

May Be Asiatic Cholera. A Probable Case of the Terrible Plague at New Haven Conn.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 25.—Ex-Road Commissioner Thomas H. Sullivan, one of the best known politicians in this city, is lying at the point of death with what is believed to be Asiatic cholera. Last evening shortly after 6 o'clock he left his place of business on Church street, complaining of feeling ill. On reaching his home he grew rapidly worse. His family physician was called and diagnosed the case as cholera morbus. All the usual remedies were administered without favorable results. Another doctor was then called, and the two remained with their patient until midnight, when the symptoms of rapidly approaching death became apparent.

Professor Russell, of the Yale Medical college, was then summoned. When he arrived, at 2 o'clock this morning, Mr. Sullivan was almost pulseless and had been given up by the other physicians. Dr. Russell performed the operation of infusing a saline solution and the patient revived soon. Both doctors say that the symptoms are those of Asiatic cholera. Professor Russell, however, is very careful in talking about the case.

Wellman Expedition. All of the Reports Indicate That It Has Been Lost.

LONDON, July 25.—Carl Siewers writes to the Standard that he is in receipt of advices from Norway that leave little doubt that the Wellman Arctic expedition is lost. Experienced skippers just returned from the Spitzbergen sea express the same opinion, and Colonel Fielding, who accompanied Captain Narie's expedition in 1875, shares this belief. The Pall Mall Gazette is in receipt of similar advices from Tromsø, also confirming the general belief in the fate of the expedition.

Mr. Fielden, owner of the yacht Saide, received news of Professor Oyen's distress from Captain Johannsen, of the sloop Anna. Mr. Fielden ordered the Saide to Danes island, which she reached the next day, but only to be welcomed by the professor's dog. Oyen was found in his bed in an almost dying condition. Upon a table was found a letter containing bitter reproaches against Wellman, whom he accused of having left him in the lurch. Wellman according to Professor Oyen, promised that a man should stay with him and share his frightful solitude. But it appears at the last moment Wellman decided that a man could not be spared and so the professor had to be content with the company of his faithful dog. In spite of the thought that death was hovering over him, the professor refused to be taken off Danes island, insisting upon remaining there, faithful to his trust.

Situation is Threatening. Hundreds of Striking Slaves March to a Strikers' Meeting Armed to the Teeth.

CONNELLSVILLE, July 25.—The aspect of the striking SLAV coke workers looks threatening here to-day. Hundreds of them marched in from the south end of the region this morning on their way to the Scottdale meeting, armed to the teeth. Many displayed revolvers and knives in their belts, while others carried rifles and shotguns. President Barrett, Davis and McCloy, the strike leaders, heard that the strikers were on their way to the Scottdale meeting, openly displaying firearms, and hastened here to stop them. Their efforts caused a disruption among the striking foreigners' ranks. Many of the Slavs refused to give up their arms and President Barrett and Davis told them that unless they did they could not attend the meeting. About one half of the southern delegation stacked their arms here and proceeded to the meeting, but the others refused to give up their arms and are skulking about the town.

Three more boxes of dynamite were stolen from the magazine house at Porter Hill last night. From midnight last night until early this morning the strikers kept up a continual cannonading with bombs and dynamite. Their object was to frighten negro workers.

Kidnapped by a Lover. How a Luzerne County Man Caused the Postponement of a Rival's Wedding.

WILKESBARRE, July 24.—Annie Matin, a buxom Hungarian lass, made her home with her brother in the village of Georgetown, situated at the foot of the Wilkesbarre mountain. She had two lovers, Michael Batsko and Andrew Sokiz. She finally consented to wed the former.

The wedding was to have taken place on Monday. On Saturday Miss Matin was in Wilkesbarre doing some shopping, when she met Sokiz. The latter said his sister was very sick, and he begged the Matin girl to accompany him to his home. Miss Matin readily consented.

When Sokiz got the girl to his home he locked her up in a room and told her that he would keep her there until she consented to marry him.

The friends of the girl threaten to shoot him if he is caught. Miss Matin is so weak from her confinement that the wedding has been postponed.

Censured Gorman. Arkansas Republicans Listen to Warm Praise of President Cleveland.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 25.—The Republican state convention was held yesterday, seventy-three of the seventy-four counties being represented by 800 delegates, one hundred of whom are colored.

