Farm Notes.

-People will continue to eat beef, pork, mutton, etc, and there is no danger of the demand ceasing. Put a firstclass quality on the market. and it will bring the top market price.

-An animal thoroughly heated by rapid driving on a cold day should be kept moving lively until he reaches the stable. Neglect of all this precau-tion has resulted in many a fatal case of pneumonia.

-It is said that if a team is inclined to pull unevenly the trouble may be remedied by unhitching the inside traces and crossing them, so as to have It is good when your cough is seated the same horse attached to the same end of each singletree.

-The red raspberry is a good honey plant, the flowers lasting three or four weeks, and furnishing a honey that is excellent in quality, while the berries prove better and more abundant if bees visit them frequently.

Verbenas are easily started either in the house or out of doors, require rich mellow soil and plenty of sunshine and moisture. They give an abundance of bloom and amply repay one for the care bestowed on them.

-Scales on the farm soon pay for their use, as they enable the farmer to know whether his stock are gaining and the kinds of food used to make the greatest gain. Scales may be considered an absolute necessity if system is to be practiced.

-When a crop is taken from the soil, and the land is left in better condition than before, a profit has been made, in the increased fertility, being stored in the soil for use next season. provided the receipts and expenses ball ance in other respects.

-The blight which attacks onions when grown for seed is of two kinds. One affects the heads containing the seed and soon turns them black, and of course makes the affected head worthless. The other is a fungus which turns the stalk yellow. -If a mistake is made in selecting a variety of apples, pears, peaches or plums, it may be three or four years before the error is discovered, and it will then be too late to correct the mistake. The greatest care should be exercised in order to be sure of the varie-

-Do not mix plaster or lime with the phosphoric acid, or with phosphates, as the free phosphoric acid will sooner or later unite with the lime, or "revert," as it is styled. Phosphates contain lime in combination, hence no lime is necessary as an addition with such fertilizers.

-To make wheat start off rapidly. change to a green color, and yield more grain, apply 100 pounds of trate of soda per acre, or even half that quantity. The effect of the nitrate will be quickly noticeable, and the crop will more than repay the cost of the fertilizer.

—The first shoeing will be largely experimental. It your colt is puregaited and strongly trotting bred, he may acquire speed with very little change from the first shoeing. Again, it may be necessary to shoe him in many different ways before you get him just balanced. -The cost of spraying with Bordeaux mixture, as computed by Professor Beckwith, is as follows: For spraying five times during the season, 2.44 cents for each grape vine treated. This includes all materials and labor, and is computed from the year's work on an average of about 1000 vines.

-The tendency in some strains of horses to go through a long life of useful service as compared with the average of horses-never being sick or lame and rarely failing to take a portion of feed, is often not rated at its full value, and yet there are few things in a horse of any kind that are of more importance than his endurance.

-Nothing is gained by planting seed in cold ground. Even if the plants come up they will be sickly, and make no progress, if the seed is planted before the soil is warm. Under proper conditions the seed that is planted in warm soil will germinate immediately, and the young plants overtake those of the early plant-

- Failure is usually the result when a new orchard is planted on the location of an old one. This is due to the fact that the long occupancy of the plot by trees that have born fruit for years has deprived the soil of the most available food for the young trees. When planting a new orchard use a location that has not before been given up to fruit trees.

-It is a mistake to dig up trees and vines because prices are down, as there may be a profit at times when least expected. Thousands of grape vines were dug up a few years ago, owing to the ravages of the grape rot, but now that the rot can be greatly prevented the grape crop is not a complete fail ure during recent years, and the destruction of the vines is now regretted by many.

-To purchase fertilizers and lose the liquid manure is to allow a leak in the plant food. Fertilizers will al ways prove beneficial, but the first du ty is to save all materials that will add ty is to save all materials that will add to the manure pile. When the liquid is lost, by not using a sufficiency of absorbents, the most valuable portion of the manure will have gone with it, as the liquids contain a larger proportion of nitrogen than the solids, and they can easily be saved with as little labor as is required to the solids.

It has been added to my factory and will be used exclusively for the sale of harness, being the first exclusive salesroom ever used in this town, as heretofore the custom has been to sell goods in the room in which they were made. This elegant room has been refitted and furnished with glass cases in which the harness can be nicely displayed and still kept away from heat and dust, the enemies of long wear in leafner. Our factory now occupies a room 16x74 teet and the store 20x60 added makes it the largest establishment of its kind outside of Philadelphia and Pittsburg.

We are prepared to offer better bargains in the future than we have done in the past and we want everyone to see our goods and get prices for when you do this, out of self-defense you will buy. Our profits are not large, but by selling lots of goods we can afford to live in Bellefonte. We are not indulging in idle philanthropy. It is purely business. We are not making much, but trade is growing and that is what we are interested in now. Profits will take care of themselves.

When other houses discharged their workmen during the winter they were all put to work in my factory, nevertheless the big (?) houses of this city and county would smile if we compared ourselves to them, but we do not mean to be so odious, except to venture the assection that none of them can say, as we can say "NO ONE OWES US A CENT THAT WE CAN'T GET."
