Lampblack. The manufacture of lampblack, which is extensively used in the rubber and other trades, is an industry, the extent of which is not readily understood. Two houses in New York alone handle over twenty thousand tons, one house in Glasgow as much more, and the quantities traded in Cincinnati and Chicago are of like proportion. Printer's ink is made on the basis of sixteen parts of lampblack, one part of linseed oil and one part soap. Soap blacking is made from lampblack, molasses and oil of vitriol. In every ton of fertilizer put upon the market, there are fifty pounds of lampblack. A lampblack manufactory can be put up at the low cost of $50. It is made from the low grades of rosin. -Hardware.

A Bit of Good News.—The publishers of the Columbian Album, the wonderful Christmas gift of The Pittsburg Times to its readers, have decided to extend the scope of the work so as to make it a volume of 224 views instead of 160 as originally intended. This will necessitate an increase in the number of parts from 10 to 14. The additional numbers will be furnished to readers of The Times at the same terms as the first parts, namely six coupons and ten cents for each part. With the last part will be furnished a complete index and title page. Twenty-five thousand copies of the Columbian Album are being sent out by The Times each week. With the enlargement of the scope of the work this number should be doubled.

A Legend of Nantucket.

About Vineyards sound there are numerous legends of a famous Indian giant. It is said that the rocks at Seaconnet are the remains of his wife, whom he threw into the sea there. He turned his children into fishes, and emptying out his pipe one day formed Nantucket out of its ashes. This latter story of Nantucket's source must account likewise for the well known story of that old Nantucket captain who was accustomed to make his reckonings by tasting the earth brought up on the parting. One day the lead was dipped in some earth brought on board ship from the island, and the captain, after tasting leaped from his berth in great excitement exclaiming, "Nantucket's sunk, and here we are right over old Marm Hackett's garden." Naturally, he would recognize the taste of tobacco ashes.

A God-Send to the Poor.

The dismantlement of the world's fair structures basin one respect proved a god-send to the poor of Chicago. In Jackson park there were recently 2,000 wagon loads of excellent firewood which the officials were glad to get rid of. The Chicago Relief and Aid society obtained permission to cart the wood away, and put up the following sign on the fence near the Sixty-second street gate: "Fire Wood for the Poor." Any person with a horse and wagon is now admitted to the park and allowed to take away all the wood his wagon will hold, the only condition being that he shall present a permit from the society. The pile of debris through which the wood is scattered has a length 300 yards, a width of 100 yards and a height of 12 feet. It consists of baskets, boxes and barrels. The man in need of fuel has only to delve in the pile to get as serviceable kindling wood as can be found anywhere. The applicants are foreigners for the most part, and judging from their ragged coats and pinched faces, they could get the means of warmth for their families nowhere else.

Uncle Sam's Cats.

Some 360 and odd cats are maintained by the United States government, the cost of their support being a regular item on the accounts of the Postoffice Department. These cats are distributed among about 50 postoffices, and their duty is to keep rats and mice from eating and destroying postal matter and canvas mail sacks. Their work is of the most importance wherever there are quantities of mail are collected, as, for example, at the New York postoffice, where from 2,000 to 3,000 bags of mail matter are commonly stored away in the basement. Formerly great damage was done by the mischievous rodents, which chewed holes in the sacks, and thought nothing of boring clear through bags of letters in a night. Troubles of this sort no longer occur since the official pussies keep watch. Each of the postmasters in the larger cities is allowed from $8 to $30 a year for the keep of his feline staff, sending his estimate for "cat meat" to Washington at the beginning of each quarter.

Elastic Marble.

In an account of Rome, the author mentions five or six slabs of elastic marble as being in the possession of the Prince Borghese. Being set on end, they bend backward and forward; when laid horizontally and raised at end, they form a curve; if placed on a table, and a piece of wood or any other substance is laid under them, they fall into a kind of curve, each end touching the table. The Abbe Fortis was told that they were dug up near the town of Mondrago in the kingdom of Naples. The grain is like that of fine Carrara marble, or perhaps of the finest Greek. They seem to have suffered some attack of fire. A slab of marble similar in every respect to those described and highly polished has been exhibited for more than 25 years at the British museum. M. Fleuvian de Belvæ succeeded in making common granular limestone, a granular quartz, completely flexible, by exposing it to a certain degree of heat. In Lincoln cathedral, England, there is an arch built of white marble which is quite elastic, yielding to a heavy tread and returning or rebounding to its original position on true elastic principles.

For and About Women.

By the will of Mrs. John Clay, who for the past six years conducted her late husband's stock farm in Kentucky, $50 per year is bequeathed to be expended on every superannuated horse on the farm, with no work.

A hint of spring gowning is found in the paniers, overskirts, slashed skirts and draperies of the newest toiles.

It is reported that glossy hair is to become the prevailing style, and to produce the effect many things are resorted to. Brushing the hair at night will make it shiny, and it is said that a soft cap worn at night will do the same. First of all, however, the hair must be kept perfectly clean and free from oil or "dressings."

