A FORMER BELLEFONTE PREACH-ER.-Rev. Steck of the Trinity Lutheran church of Shamokin is a candidate for the position of minister to Canada, with chances strongly in his favor of stomach ? capturing the plum. Mr. Steck would make an able and most desirable official and fill the position most acceptably.

He is well adapted for the office to which he aspires and the authorities at Washington would do well in conferring this honor upon our worthy townsman.-Shamokin Daily Dispatch.

OWED NO ONE A CENT. - When conference met in the Methodist church, at the corner of Spring and Howard streets, Wednesday morning, it was with a feeling of pride that the members of the congregation announced to the visiting ministers that for the first time in its history the church was free of debt. The last penny had been raised Tuesday afternoon and it is to be hoped the church will ever be in such a prosperous condition. The congregation is to be congratulated on having lifted the burden of debt from the church property.

A NEW TAILORING ESTABLISHMENT. -About the first of April Mr. Jacob Gross, formerly connected with Lewin's Philadelphia Branch tailoring department, will open a store of his own in the room vacated by Miss Snyder's millinery, on Bishop street. Mr. Gross is a successful cutter and fitter and watches the fashions carefully. Several of the best workmen in town will be employed in his shop and you will do well to hold your spring orders until he opens, to get his prices and see his styles-They will be the best.

- Quite a large audience assembled in the Bellefonte Temperance club rooms on Monday evening to witness the Demorest silver medal contest which was advertised to take place. The contestants were Misses Mary Kreamer, Josie Willard, Mary Lumbert, Lizzie Smith, Elia Gault, Agnes Wagner and Lizzie Allen, all of whom acquitted themselves in a very creditable manner. Interspersed with the declamatory exercises were solos and duetts by Mr. and Mrs. J. Elliott Harvey, Miss Ella Twitmyer and Miss Jennie Lukenbach which added variety to the program and lent additional charm to the entertainment. It required but fifteen minutes for the judges : Mrs. Rodgers, Miss Julia Reed and Rev. George Elliott, to decide that Miss Ella Gault had displayed the most appreciable elocutionary powers and the medal was awarded accordingly.

> BISHOP HENRY WHITE WARREN.-The twenty-fifth session of the central Pennsylvania Methodist Episcopal conference, now sitting in this place, is being presided over by Henry White Warren. D.D. L.L.D., a man widely known and closely associated with the church for the last thirty-eight years. Thinking that a short biographical sketch of his life would be of interest to our readers, we take the liberty of publishing one which recently appeared in the Central Pennsylvania Methodist : He was born in Williamsburg Mass. Jan. 4. 1831; was graduated from Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn., in 1853; and after two years' teaching in Amenia. N. Y. and Wilbraham, Mass, was received on trial in the New England conference in 1855 The succeeding twenty-five years he served the Church in the pastorate ; sixteen of which were spent in that conference. In 1871 he was transferred to Philadelphia, and served Arch St., two terms of three years each ; serving St. John's, Brooklyn, a term of three years between.

At the Philadelphia Conference session of 1880, he was elected to the head of its delegation to the General Conference, and stationed at Spring Garden St., but being elected and consecrated bishop in May following, his last pastor.

al term was little more than two months. In 1842, the member of the Massachusetts House of Representatives; and in 1864, he was chosen to preach the election sermon before the State Legislature. Dickinson College conferred upon him the honorary degree of D D, in 1872. During his first term at Arch St., Dr. Warren made a tour in Europe, and greatly endangers the team and man, | and since his elevation to the episcopacy he has visited Japan and other foreign countries.

JUDGE DANIEL RHOADS .- Although the death of Daniel Rhoads was not unexpected, the announcement last Saturday that he had passed away created profound sorrow in all circles in this community.

He was born in Philadelphia, in September, 1821, of Quaker parents and came to Centre county in 1854 to engage the lumber business, in Burnside township, with Elward and Seneca Smith. For four years the firm was most successful in their extensive operations and it was not until their miles, the "Sterling," were destroyed by fire that he returned to his native city to take charge of the Market street horse car line. In 1860 he accepted the superintendency of the Bellefonte and Snow Shoe railroad, a position he held with honor and credit for twenty-two years the
