—Hecla park, on the new rail-road, is gaining favor as a picnic ground.

—The grass hoppers are doing their best to finish the oats and corn crops.

—Saturday, August 18th, the Nittany cornet band will hold a festival.

—Supt. Gramley held public school teachers' examinations on Tuesday.

—The Reformed Sunday school of this place will picnic at Clintondale next Wednesday.

—In Centre county from December 1st to May 1st there were 451 births, 197 deaths and 146 marriages.

—The Methodist Sunday school picnic of Bellefonte will be held at Clintondale on Thursday, July 20th.

—John Kerstetter, of Millheim, will receive $800 for building the new Mountain school house in Penn township.

—The death of Mrs. John Strunk occurred at her home below Howard on Tuesday. Death was caused by dropsy.

—The Zion normal school opened on Monday with a large attendance under the tutelage of Prof. D. J. Wolf, of Carlisle.

—Twenty bushels to the acre is what the thresher has proven E. S. Shaffer's crop of wheat to be. He farms near Madisensburg.

—Sheriff Condo took John Whitehill, of Milesburg, and Francis Reardon to Warren, on last Thursday, for treatment in the insane asylum.

—Twin babies were born to Mrs. Lemuel Hampton, of this place, last Thursday. One of them died shortly after birth, the other is living.

—Quite a number of young men from Howard went to Mill Hall last Friday to see the fire and the Lock Haven and Bellefonte fire companies.

—The Lutherans will have a festival at Coburn on Saturday and a parade, tub race, bicycle race and band music will be the entertainment provided.

—Bellefonte has a natural water supply large enough for a city of fifty thousand inhabitants, but it seems that the mains are too small to supply the wants of the town.

—Those who were on the Central's excursion to Eaglesmere were thoroughly delighted with the trip. They speak in the highest terms of the company's liberality in furnishing them the best of everything.

—Mrs. Deborah Ingram, who lives with her daughter, Mrs. Mary Mapes, at Acheson, Kansas, is reported dangerously ill. She is a native of Bellefonte, and is a sister of Jas. C. Williams, of Phillipsburg.

—A new independent Republican paper will soon make its appearance in this county. It will be known as the Hornet and will be published at Howard, with Col. D. S. Dunham and son Fred as the publishers.

—This year the appropriation to each county for holding farmer's institutes will be reduced from $75 to $65, owing to the demands of a number of counties that have asked for shares heretofore unused.

—Workmen are taking the front out of the Reynolds' bank building, on Allegheny street, in order that it may be rebuilt and the cracks, that the recent setting caused, be closed up. The Bell Bros. have the contract for doing the work.

—The Magnet this week, in mentioning the Central's excursion to Eaglesmere, speaks of the place as being in the Adirondacks. Just what geography Newt studied is hard to tell, but it must have been one without the location of mountains in it.

—The big posters that are stuck up everywhere now calling the public attention to the Logan picnic to be held at Hecla, on August 9th, will have the desired effect of making the day generally known. Make your plans to attend. The rate will be low and a good time is guaranteed.

—Harvey Keith, who passed counterfeit money in Clearfield county in October, 1892, was on Saturday sentenced to two years in the penitentiary. He had been at liberty under a suspended sentence, but evidence that he was again "shoving the queer" in Blair county, caused U. S. District Att'y Hall to call him for sentence before Judge Bufington at Pittsburg.

