The Cause of the Coke Strikes.

Of course the riotous proceedings of the coke strikers in the western part of this State had to be checked. Such violence could not be tolerated, and called for the exertion of lawful authority to suppress it. The dissatisfied workmen had a right to protest against inadequate wages, but they went beyond the limit of their right when they got to disturbing the peace and destroying life and property. Then their suppression became imperative, it being necessary for the preservation of law and order.

Very little sympathy is expressed in their behalf, for the reason that they are regarded as a set of ignorant and brutalized foreign workmen, who have intruded themselves, at low wages, in competition with native labor, which in consequence is injured in the rate of wages it should receive. But those who are acquainted with the situation of this foreign labor element in the coke regions, and the circumstances connected with their employment, are not disposed to be so harsh in their judgment. The foreign coke-burners came into the region upon the promise of receiving living wages. They came because they were brought, but from the very beginning of their employment the wages promised them were subjected to repeated reductions until they have been reduced to the verge of starvation, even when constantly employed. The company store is the medium through which their low wages are paid, and they are kept in debt to the store, as the pay allowed them is not sufficient to cover the cost of even their meager necessities. They cannot get away as they have not the means for their removal, and are virtually put in the condition of slaves to the coke operators.

Now when a lot of ignorant foreigners find themselves entrapped in this way, and feeling that a wrong is being done them, and are incapable of vindicating themselves except by such violent measures as their want of intelligence naturally leads them to, nothing else could be expected than that disturbances should ensue. It would be wonderful, under such circumstances, if breaches of the peace, destruction of property, and even the taking of life, should not occur.

But the fault is primarily with those who for the sake of their own profit have introduced this class of workmen, and treat them in a way that will wring the utmost dollar out of their service. It is to increase the gains of the employer that their wages are reduced, and to double his profits the little pay that is allowed them must be taken from the company store. That the coke operators cannot afford to pay better wages is refuted by the fact that most of them have grown to be millionaires in a few years from the profits of their business. These are the men, all of them beneficiaries of the McKinley protective system, who are really responsible for the frequent disturbances in the coke region.

No Occasion for More Speeches.

Democratic members of the Senate have scarcely a reason for making speeches on the tariff bill that is now before that body. It having been sufficiently debated, further talk on the subject would be but a waste of time, which the Republican Senators may be expected to prolong to the extent of their tether, as they have a partisan motive for doing so. Buncombe can be the only reason for harangues on the bill from the Democratic side, and buncombe is not an excusable motive for delaying a measure upon which the business of the country is waiting and the reputation and fortune of the Democratic party depend.

The people want to have this matter settled as soon as possible. Their patience has been exhausted long ago by the lingering process which has kept the result in a state of uncertainty. There is not a business interest that is not being injured by the suspense. The purpose of the Democratic party in regard to the tariff has been clearly defined and is well understood. Its pledge to reform the tariff is explicit. The injunction of the people to that effect at the last general election was emphatic and pre-emptory. Therefore it is action and not talk that is required of Democratic Senators, and, so far as the rules of the Senate will permit, the wind of the Republicans should be cut short on this question. Unfortunately, for the good of the country, and the credit of that body, obstructive speech making has too much latitude in the upper house of Congress.

Bright Prospects for Silver.

Recent indications in Congress in regard to silver foreshadow the policy which this government will eventually adopt in its treatment of that metal as a monetary medium. It is true that the recent movements to restore the status of Silver, by relieving it from the ban under which the gold interest has placed it, were not successful, but they failed not from the lack of supporters in Congress, but because the great strength it developed was not quite strong enough to overcome the executive objection that was interposed in the case of the Seigniorage bill.

In the position in which the President found himself on the Silver question, he was perfectly justifiable in vetoing that bill. It was due to consistency that he should veto it, considering the position he has all along maintained on that question; but there was nothing in his action that should confirm the impression that he is unalterably opposed to the principle and practice of bimetallicism. There is greater reason to believe that when the situation shall have changed, as to some particular affecting the question, he will favor the co-ordinate use of gold and silver as monetary metals.

