The Size of the Sea.

Some Interesting Figures About the Salt Waters of the Earth.

One gallon of water weighs ten pounds, so the number of gallons in the Pacific is over 200,000,000,000,000, an amount which would take more than 1,000,000 years to pass over the falls of Niagara. Yet put into a sphere, the whole of the Pacific would only measure 725 miles across, says Longman's Magazine.

The Atlantic could be contained bodily in the Pacific nearly three times. The number of cubic feet is 117 followed by seventeen ciphers; a number of that would be tickled off by 1,000,000 clocks in 370,000 years. Its weight is 325,000,000,000 tons and the number of gallons in it 73,000,000,000,000. A sphere to hold the Atlantic would have to be 533 1-2 miles in diameter. If it were made to fill a circular pipe reaching from the earth to the sun—a distance of 93,000,000 miles—the diameter of the pipe would be 1,837 yards, or rather over a mile; while a pipe of similar length to contain the Pacific would be over a mile and three quarters across. Yet the distance to the sun is so great that, as had been pointed out, if a child were born with an arm long enough to reach to the sun it would not live long enough to know that it had touched it, for sensation passes along our nerves at the rate of 100 feet a second, and to travel from the sun to the earth at that rate would take a century and a half, and such an abnormal infant is an unlikely centenarian.

The rest of the sea includes the Indian ocean, the Arctic and Antarctic seas, and various smaller masses of water. It covers an area of 42,000,000 square miles, and would form a circle of 7,800 miles in diameter. The average depth may be put at 2,000 the fathoms (12,000 feet), and the contents at 95,000,000 miles. It weighs 330,000,000,000 tons, and contains 87,500,000,000 gallons, while it would form a column reaching to the sun of 2,000 yards in diameter.

If we now combine into one vast whole these various figures we arrive at some stupendous results in answer to the question "How big is the sea?" It is an area of 140,000,000 square miles could be confined by a circle 13,350 miles across. The relative size of the areas of the whole surface of the earth, of the whole sea, the Pacific and the Atlantic, are represented by circles the diameters of which are in the proportions to one another of 158,133.33, and 62 respectively; or by a crown for the surface of the earth, a half-crown for the surface of the whole sea, a shilling for the surface of the Pacific, a three-penny piece for the surface of the Atlantic.

Supposing the sea to be formed into a round column reaching to the sun the diameter of the column would be nearly two and a half miles. The Pacific would form 63,000,000 miles of its total length, 93,000,000 and the Atlantic 18,000,000.

If it were a column of ice and the entire heat of the sun could be concentrated upon it it would all be melted in one second and converted into steam in eight seconds, which illustrates the heat of the sun rather than the size of the sea.

A Columbian Souvenir.

BY CAROLINE BRUCKMAN.

When the Columbian year is passed we will begin to wish to possess something to recall this historic time. Only a few of us have the souvenir silver half-dollar; but almost anybody can obtain a cancelled Columbian postage stamp, and of these a very pretty souvenir can be made. The more denominations you can collect the better, both for the appearance and value.

Soak the stamps for a few minutes in very hot water, so that they can be easily removed from the envelope, and then let them dry. Get a queer-shaped bottle or a common earthen vase of some pretty form, and gild the inside of the neck. Then paste the stamps neatly on the vase in "rows of brick" fashion. So that the entire surface of the vase is covered. Use a separate denomination for each row, being careful to combine the colors of the different rows so that they look well together.

Another way, which you may perhaps prefer, is to gild the whole vase, and arrange a design of stamps in contrasting colors in the centre, with a border of them at the top and bottom. Any boy or girl who has ever been in a kindergarten will be able to make a good design for this decoration.

A plaque can be decorated in the same manner, starting the pattern from the centre and allowing it to spread outward like a star.

This is a good rainy-day work, and if neatness and taste are used you will have an ornament for your room, and a Columbian souvenir that other children a hundred years from now will enjoy seeing.

Colonel McClure Improving.

The Veteran Editor's Physicians Hopeful of His Recovery.

