THINGS ABOUT TOWN & COUNTY

—Chestnuts are said to be very plenty.

—The county jail now harbors five prisoners.

—Heavy white frosts were the order during the early part of the week.

—The WATCHMAN job office is doing better work than ever. Try it.

—To-night Jas. Harris and Charley Cruse will begin their winter class in dancing in Bush's Arcade.

—Work on the new railroad was suspended a few days during the week because of a scarcity of rails.

—William Lucas, of Tylertown, killed a wild goose, on Tuesday, that measured 6 ft. from tip to tip.

—S. S. Shroyer, of Milesburg, is filling the position of night operator on the T. and C. railroad at Osceola.

—To-night the young ladies pleasure club, a girls' recent organization in Milesburg, will have its first meeting.

—Twenty people left this place for the Fair last Monday morning and not sixty, as the expansive Gazette scribe says.

—Interesting services were held in all of the Bellefonte churches, on Sunday. The visiting Lutheran ministers officiated.

—C. A. Sprankle, aged 22 years and 25 days, died after a short illness at his home, near Port Matilda, on September 27th.

—Mr. and Mrs. John Olewine, of Willowbank street, are receiving congratulations over the advent of a twelve pound boy to their home.

—Tuesday night's rain was much needed in this locality. The dust on the roads had gotten so deep that driving was really unpleasant.

—A corn field on the Hanna farm, in the lower end of the Bald Eagle valley, was set on fire last Sunday and the entire crop of fodder and corn was destroyed.

—Friday, October 20th, has been fixed as autumn Arbor day. Let every one in this community plant a tree or shrub. Something that will be an ornament and a benefit to the land.

—Cards are out announcing the coming wedding of Will H. Keller, son of D. S. Keller Esq., of this place, to Miss Anna Dickey, of Lancaster. Wednesday, October 18th, will be their nuptial day.

—The game of foot-ball that was to have been played at State College tomorrow between Dickinson College and the home eleven has been indefinitely postponed because of some trouble at the Carlisle institution.

—Those who are on the inside of League base-ball circles say that Chicago would like to have John Montgomery Ward succeed Anson as manager of the Chicago club and have made overtures to him regarding it.

—While playing along Water street, on Monday morning, the little daughter of Isaac Lose, fell into the creek and would have drowned had not the driver of C. C. Shuey's grocery wagon arrived just at that time and rescued it.

—The last of Benjamin Fulton's twin daughters died on Saturday afternoon and was buried Sunday. Mr. Fulton has the sympathy of the entire community, as he has lost his wife and two children within the last three months.

—The opera next Monday night will be the first and only one of the season. The "Black Hussar" will be sung and an excellent entertainment may be looked for. The Gilbert Opera Co., is considered one of the best road companies traveling.

—Two gentlemen, who have a fanning mill which they claim will revolutionize the manner of cleaning grain, are here trying to organize a company for its manufacture. If wind is what they want they will experience no trouble in finding it here.

—The venerable Thomas Strouse died at the home of Harry Gehret, on east Howard street, Wednesday of last week, after a long illness consequent upon old age. Deceased was buried in Pine Hill cemetery near which place he resided until advancing years compelled him to abandon his life as a prosperous farmer.

—There are only eight hundred and twenty eight choice people in Centre county according to the Magnet. Its circulation reached that figure on Wednesday and in blowing itself it said: "Its subscribers are the choicest people in the county." Newby may think he has all hand picked fruit, but from the tenor of a plea to delinquents which appears in another column of his paper we are led to believe he has some wind falls too.

