THINGS ABOUT TOWN & COUNTY

—Wednesday night's rain was much needed.

—Millheim is going to have a big bicycle parade on the evening of Decoration day.

—David Sharer of Zion suffered a stroke of paralysis recently and is very low at present.

—Incendiarists have been trying to burn the mine property of R. B. Wigton & Sons near Philipsburg.

—Centre lodge, No. 153, I. O. O. F., of this place attended the meeting of the Grand lodge of the order in Altoona on Tuesday.

—The Bellefonte Supply House, being the lowest bidder, has received the contract for furnishing the new water main on east High street and to supply all fixtures.

—The annual memorial sermon before Gregg post, No. 95, G. A. R. of this place, will be preached Sunday, May 27th, by Rev. Miles O. Noll in the Reformed church.

—J. Woods Sebring and Harry Yeager, of this place, rode their bicycles to Tyrone on Sunday, where they spent an enjoyable day, the guests of the Enoyrt athletic club.

—A new triple expansion 150 horse power engine will be put in the new Engineering building at The Pennsylvania State College for experimental purposes. It is to cost $10,000.

—Col. Reuben Keller, who at one time was a resident of Centre Hill, this county, died at Reedsville, Sunday night, in his 74th year. His remains were interred in Lock Haven.

—We regret to record the serious illness of Willis the youngest son of D. W. Woodring, of this place. He had typhoid fever at first, which developed into inflammation of the bowels.

—A siding will soon be run up Lamb street from the C. R. R. of Pa. to the Bellefonte Gas Co's plant at the corner of Lamb and Spring streets. The object is to save transfer of coal by wagons.

—Aged Henry Brown, of Hublersburg, who had a very dangerous operation performed on him in Millheim some weeks ago, has so far recovered as to be able to go to his home. He had a large tumor removed from his stomach.

—The grand musicals to be given by the Bellefonte band on Wednesday evening, May 30th, should be well patronized. A splendid program has been prepared and the band, orchestra, vocalists and instrumental soloists will make up the numbers.

—Aged Jacob Brickley, of Curtin township, died suddenly at his home in Remola, on Tuesday afternoon. Deceased was 87 years old and had been enjoying good health up until noon, but shortly after dinner he was stricken and died almost before his friends realized that he was ill.

—On Tuesday morning Mr. John B. Leathers, the proprietor of the Mt. Eagle handle factory and pottery, was stricken with paralysis and has been unconscious ever since. Reports from him yesterday morning were to the effect that he was still living, but with very slight chance of recovery.

—Rev. J. C. Young pastor of the Methodist church at Pleasant Gap performed the ceremony, on last Sunday evening, that made Harry Finley and Miss Bertha May Flack, both of Valentine's iron works, man and wife. The happy event was celebrated at the home of Mr. William Kerstetter at Pleasant Gap.

—Mrs. Jonathan Miller, of Reynolds avenue, this place, fell down the cellar stairs of her home at an early hour last Saturday morning, sustaining a compound fracture of her right leg, just above the ankle. As Mrs. Miller is quite large and she is past the age when there is a speedy knitting of broken bones so that such an accident is quite a serious matter with her.

—The Kelley brothers, coal operators at Snow Shoe, manned their mines when the strike went on out there and by digging several carloads of coal themselves each day they hoped to hold their trade, but by the time they had received several notices from the strikers advising them to quit work or they would "kill" Kelley the proprietors stopped digging coal and their mines are idle now too.

—Reserved seats for Paul Jones will be on sale at Parrish's drug store on next Monday morning. Secure seats early. The opera will be the musical event in the history of Bellefonte. Don't miss it. The people in the country will do well to look ahead and engage seats for that night. Driving parties for the opera, on Friday evening, June first, would be quite proper. Admission 75, 50 and 35 cents.

SUDDEN DEATH OF TWO WELL KNOWN MEN.—Tuesday was a day of strange fatality for Bellefonte. Two men, each well known and respected in the sphere he filled, died within as many hours of each other, and both of them so suddenly that when the news was heralded on the streets the invariable exclamation that came to the lips of the shocked hearer was "Why I didn't even know he had been ill."

JOHN MORGAN.
Precisely at noon the unconscious form of John Morgan, of east Howard street, gave up its soul to heaven. He had been suffering since the preceding Friday with a stroke of paralysis. The evening of that day he was stricken, while apparently enjoying the best of health. He had been out fishing—a favorite sport with him—during the day and had no premonition of the impending stroke which fell about dusk and from which he never regained consciousness.

