

Bellefonte, Pa., Feb. 16, 1894.

God spoke to her and so she fell asleep, I laid a white fair lily on her heart, And when I saw her face I could not weep.

It had the peace Death only understands;
And when I knew she would not wake on earth
I laid my heart between her folded hands.

God spoke to her softly, saying, "Rest,"
And when she wakes in heaven, she will find
My lily and my heart upon her breast.

The World Will End Soon.

Mrs. Ellen White, the Adventist has had a Vision.—The Believers Preparing—Something About the Curious Sect Which Keeps the End of Things Created Ever in View-Their Customs and Their Charity for the Cause.

At Battle Creek, Mich., there is an enthusiastic body of Seventh Day Adventist who believe the end of the world dead. In other words, they think that is near at hand. They predict a great the dead sleep until the judgment day, cataclysm at no distant day. The most powerful reason for this reckless forecast occurs. The doctrine of eternal punish- of A. J. Drexel's will. The Ledger s that Mrs. Ellen White, the mother of | ment, or hell fire, finds no place in their Adventism, has had a vision. In this theology. In the past year they have during the past ten years. Mr. Child's vision she asserts that the Lord told her increased in membership over 25 per held a one third interest in the propthat the world would come to an end in | cent.

The accuracy of Mrs. White's visions is never questioned by her followers; they say she has never deceived them. They believe she is more prophetic even than Cassandra of old. Nothing can shake their belief in her ability to discount the future, not even the arrest and imprisonment of many of her followers by the authorities in Louisana, Georgia, Maryland, Arkansas and Ten-

Shuffling off the mortal coil as an Adventist is a temporary affair after all, for the reason that the Adventist merely goes to sleep and after awhile returns again to the world. When the Adventist say the end of the world is coming they must not be taken literally.

Once a year the Adventist meet and give what they can for the good of the cause. They give this money instead of giving each other Christmas presents. There is no compulsion. Each member gives just what he can and gives freely. No one is even asked to contribute.

The last meeting of this kind was in Battle Creek, held a few days ago. The spacious tabernacle was crowed to its utmost capacity. Over 5,000 people at-tended. When the elders called upon the good of the cause there came from the multitude assembled a response the like of which was never known before in the history of any religious denomination. The large altar was cleared, but it was not large enough to hold the donations that came from the overflowing hearts of the worshipers of this Alderman Gerould, a prominent politician of Battle Creek, gave his gold watch and his wife gave her silverware. Professor Prescott, the head of the college, gave his check for $5,000.

When the gift giving ceased it was seen that the altar was filled to overflowing with watches, rings, cloaks, coats, bicycles, silverware, brooches, and in fact, almost everything of value in the shape of personal property that one can concieve of. In all there were 80 watches, 70 gold rings and fifty brooches The total value of the contributions is donation ever made by this church, is it is believed they are, the shops will rebelieved to be the largest ever made by sume in a week. any religious society.

the donations made by these zealous people. The most of the members regularly give one-tenth of what they earn every week for the support of the church. Besides this they contribute liberally to the support of the poor, but none of the Adventist themselves can be classed as poor, for as a rule, they are

Now that the last day of the world is approaching, the elders have advised those of the members in Battle Creek who can do so to sell out and go forth to preach the truth. Consequently many have left, having sold their homes for what they would bring, and have gone to different parts of the world. Many more have their places offered for sale. This does not decrease the population of the city, for converts to the faith are coming in daily.

Battle Creek has been the headquarters of the church for years. The growth of the denominations has been rapid. In 1850 James White, now deceased, who was the founder of Adventism, started in Middletown, Conn., a small paper called the Present Truth. The paper was devoted to the teaching of the doctrine of the Sabbath, and with each new leaf formed, a stalk was thrown out bearing two to four long pods, containing 12 to 20 peas, or the Seventh Day. He edited and set type for the paper himself. For several months he carried the entire edition seven miles in a bag on his back to the post office to be mailed. In 1855 the paper was removed to Battle Creek, and the headquarters of the church were estalished there. It was due to White's efforts that the church has prospered.