A TYRONER ARRESTED FOR ROBBING THE MAILED.—The friends of Samuel N. Williams, who for more than three years has been the trusted head clerk of the Tyrone post-office, were shocked on last Friday morning when detectives Dickson and Griggs, of the U. S. post-office department service, placed him under arrest, charged with opening and extracting money from registered letters. The story of the series of thefts which has led the young Tyrone to disgrace is about as follows:

So far as is known the first offense was committed during the latter part of August, but since that time the repeated shortage in registered letters when they reached their destination had been of such moment as to excite considerable comment and complaint. Letters for all points to and from this section of the State, that passed through the Tyrone office, were the ones tampered with. Suspicion pointed to that office as the point where the thefts were being made and inspectors W. W. Dickson and H. B. Griggs were detailed on the case. The former had been at work single handed since September 13th and when he thought he had the thief located at Tyrone he sent for an assistant.

Decoy letters were mailed at Tyrone, but all went through untouched until a ragged, grimy Italian mailed one with the ordinary foreign register. It was opened though the money was untouched. This satisfied the detectives as to Williams' guilt and he was at once arrested.

At first he denied the whole thing, but when confronted with the evidence he made a clean breast of it and was taken to Altoona Friday afternoon for a hearing before United States Commissioner W. A. Ambrose.

It appears that Williams was not driven to crime by fast living or any urgent need of money, for the entire amount of his pilferings he had securely locked up in his trunk at home. Eight hundred dollars and more was the amount he turned over to the officers and from the conditions surrounding the affair people are led to a belief that it was a mania for money rather than an ordinary dishonest character that prompted him to do such things. However that may be he is charged with a very serious crime and will be punished accordingly. Williams had the reputation of being one of the most courteous and obliging clerks ever employed in the Tyrone post office. He was always regarded as strictly honest, and the affair that has just come to light has been a genuine surprise to his many friends.

At the hearing, on Friday afternoon, Williams made a full confession. He was held under $1,000 bonds to appear at the October term of the United States circuit court at Pittsburgh. The bail could easily have been secured, but both officers and prisoner thought it would be better to proceed direct to Pittsburgh and await the session in jail there.

Bellefonters who undoubtedly suffered from Williams' peculations are: Jackson, Crider & Hastings bankers, whose registered letter to a Mr. Reed at Spangler containing $200 reached its destination minus half of its contents, and insurance agent J. C. Weaver now thinks he knows where $10 that he couldn't find in a registered letter has gone to. Another complaint has just been entered at the post-office here that a registered letter addressed to a Hungarian at this place, and afterward ordered returned to sender, was opened and $5 taken out. In resealing the envelope the thief was not careful to get the flaps in the original position, and the post-mark over it was distorted.

THIS IS MILESBURG'S CENTENNIAL YEAR.—Just one hundred years ago, according to history, Colonel Samuel Miles, of Philadelphia, directed the survey of the town of Milesburg. At that time it was the site of an Indian village known as "Bald Eagle's Nest" having been the home of that historic red skin chief, Bald Eagle. Andrew Boggs had been the first white settler there and his advent was in 1769, but it was not until twenty eight years later, in 1797, that the place had grown to such size as to need a post-office. This was the first office in the territory of Centre county.

Milesburg was the leading town in the county for many years and came very near capturing the county seat from Bellefonte. In fact so bitter was the fight for that honor that there has been a traditional antipathy between the towns ever since. The old Bald Eagle canal was opened at that place in 1847, thus giving it the first commercial connection with the outside world, and there is no doubt in the minds of those who know the history of the town that with the facilities it commanded it might have to-day been one of the largest manufacturing cities of the country had the proper push characterized its building. The site of Milesburg is the most admirable, in every way, of any town in this county and it is not yet too late to revise matters.

Why not rise up, you citizens, and make a grand demonstration in this your hundredth anniversary then let the dawn of the second century find you quickened with a life commensurate with the advantages nature has lavished upon you?

—Many cases of Typhoid fever are reported from the eastern portion of Williamsport.

The deer season is now in and the fleet footed inhabitants of the forest will have to keep well under cover else the rifle of the huntsman will bring them down.

—Hon. James C. Quiggle, of Clinton county, was appointed United States consul at Collingswood, Canada, on Monday. He has served two terms in Legislature.