John Morgan was born in 1820 and was 65 years old. He came to Bellefonte from Ireland in 1854. He was an industrious man, his early thrift and prudence enabling him to lead the latter years of his life in retired ease. For nearly a score of years he was employed at the Bellefonte Gas Co's works. He owned several properties here and was a man of an unassuming, though thoroughly friendly disposition. His wife died on the 25th of last November, but two loving daughters, Mrs. R. L. Erhard, of St. Mary's, and Mrs. Benj. Shaffer, of this place, tenderly administered to him during his last illness. The only other child, Mrs. Lutz, preceded both mother and father to the grave by a number of years.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon in St. John's Episcopal church of which he was a member.

DR. J. W. RHONE.
"In the midst of life we are in death" —A most startling realization of this familiar scriptural passage was found in the sudden death of Dr. J. W. Rhone, which occurred at his home on North Allegheny street, this place, shortly before two o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Several years ago he slipped and fell on the ice on a stone crossing near his home, breaking his hip. The injury never healed properly and he had been a constant sufferer from the broken member. It was necessary for him to use crutches to get about, but even under such affliction he continued his practice of dentistry. He seemed to get along nicely under the circumstances until an attack of grip developed the fact that he had heart affection, this troubled him considerably, though not enough to give alarm. Two weeks ago he went to Philadelphia to consult Dr. Ashurst as to the possibility of there being anything done for his hip, which seemed to be the cause of pains in all parts of his body about that time, but the noted surgeon told him that it was only rheumatic trouble and he returned to his work here. On Sunday evening he was sitting on the porch of his home and spoke of feeling pains like neuralgia in his left shoulder. On Monday he received his patients as usual and on Tuesday morning did some work. Shortly before dinner time Dr. Geo. F. Harris, his physician, dropped in to see him and they had a long chat. After the noon day meal he was taking a little rest, preparatory to seeing some ladies, when suddenly he expired without a moment's warning.

Dr. Rhone was born in Pennsylvania, near the old Rhone homestead just above Centre Hall, and after studying dentistry located in the latter place. After a short term of practice there he moved to Boalsburg and thence, in 1874, to Bellefonte. He has lived and worked here ever since and for years was recognized as the leading dentist in this section. His widow, Caroline E. Rhone, is a sister of Col. D. S. Keller and she with a son, Dr. Charles, and a daughter Ella, who has lately graduated as a trained nurse, are bereaved of a devoted husband and father.

Deceased was 61 years of age. His interment will be made this morning at 10 o'clock.

DAVID WISE.
On Thursday, April 26th, Mr. David Wise, who lives about a mile from Zion had been to that town on business and when on his return home the young horse he was riding shied at a dog that ran along the road. Mr. Wise was thrown off and sustained injuries that rendered him unconscious, though they were not supposed to have been serious. On Monday afternoon of this week he died. His death being a great shock to the community in which he had lived an honored life.

His sixty-five years was an age too advanced for a shock such as he had received and dropsy set in, finally ending his life. Ever since he had been hurt he was compelled to sit upright in a chair and on Monday, shortly after being given a drink of water, he expired.

Deceased was born in Haines township, shortly after moving with his parents into Sugar valley. In 1860 he married Elizabeth Gephart and soon after moved onto the Gephart farm at Zion. His widow, two sons, Irvin and Milton and Mrs. J. J. Lohr, a daughter, mourn his demise. Burial was made in the union cemetery, at Zion yesterday morning.

He was a member of the Evangelical church, a man without an enemy.

—George W. Gates, of Nittany Hall, has recently been granted a pension.

—Dr. J. H. Krape and Bessie M. Stoner, both of Salona, will be married on the 24th inst.

—Frank Nagney's furniture store, in the Reynolds bank building, is attracting much attention just now. His line of new furniture is the largest in town and his prices will suit you.

—On Thursday night a Clearfield jury returned a verdict convicting William McClelland of voluntary manslaughter for shooting a man named Danvers whom he caught in a compromising position with his wife.

—Alex. Whitehill, one of Tyrone's last season's pitchers, was released by his club because he refused to play on Sunday. He was signed next day by Omaha, Neb. with the promise that he would not be asked to play Sunday games.

—Lieut. John Pemberton, C. E. U. S. N., assistant professor of mechanical engineering at The Pennsylvania State College, has tendered his resignation to take effect at the close of the present college year. Poor health and advancing years are the cause.