The condition of Colonel A. K. McClure showed a slight improvement over that of the preceding two days, and his physicians were more hopeful of his recovery. During the afternoon Drs. Andrews, Hughes, Laine and J. William White held another consultation and agreed that their patient's symptoms, both local and general, were more favorable than on Friday. The septic condition continues, but the various organs are performing their functions more satisfactorily, and if there should be no relapse, the aspect of the case will be much more hopeful than it has appeared.

—Mr. James Whitcomb Riley is one of the few writers of verse who find poetry profitable. It is said that he has accumulated a comfortable store of dollars, and he has lately purchased as a permanent dwelling-place, the old Indiana Homestead of his family.

Indiana's Lake Country.

Over 1000 Spring-fed Ponds in the Northeastern Corner.

A person might look on the map until he was blind without discovering the curious fact, too insignificant from a geographical view to be taken into account in the collection of general topographical data, that huddled together in the northeastern corner of Indiana, are more than 1,000 natural lakes, ranging in size from ten to 100 acres. They are all within the boundaries of Steuben, De Kalb, Lagrange, Noble, and Kosciusko counties, 312 of them being in Noble county alone. Such is the isolation of this extraordinary group of lakes that the average Indiana citizen, outside the small area in which the system is situated, is unaware of its existence. It is entirely separate from the river system of the State, and corresponds in character with that famous group of lakes in Orange and Sullivan counties, New York, and Wayne and Pike counties, Pennsylvania—literally great springs of crystal water, with the bottoms of the whitest sand. The wild charm of mountain environment that is the characteristic of their Eastern counterparts is lacking, however, in the Indiana lakes, although they occupy the highest situation in the State.

No where else in Indiana is there a lake of any size whatever. These sheets of water are natural homes of the small-mouth bass, and ex-Fish Commissioner Dennis, of Indiana, declares that the small mouth black bass that inhabit the waters of every part of the country came from that group of lakes. No where else on the continent have these fish been caught equal in size to those taken from Indiana waters. The largest small-mouth black bass of which there is any record was caught this season in Sylvan Lake at Rome City, by Sidney E. Smith of that place. It weighed 93 pounds. Last season Dr. Moyer, of Kendallville, took one in the same lake that weighed 9 pounds. Sylvan Lake is the largest of the Indiana waters, its natural size having been enlarged by draining to make it a supply reservoir in the days of canal navigation. It is five miles long and a mile wide.

Pennsylvania Farms.

Secretary Edge, of the State Board of Agriculture, has secured from the census bureau at Washington, a tabulated statement showing the number of farms by counties in Pennsylvania. According to the census of 1890, Lancaster county leads the list with 9,440, while the smallest number are in Cameron, which has but 359. The number of farms in the other counties of the State are given as follows:

Adams, 3,336; Allegheny, 5,343; Armstrong, 4,127; Beaver, 2,672; Bedford, 3,221; Berks, 6,952; Blair, 1,490; Bradford, 6,415; Bucks, 6,364; Butler, 5,354; Cambria, 2,241; Carbon, 992; Centre, 2,180; Chester, 2,182; Clinton, 1,162; Columbia, 2,415; Crawford, 7,780; Cumberland, 2,944; Dauphin, 2,077; Delaware, 1,469; Elk, 759; Erie, 5,433; Fayette, 3,320; Forest, 481; Franklin, 3,295; Fulton, 1,305; Greene, 2,954; Huntingdon, 2,391; Indiana, 4,644; Jefferson, 2,531; Juniata, 1,609; Lackawanna, 1,579; Lawrence, 2,575; Lebanon, 2,401; Lehigh, 3,378; Luzerne, 2,850; Lycoming, 3,332; McKean, 1,460; Mercer, 5,021; Monroe, 1,143; Montgomery, 5,361; Monroe, 1,767; Montgomery, 5,361; Montour, 814; Northampton, 3,392; Northumberland, 2,361; Perry, 2,314; Philadelphia, 801; Pike, 960; Potter, 1,238; Schuylkill, 2,680; Snyder, 1,667; Somerset, 3,471; Sullivan, 958; Susquehanna, 4,716; Tioga, 1,555; Union, 1,225; Venango, 3,051; Warren, 2,861; Washington, 4,514; Wayne, 3,959; Westmoreland, 5,339; Wyoming, 1,732; York, 7,730.