—The Rescue hook and ladder company, of Curwensville, expect to take the prize for the best drilling at the district firemen's convention, in Phillipsburg, on October 18th.

—Hon. Joseph W. Merry, of Beech Creek, has been appointed general agent of the Rochester Brewing Co., between Pittsburgh and Erie. His territory extends east as far as Harrisburg.

—Two deaths of well known Democrats occurred in Clinton county last Thursday morning. They were William Teveling, of Mill Hall, and John Rishel Esq., of Clintondale. The latter was a candidate for county Auditor.

—It is said that John Nearhoof, a trusted employe of Hamer & Sons grist mill, near Tyrone, has robbed his employers of $2,700. His manner of doing it was by taking grain from the mill and selling it in his own store at Warriorsmark.

—The new rail-road in Potter county is about completed. Sixty miles of main-line, with about seventy-five miles of branches, are now in daily operation. The fare along the line has been reduced from five to three and one half cents per mile.

—A Newberry man was killed at Westover, Clearfield county, a few days ago in a peculiar way. He was helping a friend unload a piano from a wagon, when the shrill whistle of a passing locomotive frightened the horses, they jumped and the piano fell over on his head, killing him instantly.

—J. C. Trout, a young Tyrone Lochinvar, ran off with Miss Eva Woodin, only daughter of the proprietor of the City hotel in Tyrone, one night last week, and the couple were married in Camden N. J. They are now living at Newport, Pa., where the groom has a position with an agricultural implement firm.

—R. F. Sechler, the mail agent who has been running on the line between here and Lewisburg for the past four years, has been transferred to a route between Harrisburg and Lock Haven, on the main line. Capt. G. W. Walls, of Lewisburg, who worked this route during the former Cleveland administration is Sechler's successor. Mr. Sechler was a careful, hard working agent and his work was always of the most satisfactory order. On his new route he will have six days on and six days off work.

—The music pavilion, which for several years ornamented(?) the corner of the Court House yard and later the public square in the Diamond, was given to implement dealer J. S. Waite for hauling it away. On Saturday he placed a truck under it and transported it easily to his shops on Water street. Council had to give the pavilion away because it had become an eye sore where it was and there was no available place to put it. It seems too bad that Bellefonte can't keep anything that pertains to music. Surely there must be a lack of soul in our people.

—On Wednesday evening Miss Della Hull and Mr. William Rhinehart were married at the home of the bride's parents, on south Allegheny street, where quite a number of invited guests had gathered to witness the nuptials. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Wm. Houck, of the Methodist church, and it was at once simple and impressive. The bride is the second daughter of James Hull, a respected citizen of this place, and will make an excellent help-mate. The groom is an industrious and well-to-do young man, whose continued work for the Bellefonte Fuel and Supply Co., has always been of the most satisfactory kind.

—While driving out of this place, on last Friday evening, about nine o'clock John Brugger and his sister Elizabeth, of Unionville, met with an accident that might have proved quite serious. They had just reached the place on Linn street, in front of the McCoy residence, where a steep embankment leads directly down to the creek. It was quite dark and one of Mr. Brugger's horses getting too near the edge, fell over. Immediately both occupants sprang out, but the fortunate breaking of the harness saved the other horse and the buggy from being dragged over the precipice. Strange to say the horse was not much hurt by its tumble over the rocks and excepting a few slight bruises continued its way home as if nothing unusual had happened.

THE HUNTINGDON PRESBYTERY MET HERE.—It seems that ministers have a special fondness for Bellefonte, since we have had three representative gatherings within this year and five in the last year and one-half. The Lutheran Synod had scarce completed its work here, on Monday, when the members of the Huntingdon Presbytery came dropping in upon us. There were thirty-six ministers and thirty two elders who transacted the business brought before them, and left Wednesday evening.