Ex-Governor Powell Clayton, in a two hour speech, endorsed President Cleveland's position on the strike and strongly censured Senator Gorman for his recent strictures of the president in the senate. There were deafening cheers when the names of Robert T. Lincoln and Fred Grant were suggested for the presidential ticket in 1896.

Hon. H. L. Rammel, of Newport, was nominated for governor at a late hour last night, and the convention then discussed the advisability of either leaving the remainder of the ticket blank or having the state central committee fill it.

Their platform declares for bimetallism, claims that the protective policy of the Republican party gave employment to the millions of race laborers now clamoring for bread, and declares that the wrongs labor is now suffering will be righted on the restoration of the Republican party to power.

The Vigilant's Day. ROCHES POINT, Southampton, July 24.

The American yacht Vigilant won today in her twelfth fifty-mile race with the Britannia. The advantage was with the winning boat from the start, and the wind was fresher than has prevailed during any of the preceding events between these boats.

Recapture of Bluefields. SAN JOSE, COSTA RICA, July 24.

The Nicaraguan General Cabezas has been reinforced and has retaken Bluefields, but he was compelled to ask British aid in order to succeed. Mr. Gosling, the British minister, arrived there, and through the British consul, who has a great influence over the Jamaicans, he induced them to lay down their arms.

Seventeen Men Were Drowned. The Bark William La Lacher Wrecked on Provoct Island.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—Word has reached here of the wreck and total abandonment of the British wooden bark William La Lacher off Cape St. James, on Provoct island, 600 miles from Singapore. The vessel left Singapore for Hong Kong May 4, to load for San Francisco. She never reached her destination, and her bones are now bleaching on the rocks off Cape St. James, while the bodies of her crew are strewn along the shore or are lying at the bottom of the ocean.

Will not Advance Prices. NEW YORK, July 25.—The sales agents of the anthracite companies will meet to-morrow. They will not advance prices and will probably recommend a restriction during August to 60 per cent. of the capacity.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS. MARRIAGE LICENSES.—Issued during the past week.—Taken from the docket.

Perry Faringer and Sallie Butler, both of Romola. Charles Butler, of Linden Hall, and Lillian V. Fleisher, of Tusseyville. Henry Lucas, of Boggs Twp., and Agnes Hesel, of Tyrone. David Chambers and Emma G. Gotwalt, both of Clarence. James F. Uzzle, of Snow Shoe, and Minnie Veidherfer, of Moshannon. Samuel Wilt and Isabella Aumiller, both of Cherry Run. Wm. Stover and Jennie Kline, both of Centre Hall.

A GREAT FARMERS' MEETING.—There will be open at Williams' Grove, Cumberland county, Pa., thirteen miles southwest of Harrisburg, August 27th the largest agricultural exhibition ever held in the Middle Atlantic States.

The exhibits alone will cover over 30 acres of ground. Three meetings will be held daily in the large Auditorium, which will be addressed by speakers of national reputation. President Cleveland will be in attendance if official duties will permit. The Secretary of Agriculture will be glad to meet the practical farmers of the country on this occasion. There will be free concerts, musical and literary entertainments every evening during the week. All who can should attend this great exhibition. Excursions over all railroads, one fare the round trip.

—Rev. McGarrh returned from a recreative trip of a week's duration, last evening, and we are authorized to announce that there will be the usual preaching services in the Methodist church here on Sunday.

—A district convention of the Knights of the Golden Eagle will be held in Altoona on Thursday, September 6th. The district comprises Blair, Centre, Clearfield, Huntingdon and Mifflin counties.

THE PROHIBITION COUNTY CONVENTION.—The delegates to the Prohibition county convention met in the court house here, on Tuesday morning, with chairman Zeigler in the chair. After the singing of a few selections by a Phillipsburg quartet and prayer the convention effected a permanent organization by electing Rev. J. B. Soule, of Milesburg, chairman and Editor N. S. Bailey as secretary, and F. Potts Green, A. B. Smith, J. I. Thompson, A. J. Cook and Isaac Guss as the committee on resolutions.

The report of the chairman for the past year showed a deficit in the treasury of $66.00 which a collection of $52.96 did not quite meet. The nominations were then made as follows: Judicial conferees, C. H. Else, of Milesburg; Samuel Shaffer and C. C. Shuey, of Bellefonte. Instructed for H. T. Ames, of Williamsport.

