THINGS ABOUT TOWN & COUNTY

—To-day, Friday, is ground hog day.

—A few sleighs were out on Tuesday.

—Everybody who could get out went sleighing on Tuesday.

—Louis Fabian, a clerk in Lewin's clothing store, has won two cows this winter on games of chance.

—The Adelphi club assembly, in the Bush Arcade, on last Friday evening, was a brilliant social success.

—Mrs. Nicholas Mann, of Eagleville, died suddenly on Saturday. Her interment was made the following Monday.

—Lula Giffen, an 18 year old servant in the home of J. H. Curry, of Tyrone, was found dead in bed last Saturday morning.

—G. W. Lever, a young son of Squire J. H. Lever, of Stormstown, has embarked in a general merchandise business at Warrior's mark.

—Hen-roost robbers are at work in town. On Tuesday night some one stole three fat hens and a rooster from Harry Crisman's coop.

—Workmen began tearing down the ruined walls of the old Conrad house last week. A handsome modern business block will be erected on the site.

—Armed with a warrant Joshua Foulk and Orrin Miller went out to hunt the latter's meat, but the place they searched did not even have so much as a bone in it.

—George Senser, formerly of Snow Shoe, was killed on a saw mill on Panther run last Monday. He was a nephew of Mr. Shuman Lyon, of Spring township.

—The new engine, Ne-ha-sa-ne, of the C. R. of Pa., which was in the wreck that characterized the opening of the road, is back in service and is now running regularly over the line.

—A slight fire in the main College building alarmed State College students, Wednesday evening. A room on the "Prep" side caught fire and burned a hole through the floor before it was put out.

—Dr. James Irwin, of Landers, Wyoming, died recently at his home in that place. He was a native of Centre county, having left here forty years ago. Mrs. Melissa Hagerman, of Linn street, is a sister.

—Meyer's band and orchestra gave a free recital in the Centre county bank building hall last evening. The program contained ten numbers and was highly appreciable. It was the first of a series which Mr. Meyer, the director, has undertaken.

—There is no truth whatever in the report that the Lamokin Street Car Co., will locate in Newark, N. J. The statements of other papers in this place are unreliable as that company has arrived at no definite conclusion about a future location.

—Mr. Samuel Oris, of Milesburg, who had the misfortune to have a finger smashed and one cut off in a sausage machine, last Fall, was in town, on Monday, to have the one that was smashed amputated. It would not heal, and being afraid of blood poisoning, he was compelled to undergo the operation.

—A very graceful act was that of Lt. Col. W. Fred Reynolds, on last Friday night, when he invited all of the members of Co. B. to an oyster supper he had prepared for them at Ceaders'. Friday night was regular drill for the boys and after their work was over they thoroughly enjoyed the "feed" with which the Colonel had presented them.

—It is said that Robert McCalmont, the general superintendent of McCalmont and Co's lime operations here, became so much excited on Saturday evening when Andrew Niemi, one of his Finlanders, was about to get married, that he almost imagined himself the officiating clergyman. Robert had the ceremony done up in style and played the part of master of ceremonies to perfection.

—Garman's opera house should be crowded, next Monday, night when the celebrated Fiske Jubilee singers appear. They are noted for the excellence of their music and will give a concert well worth hearing. Then too, it will be a benefit for the Y. M. C. A., of this place, and for that reason, aside from the fact that it is an exceptional attraction, the house should be well filled. Seats can be procured at Parrish's drug store.

CIVIL CASES IN COURT.—The criminal cases in court were all cleared up last Friday and the civil list taken up. Before work was done on the latter, however, the court imposed the following sentences:

Harvey Seanson, who had been convicted of forgery, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1 and undergo imprisonment in the western penitentiary for thirteen months.

John Iddings, who had been convicted of malicious mischief, was sentenced to pay a fine of $5, costs of prosecution and undergo imprisonment in jail for thirty days.

The grand jury reported having acted on twenty-one bills, eighteen of which were true ones. It also reported needed repairs at the jail and court house.

