PITTSBURG, Feb. 7 .- The jury this evening in the trial of Cufford for the Books, Magazines, Etc.

An article that will be read with great interest in every literary centre in the East, and n every refined circle in the East and West, is William Morton Payne's article, "Literary Chicago," which opens the New England Maga-zine for February. Mr. Payne is the associate editor of the Dial, and is eminently qualified for the delicate task of such a summary of contemporary activity. He treats of the literary spirit in Chicago from its earliest awakening, and gives an excellent estimate of the achievement to date. The article is well ilustrated, and contains portraits of the leading men and women in the Chicago literary world.

Worthington's Magazine for February opens with a decidedly interesting paper by J. A. MacKnight, entitled "Brigham Young: A Fair Sketch by One Who Knew Him." When Ladies Home Missionary society at their a boy Mr. MacKnight, as a relative of the socalled "Prophet," was a member of Brigham Young's household, though not a favored one as he was not considered a tractable young saint." In view of Utah's struggle for statehood, and the general amnesty just granted to the Mormons by President Harrison, this article possesses a timely interest; and the numerous beautiful illustrations, reproduced from photographs, admirably supplement the
