Thanksgiving Day.

Decorations of Chrysanthemums and Monntain Ash-Berries

The table on Thanksgiving day is expected to groan benith its load of good things. In all good food there is more or less of beauty, but not that beauty which the eye most appreciates. Let us endeavor to blend with food for the body something that shall act as a food for the higher appetite of man. This we can do by making the table beautiful with color in the use of flowers or fruits.

I would advise the use of the chrysanthemum for the Thanksgiving din-ner table. It is a late blooming flower and eminently appropriate to the season. The yellow varieties are exquisite when grouped in large bowls of old blue china. The crimson and maroon varieties look well in yellow ware. So do the pink sorts. All are effective in clear glass bowls or vases, or in white china. Many a New England garden yields up its Artemisias for the table on Thanksgiving day that never produces flowers at any other time for such a use. Where flowers are used upon the table let fruits be reserved for the decoration of the sideboard until the time comes when they are needed to complete the feast. They may be arranged in such delightful manner as to tempt the appetite and charm the eye. Heap a glass bowl with purple and green-white half transparent grapes, another with ruddy-cheeked apples of green or gold or red; between them let the golden globes of the orange show their crinkled skin, with toothsome raisins peeping out here and there, with close at hand the walnut's russet shell, and you have a picture that is not lacking in beauty of form or color.

If no flowers are at your disposal with which to decorate your table on Thanksgiving day, heaped-up dishes of fruit may be used to suppy the color that seems needed. Or you can use vases filled with wheat or oats or barley, with clusters of the mountain ash berry to give tone and brightness to what would otherwise lack brilliance to catch the eye. But flowers, when they are to be had, are always preferrable to any-thing else.-Ladies' Home Journal.

James G. Blaine, Jr., the grand. son of the late Secretary of State, is now 6 years old. He has been under the care of one nurse since he was 2 years old. The lad attends a kindergarten in New York, and it is said that he has some marked traits of his father's family. He is very slow to make friends with grown-up person's, but boys will chum with him instantly. He is quite a sturdy, healthy lad.

> THE RICH MAN'S Son .--The rich mars son inherits lands, And piles of brick and stones and gold And he inherits soft white hands, And tender flesh that fears the cold

Like soft hands, and tender flesh, many diseases are inherited; especially tendencies to Asthma, Consumption, Bronchitis, Stomach and Liver troubles; but there is a remedy known as the "Golden Medical Discovery," which overcomes these diseases, and cuts off all tendencies toward a fatal result. Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, has put this remedy within reach of all, so that even the poor as well as the rich, can obtain it. It is worth more to you than "piles of brick and stone and gold." Ask your druggist for it. It's guaranteed to cure in every case, or money paid for it will be refunded.

FOAMY SAUCE.-One-fourth cup of butter, one cup of powdered sugar, whites of two eggs, one gill of boiling water, one gill of sherry or a teaspoon-ful of vanilla. Beat the butter to a cream, then add gradually the sugar and beat until white; then add the white of one egg unbeaten, heat again, then add the remaining white and beat the whole until very, very light. When ready to serve add the sherry or vanilla and boiling water, stand the bowl in a basin of boiling water over the fire and stir until frothy-no longer. Take from the fire and serve immediately or it will lose its lightness.