The first case on the civil list called was Thomas Louver vs. David Harter, a suit to recover a claim of $18 alleged to be due for labor. He failed to prove his claim and a verdict was rendered for the defendant.

Elizabeth D. Kunes vs John B. Shaw et al, an ejectment case to test the title to a tract of land in Liberty Twp. is now trying.

THE C. R. OF P. EXCURSION TO WILLIAMSPORT.—At exactly 5:25, on last Tuesday evening, the handsome passenger engine, Ne-ha-sa-ne, drawing three coaches, steamed out of the Central Railroad of Pennsylvania station, at the foot of Lambstreet. It was an excursion which that company was running in order to carry persons from this and intermediate points to Williamsport to hear the Barnabee, Karl and MacDonald road company sing DeKoven's tuneful opera, Robin Hood. The train was under the charge of conductor John Hall and carried among its one hundred and thirteen passengers, General Superintendent J. W. Gephart, General Freight Agent Frank Warfield, Station Master L. T. Munson and his assistant, George B. Johnson, and several other officials of the road. Train Reever, P. J. Walsh was directing the train from the Central's office and could not take in the trip much to the regret of his friends more fortunate. At Heels, Nittany Hall and Huston the number was increased and when Mill Hall was reached the train ran on special time, over the Beech Creek tracks, to Jersey Shore, taking on many people at Lock Haven and Wayne. At Jersey Shore the special was given right of track over the Fall Brook road and the run, thence to Williamsport was made without stop.

The destination was reached shortly before eight so that the excursionists had plenty of time to get to the Lycoming opera house, where the company was booked. The rendition of the opera proved as fine as anticipated, the leading parts being well sustained, while the chorus, though provokingly ugly, showed its excellent training and well balanced music. After the opera lunch was served at the city hotel and about mid-night the train started on its return trip.

The excursion was splendidly conducted and was thoroughly enjoyed by all. That it caught the popular fancy is best evidenced by the fact that so many went along. Curiously prompted many, while love of good music was the incentive for others. The fact that seemed to surprise the party most was the condition of the new road, which had been generally supposed to have been very rough, when in truth the train ran smoother over it, at the same rate of speed, than it did on either the Beech Creek or Fall Brook tracks.

—Twelve inches of snow fell in Phillipsburg on Monday.

—A girl baby came to the home of Milton Straub, on Monday night.

—A Mrs. Stillwell, who resides at the Forges, near Tyrone, is said to have the smallpox.

—All Tyrone school children have been ordered to be vaccinated because of a reported case of small-pox near that town.

—The Fiske Jubilee singers will be here on Monday evening, February 5th, to give one of their superb concerts for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A.

—A wreck on the main line below Sunbury delayed the Montandon train three hours on Monday. It did not reach here until noon.

—On the 19th Clearfield county will vote either to establish a county poor farm or continue, as in the past, to let each township look after its own poor.

—The Coronet hook and ladder company, of this place, has disbanded owing to an inability to procure enough men to man their apparatus. The Hays truck will be turned over to council.

—A mortgage of $600,000 was filed in the Recorder's office, in Lock Haven, on Wednesday, by the Central Railroad Co., of Pennsylvania in favor of the Fidelity insurance, trust and safe deposit company of Philadelphia. It covers the stock of the company and is intended to secure the bonds that have been issued.

—Bartholomew's Equine Paradox which means a horse show, will be in Garman's opera house Monday, Feb. 12th, for a stand of three days. It is the acknowledged best show of its kind in America and all lovers of trained horses will do well to remember the dates and watch for future advertising.

—Mr. George B. Crawford, whose pool and billiard room was destroyed in the old Conrad house fire, several weeks ago is now located in the McCarthy building, on Bishop street, near Allegheny, where he has commodious and well appointed quarters. His tables have been completely overhauled and, with new cushions and coverings, are as good as new. Devotees of the game of pool or billiards will find his room an enjoyable place to spend an evening, as he maintains the best of order. A full line of tobaccos, cigars and pipes, together with fine confections and soft drinks, are always on hand and to this department he invites the attention of buyers. A cordial invitation is extended to all his old customers to visit his new rooms.

