Democratic Watchman.

Bellefonte, Pa., June 8, 1894.

Chauncey F. Black Gives Sensible Views on the Coming Campaign.

"I think that the approaching Democratic State Convention should not only name a ticket composed of sound and known unflinching Democrats, but that all Democratic conventions, in all places and at all times, do the same. To be of any use at all the ticket this year must be composed of six leading Democrats as tried and true as any in the state. If they are Democrats at all they must be men who, believing in Democratic principles, will, under no circumstances become the servants of monopoly, but, on the contrary, will under all circumstances faithfully serve the masses of the people.

It is a most singular thing that, at this time of popular distress and turbulence, brought on by legislation for monopolies, we are drifting into a contest which is to determine the control of the political power in this state for four mortal years, without a word on any side concerning the rights and interests of the great majority of our people. The condition of the farmer was never worse, but the farmer's appeal for justice seems to have died away completely. He has nothing to say and nobody says anything for him. At this very moment the tremendous spasms of labor, in want and despair, shake the continent. But even in this mighty industrial hive of Pennsylvania, the workingmen are not a subject of political consideration at all. Those men—the organized labor of Pennsylvania and their natural sympathizers—can make and unmake administrations and legislatures at their will. But they are not doing it and apparently have no wish to do it. They prefer to let a few political bosses, handling the money of monopolies, dictate the policy of their government and name their officials. They have done that all along and they ought to know by experience of the past what the results of the future will be.

The most recent demand of organized labor in this state was for ballot reform. The political machine solemnly promised this concession, in one form or another, in all their platforms, and then deliberately stamped on it and laughed at the poor souls who could imagine that they would ever permit freedom and purity in elections while they had the power to prevent it. Instead of ballot reform we got the Baker fraud in further aid of coercion and corruption passed for the sole purpose of preventing a constitutional convention in which the common people of the State might have attempted to reclaim some of their common law rights. But labor does not appear to resent this outrage. No man named by the Republican bosses on the Republican ticket thinks it worth while to make any more promises on the subject. The people have been fairly cheated the matter is, in their estimation, happily ended.

If the Democrats shall put upon a platform demanding tariff reform in the country and ballot reform and tax reform and labor reform in Pennsylvania, a ticket composed of genuine Democrats, who can be trusted and who have shown in their past careers a distinct devotion to the interests of the masses of the people, and whose courage and integrity will stand any test, and then make an honest and fearless campaign upon those issues, they will poll a vote that will astonish themselves.

Shade Tree Bounty.

A Law that Ought to Receive More Attention.

It is generally known among the farmers of this state, that there is a bounty offered taxpayers for the planting and cultivation of shade trees along the public highways. "Any person liable to road tax, who shall transplant to the side of the public highway on his own premises any fruit, shade tree or forest trees of suitable size, shall be allowed by the supervisor of roads, where roads run through or adjoin cultivated land, in abatement of his road tax, $1 for every four trees set out; but no row of elms shall be placed nearer than 70 feet, nor row of maples or other forest trees nearer than 50 feet, except locusts which may be 30 feet apart, and no allowance shall be made, unless such trees shall have been set out the year previous to the demand for such abatement of tax, and are living and well protected from animals at the time of such demand." No person shall be allowed an abatement on his highway tax, more than one quarter of his annual highway tax, and any person who shall cut down, kill or injure any tree, shall pay to the supervisor of roads 30 cents for each tree.

—One of the most industrious students of Radcliffe college is Miss Shida Mori, a Japanese girl. Her father is a wealthy banker of Yanagawa, Kiushu, Japan, and all the family are devoted Christians. Miss Mori has come to this country to fit herself by study for missionary work in her native country. "I came over," she says, "with Mr. and Mrs. Davis who are missionaries to Japan, sent out by the Methodist church. My father was converted and baptized into the Presbyterian church and I was educated in Japan in a mission school directed by Congregationalists. I do not think the denomination, makes any difference. All I care for is the Christian church at large, and so I do not pay any attention at all to the differences in the creeds. Mr. Davis was settled about fifty miles, that is about eighty of your miles, from my home, and I went to their home and lived for a little while before I came to this country. My father thought I might better do so to get used to American food and learn to eat with a knife and fork and to wear the American dress, etc. No, I do not think it is so pretty as the Japanese dress, and the waists of your dresses I do not like. We do not wear any corset, you know, with our Japanese dress, and we are so much more comfortable all the time, especially in the summer. But the lower part of your dresses seems better to me; the underwear and the skirts of your dresses I like; they are easier to get about in. Oh, really, very much I like America, what of it I have seen. And the American girls, they seem so bright to me and so nice. I like them very much."

—With upward of 175,000 coal miners in nearly all the coal works shut down, and the scarcity of fuel, with its high price, crippling transportation and manufacturers, and imposing an onerous tax on the working class of consumers, the coal and dependent interests are certainly in a bad way. But this is not the worst, by a great deal. In several states there is lawlessness and rioting that has been attended with great loss of life and destruction of property. In Alabama, Illinois and Colorado the troops have been ordered out, and they are likely to be in other states. That the same will be necessary in Pennsylvania before many days, unless there is a weakening of the dangerous tension now existing, is absolutely certain. The feeling at the coke regions is more dangerous than we have ever known it. All sides appear to be arming and preparing for the fray, and when a coal operator mans his mine with a magazine gun that will throw a thousand bullets a minute, there is danger of terrible occurrences and fearful reverses. Better the troops, undesirable as it is to call them out, than the continuing loss of life and property. It is a disgrace to our civilization, to say nothing of Christianity.

