Farm Notes.

Better cultivate three acres with good crops than five with a hall

If early greens are desired sow the seeds of kale as soon as the ground will permit, as the plants are hardy.

It is well established that young ani mals make a more rapid growth in proportion to size than older ones, and the ratio is decreased as the animals approach maturity, hence the advantage in feeding young growing animals.

The harness needs cleaning and oiling as frequently as the wagon, and such work is usually neglected. Clean a change of soil occasionally, and grow the crop on a new location. The secret of graying large access of the crop on a new location. The For this reason negroes born in Cuba secret of growing large omons is to are called creole negroes, or native born keep the grass and weeds down and to have the land rich.

Dr. Jenkins, of Yale says : "Treat your milk cans as you would your neighbor's children if you have a contagious disease in your family. Don't constant work early in the season, but it pays well to engage in their destruction. The loss to farmers and fruit growers every year by insect depredations reaches the large sum of four hundred millions of dollars.

For lawn grass there is nothing better than wood ashes, if you have them. If fertilizers are used potash should predominate. Lime is nearly always beneficial to lawns if applied early, and a bag of superphosphate per acre will also be found of advantage.

A Minnesota farmer desires to sell his flock of 480 sheep for a reason not that he cannot grow flax, wheat or any ger. of the small grains, though it grows good crops of corn and roots.

How many men are constantly asking which is the best breed or which is the best separator or churn or other thing to be used in the dairy? Nature does not seem to admit of any absolutely best in this world. There are so many points to cover that no one breed animal or machine can possibly compass them all.

The farmer needs being reminded that greater caution is being exercised in inspecting the fruit that comes into the market than formerly. So many choice varieties have been introduced within the past decade that any fruit to market that is not of the best

Strawberries should receive an application of fertilizer now, so as to allow plenty of time for the substance to dissolve and be carried down to the roots by the rains. If the rows were treated with fertilizer last fall the best substance to apply now is about 100 pounds of nitrate of soda per acre, but find no relief until I began to use Ayer's it no fertilizer was then applied, potash Pills. I took them regularly for a few and the phosphates should be added.

and it sometimes pays to procure new seed from some other locality, or from seedsmen who make a specialty of procuring certain seeds from sections in which such seeds can be grown to the best advantage. At the same time it is not wise to discard the seed that has been tried and tested for something new until the new seed has been experimented with. Cultivate a garden on the farm by making the rows long and as straight as possible, so as to permit of using the cultivator or horse hoe between the rows. It is the laborous work with the hoe that deters some farmers from growing garden crops, but there is nothing to prevent them from grow ing vegetables early and late if the ground is well harrowed and the rows laid off by a line or by stakes.

An acre of ground is capable of giv ing a large return for the outlay, but it depends upon what is produced upon it. The largest broiler farms do not cover as much as one acre, and an acre of asparagus or celery will pay more than 20 acres of corn. One can therefore afford to give 20 times as much labor to such crops compared with that required for corn. It matters not what the cost may be if the profits are correspondingly as great.

There are many cases where the disease known as the "yellows" in peaches has been supposed to have attacked the trees when such was not the case. Many fruit growers are not familiar with the characteristics of the disease, and have, consequently, attributed the dying ef the trees to the yellows when ! the difficulty may have been caused by lice. It is at the roots of the trees that lice do the greatest damage, and they may be at work for months before discovered.

Diseases of plants may be eradicated by ommitting the crops that are subject to diseases from land for a series of years. The potato rot of the sweet potato cannot be prevented except by keeping sweet potatoes off the land until the rot, or italspores, have been destroyed by growing some other crop on the land that is not subject to the disease. Onions, once a profitable crop in Connecticut, became unprofitable, and the growing of them for a while had to be abandoned. Now the land seems to be adapted to onions again, and they are being grown with profit.

What is a Creole?

There is probably no subject upon which people are more generally misinwhich people are more generally misinformed than they are respecting creoles. Most persons suppose a creole is of mixed blood, perhaps Spanish and Mexican, or French and Indian, while others imagine they are tainted with negro blood. Nothing on a rossibly be further from the truth. One reliable authority ways the word does no reinside. authority says the word creoie signifies a person born in America or in the West Indies, of European parents. Another says, "Creole was a term which primarily was used to denote an inhabitant of the Spanish colonies who was descended from the European settlers, and distinguished from the aborigines, the negroes and mulattoes." The word it derived from "criollo" a Spanish word meaning native born, Hence children of European parents born in the West India island were called creoles, or native born, to distintinguish them from the children of the same parents who had been born in collars prevent sores and rubbing of Europe before they emigrated. Originthe shoulders, and enables the horses ally the term was applied to white perto work with greater ease and comfort. sons, but now it is more loosely used, Onions will grow on the same land year after year, but it is best to make a change of soil considerable and an extension. It is limited to negroes, to distinguish them from those who had been imported from Africa during the time of the slave trade. Webster saye, "The application of the term to colored people has led to an idea common in some parts of the United States, though wholly unfound bring the cans to the house, and be sure to wash them with water in no way contaminated."

Battling with the insects requires

United States, though wholly unfounded, that it implies an admixture greater or less of African blood. "A creole, in the primary sense, is therefore a person of pure white blood, without any admixture greater or less of African blood when the primary sense, is therefore a person of pure white blood, without any admixture greater or less of African blood greater or less of African blood greater or less of mixture whatever, born of parents after they had emigrated from Europe and located in the West Indies or Spanish American colonies along the Gulf of Mexico. Creoles are found in Louisiana Florida, Texas, Mexico and South America states. They are distinguished for the freedom and suppleness of their joints, which enables them to move with great ease, agility and grace. They excell in penmanship, and in every-thing requiring flexibility of movement The women have soft voices, beautiful black hair, fine eyes and teeth, but owing to their moderation in living-many of them scarcely tasting meat -they are languid and dreamy as well as fascinatoften given. CURA REMEDIES.

When I was a boy of about twelve years of age, living in Europe, I had a very bad skin disease for years which doctors called Eczema. My scalp was covered with a thick crust. I suffered very much. No doctors could help me. I have been in this country nine years and suffering all the time. I have used hundreds of medicines. I read one day in the paper about the Cuticura Remedies, so I thought I would try them. Sure enough, after using them only once I felt many per cent better. I thank God that in a few weeks I was perfectly cured after nine years' suffering. I recommend the Cuticura Remedies as the best in the world. All those who suffer with skin diseases should use them. I will tell everybody how I was cured. FRED SCHEIBEI... 100 Ludlow St., New York City.