Vigilant Wins.

The Valkyrie Was Defeated Easily by the American Yacht—It was a Close-Hauled Race.

With a cloudless sky, a gentle breeze and a flat, smooth sea, the British cutter Valkyrie and the Yankee sloop Vigilant met Saturday morning at the Sandy Hook lightship to race the first race in a series of three out of five for the America's cup, the trophy of the queen yachts of the world.

By such handling of their vessels as has rarely been seen, they were sent across the line practically side by side, and the race was a close one. The Valkyrie was a trifle in the lead. During the time needed to cover about two miles of the course the cutter not only held her lead, but increased it, as the spectators thought, by about two lengths.

Then the American sloop began to draw up, and, with a speed that was surprising, considering that the wind seemed to have failed, she passed her rival and took a fair lead. To this gain she added continually until the turn was rounded, more than eight minutes in advance of her fleet rival. In running before a light wind she appears to have fairly beaten the cutter almost by a minute a mile.

From the turn stake home the greater part of the distance was covered with sheets flat aft. It was a closed hauled race, with a breeze that never turned a white cap, but was nevertheless fresh enough to keep every sail round and hard.

For Strangers Only.

"I stopped at a small town in West Virginia not long ago," remarked the drummer, "and as I stood on the platform at station looking for somebody to tell me something about the place a native passed along."

"Is there a hotel in this town?" I inquired.

"Thar ain't," he replied quite to the point.

"Isn't there any place for strangers to stop at?"

"Well, yes," he said hesitatingly, "thar's a boarding house whar nobody but strangers stops. Anybody that knowed anything about it wouldn't stop thar."

The drummer sighed.

"I tried it," he said in conclusion, "and the native was right." Detroit Free Press.

"Go on, you red-headed thing; I won't play with you any more. I might get burnt."

"Oh, no, you won't. You're to green to burn."

Scientific Explanation of Red Hair.

Science explains the phenomenon of red hair thus: It is caused by a superabundance of iron in the blood. This it is that imparts the vigor and elasticity, the great vitality, the overflowing and thoroughly healthy animal life that runs riot through the veins of the ruddy-haired; and this strong, sentient animal life is what renders them more intense in all their emotions than their more languid fellow-creatures. The excess of iron is also the cause of freckles on the peculiarly clear, white skin which always accompanies red hair. The skin is abnormally sensitive to the action of the sun's rays, which not only brings out the little brown spots in abundance, but also burns like a mustard plaster, producing a queer, creepy sensation, as if the skin was wrinkling up.

WHY HIS WIFE IS "FIDGETY":
I have the best cook in the town, whose bread is delicious and white; Her coffee is fragrant and brown, Her pastry a perfect delight, But she daily complains of the worry they bring.

She's my own darling wife, but a fidgety thing! Your wife is worn out, and needs Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, the only medicine guaranteed to cure debilitated women. How many overworked American ladies we see with lack-lustre eyes and haggard faces, growing old before their time from those exhausting ailments that men know nothing of. They can be permanently cured by this remedy, as numberless grateful women will attest. Price refunded, if it fails to give satisfaction in every case. See guarantee printed on bottle-wrapper.

—Attention has been called to the fact that "all the five republics of Central America are in a state of peace, although there is a general at the head of each of them as President. Since last May 13 Presidents in that America have been overthrown, which does not promise well for the continuance of peace, and is another warning to the United States not to be inveigled into responsibility of any sort for such a lot of alleged republics.

Cream Balm has given satisfactory results. W. P. Draper, Druggist, Springfield, Mass.

"Certainly," said the farmer's wife to Mendacious Mike, "I'll give you your breakfast." "Thank you ma'am, forever an' ever." "Suppose," she went on with a glance at the woodpile, "that you start in with a chop?" And he turned haughtily away with a remark to the effect that nothing was so offensive to a man of taste as an untimely and unseasonable joke.—Washington Star.
