Farm Notes.

-Figuring the ration to the lowest quantity that will keep an animal is simply to figure out the lowest product to be obtained from the animal.

-It is generally admitted that for stock cooked food is the best, but the labor and fuel required for the purpose adds too much to the cost of the food.

-Make the barn as tight as boards and shingles and clapboards will make it, and see that is made tight underneath so that the cold will not drive in

The best stocks are from rich beds, on which manure has been used liberally. Fertilizers also give good results on such a crop, and soapsuds may also be used to advantage on the asparagus beds.

-A writer says that the Russian thistle, which is such a great nuisance in the West, is one of the best crops to plow under for green manure, and that the best way to get rid of it is to attempt to utilize it, for then insects will attack it, and it will not grow without seeding. He also states that some farmers need just such weeds to compel them to cultivate their land thoroughly.

-Economical production of meat, milk and butter depends on the animals. To use stock that cannot comply with the demands of the farmers not only increases the cost of produc tion, but lengthens the time. An Effort in the Hebrides Islands That Was Attended With Great Success.

Lieutenant Boyle T. Somerville of the the Hebrides islands, tells the following interesting tale regarding the work of a professional native rainmaker. Toward the end of the year, just after yam planting, there came an unusual period of drought, so that an inland tribe in the island of Ambrym went to its rainmaker and demanded his immediate attention thereto.

He at once set to work to weave a sort of hurdle of the branches and leaves of a tree famed for its rain producing qualities, which, being finished, was placed, with proper incantations, at the bottom of what should have been a water hole in the now parched bed of the mountain torrent. There it was then held in place with stones. Down came the rain; nor did it cease for 48 hours, by which time it had become too much of a good thing. Soon the rain producing hurdle was quite 10 feet under water in the seething torrent, and the people, much to their dismay, saw that their yams and the surrounding earth were beginning to wash away down the hillsides.

The lieutenant continues: "Now mark what comes of fooling with the elements! This elegant room has been refitted and furnished with glass cases in which the harness can be nicely displayed and still kept away from heat and dust, the enemies of long wear in learner. Our factory now occupies a room 16x74 teet and the store 20x60 added makes it the largest establishment of its kind outside of Philadelphia and Pittsburg.

When other houses discharged their workmen during the winter they were all put to work in my factory, nevertheless the big (1) houses of this city and county would smile if we compared ourselves to them, but we do not mean to be so odious, except to venture the assection that none of them can say, as we can say "NO ONE OWES US A CENT THAT WE CAN'T GET."