THE TOWN OF MILL HALL FIRE SWEPT.—Shortly before noon, on last Friday, the barn on the rear of Frank Welsh's property, on Main street, in Mill Hall was discovered to be on fire and though then confined to a little frame building the flames never stopped until they had licked the very heart out of the town and left ruins where the most substantial buildings had stood. The fire swept a swath two squares wide from the extreme western end of town to the mountain on the east, and there, not content at having destroyed so much property and having left so many families homeless, the fiery monster leaped and danced on into the mountains, where the flames are still raging. It is not known how the fire started. Some are of the opinion that boys, who were seen playing with fire crackers about the stable, are responsible, while others believe that the new hay with which the mow was filled became ignited from its own heat. The town had no organized fire department, but the bucket brigade turned out and did its best to keep the flames from spreading. A high wind, however, carried them to Welsh's house and then the fire was beyond the control of their limited means of fighting it. The only resource was to appeal to Lock Haven for aid. A fire engine was promptly dispatched from that place, but by the time of its arrival the fire had gained such headway that an appeal for another Lock Haven engine was sent in and Mayor Gray, of Bellefonte, was asked to send an engine down to help the other firemen. The wires had scarcely stopped ticking off the appeal ere the Logans had their steamer down at the Central station ready to board the train which Supt. Gephart had made up and generously run to Mill Hall without cost to the citizens of that place. As there happened to be no flat cars near the station it took a few moments to get one up from the junction and then the steamer was loaded and the firemen and the press reporters occupied a coach which made up the train. Engine "Nehasse", with Chas. Gilmour on the box, pulled it out and the run was made in just forty minutes. Quick as the trip had been made when our firemen arrived at Mill Hall they found the fire about out. Everything in the way of the flames had been destroyed and the Lock Haven firemen were busy putting out the burning embers. The Logans took their engine off and assisted with the work until 7 o'clock when it was safe to leave and the return trip was made. The town of Mill Hall is the home of many mechanics employed in the axe-works there and the loss of their homes means the loss of life time savings to most of them. Some of the lots were swept so clean by the flames that it was difficult for owners of properties to locate their own after the fire. To the onlooker, who arrived after the fire had gone out, the scene was a sad one indeed. Here and there could be seen a group of women and children crying about a pile of broken furniture—each claiming the little that had been saved—while the men worked on in their hope of stamping out the last spark that told of the destruction of their homes. Several pigs were lying about, burned to a crisp, while others were only blistered and suffering. No other animals are known to have perished. The Mayor of the town has sent out an appeal to the citizens of the State for aid and well is it needed, for there are families in Mill Hall to-day who have not an article with which to furnish a home and who have lost every cent they owned. Those who were insured are beginning to rebuild and the town will soon present a scene of activity again.

THE PROPERTIES DESTROYED.

A. A. Wilt's grocery; George Hick-off's residence; Five buildings and hall of Freeman Brady; W. H. Mann's residence; Dr. McCloskey's residence and drug store; Wesley Brady's residence and store; Joseph Bartholomew's residence and barber shop; Wilt house; Mackey house; George Bressler's residence; New Disciple church; D. H. Stoner's residence and tin store; Smith Marshall's grocery; Roff's residence; Mrs. Eric Carstetter's tenement house. In addition to the above buildings about twenty stables were burned. Nearly all the occupants of the burned out houses succeeded in getting all their goods out safely, but unfortunately the flames spread so rapidly that many of the goods were burned in the yards and on the street. The Valley Chief office was one of the unfortunates, being located in Brady's hall. The P. O. S. of A. in the same hall lost its furniture. The larger number of those burned out had no insurance, and the loss will fall very heavily upon them. D. Scott Curran, had just about finished fitting up the Valley Chief office. He estimates his loss at about $3,000 on which there is not a cent of insurance. Freeman Brady is the heaviest loser. He places his loss at $10,000.

THOSE WHO WERE INSURED.

Those who are fortunate enough to be insured received their papers from agencies in Lock Haven. W. H. Mann had $1,500 on furniture and $2,850 on buildings. Dr. J. B. McCloskey, $1,500 on building, $1,000 on drug store and $400 on furniture. Mrs. Anna Carstetter, $1,000 on house and stable. Thomas Kessinger, $150 on stable and contents. Charlotte Bressler, $300 on building. Mrs. Maggie Wilt, on Wilt house, $1,700 on building and stable. Joseph Bartholomew, $1,250 on dwelling, furniture, shop and supplies. D. H. Stoner, $700 on dwelling and stable and $450 on store building. H. T. and G. W. Hall, $650 on dwelling and stable. P. O. S. of A. $400 on paraphernalia. Frances Roff, $350 on piano. S. A. Wilt, $1,100 on stock and residence. W. H. Rosser, $75 on barn. Disciple church, $1,000.