—If practice makes perfect then the concert by the Bellefonte band and Meyers orchestra to be given in Garmann's opera house, Wednesday evening, May 30th, will be a decided musical treat. The two organizations rehearse on alternate nights and are working up a fine program.

—S. Woods Caldwell Esq., the popular proprietor of the Irvin house at Lock Haven has retired from the hotel business. He sold his hotel to a DuBoise gentleman. The traveling public will miss genial Mr. Caldwell as he was one of the best known and kindest hearted hotel men in the State.

—About three hundred enthusiasts saw the Cuban Giants, the noted colored ball players, defeat the State College team at Hunter's park, Wednesday afternoon. The game was very interesting and the collegians would have won had not the Giants pounded their pitcher so hard in the sixth inning. The score was 13 to 11.

—Fred Lorane and Robert Custer two Philipsburg bicyclists, started to ride to this place last Thursday morning and when coasting down the mountain near Fowler, young Custer ran over a bank, while making a sharp curve, was thrown from his wheel and broke his arm in two places. A farmer hauled him back to Philipsburg.

—Encampment No. 59, Union Veteran Legion will hold an open memorial meeting in the Post room Harris' block on Friday evening, May 26th, at 8 o'clock, in honor of comrades who died during the past year. Prof. John Hamilton, of State College, a member of the organization will deliver the memorial address. Everybody is invited to be present.

—A fully matured male infant weighing nine pounds was found in a cesspool in the rear of J. B. Winsky's house, in Tyrone, on Sunday morning. Winsky is a new resident in Tyrone and suspicion has caused a watch to be placed over him. He told conflicting stories about how the child was first discovered. Coroner Poet's inquest revealed the physicians statement that the child had been born alive and either strangled or smothered to death afterwards. An effort is being made to find the mother.

—After having a tooth pulled Joseph Rightenour, a brother-in-law of W. Galer Morrison, fell into a stupor from which it was feared he would not recover. In order to relieve any possible pain he had had the dentist put cocaine on the gums before the tooth was extracted and immediately after the operation Joe began to act like a man under the influence of liquor. He grew worse until about 6 o'clock when a doctor was called and his case pronounced one of cocaine poisoning. The proper remedies were administered and he was all right in a short time.

—A letter from our old friend Abel Campbell, a former resident of this county, who lives at Austin, Potter county, informs us that he has been laid up with rheumatism for some time. His home is a veritable hospital as Mrs. Campbell has been dangerously ill with pneumonia and one of his daughters is afflicted with a felon on her finger. We are sorry to learn of their misfortunes, but trust all of the sufferers will recover soon. Abel is still the good old Democrat he used to be and writes that while they have nice warm days up there, there is a frost usually every night, and that Republicans blame it all on Cleveland.

A FINE GAME OF BALL.—The Pennsylvania State College ball team defeated the Dickinson College club, from Carlisle, on Beaver field, at State College last Saturday afternoon in one of the prettiest games that has ever been seen at State College. The grounds, the weather, and the players were in excellent condition and everything seemed gilt edged.

The home team was stinging under the many criticisms that had been heaped upon it and manager Swartz sent his men onto the diamond with an order to win, if it were possible. The men started in to play from the moment the game was called and snappy fielding, coupled with the invincible and battery work of Mattern and Stuart, soon gave the visitors the knowledge that they were out-classed. They played a good game, but it would not win against the superior all around work of State's team.

A SERIOUS RUN OFF.—An accident in which one man narrowly escaped losing his life and two others serious injuries occurred at the red bridge that crosses Spring creek at the foot of Lamb street, on Monday morning.

The delivery wagon for H. A. McKee & Bro's hardware store was driving west over the bridge, when near the end a double team was met, driven by a W. S. Port; for some reason the horses took fright and started to run away. The heavy team and wagon ran right onto the McKee horse and a wreck followed. McKee's horse was knocked down, the driver, Wm. Thomas colored, was thrown out and Mr. H. A. McKee, who had been in the wagon, was dumped out also. Then the Port horses fell down making an almost inextricable mass of men, horses and wagons. Mr. McKee was the only one who escaped serious injury. A horse fell on Thomas hurting him badly on the hips and side, and Mr. Port was run over by his own wagon sustaining severe cuts and bruises, besides three broken ribs.

SAVE YOUR FLOWERS FOR MEMORIAL DAY.—Wednesday, May 30th, will be the day on which we will honor the heroic dead of this community. The Grand Army veterans will have the ceremonies in charge and the usual memorial day program will be carried out.