CLOTHES LINE ROBBERS.—On Monday night a number of the residents of east Bishop and High streets were relieved of their change of underclothing, which had been left on the wash lines to dry. Monday was wash day and as it was rainy clothes could not be dried so the good wives of Messrs Isaac Miller, the carpenter, and mail-carrier Thomas Bonner decided to leave their washings on the line all night. Tuesday morning was very disagreeable so they didn't take them in—no that wasn't the reason either, for the clothes were not there when morning came: They had gone.

The same night sneak thieves entered the smoke house used jointly by Orrin Miller and a man named Lose, who lives on east Bishop street, and carried off about four hundred pounds of meat. The same fellows are supposed to be the ones who then went across the hill to the Miller and Bonner houses and robbed the clothes lines. They are positively known to have been men for they took only the underwear of the male element of the households.

SHOT A BEAR AND CAPTURED HER CUBS.—While out hunting, last Saturday, Mr. Alfred Lucas, of Moshannon, was attracted to the vicinity of the South fork by the barking of his dogs. He thought they had run up a porcupine, which he knew to be in that region, so hurried up to get them away from it before they would get so full of quills as to be unfit for further hunting. Accordingly he ran through the brush to the place where they were barking and found them making a great fuss near a fallen tree. Thinking, of course, that they had the porcupine under the log he ran up to pull them off and just when he reached them he found that instead of a porcupine a huge she bear was under the log. He was then too close to get his gun up so he retreated a few steps, where he could take aim, and fired. His gun was only loaded with No. 8 shot, but they did the work. Bruin's neck was broken.

After he became positive that she was dead he stooped down to drag the carcass out when, imagine his surprise, three tiny cubs ran out. They were so small that they did not have their eyes open. They could not have been more than three days old and Mr. Lucas caught them and carried them home, where he is now raising them on a bottle.

NOTHING DAUNTED, REV. HICKS IS PROPHECYING AGAIN.—We take the following forecast for February from Word and Works:

Let it be remembered that February is under the influence of Mars' perturbation, and that our terrestrial equinox will be felt for the last half of the month. These facts necessarily call for much stormy, disagreeable weather outside of the normal limits of the regular storm periods. But even the casual observer will see the great centers of storm movements will hinge about the central dates of storm periods. On the 4th the equinox of Mercury will be at its center—the reactionary storms will be central on the 2nd and 3rd, and the moon will be new on the 5th. This combination of causes may well be expected to cause a continuation of cloudiness, with rain, sleet and snow, through most of the intervening time up to the regular storm period, from the 7th to the 11th. Heavy rains with thunder and lightning to the south, turning to destructive sleet and snow storms northward, may be expected during these disturbances. The crisis of the reactionary disturbances, normally due on the 2nd and 3rd, will not likely be reached until about the time of the new moon—the 5th. A sweeping cold wave will separate the perturbations from the disturbances of the period beginning about the 7th. will soon give place to storm conditions in the westerly regions, and during the 7th to 11th inclusive, storms of rain and snow will visit all parts of the country as they progress towards the Atlantic. Another cold wave will sweep behind the storms of this period, insuring cold weather until the temperature rises for reactionary storms, centrally due on the 12th and 14th. The probabilities are that blizzards will result in the north at both the periods above mentioned, and that very cold weather will reach very far south at the close of each period.

The 19th is the central day of the next regular storm period, the first half of which will be past before the actual storms will be organized and well on their eastward march. About the 19th to the 21st inclusive, the disturbances will reach their crisis in all central and eastern sections. Meantime it will have turned very cold in the west and north-west, and by the 22nd the cold, clearing wave will have been felt far into the south and to the Atlantic coast. The last disturbance for the month will be central on the 24th and 25th. This will be within two days of the centre of Mars equinox, and all disturbances that may arise are apt to be aggravated and abnormally prolonged, so that continued spells of severe and stormy weather may be expected. February will end in most parts of our continent in cold winter weather. Such to our mind are indications, and we so admonish. March promises to be unusually hard month. Our reasons for such forecast have been fully given many months ago—are found in our 1894 Almanac, and will be amplified still more in Word and Works for next month.