Senatorial conferees, J. W. Mattern, C. C. Hess and Dr. Isaac Guss, instructed for Rev. J. B. Soule. Rev. Zeigler was unanimously re-elected chairman and W. W. Bell was nominated for jury commissioner. Jacob Shuey, of College township, secured the associate judgeship nomination, while Thomas Young, of Phillipsburg, and John Craig, of Julian, were nominated for assembly.

The convention was surprisingly large and the cold water people are greatly encouraged at the prospect before them. They adopted the following resolutions and adjourned.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED. We, the prohibitionists of Centre county in convention assembled, this 24th day of July, 1894, declare: 1st. Recognizing the practice of total abstinence as the only safe rule for the individual are not assembled to attempt the impracticable folly of removing the evils of intemperance while by license and so called regulation we encourage drinking, but would cure the disease of inebriety by removing the cause by withdrawing the liquor traffic, which we regard as a gigantic monopoly, controlling legislation in its own interests and against the masses.

Resolved, That while we recognize the prohibition of the liquor traffic as our distinctive policy, we do not ignore any issue that demands consideration at our hands. We believe that a party strong enough to settle the liquor question, can be trusted to wisely act upon all other questions of government.

Since both the old parties favor the license traffic and revenue plan of dealing with the drink traffic, and as said plan is not a restriction but a protection to the business we believe no man, however good or temperate, can consistently accept office from or vote with these parties with a view of opposing the saloon.

We endorse as our platform the platforms of our state and National conventions held at Williamsport and Cincinnati respectively.

THE LOCUST OR CICADA.—Owing to the general interest that is being taken in the supposed appearance of the locust in this part of the country this season we take the liberty to republish an article which recently appeared in the Daily News, over the signature of William P. Fisher, the well known Bald Eagle valley nurseryman. Mr. Fisher has given the subject considerable attention and expresses his ideas as follows:

"Some of the readers of the Daily News will likely remember that, during the summer of 1889, I gave some account of my investigation with the locust; that being the year the brood of central Pennsylvania were up. Among other things I expected to establish the boundaries of our brood, but did not get it fully accomplished. I found the southwestern boundary to be a few miles west of Altoona, and southwest of that and Bedford county, and that in some of the southern and eastern counties they were up in 1885, and that our brood extended eastward into Columbia county. I have not known any full account of their mode of propagation or life, during their earthly period, given by any one.

I found in my investigations that the young, when hatched or coming from the eggs deposited in the shoots of trees and falling to the ground, were very small, requiring a lens to view them fully, and that they had the same form as when they emerge from the ground, being furnished with their digging claws. I had provided myself with a zinc box three feet square, with an oak plank bottom, which I put in the ground and filled with suitable soil; which I supplied well with the young by sticking in a number of shoots at the time of their coming forth from the eggs.

I have lately been examining them and find that now, at the age of five years, they are about the size of a grain of wheat and still retaining their same form. And my opinion is that they will continue to grow slowly until the period of their coming up in 1906 for an employment of about 30 days of life above ground. They are certainly a mysterious insect, showing the work of the Divine hand. The etymologist of New York state, in mentioning some of the counties that they are in up there this season, states "that comparatively little is known about the pest." I hope through time, we will know them more fully."

—The wheelmen of Altoona have arranged for a bicycle run to Bellefonte on next Saturday, July 28, returning on Sunday afternoon. The wheelmen of Bellwood and Tyrone have been invited to join the run and a large turnout is expected. Headquarters in Bellefonte will be at the Brockerhoff house.—Tyrone Herald.

WHERE THE MINES ARE WORKING.—The Phillipsburg Journal publishes the following list of mines which it states are now in operation in this district: "We have been furnished by a reliable party with the following account of the coal mines in Central Pennsylvania district now in operation at the common promise rate of 45 cents per gross ton: All the Huntingdon and Broad Top railroad region. All the east Broad Top region. All on main line of Pennsylvania railroad, west of Altoona, except Mitchell's, Lloyd's, Scott's and Sonman, and the mines controlled by the Berwind-White coal mining company.