The success of this annual tribute to those defenders of the Republic whose memories we revere depends largely on the ladies and children of the town. It is from them that the old soldiers expect the work of gathering flowers and garlands for the graves. This year the work will be a little more difficult than usual because flowers are said to be scarce, yet we hope when the morning of the 30th, dawns there will be a lavish deposit of nature's beauties at the Post rooms on High street.

Everyone is requested to give some, however small your offering may be it will be appreciated. A committee of ladies will be in the post rooms to receive the flowers and it is earnestly hoped that all will make some effort to properly manifest their feeling.

SEVENTEEN COWS POISONED.—When W. W. Austin, a Tyrone dairy man, went to his stables last Friday morning he found one of his cows in great misery. She was apparently suffering from a dose of poison. Mr. Austin administered all the remedies known to him, but in spite of his efforts to save the cow's life it died and then he noticed that the whole herd was suffering with the same symptoms. One after another they tumbled over until eleven valuable cows were lying dead in the stable and six others were so sick that though they survived the poison they have not given any milk since.

Mr. Austin had twenty-six cows, five head of young cattle, six horses and as many hogs, but only the cows in one end of the stable were poisoned, the others having escaped the deadly feed of some heartless wretch. It is believed that some one entered the stable and spread the poison, having been frightened off before he had succeeded in giving all the stock the deadly dose.

HE WILL GET A HEAVY SENTENCE SURE.—Thomas Meyers, the oldest of the gang of Philipsburg robbers who were left on under a suspended sentence, after having plead guilty to many burglaries in and about Philipsburg, at the last term of court, has been rearrested and is now in jail here awaiting trial for breaking open and stealing beer from Ashcroft's ware house.

If convicted it will be very apt to go hard with Meyers, for the court will be compelled to sentence him on all the counts to which he plead guilty at the last term. Meyers was on a parole of good behavior, but it did not take him long to end it.

—The Tyrone paper mill has closed for want of coal.

—Because of poor business the railroad shops at Altoona are running only three days of eight hours each a week.

—Nagney's furniture store, in the Reynolds bank building, is the place to get furniture that is new and stylish at prices to suit the times.

—Lock Haven's base ball team has been having an easy time of it beating the Demorests of Williamsport. The Lumber City players were pie for Bellefonte last season.

—The lumber camp of Emory & O'Brien, at Cammal, Lycoming county, was wiped out by forest fires on Sunday. The mill with 2,000,000 feet of lumber was destroyed.

—Lucius P. Wilson, who was electrocuted at Auburn, N. Y. on Monday, for the murder of a Syracuse detective, in July last, was born thirty years ago at Hollidaysburg, Blair county.

—Henry McFarland, John Stagarts and two others named Dillon and Cowan, all Clearfield county men, were convicted in United States court, at Pittsburgh, last week for making counterfeit silver dollars.

—Rev. Wm. Wagner, late supply for the Centre Hall, Tusseyville and George's valley Lutheran congregations, has accepted a call from Muncy and departed for his new field of christian labors.

—Many of the big coal corporations are importing Welsh and Nova Scotia coal to keep contracts which cannot be filled now by our own product on account of the strike. All foreign vessels touching here carry coal for the return as well as the out-going trip.

—Mrs. W. S. Bigelow, wife of a well known Philipsburg physician, died suddenly at her home in that place, Monday afternoon. She had been ill for several weeks, but her convalescence was thought to be assured when a relapse ended in her death. Deceased was a woman largely interested in charities and christian work.

—Henry Preston, an eccentric resident of Brisbin, Clearfield county was found dead in bed Sunday evening. His neighbors had not seen him about for sometime and on going to his home found him dead, with a lamp burning on a table beside his bed. The inquest showed that he had been dead longer than a day before he was found. He is supposed to have considerable money; his only relatives are two sisters who live near Tyrone.

WEDDING MONDAY MORNING.—The wedding of two well known young people of that community was celebrated at the home of the bride's parents, near Martha Furnace, on Monday morning. It was that of Dr. W. U. Irvin, of Julian, to Miss Susie Williams, oldest daughter of Mr. A. Williams. Rev. G. W. Downing performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate relatives of the two young folks, and after a sumptuous wedding breakfast they departed on a morning train for points east. Dr. Irvin is a delegate to the 44th annual session of the Penna. Medical Society now in convention in Philadelphia and will attend while away.

E. P. Irvin, the young hardware merchant of this place, a brother of the groom, was best man and Miss Candace Woodring bridesmaid. The wedding, though unpretentious, was very pretty and effective, all of the party looked well and it was a very happy event. Dr. Irvin, the groom, is a son of Daniel Irvin Esq., the Julian merchant, and is a young man of ability in his chosen profession. His bride is a daughter of one of the best known families in the Bald Eagle valley, an accomplished young woman who will make him an excellent wife.