The session opened by the election of Rev. John Bain, of Altoona, as moderator, Rev. S. S. Bergen, of Belleville, recording secretary and Mr. John Clark, of Williamsburg, reading clerk. The first business taken up was the ordinary routine of the Presbytery after which it was decided to relieve Rev. Charles Herron of his charge, at Curwensville, in order that he can complete his education in Scotland. Rev. E. P. Foreman was relieved of his charge at Fruit Hill and Kernoor, at his own request. Dr. Samuel Moore, of Tyrone was placed on the retired list. The reports of committees were then heard. They showed all departments of the Presbytery in good condition. Special contributions for missions were ordered to be taken up during the coming year which is to be hoped will excel all others in the missionary work. The Bellefonte church paid $800 to the cause last year.

At the Wednesday session Rev. Jolly was dismissed to join the Pittsburgh Presbytery. Various committees reported and the following delegates were elected to represent the Presbytery at the Pennsylvania Synod, at Easton, on the 19th. Ministers—R. M. Wallace, R. A. McKinley, William Laurie, H. C. Furbay, N. A. McDonald, D. K. Freeman, R. F. Wilson, E. H. Mather, R. M. Campbell.

Elders—D. W. Miller, S. S. Blair, Humes Smith, T. H. Wiggins, J. C. Wiggins, J. C. Weaver, J. R. Simpson, A. O. Furst, John Clark, J. A. Crawford.

Two of the most interesting events were the sermons by Revs. R. M. Wallace, D. D. and Harvey Graeme Furbay. Both of which were master productions. The next session will sit in Clearfield in April, 1894.

THE FRESHMAN CLASS AT STATE COLLEGE OUT ON A STRIKE.—As the result of the "annual elder racket", last week, the class of '97, at the Pennsylvania State College finds itself suspended from that institution.

The trouble arose from the suspension of a student named Tease, who had been one of the leaders of the "racket" last week. His class demanded his reinstatement, a thing which the faculty refused to do, whereupon the whole class, eighty in number, went out of school. By absenting themselves from College duties they brought on suspension and now they are all looting about the College. Some of them determined, others sorry that they are in such a predicament.

Yesterday afternoon the classes of '95 and '96 held meetings and decided to quit too unless the Freshmen are all reinstated. The matter stands in this position. The class of '97 deems its punishment for the "elder racket" too severe, and the faculty is compelled to stand up to its ruling if every class in the institution should leave because of it.

THE DEATH OF A RESPECTED PHILIPSBURGER.—Jeremiah A. Sankey, a leading business man and citizen of Phillipsburg, was stricken with paralysis last Wednesday afternoon and died on Friday morning. He was born at Belleville, Mifflin county, in 1835, and his father having died when he was pursuing his education he went to learn the trade of a shoe-maker. He located at McAlvey's Fort, in Huntingdon county, from which place he volunteered service in the army. With an honorable discharge he returned home in '65 and moved to Centre Furnace, near State College, where he followed his trade of shoe-making until 1872, when he moved to Phillipsburg where he built up a successful business in the shoe business.

Mr. Sankey was a member of the Methodist church, and a man thoroughly liked and respected by all who knew him. A widow, two sons and one daughter survive his death.

—President John N. Lane, of the River League of base ball clubs, in pursuance to his call for members to send delegates to a meeting at the Fallon house, in Lock Haven, last Tuesday evening, went down to that town with J. L. Montgomery, representing the "Governors." Delegates from Tyrone and Mr. Spence of Williamsport were the only others present. The latter moved to consider the recent meeting at which the Demorests and Renova resided in such high hand regular, but president Lane declared its proceedings void, whereupon Mr. Spence picked up his hat and left. As Tyrone and Bellefonte had no grievance with each other the meeting ended. It is altogether likely that the question at issue will never be amicably settled. However, that may be it will not change the fact that the "Governors" are the pennant winners.