A commencement has been made in taking down the Ferris wheel at Chicago, and it will be transported to New York, where it is to be placed at Thirty-seventh street and Broadway, the "Old Vienna" around it. It is estimated it will occupy 10 weeks to take the wheel to pieces, and five trains of 50 cars each will be required to transport it to New York at an expense of $150,000. The old Ferris wheel company goes out of existence, and a new company composed of New York men has the enterprise in charge. Its location on Broadway as far down town as Thirty-seventh street brings it in the center of a great population, and will probably make it a better paying show than it was in Chicago, all things considered. It carried about 2,000,000 people, the biggest day's work being 38,000.

M'Bride Tells What Miners Want.

A Price for Mining That Shall be Fixed for a Term of Years.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., May 30.—John McBride, National President of the United Mine Workers of America, and J. A. Crawford, President of the Illinois organization, visited Bloomington to-day, coming from Springfield. They were welcomed by the Trades Assembly and the local association of United Mine Workers, recently organized. A conference was held, attended only by the coal miners of the McLean County Coal Company, who have been on a sympathetic strike for a month. The proceedings were kept secret. At 2 p. m. McBride addressed a large audience. He gave the reasons for the Bloomington strike. He said it was not against the mine operators, but was a part of and in sympathy with the general national strike. The local operators said they are not making the money that they should make. This condition of things is caused by big corporations, such as railroads and cities, getting coal at lower prices than it can be mined for. What the miners ask and are determined to have is that a price for mining shall be definitely fixed for a term of years, graded according to the conditions and difficulties of mining in different localities. When this is done, McBride said, all this trouble will come to an end, and the sooner the better.

The Lady Trapped.

She Was Fiddling a Little About Her Traveling Experience.

"Yes said the society lady at a swell affair the other evening, 'I've crossed the Atlantic ocean 11 times.' The smart young man adjusted his eyeglasses and said: 'Ah! Born in Europe, I suppose?'"
"No, indeed! Why do you ask?"
"Because if you were born in this country and had crossed the ocean 11 times you'd be on the other side now, wouldn't you?"
The lady figured a moment on the tips of her pretty fingers, blushed violently and fled.

Mayor Harrison's Murderer Gets Another Lease of Life.

CHICAGO, June 2.—By agreement of counsel the case of Prendergast, the assassin of Mayor Harrison, will not be tried until fall. The case will come up June 11, but will be continued until the September term of court to allow Judge Chetlain to preside, as he will be engaged with civil cases until that time. State's Attorney Kern said that the press of business made it necessary to deter the hearing.

—Of the lovely Natural Bridge in Virginia, a recent writer says: "No one has ever paid it, no one has described it in words; no one has ever seen it except when standing in its shadow and looking at its might, for the overwhelming sense of its majesty cannot be transferred by brush or pen and we cannot attempt to describe it any more than we would Niagara, or a thunder-storm in the Alps, or a cyclone at sea. Neither can be described the two-mile walk through the chasm beyond the Lace Water Fall, the wilderness of flowers and ferns and mosses and lichens and crags and forests primeval. We are resting and rejoicing in the discovery of a retreat where convalescents find strength; where insomnia is unknown, and where, even at the doors of civilization, every sight and sound is pastoral and primitive in loveliness."

A GOOD APPETITE.—Always accompanies good health, and an absence of appetite is an indication of some ailment. The loss of a rational desire for food is soon followed by lack of strength, for when the supply of fuel is cut off the fire burns low. The system gets into a low state, and is liable to severe attacks of disease. The universal testimony given by those who have used Hood's Sarsaparilla, as to its great merits in restoring and sharpening the appetite, in promoting healthy action of the digestive organs, and as a purifier of the blood, constitutes the strongest recommendation that can be urged for any medicine. Those who have never used Hood's Sarsaparilla should surely do so this season.

"I am opposed to the word 'obey' in the marriage service," said the strong-minded young woman. "It is an outrage to it."

"Oh, it does no harm," interrupted the married woman languidly. "No one ever pays any attention to it, you know, and it tickles the vanity of man."

Nothing is sweeter to the youthful and robust in health, but alas! too many "Court in poetry, and live in prose" after marriage. It is likewise a restorative and invigorating tonic, strengthening the nerves, and imparting new life to the tired and debilitated, bringing back the "roses to the cheek," and the "rains to the eyes." Sold by all druggists, under guarantee from its makers of satisfaction in every case, or price ($1.00) refunded.

—The Canary Islands possess not only the most wonderful climate, but an extremely fertile soil. The only difficulty in agriculture is the want of water. It has lately been found that there are great quantities of water in cavities of the mountains of Tenerife. An English company has undertaken to get it out. They find that boring to a depth of 100 feet is enough to procure a large supply of water. If they succeed in getting an unlimited supply in this way the islands, which have declined in prosperity in recent years, will probably develop greater productivity than hitherto.

—"You are indeed kind to me," said the bore, languishingly, "but, Ethel, I would rather have you sincere than kind."
