How Jas. CURRY WAS KILLED .-The following particulars of the death of Mr. Jas. Curry. tormerly of this place, to which reference; was made in the last issue of the WATCHMAN, we get from the Buffalo Express:

"One of the saddest and most shock ing accidents to railroad employees, in the history of the long list of railroad maimed and killed, occurred at the Abbott Road crossing at the Nickel Road tracks last Tuesday morning, when Mr. James A. Curry, General Yardmaster of the Nickel Plate road, and his first assistant yardmaster, Mr. Wm. H. Thompson, met instant death under the wheels of switch engine

A long west bound train had just been made up and was ready for departure and Yardsman Curry ordered engine 34 to get the caboose and place it on the rear of this train.

It was just 11.55 o'clock when both Curry and Thompson stood in the middle of the track next the waiting train, discussing the work of the afternoon and examining a chart of tracks, whereon certain work was to be done. Engine 34 for the moment was forgotten and all unconscious of the terrible fate bearing down upon them, the men stood deep in the theme of their afternoon duties. A sudden cry of horror froze to their lips, a groan, a crushing and mangling of human flesh and bones beneath the cruel, merciless wheels of engine 34 and all was over.

Their companions gathered up the remains and tenderly carried them to the operator's office close by and summoned the ambulance. But it was the Coroner and not the ambulance that was needed, for life had departed.

Mr. Curry, who was frightfully cut and mangled, lived about eighteen minutes, but was unable to speak. Mr. Thompson died instantly, his skull being crushed and neck broken.

Both men stood high in the esteem of our people, were well liked, and will be much missed by all who knew them. The entire community extends deepest sympathy to the bereaved families."

THE GRANGER PICNIC .- Our Granger friends who have been enjoying their annual picnic over at Centre Hall, since Saturday last, have certainly been blessed with pleasant weather, and we hope have been experiencing a pleasant and profitable time. The exhibits so far as your corres pondent can judge, are of about the same character, quantity and quality, except in of our few faithful temperance workers the live stock department, that has been it is a deplorable statement to make but on hand each year. It was answered by a 38-27-3m 155 Duane St., New York, N. Y. scurrilous attack on all the county papers, (excepting one) made by the chief controller of the enterprise, and in place of accepting the advise given, an attempt to ignore the county press and to get along without it or the improvements suggested, was made. The result is now visible to the Grangers and the public in the little interest that has been shown by the people in the encampment this year, in the lessened crowds that have been in attendance, and in the general verdict that one hears on all sides that neither exhibits, attractions, or attendance was what was anticipated for hoped for.

In fact the number of visitors to the Grange park this year has been less by one-half than during any year the Grangers have tented there; the number of tents occupied are less and the public interest, which has heretofore shown itself by the crowds in attendance, has materially decreased. From this side not one fourth as many people have attended. Long trains of cars that at former encampments were crowded to their fullest capacity, have run this year at times without passengers, and at others less than half filled. At no time, except on Thursday, would one have known, by watching the station here and the trains as they left, that anything out of the usual way was going on, or that there was an encampment or exhibition at Centre Hall. Up to 5 o'clock on Thursday afternoon, the entire number of tickets sold from the station at this place to the pic-nic, since its commencement was 759. Up to the same hour at former pic-nics, the number sold run up into the thousands. It is possible that the management of the picnic will attribute their failure to attract the crowd, they have had on former occasions, to different reasons than those we suggested last year as being responsible for the dissatisfaction that seemed so general among the multitude. We spoke honestly and plainly then when we told what the trouble was, as we had learned it from the lips We believe yet that we were right and that the experience of this year shows how correct we were.

HERE'S I THE I IDEA

The bow has a groove on each end. A collar runs down inside the pendant (stem) and fits into the grooves, firmly locking the bow to the pendant, so that it cannot be pulled or twisted off.

It positively prevents the loss of the watch by theft, and avoids injury to it from dropping.
