Bellefonte, Pa., May 26, 1893.

TO-MORROW.

With half averted face stood And answered to his questioning eyes, 'Tis nothing. It is but my mood...

"Perchance to-morrow"—Ah, who knows What fate may with to-morrow come? For eyes some questioning eyes may close, Some lips may be forever dumb.

A Sensible Idea.

The following from the Baltimore Sun may not suit the ideas of the theoretical school superintendents, but it strikes the practical person as being a good idea.

The Baltimore paper says: Examination time approaches, and many a little pupil and every weary teacher announces it by added devotion to duty and not less by anxious, worried countenances.

Is it worth while? What shall it profit a child to pass an examination if it fail to maintain that equal balance of health which nature demands between the purely mental and physical organism?

Such and such questions must be asked and answered, such marks must be awarded, the great machine of education may not be blocked and that stationers may have food to work upon.

It is no new doctrine to preach that such work is wholly or in greater part unnecessary. There is no teacher controlling a class of pupils who does not intuitively know the real standing of each of her pupils.

The vast facilities of the J. C. Ayer Co., of Lowell, Mass., enable them to place The Superior Blood-purifier—Ayer's Sarsaparilla—within easy reach of the poorest invalid.

The first bridge builder was the spider, and the ropes and stays of a spider's web are always attached with geometrical accuracy.

In very few classes even in the higher schools are less than 90 per cent. of the class promoted. The derelicts are unfortunate or culpable for the most part, and are well known to the teachers weeks before the time for examinations arrives.

There is, from a medical standpoint, a very serious side to the question. The power of recuperation possessed by children is really wonderful.

Nervous diseases in general, especially those of a functional character, are characterized by the periodicity which they exhibit. A nervous strain recurring at regular intervals is, therefore, doubly dangerous to health, and should, where practicable, be avoided.

In the present case it is the opinion of many educational experts that the strain of semi-annual examinations can be wholly avoided. It seems equally absurd to test the little children's power of spelling words of one syllable correctly twice a year at a set time as it would to measure the physical growth at certain fixed dates.

Don't be in a hurry to go. Wait until the fair is in better shape. Read the WATCHMAN. You will find it on file in the Pennsylvania building.

Don't keep your hand on your watch pocket, or somebody will be sure to play you for a jay. Don't view the fair through the bottom of a hat glass. You do you'll get exaggerated ideas of it.

When you get through seeing the fair start for home. Chicago is full of thieves and some of them might steal you. Don't take up with every stranger you meet. Every stranger you meet is not a sharper; but every sharper is a stranger.

Buy your admission ticket at the fair grounds gate. There is no such a thing as a bargain counter for World's Fair tickets. Don't rush too hard while seeing the sights. See all you can but see it well and intelligently, and thus add to your store of general knowledge.

An Archbishop Drops Dead. PARIS, May 17.—Monsignor Gonard, archbishop of Rennes, dropped dead to-day in the courtyard of the railway station at Rennes.

The Baltimore Going to China.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—It has been settled that the Baltimore is going to China as the flagship of the Asiatic station. While the determination to send the Baltimore to China has no direct bearing on the present agitation over the Chinese exclusion act, the decision of the subject has probably acted to hasten this decision of the department to carry out this long contemplated purpose of sending a new flagship to China.

Free to Home-Seekers.

The Northwestern Home Seeker is the name of a newspaper just issued, giving valuable information regarding the agricultural, mineral and other resources of South Dakota.

This new State is enjoying a wonderful prosperity and any person looking for a desirable location, or interested in obtaining information concerning the diversified resources of South Dakota, will be mailed a copy of this paper free of charge by sending their address to W. A. Thrall, General Passenger Agent North-Western Line, Chicago.

The state World's fair commission had some difficulty in convincing a few presumptuous Philadelphia cranks that they had no authority to appropriate a room in the Pennsylvania building for the exclusive use of citizens of the horse car town.

No Dispute. "Women must consider it a dreadful fate to be an old maid," mused Mr. Chugwater.

"They do, Josiah," said Mrs. Chugwater. "What terrible sticks they sometimes marry to escape it!"

And Josiah rubbed his chin and said nothing.—Chicago Tribune.

More Facts.

The Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Company has just issued another fifty page, handsomely illustrated pamphlet, giving "More Facts" about South Dakota, regarding agriculture, sheep raising, climate, soil, and its other resources.

Abraham Lincoln.

When leaving his home at Springfield, Ill., to be inaugurated President of the United States, made a farewell address to his old friends and neighbors, in which he said "neighbors give your boys a chance."

How give them this chance? Up in the northwest is a great empire waiting for strong and sturdy fellows to come and develop it and "grow up with the country."

The country referred to lies along the Northern Pacific R. R. Here you can find pretty much anything you want. In Minnesota.