News Purely Personal.
—Gen. Hastings entertained a well known newspaper man at his home here on Monday. He was George W. Burton, of the Philadelphia Inquirer.
—A. W. Snader Esq. a well known attorney from New Holland, Pa. and a Representative during the sessions of 1883 was in Bellefonte for the first time on Monday. He was delighted with the beauty of the town.

—Joe Barton has gone to Gleasonstown, Clinton county, where he has accepted a good position. His Unionville friends will miss him, but Joe invariably finds his way back to the old home whenever he gets tired of strange lands.

—Sheriff Jno. P. Condo entertained one of his business associates of former days, on Wednesday night. Mr. Buck, of Millersburg, who used to make it suit to travel with the general sheriff when he was a salesman on the road was here for the night.

—Mr. Charles McLaughlin, of Snow Shoe Intersection, who has been working at Winburne, Clearfield Co., ever since the Sommerville tannery at the intersection closed, was in town Wednesday. The coal strike has laid him off, but he will enjoy a rest from work.

—Ed. Graham and family are here from Winburne, Clearfield county, visiting their parents during the dull times brought on by the coal strike. Ed is employed in a store at Winburne and finds this an excellent opportunity to visit his mother here. His wife and only daughter are spending a few days with her parents at Lemont while Edward fishes.

THE BRAVER LUMBER CO'S MILL BURNED.—The great forest fires that were raging on the Allegheny mountains during the latter part of last week swept down over the vicinity of Beaver Mills on Sunday afternoon and it was with the greatest difficulty that the residents of that little mountain village saved their homes from destruction.

The fire had been burning fiercely during the latter days of the week and was gathering fury with every moment. Those accustomed to watch burning forests with an interest in which their property is involved knew that nothing short of a rain would stop its blackening course. On Sunday the high wind carried the flames across the great clearing surrounding the portable mill of the Beaver Lumber Co., and it was but a few moments until the plant was in ashes. It was valued at $1000. The plant was burned just about this time last year. Fortunately the lumber and shingles, just as fast as they were sawed, were taken away from the mill and there was nothing of that sort to burn.

The mill was owned by John Ardell Jr., of this place.

REDUCED FARE—SPECIAL TRAIN.—The Central Railroad of Pennsylvania, on account of the ninth annual contest of the Inter-Collegiate Athletic Association of Penna., to be held at State College, Saturday, May 19th, will sell excursion tickets from all local points to Bellefonte and return at the rate of one way for the round trip.

A special train will be run to Mill Hall and Williamsport from Bellefonte leaving at 7.30 P. M. of that day. By this arrangement there will be no delay enroute and those attending the games can do so at a nominal expense.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.—Issued during the past week—Taken from the docket.
Wm. B. Ripka and Emma Weaver, both of Gregg Twp.
W. T. Irvin and Susie Williams, both of Julian.

Bert. Bathurst, of Boggs Twp., and Sarah Glassgow, of Potter Twp.
Harry Finley, of Hollidaysburg, and Bertha M. Flack, of Bellefonte.
Wm. H. Williams, and Kate E. Snively, both of Penn Twp.
David H. Williams, and Ellen Jane Morrison, both of Houtzdale.
George J. Hosband, and Lida Adams, both of Union Twp.

DID NOT CONFISCATE COAL.—General Superintendent J. W. Gephart, of the Central R. R. of Pa., is indignant because we are imputed to him the crime of stealing coal for his railroad. He says it was foresight that found him with such a large supply on hand when the strike came on and as for having to confiscate coal he has never indulged that practice peculiar to railroads alone.

POMONA GRANGE MEETING.—Centre county Pomona grange, No. 13, P. of H., will meet in the hall of Walker grange, at Hublersburg, Friday, May 26th, at 10 o'clock, a. m. All patrons throughout the county are requested to turn out.

—Do you know, there are no tailoring establishments that come anywhere near us in the price, quality and fit of our made to order suits at $15.00, $18.00 and $20.00. We can prove this to you—without a shadow of misrepresentation, in a very satisfactory way. We can cut a very small number of tailors—in Pennsylvania—who advertise any—all wool—new goods—below $20.00. We begin these suits at $15.00 up to $20.00. Our stock of ready made clothing is on the top notch of perfection in price and fit. See our "all wool" suits for men at $7.50.