Forty-three buildings in all were destroyed. The aggregate insurance amounts to $16,245. The estimated loss is placed at between $40,000 and $50,000.

Before the Lock Haven engines arrived it must have presented an awful spectacle, for the people could do nothing but stand and watch the flames eat up their homes. The day was intensely hot and many were overcome by the heat while trying to save household goods.

If any of our readers feel disposed to offer assistance of any sort their communications should be addressed to George W. Hall, president of the council, Mill Hall, Pa.

The fire occurred on Friday, the 13th day of the month.

—Every department of the Tyrone iron works is running on full time.

—The military band of Lock Haven will furnish the music at the I. O. O. F. picnic at Hecla to-morrow.

—R. B. Wigton & Son's, coal operators at Phillipsburg, have five hundred men at work at the compromise rate of 45 cts per ton.

—All the mines in the Phillipsburg region are working at the new rate of 45 cts per ton except Coaldale No. 4, which is paying only 40 cts.

—One hundred and fifty men started to work in the Fishburn mines at Munson station on Monday. The compromise rate of 45 cts is being paid.

—Last Friday morning Della Van Scoyoc and Eva Miller, two Tyrone girls, rode from Phillipsburg on their bicycles to their homes in Tyrone in two hours and fifteen minutes.

—Fire destroyed the steam saw and planing mill owned by Benj. N. Swenck, three miles east of Loganton, in Sugar valley, on Monday afternoon. The lumber in the mill yard was saved.

—The commission recently appointed to form a new township from parts of Boggs and Snow Shoe will meet next Monday. It is composed of Jesse Cleaver, John Hoy Jr., and John Holmes.

—Four freight cars were off the track between Snow Shoe and the mines, on Monday afternoon, and because the engine was behind them the regular evening train from that place did not reach here until three o'clock Tuesday morning.

—The Baptist church in Milesburg was the scene of a happy wedding, on Tuesday evening, when Rev. J. B. Soule pronounced the ceremony that made Mr. James McMullen and Miss Theresa Smith man and wife. A wedding supper was served after the ceremony.

—A coupling pin that had become wedged in a frog on the switch on the B. E. V. railroad, just east of Milesburg, scared the passengers on the express Monday evening. The way the cars bumped, in passing over it, they thought they were going to be killed sure.

—The Ladies' mite society of the Evangelical church at Howard will hold a festival in the school house at that place on Saturday afternoon and evening, July 28th. All kinds of cake, ice cream, confections and fruit will be served. As it is a worthy cause there should be a large turn out of patrons.

—The Central Railroad Co., of Penna., is planning a trip to the seashore for the Bellefonte journalists. The editors will leave via the C. R. R. of Pa. and the Reading next Thursday and go direct to Atlantic City. The object is to furnish data from which the comforts and advantages of these roads as a passenger route to the sea may be published for the information of the traveling public.

—The Johnstown Herald says that the officials of the Cambria Iron Company expect to start every department of their works there some time next week as by that time there will be an abundance of coke. The Herald adds that while there is no absolute certainty as to the length of time operations will be continued, the chances for a long run are exceedingly good. The orders now on hand will keep the mills and furnaces busy for five or six weeks, and by the time these are filled it is reasonably certain that enough more will have been received to keep the wheels moving for a considerably longer time.

A BAND TOURNAMENT.—Mr. W. T. Meyer, director of the Bellefonte band and orchestra, is projecting a scheme to have a band tournament at Hecla park on September 6th. His idea is to have only Centre and Clinton county organizations in the tournament and the place was selected because of the central location and its easy access by bands from any point in the two counties. Such a meeting would undoubtedly cause much pleasure to the musicians participating and then a permanent organization could be effected. Mr. Meyer thinks that no entrance fee should be charged and that prizes of a $50 silver cornet and a $30 slide trombone would be about right. During the day dance and sports would add to the entertainment and the proceeds from the former defray the expenses of the organization. We hope the idea will materialize and that with the 6th of September there will come the beginning of an annual meeting of the musical organizations of the two counties that cannot but result in much benefit and pleasure. The friendly rivalry which such a meeting would encourage would have an excellent effect on the bands participating, for since they would all be from neighboring communities they would work much harder to excel than is the case in the Central Pennsylvania organization.

