

Farm Notes.

The November report of the statistician of the Department of Agriculture presents facts that are probably surprising to those who are not familiar with the average yield of crops. Iowa leads on corn, averaging 35.4 bushels per acre, with Massachusetts second closely followed by the other New England States.

TOBACCO, COTTON AND HAY.

It may not be known that Massachusetts, Connecticut and Pennsylvania produce the most tobacco per acre. In fact, Massachusetts averages about three times as much as Kentucky or Virginia, which have the reputation of being specially adapted to the culture of tobacco.

SOILS AND CROPS.

The crops reported have been grown on all kinds of soils. On the seacoast the soils are light, but the average crops of the several States do not appear to be affected by the quality of the soil entirely, as may be shown by the fact that Florida's average of corn, per acre, is only 9.7 bushels, although she was second on hay and also on sweet potatoes, but was the lowest of the cotton-producing States.

The alacrity with which some farmers will attempt to save a small sum in purchasing seeds is surprising, considering the risk incurred by so doing. Good seed is more important than all other matters connected with growing a crop, as the failure of seed to germinate may prevent growing the intended crop for want of time to make a second attempt with better seed.

While wheat and other grains have fallen in price, there is no complaint that eggs are not fully up to expectations in price. Eggs are always "cash on sight," and those who make a specialty of supplying customers with strictly fresh eggs are affected but little by business depressions or sudden changes in value.

Bees do not make honey—they simply gather it. Feeding syrup to them will provide them with food, but the syrup will not be made into honey, as the bees have no power to make the change, honey being only obtained from the blossoms.

Farmers who are now using hay will find that some will be more highly relished by stock than other portions. This difference in quality is due to the stage of growth at which it was cut, and also in the manner in which it was cured.

Board floor for sheep are the best, provided they are swept off daily. If earth is used as a floor, cut straw or leaves should be made to do service in providing bedding and protection against draughts when the sheep are at rest.

Sloppy food is not advisable as a continued diet for pigs. Give a change occasionally. The hogs are very partial to whole corn, fed dry, and will eat it from the trough, either shelled or on the cob.

The winter is the time to build the intended silo, as it can be done with less interference in other work. Have the silo ready and complete for a crop of corn next season. A silo soon pays for itself.

Forestry is made a study in the agricultural schools and colleges of Europe, but in this country it is overlooked, yet it is one of the most important subjects connected with agriculture.

November Days.

November is a month of rainy, disagreeable days. The damp, cold air penetrates everywhere and chills the blood, laying the system open to the danger of colds, pneumonia and kindred complaints. There is but one remedy that stimulates the system and fortifies it against such attacks, and that is whiskey. Not such a whiskey as is generally palmed off on the public, but a whiskey of known purity and quality. Such a whiskey is Klein's Silver Age Whiskey or Bear Creek Ryes.

RAW AS PIECE MEAT. SIX MONTHS UNDER THREE DOCTORS - NO BENEFIT. COMPLETELY CURED IN 3 MONTHS BY CUTICURA.

Cuticura has been a blessing to me. My baby was about four weeks old, when she first got Eczema. It was on her head and all over her body, which was raw as a piece of meat. I doctored for six months with three doctors here, and she still kept getting worse.

There is more remedial power to one of your ointments, Cuticura Soap than there is to some of the three-dollar treatments of these dermatologists for the same, fleshworms, etc. It has cured me of the above affection, and I think it can cure others if they use it right and according to directions.