From a little printing office in a gar-ret the business has grown until now the Adventist have the largest printing office in Michigan, the largest one on the Pacific coast, in Oakland, Cal.; offices in Melbourne, Australia; Christiania, Norway, Basle, Switzerland and in London. The value of the five establishments is estimated at over a million dollars. Books and papers are printed in these offices in every known tongue. The year's business just closed by the Battle Creek office was the largest of any religious concern in the world, with but one exception. Their medical and surgical sanitarium in Battle Creek is the largest in the world. They have colleges in Walla Walla, Wash.; Col ege View, Neb.; Hillsborough, California and Claremont, South Africa. One of the latest projects of the Adventists is the establishment of a sanitarium in Claremont, South Africa. The money has already been raised. Dr. Kellogg, superintendent of the Battle tions to its final destination.

The Adventists do not use stimulants of any kind, not even tea or coffee. You could no more buy a pound of tea at one of their groceries than you could buy a dose of morphine with suicidal intent. They pride themselves on their morals and in their every-day life they live up to what they preach.

Their doctrine, briefly put, is this: They believe in free grace, like a Metho-dist; in baptism, like a Baptist, and in the perpetuity of the Ten Command-Upon the Fourth Commandment they base their observance of the Sabbath on the seventh day. They also believe in the unconscious state of the

Colt's Factory Badly Burned.

The Famous Works Were Damaged to a Great Extent. The Loss is Nearly $250,000.

HARTFORD, Conn., Feb. 11.—Colt's patent firearms manufactory was destroyed by fire this afternoon, involving a loss of nearly $250,000. The fire started near the boiler house, and when discovered had communicated to an elevator and a tier of closets running up three stories near the main wall of the east stories and nearly 400 feet long connecting the east and west armories, By the time the department got fairly to work one-half of the building connecting the two armories was ablaze from base to attic, and the efforts of the firemen were then directed to saving the east armory. Lines of hose were soon run up into the third and fourth floors of the east armory and the progress of the flames was headed off in that direction. The fire in the meantime was slowly working its way towards the west armory, a building 500 feet long and three stories high. It had already eaten through a brick fire wall a foot thick tended. When the elders called upon those that were desirous of giving for attic over the heads of the firemen, who were bravely trying to stop its progress on the floor below. For some reason the stairs leading to the attic could not be found and the flames made rapid progress among the seasoned gun stock and other combustible material stored there. The three-story building containing the two armories is partially destroyed East of the dividing brick walls it is all gone, and west of it the roof and the top story are burnt off. The loss on the gave their watches. John German gave his house and lot, valued at $4,000. L. A. Stowell followed suit and gave his house, worth $1,000. Other men gave lots. The total loss will reach $250,000, covered by insurance to the amount of $200,000. The seventy-five presses, valued at $30,000 were not insured. Thirty years ago this month, on Feb. 5, Colt's factory was destroyed by fire. At that time the east armory was totally destroyed. The cause of the fire then was thought to be of rebel origin. Five hundred hands are now thrown estimated at $25,000. This, the largest out of work, if the boilers are intact, as

The Wonderful Pea.

It Crowds Out Weeds and is Prolific and valuable as a Food Plant.

A correspondent of the American Farmer, writing from Florida, says:
The "Wonderful Pea," which, like all Southern field peas, is really a bean, was introduced into Florida last spring, and some 30 acres of new pine land and orange groves planted with it It was planted the last of May, and within two months they had grown to the height of three feet, and thrown out from three to five runners from each stalk. Within a short time the ground was completely covered with a dense mat of the vines which completely smothered all the weeds and grass. Some of the vines were 25 to 30 feet long, and would have been longer had they not been cramped for room. A double row of these peas between trees in an orange grove or orchard will com-pletely shade the ground from the scorching sun in the summer months. About August 15 they began to bear excellent for table use and superior to any other grain for food when dry.

As an experiment we cut off the tips of the vines from portions of the field just as they began to bloom, the tops making as fine fodder as ever went into a barn. From the stubble there was an immediate second growth of vine which gave a crop of peas equal to the vines not cut. It was thus demonstrated that any farmer can grow a crop of forage on the poorest lands of the South, equal to any forage crop produced on the richest lands of the West, and at the same time raising an immense crop of peas which are su-perior, as grain feed for the stock, to costly corn and oats, for which the hard cash has to be paid from the scant earnings of the farm. Remember that all this can be done without expending a dollar for fertilizer, and the soil will be