—Snow fell in Luzerne county on last Friday.

—Storm serges in all the new colors. Lyon & Co.

—A few days ago a train running between Clearfield and Daboise, on the C. & M. railroad, killed five cows at one time.

—Come and see the largest line of ladies coats and jackets in this part of the State. Just get them in—the latest styles. Lyon & Co.

—Rev. A. P. Wharton married Mr. Mesbeck Williams and Miss Susan Saxon, both of Scotia, on September 28th.

—Mens new fall and winter suits, double breasted, square cut chevrot and serge chevrots, black, navy blue, brown and mixed at all prices. Lyon & Co.

—A groundless rumor that the wife of a well known Tyrone had shot her husband because of infidelity found many anxious listeners here on Tuesday.

—To the energy of Daniel Garman and W. Fred Reynolds, Bellefonte will soon be indebted for a partly paved street. They are having that section of High street, south of the Court House and immediately in front of Jackson Crider and Hastings bank and the Garman house paved. M. Cunningham is putting down his concrete pavement.

—There was a show in Lock Haven the other evening which was so "bum" that its manager, fearing he would be torn up by the local papers, wrote them postals before leaving town on which he said: "Dear Sir: Before you touch us up to-morrow find you do not send slanderous notices through the mails as all postal laws forbid it. If you roast us & send it in the mails look out.—Mgr. Latoska Co."

News Purely Personal.

—Miss Alta Bert Carson, of Lock Haven, was a Saturday visitor in town.

—Col. James P. Coburn was an arrival on the evening train over the L. and T. on Tuesday. He spent the night in town.

—Edgar T. Burnside, a member of the firm which controls the Standard Scale Co's works here, is sight seeing at the Fair.

—Mr. Benner Waddle, of Waddles, is visiting friends in Phillipsburg. Though eighty-two years of age he is as active and hearty as most men at sixty.

—Our friend R. A. Beck, the tonsorial artist, with his wife, are now seeing the sights at the Fair. None of the visitors will enjoy it more than they.

—Rev. Dr. McHenry of the Birmingham Mountain Seminary was an attendant at the sessions of the Huntingdon Presbytery held here during the fore part of the week.

—Dr. and Mrs. R. G. H. Hays, returned from a pleasant trip to Chicago on Tuesday. Al Garman, came home on Monday, after having done the White and Windy cities thoroughly.

—Bellefonte's leading clothier, Martin Fauble went down to the Milton fair, yesterday morning, to see the races. Main's circus and the Gilbert Opera Co., were also attractions there yesterday.

—George Bayard Jr., spent part of the week in attendance at the Milton fair. Liverman Cox, William Larimer and several others of our devotees of the turf have been following up the races with interest.

—Paul Sternberg returned to Seattle, Washington, on Monday morning. He had spent most of the summer visiting his parents here and is returning to the coast to continue business with his brothers Max, Harry and Oscar who are out there.

—Harry Leyden, of Beech Creek, spent the fore part of the week in Bellefonte on his way home from Chicago, where he has charge of electrical sub-ways at the Fair grounds. He is a nephew of Mrs. Margaret Alexander, of Howard street, and was graduated from the Pennsylvania State College in 1890.

—After having spent a week at the Fair John D. Sourbeck continued to Oshkosh, Wis., where he is visiting relatives. His companion in Chicago, W. R. Brackbill, went down to Orangeville, Ill., and is now telling George Etou all about what has happened in Bellefonte since he left here years ago.

—Mr. H. A. Barr, of Julian, was a pleasant caller on Monday. He was one of a club of twelve residents of Lock Haven who subscribed for the WATCHMAN at a time when it needed all the friends it could get, and we are pleased to know that he still enjoys the paper as he did in those early days of its history.

—Robert Garman, youngest son of Daniel Garman Esq., of this place, departed for Consville, on Wednesday morning, where he will engage in the jewelry business with a cousin "Bob" who has been employed in Achenbach's store in this place for some time and has developed a taste for the work which he intends following out.

