depreciation in the value of goods which are tainted by smoke there was not much damage done. Garman's store, which adjoins the one in which the fire originated, was badly smoked and all of the goods will have to be sacrificed somewhat on account of the smell.

When the alarm was first sounded the general impression that it was a Halloween joke necessitated a second and a third alarm, before there was a general response. Volumes of smoke were pouring out of the store doors when the firemen worked valiantly and kept the flames confined to the cellar. Owing to the dense smoke it was some time before the fire could be located.

It is supposed to have been caused by the accidental dropping of a match or spark from a cigar into some straw which was lying at the foot of the cellar stairs. Monday night was pay night and the store had enjoyed a big rush. Mr. Bauer thinks that some one of the Hungarians or Italians, who were in the habit of going into the water faucet at the head of the stairs to get a drink, accidentally left a spark fall into the inflammable substance below. The oil barrels were right near so the fire burned rapidly, until discovered. It was fortunate that it was discovered so soon and so successfully, handled or that whole corner would undoubtedly have been a ruin at this writing.

Mr. Bauer's store seems to be ill-fated. It was in his cellar, while he was in business on Spring street, that the big fire which took Strychline corner in 1886 began. Then his entire stock was demolished. This time his only damage is by smoke. Several French plate windows were broken in the store and the joists badly charred.

Lock Haven uses 432,000 gallons of canal water every day.

News Notes From Howard.
Ralf Schenk is on the sick list.

The wife of Antis Conifer has been sick with the fever and is on the road to recovery. According to present outlooks.

The fluid arsenal in the cellar of Thomas Butler's house should have a "watchman" over it. It would undoubtly be guarded.

The creamery, for Howard, scheme which has been agitating us for some weeks past, has fallen through for some reason or other.

The coming election day has aroused some of our spirited enthusiasts to such extent that the prospects of "G. O." are considered, very good.

The venerable "quire Kline sets a good example for all by his abstinent use of yeast-leaves and "firing" them out of existence.

Mr. Fred Dunham, buried two children here within two days—the effects of diphtheria. We residents here extend our deepest sympathy to the bereaved family.

The P. O. S. of A. flag, which was placed up on the school house flag pole on Columbus day, was lowered to half mast in memory of Mrs. Benjamin Harrison recently deceased.

Druggist McEntire M. D. has been showing more signs of prosperity by placing our "Harvey" Freeman upon the list in his store. It is a compliment to a boy who means to do right.

Dr. J. C. McEntire, who is temporarily administering to the patrons of dentistry here, expects to locate in Bellefonte on or about the first of November. He hails from Williamsport.

Building seems to be very brisk in spite of the absence of one of the factories. F. R. Inmane Bird Butler is building for himself, so is Mr. McEvain and Marious Minger is building a new sidewalk.

The Jenkins Bros. & Lingle have almost completed their new buildings and will be ready to fire up on Monday next. It will employ many men who have been laid off since the recent fire.

Some very thoughtful republicans went over to Jacksonville to hear Messrs. Orvis, Myer and Singer show up the truth with the usual result—more democrats and their votes for our side.

Some West Virginia officers came here not long ago for the purpose of arresting an inmate of the Huntington Reformatory, serving his parole on a farm close by, but to their sorrow he left by a side door, for parts unknown, as soon as he had heard that the requisition was for his body.

Several inmates of the Huntington Reformatory have lately received their final discharges for serving their paroles faithfully. A good many of them served paroles near here and speak very highly of their treatment while there and trust that Messrs. Paton, Smith and Miller will not be ousted as they are of the proper stuff to run such an institution.

Some few days ago a fire was started in the Jacksonville toll-road narrows, which threatened to blend toward some building on the outskirts of this borough, but it soon changed its course and traveled down the valley. At one time it was thought that it had died out, but to the surprise of everyone it suddenly turned up this side of the mountain again and threatened to eat valuable timber lying in its path. There are no means of controlling it at present and no one can tell when it will die out.

Several residents viewed with awe, the mad rage of King Jinnus made in our town Halloween eve. The large charroas wagon, box at Tipton's barn came up by itself and slept all night at brother Anse Schenk's store and ex-Sheriff Cooke's new omnibus got drunk and landed astraddle of the school house entrance. Holt's livery wagon got angry within itself, walked a mile away and then sat down. Corn was king because ye horsemen forced to leave their crib-doors open, as was evidenced on the sidewalks the next day.

Pine Grove Mentions.
Dr. A. J. Orndorf, of Greensburg, Pa., tarried a day in our town last week en route to his mother's home near Spring Mills.

Mr. E. T. Livingston, who has been confined to bed for some weeks suffering from a partial paralytic stroke is improving but slowly.

That price of good fellows, and one of Lancaster's Democratic wheel horses, A. C. Kepler, recently spent a week here looking after the agricultural interest of his special friend J. M. Kepler, who is gaining health at Hot Springs.

Miss Jane Ann Gilliland, formerly of this community, but now living near Kiskadeeque, Mifflin county is suffering with slight paralysis of one side. It is hoped by her many friends and relatives hear that a collapse will not soon follow.

The drought of many weeks still continues, the growing crops are suffering, many cisterns dry, wells are rapidly sinking, most of the heretofore never failing wells are giving out. It is being driven for miles to water, while the roads are lined with water wagons.

And now D. W. Miller is added to the numerous cisterns. After being in the hospital for some time he conceived the idea of killing a venison. So taking down his "harper-ferry" in less time than we can tell it he had a fine 2 year old buck on the gambril.

Boys but a few more days and election time will be upon us. Our township has a candidate in the field, in the person of farmer John T. McCormick, a gentleman well-known to the tax-payers, as one of our law makers of the last Legislature, his record having been unexceptionable and met the entire approval of the people. On the question of taxation Mr. McCormick was not found wanting. His support and sympathy has always proven to be with the laboring classes. He has a watchful eye to the farmers' interest and has the energy and conviction to oppose every measure of Legislature that would be detrimental to the tillers of the soil. Probably one of the most important questions to be considered by the next house will be the fence problem. He is and always has been opposed to the repeal of the no fence law, but shall use his influence in favor of an old time fence law to be hog tight, bull strong and horse high and give the poor man's cow a chance. Boys get out the vote and give John the compliment of which he is so deserving.

Closing the Polls.