But the feature that most encouragingly shows itself in what has recently been done in Congress in behalf of silver coinage is the array of its supporters, embracing much the larger portion of the membership of Congress, and representing the sentiment of much the larger part of the country. The constituency thus represented are not the limited few engaged in money changing and kindred operations; they do not look to the process of banking and speculation for their prosperity, but are engaged in those various occupations of society that are promoted by the liberal supply of the circulating medium which can be obtained only by combining the equal use of the two metals for monetary purposes. The great showing which bimetallicism has made in Congress presages the restoration of silver to the place it should occupy in the money system of the country, from which it has been removed for the benefit of the few who find their profit in the scarcity of money.

Unneeded Legislation.

There is surely no occasion for more legislation to enlarge the pension rolls, for ingenuity has already been exhausted in deriving methods to enable almost any and every sort of claimant to be included in the list of pensioners. At all events there is no reason why such legislation should come from a Democratic source, and therefore a new pension law presented by a Democratic Congressman from Pennsylvania, last week, is not a measure that is worthy of approval.

This bill proposes to give pensions to those who did not appear regularly upon the muster rolls during the war, but can prove that they rendered some kind of alleged military service. This would include militia men who may have volunteered in an emergency, but were not called to the front, nor were even put on a march.

Such a bill as this, if seriously offered, may serve a useful purpose in showing to what an outrageous extent pension legislation can be carried, and thereby excite public indignation against a continuance of such robbery of the public treasury. It can be urged upon no other principle than that as the pension rolls contain thousands of unworthy names they might as well be enlarged by thousands of others who have no reasonable claim to such bounty.

It there is occasion for more pension legislation it should be in the direction of decreasing and not increasing the number of pensioners. Its object should be to eliminate the unworthy; to cut off those whose service has not earned such consideration from the government, or who do not need it. The purpose of Democratic legislation on this subject should be rather to increase the pensions of veterans who have worthily earned their country's gratitude, but who must be limited to a few dollars a month on account of the great multitude of unworthy claimants among whom the pension fund has to be shared.

After eighteen years of service to the Democracy of his county and State A. H. COFFROTH JR., editor and proprietor of the Somerset Democrat, has retired from the arduous duties of newspaper work. Like all others, he has not been infallible, but the Democrat, under his guidance, was certainly an able and thoroughly Democratic paper. We do not know to what line of work Mr. COFFROTH intends giving his future attention, but whatever it may be we bespeak for him that need of success of which he is so meritorious.

They Should Show Their Hands.

If it is the purpose of Senators HILL, BRICE, GORMAN, MORGAN and other Democrats in the Senate, to defeat the tariff bill by dilatory treachery, it would be more to their credit if they should openly join with the Republicans and bring it to a speedy failure. They would then appear in their true colors, and their party would know how to regard them. Their present conduct indicates hostility to the bill, but it is of a character that is calculated to deceive. They embarrass a Democratic measure, while not openly acting with its enemies.

It is about time that the party should let these Senators know what it thinks of their course on this question, and demand that they should maintain their fidelity to their party, or go over openly to the enemies of tariff reform. A deserter who goes boldly over to the enemy is less dangerous and more honorable than a traitor who lingers in the ranks which he intends to betray.

—Major C. G. McMILLEN has been re-elected mayor of Dayton, Ohio, by a majority of 896. This is about the first good news we have heard since the Spring elections and Bellefonte should be proud of having once been the home of a man, who, right in the face of the awful calamity bowl and within scarcely more than a stone's throw from MCKINLEY'S home, turned over a Republican city and became its Democratic mayor. This is hopeful and a pleasing balm for the Grouse sore we got in February.

The Army Falters.

The Storm King of the Mountains Compels the Commonweal to Halt.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 10.—The weather has at last succeeded in driving the army of the commonweal to shelter, and has held up the march for one day. Thus far the trip has been made on schedule time, but Wednesday morning, when the army departs from this place and starts up through the mountains, it will be one day behind time. Monday, that opened so brightly and augured so auspiciously, was a sad disappointment. The clouds that slowly gathered from noon on were in sufficient force to burst forth in a wind and rain storm at night that has continued with severity ever since.