DIED AT ROCK SPRING.—The death of the venerable Robert Glenn occurred at his home, near Rock Spring, on Saturday evening, Jan. 27. He was aged 84 years. For the last year he had been afflicted with softening of the brain but at times was quite rational, always remaining close with his family. Some time ago he had an attack of la grippe which hastened his death.

Mr. Glenn was one of Rock Spring's best known men, honest in all his business transactions. His word was considered as good as his note. He always took an active part in all public affairs. It was, however, as a farmer that he was noted, always being to the front in any movement to advance the interest of the public good; his charity fund was never exhausted; no one ever went to him to be turned empty-handed away. His wise counsels will be missed in religious as well as social circles. For forty years he was an authorized ruling elder in the Presbyterian church.

His invalid wife, two daughters, Nannie and Sadie, at home and Mrs. W. H. Bailey at Pine Grove, together with the old patriarch, whose remains were laid away by the side of his father's in the Graysville cemetery Wednesday at 11 o'clock A. M.—Tyrone Herald.

JACOB WILLIAMS DEAD.—At an early hour on Wednesday morning Jacob Williams, one of Bellefonte's most esteemed colored men, died. He had been suffering with pneumonia for several days previous, but it was thought he would survive the attack. Deceased was fifty-four years of age and for the last twenty years of his life was head-waiter at the Bush House. Being a veteran of the late war, in which he served with credit as a sergeant in Capt. Riley's Co. K. 6th Reg. U. S. Colored Troops.

Having been the first member of the Bellefonte chapter, Royal Order of Odd Fellows, to die he will be buried by that order this afternoon.

A widow and family of small children survive him.

—Last Thursday a young son came to grace the home of Mr. and Mrs. Garity, in this place.

—At a special meeting of the Phillipsburg borough council, held last Monday night, that body refused to accept Judge Furst's recent ruling on the Lohr case, by which he gave Mrs. Lohr $1,050 damages for injuries sustained on a defective boardwalk in the borough of Phillipsburg.

LOCAL TEACHER'S INSTITUTE AT PORT MATILDA.—The teachers of the districts of Taylor, Worth, Halfmoon, Huston, Union, Unionville, Boggs, Curin and Milesburg will hold their local institute, at Port Matilda, on Friday and Saturday, February 10th and 17th. Teachers who contemplate attending should take the song books used at the county institute.

The Friday evening session will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

THOSE WHO WANT LICENSE.—The list of applications for license is growing slowly so that by the time the license court convenes, in March, there will be a pretty fair list for the court to act on. The hotels that have applied thus far are:

John M. Neubauer, Bellefonte; W. A. Musser, Millheim; Willis Weaver, Millheim; Richard Miller, Phillipsburg; Richard Bowen, Phillipsburg; Tempest Slinger, Phillipsburg; Tatersall Ingram, Phillipsburg; R. Q. Braucht, Coburn; Samuel B. Shaeffer, Madisonburg; John B. Swoope, Phillipsburg; D. H. Ruhl, Spring Mills; Jeffrey Haynes, Phillipsburg; W. Frank Bradford, Old Fort; A. L. Nearhood, Rebersburg; J. L. Dehass, Howard; W. L. Daggett, Bellefonte; Geo. Leister, Phillipsburg; Michael McCabe, Snow Shoe; Lawrence Redding, Snow Shoe; Jno. G. Uzzle, Snow Shoe; D. L. Burgess, Snow Shoe; R. G. Askey, Rush township.

