

Farm Notes.

No pests are more destructive in the winter season than the rats. Look after their harboring places.

The United States Department of Agriculture seems to have answered clearly, and in the negative, the question whether bees injure fruit, and especially grapes.

Four important factors enter into successful fruit production, namely, manure, pruning and spraying the trees with insecticides and thinning the fruit where necessary.

The compound given below is said to be good for trees and to prevent damage by rabbits, viz: Two pounds soap dissolved in three gallons hot water and two ounces carbolic acid.

Sub-irrigation in growing greenhouse lettuce is a step forward. By this means the crop may be nearly doubled. Proof of the gain may be found in the lettuce beds of the Ohio University forcing houses.

A stable should be light, and this means use of plenty of glass and whitewash. Some stables are so dreary and gloomy that the animals will prefer the cold outside to the discomfort within, if they have their choice.

Frozen corn fodder is not suitable food in winter. Such material should only be used for cutting up and throwing on the manure heap, or withheld from the animals until they can comfortably pick it over.

Trials which have been made by spreading manure on snow for the coming corn crop have resulted in fine crops and the best success. Equally favorable are the results from the winter top dressing of meadows.

For horse feed nothing can be better than silage. It keeps their bowels in the best possible order, makes coats sleek and glossy and makes them feel like colts. Especially is this true of breeding mares and growing stock.

Some peach growers have dug around their trees, leaving the trunks exposed. This is done to expose the borer in some instances, and also to avoid too early flow of the sap. Whether the plan is a safe one to follow depends upon the kind of weather yet to come.

This is the kind of weather that spoils the seed corn that is not dry or in a dry place. All seeds need looking over now. Mice, insects and dampness will do much damage to seeds during the interval between harvesting and planting, and a portion of the loss may be avoided by an examination.

In regard to keeping sheep in large numbers and the injury done by dogs, it would perhaps pay to have a night watchman to guard the sheep at night. Sheep cannot be confined at night, to protect them from dogs, as they graze mostly after sundown, while the air is cool. In Europe the flocks are always guarded.

Overfeeding is as great an error in management as underfeeding. During the winter season there is a greater degree of carelessness than in the summer, as the food taken from the pasture is less concentrated. It is usual to allow a certain quantity of food as a ration for an animal, and this quantity is fed to all alike. No surer method of wasting food could be adopted, as the wants of animals differ greatly, and the allowance for one may be insufficient for another.

FAT IS NOT DESIRABLE. It is correct and proper to have an animal fat when the object is to fatten it for the market, and in that case it may be fed all that it will eat, and be given foods that will produce the greatest weight in the shortest space of time; but the animals intended for breeding purposes should not be encumbered with an abundance of fat. It is well known that if a sow is very fat she will either fail as a breeder or produce a litter of pigs that are weak. Fat ewes and fat cows have met with fatal results when producing young, milk fever carrying them off at a time when they are most valuable. The breeders of poultry have long ago become aware of the fact that the very fat hens do not lay, and that when eggs fail to hatch the cause may be traced to overfeeding on carbonaceous food. Horses that are made fat in winter come out with the spring "soft" and unfit for work, which is not due to the lack of exercise, but partly to over feeding.

ANIMALS OUT OF CONDITION. An animal is out of condition if it is excessively fat, unless such an animal is purposely fatted. Proper condition is not when an animal is poor or fat, but when it is so fed that it is active, healthy and full of vigor. If too fat it becomes subject to diseases that would not effect it otherwise, and it is also then less capable of combating diseases when attacked. Animals that are producers like the cows, devote a large share of their food to the product, but many animals on the farm receive more food than is really necessary for their thrift and comfort. The food of each animal should be regulated. If one can keep in good condition on one-half the food required by another it needs no addition to its allowance, and the farmer gains so much in the shape of food. Nothing should be allowed that can be wasted, and much is wasted in the shape of fat on breeding animals that could be saved by judicious feeding. Desires, appetites and capacity of digestion differ in all animals, and it is to the interest of the farmer to take advantage of this fact, and regulate his management with this view avoiding loss, and also practicing economy.

