Belleville, Pa., March 2, 1894.

A TELEPHONE CALL.

He called his wife up by the phone,
His words great haste implying:
"Dear, see if on my desk upstairs
I left some papers lying."

"I'll go at once," responded she,
Her voice o'er all the clearest,
"And let you know if they are there—
Just wait a moment, dearest."

She went away—he held the line,
And stood there—calmly waiting
The minutes passed—no message came—
Again the case he stated—

Or tried to; there was no response,
And his impatience growing,
He tore his hair and raved around,
His anger overflowing.

He rang, he raged, he wildly stormed
To central in his madness,
When in the door his wife appeared,
Her features beaming gladness.

"Dear, I forgot to answer on."
She said, seeing the flurry,
"Here are the things, how do I look;
I dressed in such a hurry!"

How Paper Money is Made.

If you will look at the pictures upon a $1 bill you will see that the portrait of Martha Washington or of Stanton is composed altogether of curved or straight lines—the only kind of engraving that is allowed to be done in this manner, and unless the lines are cut very deep, the engravings cannot be seen. Now this portrait was engraved in a piece of steel by the use of a very sharp little instrument known as a graver.

Every little scratch on the steel plate will, in printing, show a black line, so you will see how very careful the engraver has to be that he shall not make any false scratches and that the lines shall be just so broad and just so long.

Now, steel engraving is the direct opposite of wood engraving. The scratches and cuts made on the wooden block will be white in the print, and it is only the uncut portions of the block that print black, while on the steel the unscratched portion leave the paper white.

When a design has been cut on a steel plate, and it is ready to be printed, the ink put on the plate or block, and all the cuts and scratches become filled with ink. Then the ink is carefully rubbed off of the surface, so that none remains except what is in the lines. When a dampened paper is placed on the plate and subjected to very heavy pressure it sinks into the lines, and when it is taken off it draws the ink out with it, and thus the picture is printed on paper.

It takes an engraver about six weeks or two months to complete one portrait and a man who engraves the portraits never does any other kind of engraving. Each engraver does only a certain portion of the work on a note, no one is permitted to engrave an entire note, so that besides the portrait engravers, there are some who do nothing but engrave the figures, the seal, the lettering, the border, etc. In this way it would be impossible for an engraver to make a complete engraving for his own use, if he were dishonest enough to want such a thing.

Besides this manual work, some of the engraving is done by machinery, as for example the background of the portrait and the borders, and the shading of the letters—this being done by what is known as the ruling-machine, which can rule several hundred perfectly straight lines within an inch. The intricate scroll and lace-like work around the figures on the face and back of the note is done by a wonderful machine known as the geometric lathe. This machine consists of a large number of wheels of all sizes and in all sorts of arrangements, together with a complicated mechanism of eccentrics and rods, all of which is incomprehensible to any but an expert machinist.

By a proper adjustment of its parts, the delicate diamond point that moves about over the face of the steel is made to work out a perfect and intricate pattern with greater accuracy and much more speed than could be done by hand; and hence this delicate and intricate part of the engraving is one of the greatest obstacles with which the counterfeiter has to contend, for he finds it next to impossible to imitate it correctly.

Fortunately for Uncle Sam, the geometric lathe is a very complicated and very expensive machine, and the counterfeiter is generally a poor man; and even if he did manage to lay up enough money to buy a lathe it is hardly likely he would live long enough to learn how to use it properly; for there are only four men in the world who understand how to operate it.

Indeed, the man who now has charge of the geometric lathe at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing is the only one in the United States at the present time who knows how to manage it; and if anything should happen to him it might take matters up for a while in this important branch of our Uncle Sam's big government.—Century Magazine.

Murdered in Old Age.

Mutilated Bodies of Occupants of a Lonely House Found by Neighbors.

MONTICELLO, N. Y., Feb. 24.—A double murder, with the Halliday farm, was discovered yesterday in Buenville, Sullivan county, N. Y., when the mutilated bodies of Jacob A. Moore and his housekeeper, Mrs. Slack, were found side by side in Moore's farm house.

Moore, who was 86 years old, lived in an old-fashioned two-story house, the upper part of which was vacant, alone with his housekeeper, who was 90 years old. He had just received a check for his pension money, and it is supposed he was murdered for this and other money he usually carried in his pocket.

Wilson Very Ill.