Other applicants are N. W. Eby, Woodward, distiller; Jno. Mulfinger, Pleasant Gap, distiller; Wm. Riley, Phillipsburg, wholesale beer; Jno. Dein, Phillipsburg, wholesale beer; W. R. Haynes, Snow Shoe, wholesale beer; John Anderson, Bellefonte, wholesale beer; Orrin Vail, Phillipsburg, wholesale liquor.

MID-WINTER DANDELIONS AND CATERPILLARS.—It is not often that such evidences of warm weather as dandelions and caterpillars are found in January, but such has been the case in Bellefonte. This has indeed been a remarkable winter so far as its temperature has been concerned. Not since the middle of November has there been a real snappy, cold day and even then we experienced only three genuine winter days. But through all the warm weather we have had, thus far, there has remained for the week just ended to disclose the most remarkable evidences of the high temperature.

One morning last week John Bair, who has the south-eastern mail route, in the town, was working along Logan street when he came across a lively caterpillar that was crawling along the board-walk as gaily as if it had been a June morning. And on Sunday Mrs. L. A. Schaeffer, of east Curtin street, was walking down the pike, during the afternoon, when her attention was attracted to a bright yellow flower, growing by the road side. She plucked it and found it to be a dandelion in perfect bloom. The stock was green and vigorous as if no frost had nipped it during the entire winter.

NEWS PURELY PERSONAL.

—Miss Emma Aikens is off on an extended visit to Ohio friends.

—Miss Maud McDermott, of east Bishop street, is visiting Lock Haven friends.

—William Fisher, a former resident of this community, who has resided in Phillipsburg for a number of years past, is in town in the capacity of a juror. "Dad," as we called him long ago, is the same fellow in manner and looks that he was when he made pocket money on streets by selling fresh fish. He follows the carpentering business now and has a nice home in Phillipsburg.

—In another column of this issue will be found a poem in Pennsylvania German dialect and its author will recall to the minds of many of our readers the name of "Carl Schreiber," whose verses in German have oft delighted those who could read them and whose English contributions to the WATCHMAN were ones of value. At one time he lived at Rebersburg, this county, but several years ago he moved to St. Louis, Mo. where he has resided since, having made quite a success of his connection with a well known electrical company in that city. When the WATCHMAN is delivered to 371 A. Finney Ave., it will find Mr. C. C. Zeigler, for that is the real name of "Carl Schreiber," the prosperous, contented, head of a happy family in which twin girls play no small part.

FOR THE WATCHMAN.

HARTE ZEITE!

(In Pennsylvania German Dialect.)

By CARL SCHREIBER.

Die Zeite sin so greulich hart
Das, em sehler gaarlot dottle' ward;
Kon Geld, ken Arwet, sehler ken Brod—
Es siehlaht aus wie Hungernoth.

Was is die grindlich Ursach dann—
Weescht du's, gresierer Handwerksmann—
Dass unser Laad so voll is heit
Vun Millionaires un Bettelreit?

Dheel meene des, dheel meene sel
Waer Schuld an daere "stringent" Shpell;
Mir is es dettlich wie die Sunn—
Dar Tariff is die Schuld devun.

Dar Tariff schaffet verdamm't ungleich—
Ar macht die Reiche noch meh reich;
Die Aarme awer—Gott arbarb—
Die Aarme macht ar noch meh aarm.

Dar Tariff schaffit die "Trusts" un "Pools,"
Knaft voten run "legislative tools;"
Ar macht, far jeder Millionaire,
En hunnert dausend Maage laer.

Economy, economy!
Schpare miss mar, saagt die Fraa;
Economy, economy!
Bis mar aus em Heisli kammt!

HE NEVER SAW THE POINT.—During the trial of a case in Court, on Monday afternoon, the question of the stability of a certain section of farm fence came up for consideration and a witness, an ex-county official by the way, upon being asked if he thought it would turn cattle, responded:

"I don't know."

He was then asked if it would turn pigs; to which he replied, "I didn't try it."

He is now wondering why the court laughed.

The court held a decree under advisement.—Phillipsburg Journal.
