Sectarianism and the A. P. A.

It might readily have been anticipated, several sensational clergymen have eagerly availed themselves of the crusade of the American Protective Association in order to promote sectarian animosity. Such an opportunity for business could not be overlooked. The peculiar objects of this latest outbreak of intolerance appear to be the Catholic citizens of Irish birth. One of the clerical instigators of the movement, who belongs to the Methodist denomination, should have known better. The presiding-elders of his congregation could have given him a leaf from the life of John Wesley that might have imbued him with a spirit of liberality toward those whom he seeks to put under a political ban.

In his great preaching tours John Wesley made frequent visits to Ireland, and he has contrasted his hospitable reception by the Irish Catholics with the brutality of Protestant mobs in England toward him and his co-religionists. Thus he writes in his "Journal," "So civil a people as the Irish I never saw either in Europe or America." Again: "What a nation is this! Every man, woman and child (except a few of the great vulgar) not only patiently but gaily suffer the word of exhortation." He is speaking of Irish Catholics, of whom his congregations chiefly consisted, and he says: "The poor in Ireland in general are well behaved: all the ill-breeding is among well-dressed people." On one occasion Wesley refers to some unruly young officers as "the only wild Irish" he had encountered. It need not be said that these "wild" Irish were not Catholics, since under the laws then prevailing no Catholic could hold a commission in the British army.

The Irish Catholics, to whom the Founder of Methodism pays this tribute, are much the same now as they were when it was written. Under the influence of the free institutions of this country they had become more liberal than they were when ranking under a most oppressive code of laws. In contrasting the tolerant and respectful behavior of the Irish toward him with his treatment on the other side of the Channel, Mr. Wesley had good reason to put on record his testimony in their behalf. Most of the Methodists in this country, who are familiar with the life of their great leader and with the history of the many persecutions to which he and his associates were subjected, have the same friendliness toward the Irish Catholics. Here and there, only at rare intervals, a bigot ignorant of the life and character of John Wesley comes to the front to preach a crusade of partisan intolerance. —Phila. Record.

Greece Shaken.

Details of the Recent Earthquake—Many lives lost.

ATHENS, April 22.—Many reports from the towns which have suffered most severely from the earthquakes of the last two days were received this afternoon and evening. The loss of life and property is much greater than was at first reported. In many towns whole households have disappeared without having an inkling of their fate and besides many are injured. Two hundred and fifty-nine persons are known to have been killed. Although there has been small loss of human life in Athens and its environs, the damage to property has been enormous.

For years the work of restoring the famous Byzantine church at Daphne has been in progress. The dome and walls had been repaired, but yesterday they were cracked and crumbled and the beautiful mosaics were disfigured beyond restoration.

Appeals for help come in hourly. But little can be done toward alleviating the prevalent distress as there are no charity organizations of importance here. In dozens of towns the houses have been deserted; the inhabitants are camping, unsheltered and almost unaided in the fields and cannot be persuaded to return to their homes. The king, accompanied by the minister of the interior, has begun visiting the districts which have suffered most keenly.

Beheading Alligators.

The Manner in Which South Americans Kill These Ugly Creatures.

On the River Guayaquil, in South America, sportsmen find a happy "hunting ground" in the mud banks there where alligators most do congregate. These ugly and treacherous creatures are detested wherever they exist, and any method is employed for killing them. One plan is adopted on this river which seems to be brutal, but in this case the end justifies the means. As the tide goes out the alligators bury themselves in the soft mud, and lie there in a sleepy state until the returning water brings with it the fishes upon which they prey.

Armed with a sharp-edged ax the hunter wades in top-boots across the mud, and jumping on the drowsy beast's shoulders, hacks at the neck until he severs the head from the trunk. In vain does the aroused alligator strike out with its tail, or turn itself round and round in the hope of "throwing" its executioner who is placed beyond reach of claw, teeth or tail. All the same the hunter must have great presence of mind, strong nerve and a sure foot.

Used Visiting Cards First.

The Chinese are said to be the originators of visiting cards. So long ago as the period of the Tang dynasty (619-907) visiting cards were known to have been in use in China. From ancient times to the present day the Chinese have observed the strictest ceremony with regard to the paying of visits. The cards which they use for this purpose are large and of a bright red color.

That Wichita Boy.

He Writes an Essay Telling What He Knows About Pants.

A boy in the Wichita schools has been suspended for reading the following essay on pants: "Pants are made for men, and not men for pants. Pants are like molasses—they are thinner in hot weather and thicker in cold. The man in the moon changes his pants during the eclipse. Don't you go to the pantry for pants, you might be mistaken. "Men are often mistaken in pants. Such mistakes makes breeches of promise.

"There has been much discussion as to whether pants is singular or plural. Seems to us when men wear pants they are plural, and when they don't wear pants it is singular. "Men go on a tear in pants, and it is all right; but when the pants go on a tear it is all wrong."—Union Printer.

Two Great Days.

The teacher was instructing the arithmetic class in history. "On what day is Washington's birthday?" she inquired. "Twenty-second of February," answered the class. "And Independence Day?" "The Fourth of July."

"What is the difference in the two days?" This seemed to be a poser, and no reply was forthcoming. Finally a youngster who had been scribbling on a piece of paper held up his hand. "Good for you, Johnny," said the teacher encouragingly. "Now tell us what the difference is between these two of the greatest days in our national history."

"Four months and twelve days, m'am." Died of Skipping Rope. MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., April 19.—Excessive rope-skipping was the prime cause of death last night of Henrietta Purcell, aged 11. The girl had a mania for jumping and one day last week skipped the rope 129 times in succession on another. She began to feel unwell and was taken to the hospital, where she died under the operation of laparotomy. It was found that one of the intestines which had been displaced by the violent effort of jumping, had become knotted, causing peritonitis and threatening gangrene.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA

"I feel it my duty to tell what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for my wife. She had the grip, and after the fever was over she was not able to do her housework, had dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation and headache, spells of dizziness, and hot flashes. I saw in a paper what wonderful cures were made by Hood's Sarsaparilla. After my wife had used one bottle she realized she was much better. She is now using the fourth bottle and has improved in health so much that she does her own housework. I am so thankful for what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for her that I will not be without it in the house." SARAH R. MILLER, P. M., Sand Beach, Pa.