The plain stiff officer's collar is almost superseded by the high wrinkled collar of velvet or satin. This is often made of colored velvet and can be adjusted to any costume.

Piped seams are effective upon the many gored skirts, of novelty wool cloth, satin or velvet. The piping is usually of another shade or even of a contrasting color.

Lapped and stitched seams appear on tailor suits. Candlewick is sometimes placed in the skirt facing of bias velvet and forms an appropriate finish for plain gowns.

The favorite cloth gown of the period has a plain double skirt effect, without ruffles of any sort. The upper skirt of cloth falls smoothly over an under skirt of velvet. The bodice front is laid in three folds caught down in the centre, lapping upward onto a yoke of velvet and passing firmly into the armholes. Untrimmed shoulder ruffles are sewed in with the sleeves—a close-redeyed gown that can be put on without delay or adjustments. The bodice with its "smoke-stack" of a feather pompon is small and edged with fur. A fur tuft of Russian sable with head and a puff with tails complete the costume.

How to BRUSH THE TEETH.—Patent tooth washes should be avoided; one of the best dentifrices being a mixture of prepared chalk and orris root. This preparation, which is the basis of all tooth powder, whitens and preserves the teeth. The upper teeth should be brushed downward, and the lower teeth upward—not across; the tooth brush should be soft and firm, great injury being done the gums and teeth by hard bristles and too vigorous brushing. A quick toothpick is also serviceable, removing particles of food that the brush cannot reach, and dental floss, passed up and down between the teeth, will go a great way toward preventing decay of the approximal surfaces.

By following these suggestions and visiting a reliable dentist at least twice a year, the teeth may be preserved in good condition until old age.

Yellow imparts violet to a fair skin, and in this view is less favorable than the delicate green. To those skins which are more yellow than orange, it imparts white; but this combination is very dull and heavy for a fair complexion. When the skin is tinted more with orange than yellow we can make it rosier by neutralizing the yellow. It produces this effect on the dark-haired type and is particularly becoming to brunettes.

Violet, the complementary of yellow, produces the contrary effect; thus it imparts some green-yellow to the fair complexions, augmenting the yellow tint of yellow and orange skins. The little blue there may be in a complexion it makes green violet, then, is one of the least favorable colors to the skin, at least when not sufficiently deep to whiten the face by contrast of tone.

A beautiful tailor gown was of hair-line chevot, brown and white. The skirt had that elegant little drapery across the front and a band of black astrakhan down each front side seam. There was a brown velvet belt and a plaited skirt waist of tan sarah. A bolero jacket was made of the same material as the skirt, with narrow bindings of astrakhan on the revers and ruffles. The principal style so far for overskirts is to have a sort of plenum in front and the skirt lifted a little on each side with a massing of deep plaits, though many are cut quite round. The underskirt is usually made of lining, faced up on the outside with the dress material to a height sufficient to allow the overskirt to hide the linings. The bottom skirt may or may not be trimmed. One very handsome gown of this description was of black diagonal with quite wide wales. The underskirt had two rows of black fur and the pointed overskirt had one row. The sleeves had five, and there were five around the yoke and two more around the collar. The costume altogether was very rich yet quietly elegant.

"The general tendency of drawing rooms," says the London Queen, "is to make them more habitable than of yore. Less bric-a-brac is used, and care is taken not to overcrowd the floor space with large cabinets. The great point is to provide many comfortable chairs, and many of the most chic drawing rooms offer chairs as large and reposeful as those in a club smoking room. It is an age of cosy corners and window and fireside seats. These are admirable as affording plenty of good sitting space, and, if designed in accordance with their surroundings, add to the decorative effect of the room. The advantage of recesses in a room is now widely recognized, and where the architect has failed to provide them they are cunningly contrived by the furnisher by means of light fixed screens." Recesses are also made, to return to our American drawing rooms, by drawing the sofa straight out from the chimney piece and by putting a little elbow table at one end. This fences off a cozy corner at once in the middle of a vast room, or gives greater snugness to a small one, than when sofas or chairs are rigidly ranged against walls.

A great cure for cough.—Mrs. A. K. Morris, 456 Canton St., Philadelphia, Pa., writes: "I took several bottles of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup for a bad cough and was entirely cured."

Thomy Lafon, colored who died in New Orleans a few days ago, leaves a fortune estimated at $500,000. He bequeathed to charitable or educational purposes $214,000. Most of the institutions endowed by him are exclusively for whites.

The best remedy for rheumatism. Mr. John W. Gates, Petersburg, Va., writes: "I used Salvation Oil for Rheumatism and obtained great relief. It is the best remedy I have ever tried, and I shall always keep it in the house."

Leading newsmen at Danville, Illinois, have entered into an agreement not to sell trashy "wild west" novels.

SCHIFFMANN'S ASTHMA CURE.—Instantly relieves the most violent attack, facilitates free expectoration and insures rest to those otherwise unable to sleep except in a chair, a single trial will prove. Send for a free trial package to Dr. R. Schiffmann, St. Paul, Minn., but ask your druggist first.