Typhoid Fever Has Seized Hold of the Way and Means Chairman.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The following telegram was received at the department of state this afternoon:

"CITY OF MEXICO, FEB. 23.
"Mr. Wilson has developed a marked typhoid fever. General condition grave, though fever is yet of a mild type. Dr. Mallet Prevost, whom I sent from here to Aguilas Calientes to see him, has had him removed to Guadalupe, where he considers the location will be the best for sanitary surroundings in Mexico. To bring him to this city would be most dangerous. He shall have the best attention."
CRITTENDEN,
"United States Consul General."

Wm. H. Wilson, the son and private secretary of the congressman, received a dispatch from his father early in the day asking that the premium on his life insurance policy, due February 27, be looked after. While there was nothing unusual about the request it was taken as rather suggestive by Mr. Wilson, Jr., and he was quite uneasy.

The last heard from the family was by letter from Kansas City as the party were about to depart for Mexico, and at that time Mrs. Wilson said her husband appeared to have thrown off all the ill effects of his first attack. Young Mr. Wilson communicated his fears to some of his father's friends, and it was thought that the son should leave for Mexico unless some reassuring word was received very soon. This was before the state department dispatch was received.

The latter days of Mr. Wilson's illness were done with a fever hanging about him, and this was accompanied at times by slight hemorrhages. Throughout these strains on his vitality he kept up meeting all demands for his time, voice and energy. As is well known, his speech closing the debate was made while he tottered and was barely able to sustain himself, and at times his son, who was at his side, expected him to faint. As against his worn-out system there is the indomitable will and courage of Mr. Wilson, and it is the hope of his friends that will carry him safely through the present ordeal.

Prendergast Must Hang in a Month.

Mayor Harrison's Assasin Denied a New Trial and Sentenced to Die.

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—Judge Brent today overruled the motion for a new trial for Prendergast and sentenced the assassin to be hanged on March 23.

Prendergast had entered court in charge of a bailiff. He had been shaved early in the morning and his hair was carefully combed. The assassin was assigned to a chair in the place he occupied during his trial. He soon grew restless and moved about in his chair unwearyingly. His face was pale and his eyes rolled unceasingly.

So spake a man, with tribute crowned, Of Dr. Pierce, the "world-renowned," Whose "Medical Discovery" Had vanquished pain and set him free. Once can we speak in praise of a remedy so effectual and unfailing as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Acting promptly and thoroughly, it produces permanent cures. Consumption in its early stages, scrofula, liver and kidney disorders, and all blood diseases, are within the field of its unbounded success.

THEY WANT THE BEST.—"The people of this vicinity insist on having Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and do not want any other," says John V. Bishop, of Portland Mills, Indiana. That is right. They know it to be superior to any other for colds, and as a preventive and cure for croup, and why should they not insist upon having it, 50 cent bottles for sale by F. Potts Green.

made, and, aside from the delightful semi-tropical climate of California, the Mid-Winter Fair at San Francisco, which is now in the full tide of success, is a most potent attraction to the tourist and pleasure-seeker. The trip from Chicago to California is made via the North-Western Line in the marvellously short time of 3 1/2 days. Palace Drawing Room Sleeping Cars leave Chicago daily, and run through without change, and all meals en route are served in dining cars. Daily Tourist Sleeping Car service is also maintained by this line between Chicago and San Francisco and Los Angeles, and every Thursday the party is personally conducted by an experienced excursion manager. Complete equipped berths in tourist sleepers are furnished at a cost of only $6.00 each from Chicago to the Pacific coast, thus enabling passengers to make the journey in a most comfortable and economical manner. The North-Western Line has issued a number of illustrated pamphlets descriptive of the Mid-Winter Fair, and also containing detailed information concerning rates, routes, etc., copies of which will be mailed free upon application to W. Cottolene.

ASK THEM WHY?

Ask the men who are making imitations of COTTOLENE, the new vegetable shortening, why they give up and try to trade on the merits of COTTOLENE? Perhaps you can guess why.

ASK HIM WHY?

Ask the grocer who attempts substitution, why he tries to sell an imitation when people call for that pure, palatable and popular vegetable shortening, COTTOLENE? Perhaps you can guess.

ASK YOURSELF WHY?

Why should YOU use COTTOLENE, instead of lard or any other compound for all cooking purposes? It has the highest possible endorsement; from Physicians as to healthfulness; from Cooking Experts as to superiority; from house-keepers as to economy. Use COTTOLENE and stick to it.
