

Farm Notes.

Dehorning is an advantage, but it is difficult to induce humane persons to adopt it, hence its advocates are not numerous.

Feed hay in racks on the floor, rather than have the racks high, as the animals will eat with more comfort and waste less.

Buckwheat may be ground and fed with advantage. Used with skim-milk it is one of the best grains that can be given your pigs.

The cold winds not only blow the fodder from the fields, but it takes away the warmth of the bodies of the stock. The waste can be avoided with warm quarters.

While sloop can nearly always be used to a good advantage even with fattening hogs, in nearly all cases it will be best to use something else besides corn meal in making it.

More food than is required is a waste, as much will be thrown under foot and trampled. There is no fixed allowance. The best rule to observe is to give each animal as much as it will eat up clean and be satisfied.

Clover is rich in nitrogen, yet it leaves more nitrogen in the soil after a crop has been removed than the soil contained previous to the growth of the crop, because the clover plant derives a large proportion of its nitrogen from the air.

There is no necessity for having a field in fallow. It is better to plow it in the fall, cross plow it in the spring, and sow some crop to be turned under, which is a surer and quicker way, than to lose time by the slow fallow process of recuperation.

Clean seed is everything to a farmer, as it lessens his labor. It is better to overhaul the seed on the table, and even hand pick it, than to spend days and weeks in going over the field to pull out cockle and other weeds that are caused by foul seed.

Dr. Salmon, chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry, states that abortion, which is so prevalent, is largely due to mismanagement. Close confinement in the stalls, bad food and lack of pure water, with filthy stables, are at the bottom of the difficulty.

Even with the best of food, an animal will lose flesh in winter unless it is well sheltered. This means not a close roof only, but freedom from draughts of air. A hole or crack in the wall is more damaging to an animal than exposure to the open air.

The young animals are the future breeders. Every farmer knows that when the calf, colt or pig is stunted when very young, the effects remain. Push the young ones, and keep them growing. The first year's gain is more important than any year in the future.

If wheat is low, good beef, pork and mutton are high. This fact alone is proof that the farmer can turn his attention to something better than producing the cheapest articles for market. The way to sell wheat and corn is in the shape of milk, butter and meat.

The large hog is becoming the thing of the past unless lard is a specialty. Hogs of medium size now bring the highest prices and it has been demonstrated that in proportion to the time required for converting a certain amount of food into pork a larger profit can be made from a medium size hog than from an extra large one.

A large egg may not bring any more in market than a smaller one, but it costs the farmer more to produce it. For that reason the farmers should advocate the selling of eggs by weight, instead of by the dozen. It would be fairer to both producer and consumer to sell by weight, while the breeds of hens that lay large eggs would be preferred.

Old pastures need not to be abandoned or plowed up. It is better to bring up an old pasture than to make a new one. The remedy is in fertilizers. Use mixed fertilizers early in the spring, and apply lime or wood ashes in the fall, keeping the stock off the pasture for awhile, and the grass will soon thicken the sod and also make rapid growth.

There is too much method in sowing clover seed, and the result is that failures often occur. If all the seed germinate, four quarts of seed would be ample, but as a large proportion is lost (and in many cases nearly all the seed is poor), it is only safe to use it liberally. Light quarts per acre is not too much, and the land should be thoroughly prepared with the harrow, so as to insure the covering of as much of the seed as possible.

Every farmer should use lime. It costs so little compared with the benefits imparted to the soil by it that to omit it is to sustain a loss. Many of the advantages derived from artificial fertilizers may be traced to the lime contained, yet a higher price is paid for lime in such form. Even on limestone soils a benefit is noticeable when lime is applied, and for all kinds of hay crops lime is the best fertilizer in proportion to cost that can be used.

The size of the farm does not effect success. There is no limit to the productive capacity of any soil, so far as the present methods of farming are concerned. In some portions of Belgium where the farmers are compelled to utilize every square foot of land, the yields are enormous, far exceeding the farms of any other portion of the world, yet the original soil was poor and not considered very valuable. A high system of cultivation has changed the soil itself, which is now very fertile.

November Days.