According to the Harvard University catalogue for 1893, 94, there are 1655 students attending the University this year, against 1598 last year.

The following item is cut from an exchange: "Ferdinand Ward, once called the Napoleon of Finance," works industriously over a printer's frame every day in a small shop in West Twenty-fourth street near Seventh avenue, New York. He learned the trade in prison and is said to be quite proficient at it. He and his little son board with a family on the west side of the city not far from where he is employed."

What is claimed to be the oldest house in Boston will soon be demolished. The structure is at 55 Prince street and was built in 1727.

IT SHOULD BE IN EVERY HOUSE.—J. B. Wilson, 371 Clay St. Sharpsburg, Pa., says he will not be without Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, that it cured his wife who was threatened with Pneumonia after an attack of "La Grippe" when various other remedies and several physicians had done her no good. Robert Barber, of Cooksport, Pa., claims Dr. King's New Discovery has done him more good than anything he ever used for Lung Trouble. Nothing like it, try it. Free trial bottles at Parrish's Drug Store. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.00.

Queensland will probably produce 75,000 tons of sugar this season.

Real merit is the characteristic of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it is manifested every day in the remarkable cures this medicine accomplishes. Druggists say: "When we sell a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla to a new customer we are sure to see him back in a few weeks after more,—proving that the good results from a trial bottle warrant continuing its use. This positive merit Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses by virtue of the Peculiar Combination, Proportion and Process used in its preparation, and by which all the remedial value of the ingredients used is retained. Hood's Sarsaparilla is thus Peculiar to itself and absolutely unequalled in its power as a blood purifier, and as a tonic for building up the weak and weary, and giving nerve strength.

CHERRY TAPIOCA.—Cover one cupful of Pearl tapioca with a pint of water. Allow it to soak until all the water has been absorbed. Open a pint can of cherries; drain off the liquor; add to it the tapioca and cook slowly over a moderate fire until the tapioca is tender; then stir in the cherries. Turn this into a glass dish and serve cold, with powdered sugar and cream. The unfrozen and dried grape juice may be used here in place of cherries. Half a pint or a pint stirred into this quantity will make a most palatable and wholesome dessert.

RHYME WITH REASON.—To guess the number, who would dare to? Of all the ills that flesh is heir to; To hear the half you could not bear to; And lovely woman has share, too; She'd have some less if she'd repair to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. For "run-down," debilitated and overworked women, it is the best of all restorative tonics. A potent specific for all those chronic weaknesses and diseases peculiar to women; a powerful, general, as well as uterine, tonic and nerve-giver. It promptly cures weakness of the stomach, nausea, indigestion, bloating, debility and sleeplessness, in either sex. It is carefully compounded by an experienced physician and adapted to woman's delicate organization. Purely vegetable and perfectly harmless in any condition of the system. The only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee of satisfaction in every case, or price ($1.00) refunded.

A drum-major can't get up half as big a racket as a ten-year-old minor.

LA GRIPPE AGAIN.—The re-appearance of the "Grip" calls to mind the experience of Jas. O. Jones, publisher of the Leader, Mexico, Texas. He was sick in bed for ten days with the grip during its prevalence a year or two ago. Later in the season he had a second attack. He says: "In the latter case I used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and with considerable success, I think, only being in bed a little over two days. The second attack, I am satisfied, would have been equally as bad as the first, but for the use of this remedy." It should be borne in mind that the grip is much the same as a very severe cold and requires precisely the same treatment. When you wish to cure a cold quickly and effectively give this remedy a trial. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by F. P. Green. 38-50-4t.

PUT UP AND PUT DOWN.—I want a word to rhyme with ills. I have it now; I'll put down pills. Excuse me, though—than put down pills, I'd rather suffer some big ills.

To put down the old-fashioned, huge, bitter pills that gripped so and made such disturbance internally is more than a wise man will do. He will not put up such unnecessary suffering. He uses Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. As a Liver Pill, they are unequalled. Smallest, cheapest, easiest to take. Put up in vials, hermetically sealed, hence always fresh and reliable, which is not true of the large pills in wood or pasteboard boxes. As a gentle laxative, only one Pellet for a dose. Three to four of these tiny, sugar-coated granules act pleasantly and painlessly as a cathartic.

A Pleasing Fact.

Less than two months ago the publishers of the Pittsburg Post began the issue of a semi-weekly edition for the same price formerly charged for their weekly paper; and its success is something without a precedent in journalism in the central states. The WATCHMAN is not astonished at the popularity of the Semi-Weekly Post, considering the immense amount of reading published. Just think of it, two papers every week for only $1.00 per year. Its facilities for procuring news are not excelled by any newspapers in America. The Post will send you a specimen copy free.

Mr. Wilson W. Otis is a well known blacksmith of Trenton, N. J. He writes illustrating the great building up, blood purifying powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla after serious illness: "Trenton, N.