Moslem Abhorrence of Bells.

The whole Moslem race despise and abhor the sound of bells, which they say cause the evil spirits to assemble together. They do not use them on their mosques or churches, but have instead men called Meuzzins, stationed in the minarets, who call out five times each day for the people to assemble for prayer. The cry is: There is no God but God, and Mohammed is his prophet.

A God-send is Ely's Cream Balm. I had catarrh for three years. Two or three times a week my nose would bleed. I thought the sores would never heal. Your Balm has cured me. Mrs. M. A. Jackson, Portsmouth, N. H.

The Use and Abuse of Whiskey. This subject could be dwelt upon to a considerable length, and yet much would remain untold, but all agree that the use, the proper use of pure rye whiskey is an absolute necessity, especially so now, when nature insists upon being stimulated. All regular physicians prescribe rye whiskey, and justly claim that Klein's Silver Age and Duquesne Whiskies are most reliable. They do this not only because they have tried them but because the leading hospitals use them—and them the best stimulants in the world. Silver Age sells for $1.50 and Duquesne for $1.25 per full quart. For sale by all dealers and druggists. Ask for them to send to S. Shloss, Williamsport, Pa.

SOME NEW THINGS.

We have just received a big lot of new children's suits and overcoats. Among these goods you will find some of the most desirable styles and the best of wearers that the market affords. We have given this line a great deal of care and attention. We have gone to great trouble and expense to show you a line of children's clothing that will compare favorably with any seen in the largest cities. They are the product of the largest manufacturing and for fit, style and workmanship they cannot be surpassed.

We would be pleased to have you call even if you are not immediately in need of anything in our line. It is well, you know, to look out for the future

Saddlery.

SCHOFIELD'S NEW HARNESS HOUSE.

We extend a most cordial invitation to our patrons and the public, in general, to witness one of the ever put on the Bellefonte market, which will be made in the large room, formerly occupied by Harper Bros., on Spring street. It has been added to my factory and will be used exclusively for the sale of harness, being the first exclusive salesroom ever used in this town, as heretofore the custom has been to sell goods in the room in which they were made. This elegant room has been refitted and furnished with glass cases in which the harness can be nicely displayed and still kept away from heat and dust, the enemies of long wear in leather. Our factory now occupies a room 10x14 feet and the store 28x20 added makes it the largest establishment of its kind outside of Philadelphia and Pittsburg.

GRANDEST DISPLAYS OF

We are prepared to offer better bargains in the future than we have done in the past and we want everyone to see our goods and get prices for when you do this, out of self defense you will buy. Our profits are not large, but by selling lots of goods we can afford to live in Bellefonte. We are not indulging in idle philanthropy. It is purely business. We are not making much, but trade is growing and that is what we are interested in now. Profits will take care of themselves.

When other houses discharged their workmen during the winter they were all put to work in my factory, nevertheless the big (7) houses of this city and county would smile if we compared ourselves to them, but we do not mean to be so odious, except to venture the assertion that none of them can say, as we can say "NO ONE OWES A CENT THAT WE CAN'T GET." This is the whole story.

The following are kept constantly on hand. 50 SETS OF LIGHT HARNESS, prices from $3.00 to $15.00 and upwards. LARGE STOCK OF HEAVY HARNESS, prices set $25.00 and upwards. 500 HORSE COLLARS from $1.50 to $3.00 each, over $1000 worth of HARNESS OILS and AXLE GREASE.

$400 worth of Fly Nets sold cheap $150 worth of whips from 15c to $3.00 each, Horse Brushes, Gully Combs, Sponges, Chambré RING SADDLES, LADY SIDESADDLES

Harness Soap, Knee Dusters, at low prices, Saddlery-hardware, always on hand for sale. Harness Leather as low as 25c per pound. We keep everything to be found in a FIRST CLASS HARNESS STORE—no changing, over 20 years in the same room. No two shops in the same town to catch trade—NO SELLING OUT for the want of trade or price. Four harness-makers at steady work this winter. This is our idea of protection to labor, when other houses discharged their hands, they soon found work with us.