November is a month of rainy, disagreeable days. The damp, cold air penetrates everywhere and chills the blood, laying the system open to the danger of colds, pneumonia and kindred complaints. There is but one remedy that stimulates the system and fortifies it against such attacks, and that is whiskey. Not such a whiskey as is generally palmed off on the public, but a whiskey of known purity and quality. Such a whiskey is Klein's Silver Age Whiskey or Bear Creek Whiskey. These whiskeys have been before the public for many years and find favor wherever purity is required. Physicians prescribe them; hospitals use them, and every reputable dealer sells them.

SCROFULOUS HUMOR

BOY ALMOST LOST USE OF HIS LIMBS. TWO YEARS' INTENSE ITCHING. SEVERAL DOCTORS FAIL. INSTANT RELIEF, SWEET SLEEP SPEEDY, REMARKABLE, AND PERMANENT CURE CUTICURA REMEDIES.

When about seven years old, my son was afflicted with a skin disease which was very distressing. The first appearance was of little pimples accompanied by intense itching, soon spreading into sores covered with scabs, except when scratched off. The entire body, except head, was covered. He almost lost the use of his limbs, and was so light I could carry him about like an infant. Used all remedies I could find recommended in medical works for itching without benefit. Applied to different physicians, receiving temporary relief, but the disease was sure to return. I sent for your pamphlet, read it, purchased a set of Cuticura Remedies. I anointed him with the Cuticura, bathing with the Cuticura Soap, and gave small doses of Cuticura Resolvent. Oh, the soothing effect of that Cuticura! After two years' search for something to allay that terrible itching, what a relief to see him sleep sweetly without any inclination to scratch. Less than two boxes of Cuticura, one cake Cuticura Soap, and one bottle of the Cuticura Resolvent, performed a cure, with no returns. Is now a strong, healthy boy of thirteen. Consider it a remarkable cure, as he had inherited scrofulous humor.

Saddlery.

SCHOFIELD'S NEW HARNESS HOUSE.

We extend a most cordial invitation to our patrons and the public, in general, to witness one of the ever put on the Bellefonte market, which will be made in the large room, formerly occupied by Harper Bros., on Spring street. It has been added to my factory and will be used exclusively for the sale of harness, being the first exclusive salesroom ever used in this town, as heretofore the custom has been to sell goods in the room in which they were made. This elegant room has been refitted and furnished with glass cases in which the harness can be nicely displayed, and still kept away from heat and dust, the enemies of long wear in leather. Our factory now occupies a room 10x74 feet and the store 28x20 added makes it the largest establishment of its kind outside of Philadelphia and Pittsburg.

We are prepared to offer better bargains in the future than we have done in the past, and we want everyone to see our goods and get prices for when you do this, out of self defense you will buy. Our profits are not large, but by selling lots of goods we can afford to live in Bellefonte. We are not indulging in idle philanthropy. It is purely business. We are not making much, but trade is growing and that is what we are interested in now. Profits will take care of themselves.

When other houses discharged their workmen during the winter they were all put to work in my factory, nevertheless the big (7) houses of this city and county would smile if we compared ourselves to them, but we do not mean to be so odious, except to venture the assertion that none of these men say, as we can say "NO ONE OWES US A CENT THAT WE CAN'T GET." This is the whole story.

The following are kept constantly on hand. 50 SETS OF LIGHT HARNESS, prices from $3.00 to $15.00 and upwards. LARGE STOCK OF HEAVY HARNESS per set $22.00 and upwards, 400 HORSE COLLARS from $1.50 to $3.00 each, over $100.00 worth of HARNESS OILS and AXLE GREASE.

$400 worth of Fly Nets sold cheap $150 worth of whips from 15c to $3.00 each, Horse Brushes, Curry Combs, Sponges, Chamols, RIDING SADDLES, LADY SIDE SADDLES, Harness Soap, Knee Dusters, HARNESS STORE—NO changing, over 20 years in the same room. No two shops in the town to catch trade—NO SELLING OUT for the want of trade or price. Four harness-makers at steady work this winter. This year idea of protection to labor, when other houses discharged their hands, they soon found work with us. JAS. SCHOFIELD, 38-37 Surin street, Bellefonte, Pa.