Camp Abraham Lincoln, pitched at Mountain View Park, two miles nearer the Alleghenies than this city, suffered many discomforts. The wind roared through the high oaks with devastating force, and the illy clad men stood for a time about their huge campfires in an endeavor to warm themselves. It was useless. As the evening advanced the wind increased in velocity, until the men sought the long low frame building in which they were to spend the night, and they were soon lulled into a troubled sleep by the roaring of the wind among the trees and the rocking of the structure. Several times during the night it was feared the building would be blown away, and while several buildings in the city were unroofed, the lowly shelter provided for the weary men remained uninjured.

This morning there was difficulty in preparing breakfast. The wind had abated but slightly and the embers of the fire were scattered broadcast. It was with great difficulty the great iron kettle was properly secured over the fire and coffee boiled. This, with oysters and lunch crackers, constituted the breakfast menu.

General Coxy was exceedingly anxious to push along on his march, but the state of the weather is such that he has deemed it advisable to remain in this city to-night and hopes that the storm by Wednesday will have abated sufficiently to enable the army to continue its march. This morning a mass meeting was held at Mountain View park at 10 o'clock, at which General Coxy and Marshal Browne addressed a large audience. Off in the distance could be seen the mountains, their crests covered with snow. The indications for a pleasing march tomorrow are far from encouraging.

The commonweal will hereafter experience no difficulty at toll gates along the national pike. General Coxy has in his possession a written order from John Brownfield, superintendent of the national pikes in Fayette county, passing the army free.

At 10 o'clock the order for a meeting at Mountain View park was rescinded. The speakers were on the ground, but the storm was too severe. To-night in the opera house a meeting will be held. A further change in the itinerary has been made. The departure from this city will not be before noon on Wednesday, and there will be no stop at Private Dalzell's farm, as it is two miles from the route. The object will be to make up time as rapidly as possible to Cumberland. It is the expectation to reach there Saturday night.

The advertising agency of N. W. Ayer & Son, of Philadelphia, is unquestionably the largest and probably the best equipped of any in the United States. It has more and larger patrons than any other, and, taking one thing with another, it is questionable whether they are not entitled to the credit of securing for their patrons better service than can be counted on from any other. It should be, and doubtless is, a great source of pride and satisfaction to Mr. Ayer and Mr. McKinney that they have been able, while remaining in Philadelphia, to build up a larger advertising business than has ever been secured before by any advertising agency in New York or elsewhere.—Printer's Ink.

The Coke Strike.

Everything Was Peaceful Yesterday As Far as Known.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., April 11.—All is reported quiet along the Youghiogheny this morning but peace is not expected to continue longer than the severe snow storm now prevailing. The plants along the Mount Pleasant branch are in full operation. The plants south of this place are in partial operation only.

It is given out by President Barrett's friends that he is actively engaged in reorganizing the strikers, and that when he has everything in readiness he will make an attack on all of the plants in the region at the same time. This idea, they claim, will prevent the sheriffs from doing effective work for the protection of the men. Another of Barrett's plans is to meet the working men while on their way to work before they get on the company's property and compel them to go home.

Condition of Winter Wheat.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The condition of winter wheat on the first day of April as reported by the statistician of agriculture averages 86.7 per cent. for the entire country. Last year the average was 77.4. The weather from seeding time until the recent cold wave swept over the country has been generally favorable to the growth of the plant.

The returns in regard to the effects upon wheat resulting from the recent cold spell are not so satisfactory nor so conclusive as is desirable. The injury to the crop is undoubtedly considerable, if not great, but the comments of correspondents accompanying the report would seem to indicate that the full extent of the damage was not determinable at the date of transmission.

A New Seigniorage Bill.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The coinage and bond bill recently introduced by Representative Meyer, democrat, of Louisiana, is bringing out much discussion between the silver and anti-silver element of the house. Mr. Meyer was opposed to Mr. Bland through out the seigniorage bill's struggle and voted against it. Mr. Meyer's bill follows closely the president's suggestion in the seigniorage clause. It provides for the coinage of the seigniorage and gives the secretary of the treasury power to issue 3 per cent. bonds of small denomination, in substitution for the old bonds.