A WONDERFUL CROP.—Mr. James Poorman, of Oak Hall, was in town on Saturday and in talking over the prospects of good crops in the vicinity of his home he recalled the remarkable yield of wheat that the Hale farm, operated by Mr. C. J. Stem, near that place, has made this season. For a number of years past this farm has been looked upon as "worked out" and the tenant rarely harvested more grain than was necessary for domestic use and the next season's seeding. But recently Mr. Stem, who is one of the most energetic young farmers in the county, moved on to it and commenced to fertilize liberally. The consequence was that when he finished harvesting his crop last week he had nearly three thousand dozen sheaves of wheat on the sixty-five acres of land. Averaging the wheat at a bushel to the dozen, which is fair since the grain is well filled, he will have three thousand bushels of wheat, or an average of about 46-2-13 bushels to the acre. Mr. Stem's other crops are equally as good and the question of how to house them is becoming a serious one with him.

A CENTRE COUNTY GOLD MINER.—In the issue of California State Resources devoted to Anador county, we notice the biography of a man who has many relatives in this section, but who by reason of his long residence on the slope, has almost entirely slipped the memory of most of them. The person to whom we refer is Ellis Evans, who journeyed to California in 1849, and from the occupation of a meat packer rose to that of a merchant, hotel keeper and gold miner. He is a relative of the Pletchers, in this county, and is connected with the family of the editor of the WATCHMAN, having married a Miss Meek whose grandfather had emigrated to the Golden State from Virginia. Resources speaks in very flattering terms of him both as a business man and as a public spirited citizen.

COUNCIL HAS LITTLE TO DO.—On Monday evening council met in its regular semi-monthly session and transacted the little business that came before the meeting. Among the affairs out of the ordinary routine was a complaint from residents of east Linn street that they are often without any water at all. Beaver & Dale presented a bill for $100.00 due Mrs. A. G. Curtin for the loss of a horse which died from injuries sustained by falling into a hole on Pike street. The High street bridge over Spring creek was reported out of repair and workmen are now fixing it up. The bridge needs a coat of paint as well as new plank and council should see to it that it gets it. The various committees reported the progress of their work and the meeting adjourned.

MORTIMER W. JACKSON DEAD.—The death of Mortimer W. Jackson, of Berwick, Pa., occurred at his home on Wednesday morning at an early hour. He had been in poor health for some time, but his illness assumed a dangerous character only within a few days before his death. Mr. Jackson was the step-father of Mrs. Wilbur F. Reeder of this place and a man of considerable prominence. He was 79 years old and had been president of the Berwick National bank. His deep interest in the welfare of the Methodist church always attracted him to the various sessions of Conference and he was known as one of the most liberal church subscribers in the State.

—Thomas Johnston, who married Lillie Winskey in Tyrone, on Friday evening, is said to have given Squire Taylor his judgment note for $3.00 for tying the knot.

—The recent finding of the skeleton of a supposed lumberman in a boggy hole, on Cold run, near Karthause, has given rise to a story that years ago when Ardell & Blackwell were lumbering through that region the men were paid off and this man was murdered for the money he received.

—It is said that a Mill Hall girl became so much excited during the fire down there last Friday that she ran into her home and after imagining she had packed all of her clothing into a trunk started down the street on a dead run. A young man who offered to carry the trunk for her was surprised at it being so light and when it was opened there was not a stitch of anything in it.

—A man named Chamberlain, an attache of a California advertising car that is traveling over the country, was drowned at Renovo Sunday evening. The car arrived in that place in the morning and at night fall Chamberlain, with a party of others, went to the river to bathe. He got out in deep water and before his companions could respond to his cries for help he had gone down the third time. His body was found an hour later.