—Among the many who will leave here for the Fair this morning is our enterprising fellow man Amos Garbrick. He did not intend going at all but thought if he didn't go out and see it for himself he would be forced to believe all his friends say because their tales about it have been so big. Genial Hest Lyman, of Milesburg, will be on the same train bound for the Fair.

—Among the many people who took advantage of the excursion rates to the Fair last Monday morning, were: Mr. and Mrs. John Rote, of Axe Mann, Misses Lizzie Gross, and Blanche Tate, Mrs. Rush Larimer, Mrs. Philip Beizer, Frank Houck, Jay Woodcock, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Noll, of Pleasant Gap and many others. In all twenty tickets were sold from this place.

—Doctor J. Howard Harvey arrived in town on Monday evening and tarried with his many friends here until Wednesday morning, when he departed for New York city, where he will attend clinics on the eye, ear, nose and throat during the winter. He is a son of H. L. Harvey Esq., who until quite recently lived on the old Harvey farm near Curtin's Works, and is a graduate of the Bellefonte High school and the medicine department of the University of Michigan. During the past season he has been practicing with Dr. Tipple, in Toledo, Ohio. Dr. Tipple will be remembered by the older residents of Bellefonte as the pioneer homeopathist of our town.

A STRONG OPERA COMPANY COMING.—Says an exchange: "The tour of the Gilbert comic opera company has been one continual round of successes, and it has been asserted on good authority that it has tested the capacity of more theatres so far this season than any other attraction before the public. Coming as it does perfectly equipped to give a thorough production of the 'Black Hussar', the very best of comic operas, it will, no doubt, be as attractive to our theatre goers as it has been at all of the cities that that organization has visited this season. Headed by Charles A. Gilbert and Addie Cora Roed, two capable and famous operatic stars, the worth of the organization becomes apparent, and carrying a company that numbers fully forty people, the stage of the local temple of Thespis will on Monday evening, October 9th, present a series of animated pictures rarely duplicated."

—The best mackintoshes in navy blue for ladies at $4. The best we have ever seen for the money. Lyon & Co.

PRACTICING IN PHILADELPHIA.—It gives us pleasure to learn that one of Bellefonte's most promising young men has started in the practice of his profession in Philadelphia. Wm. S. Furst, oldest son of Hon. A. O. Furst, president judge of this district, is now an attorney in the Quaker city. Having been admitted to the practice of law in the various courts of Philadelphia county, he has located himself at 1000 Chestnut street, where he will doubtless make the success of which his energetic boyhood gave promise.

Mr. Furst was graduated from Princeton, with distinction, in 1890 and has since attended the University of Pennsylvania, pursuing the law course in the latter institution. He has traveled extensively abroad and at home, in fact the foundation for life's work having been thoroughly laid there is no reason why he should not rise to a marked degree of prominence among the eminent lawyers of Philadelphia.

—The W. W. W. remedies, introduced here last week by Dr. G. W. White, from his white back, are now on sale at Thompson's drug store, Allegheny street. The doctor had been in this community for two weeks a fact which seems to presage that he is doing a legitimate business, for had he not done such here he would not have dared stay so long. He is a pleasing talker and many people gathered about nightly to hear the bits of wisdom he let drop during his lectures on medicine. He left a very favorable impression here among the people with whom he transacted business.

—There will be a meeting of all interested in the Y. M. C. A. rooms this evening for the purpose of electing officers. Let their be a good turn out and make this the most glorious winter of christian work among young men, Bellefonte has ever known. Business may be dull, but work for God can go on among us with great profit.

—Head quarters for ready made clothing for Men, Boys and Children. Clothing made to order. Dunlaps, Youmans, and Sherman's latest shapes in Derbys. Full line of mens furnishing goods. Additional room has been made by making a new salesroom out of the cellar.