Afraid of Walking.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 11.—Coxy's discomforts were added to to-day but in the face of a serious snow storm and very rough weather, the column departed at noon for a day's march into the mountains. It is rumored among the men this morning that there will be a number of desertions. The fear of the mountain trip, and its vigor is the cause of these desertions. Most of the deserters stated that they would leave after the command moved to the foot of the mountains.

The Peach Trees Suffer.

WILMINGTON, Del., April 11.—From reports received the storm of yesterday and to-day seems to have killed the few peach trees that escaped the cold snap of a couple of weeks ago. George H. Hall, of Milford, who owns an orchard of 6,500 trees said to-day: "The peach crop was already dead; but this storm will kill the few remaining trees uninjured." W. W. Rollins, of Georgetown to-day offers to sell an orchard of 600 trees for $5.

Fire in the Capitol Building.

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 10.—Fire was discovered in the document rooms of the house in the basement of the capitol this afternoon, and for a while things were very serious. The firemen succeeded in subduing the flames after a stubborn fight, during which the floors of the committee rooms in the main building had to be torn up. The loss will reach $500.

Pine Grove Mentions.

Mr. Charley Kuhn one of the Branch farmers and up to date Democrats has for a short time stopped plowing in order to take care of a little Grover who put in his appearance during the recent blizzard.

Jonathan Hess one of Williamsport's noted anglers is this week camped along the rippling waters of Stone Creek. Any one desiring a supply of fresh fish can leave their order with ex-post-master Heberling who will properly fill it in case of a big catch.

Last Monday Rev. Illingworth the brilliant young divine, who in doing his Master's work in this community was popular with all classes and conditions of men, started with his estimable young wife for his new home at Rising Springs, the headquarters of the Penns Valley circuit. His people will find their new pastor an orator of no little ability.

Last Saturday evening that jovial good fellow D. D. G. Master Weber accompanied by his Lieutenant S. F. Ishler of Boisburg, joined the goodly number that had assembled at Penns Valley Lodge Hall 276 I. O. O. F. to witness and participate in the installation of its officers. The following nattering gentlemen were installed N. G. J. A. Kline; V. G. J. B. Krebs; Sec. A. G. Arthey; Asst. Sec., W. H. Goss; Tres. J. G. Heberling.

The Death of an Estimable Woman.

—The sympathy of this community goes out to the bereaved family that so recently lost the father and now have been called to part with the mother. Nancy Bailey Glenn was in poor health when her aged husband Robert Glenn died on the 27th day of Jan. and the two who passed so many peaceful years together were not long separated by death. On the 9th she died suddenly from a stroke of paralysis, and was laid to rest on the 12th by the side of her husband in the Graysville burial ground. The 84 years of her life were spent on the farm, where she was born, lived and died. Jan. 23rd 1834 she married Robert Glenn, and of her nine children only three, Sarah, Nancy and Mrs. W. H. Bailey are living to mourn the loss of a kind dear mother who all through life was an exemplary member of the Presbyterian church and a gracious cultured woman.

Friday evening the 6th, a delegation of strangers entered our town from the West and for a time it was thought that the head column of Coxy's Brigade had arrived. They turned out to be, however Past. D. D. G. councillor W. E. Hiller, with eleven trusty lieutenants, who hailed at the St. Elmo and were royally welcomed by mine host Decker. Their objective point was Academy Hall where they fulfilled their mission by instituting a J. O. of J. M. titled Tussey Council No. 515 with some 30 charter members and the following officers J. W. Ward, J. M. Hiller, W. B. Ward, Wm. Eckley, J. L. Murphy, J. A. Decker, F. B. Krebs, James Garbrick, E. E. Royer, J. C. Ward. The visiting members of Good Will Council, Tyrone, expressed their gratification upon the evening work. Grand Councillor Hiller presented Tussey Council with an elegant bible for the use of the altar with inscription of the donors on its pages. When the evening work was ended they took their departure for home much delighted with their jaunt to Pine Grove Mills. The event will long be remembered within the circles of the junior O. U. A. M. No. 515 which should become one of the largest Councils in Central Penna.

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONIALS

Cured by Dr. Salm After Having Suffered for Years With Stomach, Bladder and Kidney Trouble.

I have been suffering with very severe stomach, bladder and kidney trouble, and on account of that felt all broke up. Couldn't follow my daily labors on account of great pains, weakness and headache. I have now, after a course of treatment with Dr. Salm, can once more attend to my daily labors with pleasure and consider myself hale and hearty again. Indiana, Pa. E. K. ANKNEY, April 26, 1893.

After for Twelve Years and Though Seven Different Physicians Failed, Dr. Salm Cured Me.

For more than twelve years I suffered with liver, stomach and kidney trouble. Occasionally I had to go to bed for a week at a time and was unable to work for years; but now, after only a few months' treatment with Dr. Salm, I feel so well, as I never did before. I used piles of patent medicines and had several different physicians but gradually grew worse. However, I since I put myself under Dr. Salm's treatment I improved rapidly and now can do as good a day's work as any one. I can certainly recommend the doctor to those suffering from chronic diseases of any kind. Rebersburg, Pa. J. A. GRAMLEY, D. S., Centre county, Pa.

Deafness Cured by Dr. Salm after a Great Many Others Have Failed.

For quite a time I have been almost totally deaf from catarrh, particularly in my left ear, which seemed dead, and I could hear nothing. I was very despondent and almost desperate on account of not being able to hear what went on around me. I was tired and lost all energy. Now I am quite a different man and feel happy once more, all this thanks to Dr. Salm's treatment. I have been to three other doctors. No one can imagine how good a day's work I feel since I can understand one more without any effort. Johnstown, Pa. MICHAEL STENZER.

Closure of the Tearduct Cured by Dr. Salm.

I have had a good deal of trouble with my eyes for the last 5 years. Tears running over my cheeks continually. Dr. Salm cured the closure of the tearduct and operated on the same, and now I can keep my handkerchief in my pocket instead of wiping tears continually. Indiana, Pa. MRS. MARTHA CARRIE, Catarrh and Ear Trouble Cured by Dr. Salm.

For more than ten years I have had a bad case of catarrh. My ears gradually became affected to such a degree that the hearing in one year was almost totally gone and in the other one. I became very much alarmed, so I went to Dr. Salm for treatment and improvement was rapid from the beginning. It's now very seldom that I take a cold and it must be a very faint sound that I cannot hear with either ear. I feel better all around and confess myself satisfied with the treatment. Ebersburg, Pa. FRANK MULLEN.

For Eighteen Years Totally Blind—Dr. Salm Through His Wonderful Eyesight.

For more than eighteen years I have been totally blind in my right eye, caused by a piece of wood striking the same. I was told I could never be made to see again out of the eye, but Dr. Salm told me that the injury had produced catarrh and that he would guarantee to make me see. I gave him my eye and he has my stars that I did so, for to day, although it is wonderful to relate, I can see once more out of the heretofore blind eye after more than 18 years darkness. Friends and those who know me will bear witness to the above and thank Dr. Salm for his skill and the very first month I began to steadily improve and the result to date is that I have gained what weight I had lost heretofore and feel like enjoying life once more. Santly Ridge, Centre Co., Pa. MRS. CARRIE PECHT.

Great Wound and Wore for Seven Years of a Bad Case of Catarrh, But Dr. Salm Cured Him After the Very Best Physicians in the County Had Failed.

For more than seven years I have had a bad case of Catarrh which affected my head, throat and chest very much and on a short space of time lost over twenty pounds in weight, became weaker daily and felt stupid and good for nothing. Was treated by several of our best Drs. and took a good deal of patent medicines, but gradually grew worse and worse. Then I heard of Dr. Salm's wonderful cures. I gave him a trial and on the very first month I began to steadily improve and the result to date is that I have gained what weight I had lost heretofore and feel like enjoying life once more.