The Delta coal company on C. and C. division; John Reed & Co.; Campbell & Dunwiddie. All the B. R. & P., C. & I. Co.'s mines in Jefferson county. All Bell, Lewis & Yates company's collieries. Helvetia coal and coke company's works. All Elk county's mines. All Tioga county's collieries. R. B. Wigton & Son's mines in the Westmoreland regions; their large coal operations in the Beech Creek railroad regions, and on Pennsylvania railroad. Hoyt & Ashman, R. C. Fishburn & Co. a' Grampian.

Besides the above named mines now in operation there are a number of smaller mines also working, making a total of about 66 per cent. of the tonnage of the entire Central Pennsylvania district, now working at the common promise price."

GEORGE POTTER IS NOT DEAD.—The case of George Potter, whose body was supposed to have been found in the woods near Olean, N. Y. still remains a mystery, so far as knowing the whereabouts of the boy is concerned but the following letter from Mr. John F. Potter, his father, proves that the body found was not George's. The descriptions did not tally at all, so while the parents are to a certain degree consoled by the discovery, yet there is deep concern in their minds as to his sudden and unexplained disappearance.

Milesburg, July 24, 1894. My Dear Sir:—I did not get to see you to-day when I called the second time, but would say that on my second trip to investigate the matter concerning my son, I left this place Wednesday night, reaching Lock Haven about 10 o'clock. Staid there all night, took the first train on the P. and E. road at 7:45 to Emporium, changed cars for Olean, N. Y., over the W. Y. W. and Penna. road at Olean at 9 p. m. the same day. Went at once to the chief of police and ascertained the following: That the body found a mile south of that city was about 6 feet in height, weighed about 160 lbs, fair complexion, light hair, mustache, rings in the ears. One ear and the eyes were entirely gone. Wore blue pantaloons and heavy coarse shoes, knit blouse, heavy woolen shirt and wore a cap.

The body was found by children, who were out hunting flowers the day before, May 31st for decoration, and became frightened and ran home, and meeting a young man on the way told him, who went to hunt him and on his way met an unknown man who took him near to the body and pointed to it, and passed on. The police have not been able to learn who the man was. The body lay there until June 10th before it seems to have been found again and reported to the authorities of the city, and the chief of police with whom I talked went to the place and held an inquest and found the following additional facts: The body was in a very secluded place in the bushes on the side of a hill, about 40 feet from the blade of a razor, pools of blood being seen where the razor was found, and a cap and lead pencil about midway between the razor blade and body, that showed from its position and condition of clothes that it had been dragged there. The right side of the veins and large arteries. The left side was also cut but not so deep. The chief was positive that it was a homicide.

In his pockets were three letters of foreign language that were sent to New York city to a Scandinavian and Finlander school, and translated in English and returned to the authorities, and found to be from a mother in Finland to a son in this country, and they were perfectly satisfied that the body there was not my son, and left there on the 6 p. m. train the same day, for Keating Summit, changing cars for Junction Summit, changing there again for Altoona, reaching there about 9 o'clock, the train running no further that day. I remained there all night, took the train the next morning for Cross Forks, arriving there at 3 p. m. A young friend and former roommate of George's, Dick Chivers, a young Englishman accompanied me from Austin to Cross Forks and aided me in my investigation. We went at once to George's boarding place, and thence to his room and searched his trunk for evidence that might lead to his whereabouts, but found nothing to aid us in that direction, but in the bottom of his trunk a razor was found that his roommate and the George's. I found some facts elsewhere that I will not state at this time. I am sincerely thankful to the family with whom my son boarded, and Mr. Mears, a manager of the Lackawanna Lumber Co., and postmaster at that place, and the other gentlemen who so kindly did for me what they could to help in the investigation. I left there at 3 p. m. on Saturday, arriving at Lock Haven at midnight Sunday. Leaving there Sabbath morning without breakfast I walked the entire distance home 26 miles, anxious to learn how my family were as the other twin was not well.

Posters are up announcing an old fashioned Sunday school celebration in the grove adjoining the Fairbrook church. The Fairbrook Sunday school has the matter in charge. Music and speeches will be the order. The very necessary adjunct, dinner, will be in the basket style. Everybody is invited.

Our Gagesburg neighbors are making ample arrangements for the 50th anniversary of their Sunday school to which a general invitation is extended, especially to those who attended the Sunday school one half a century ago. Music and speeches will intersperse the services, Prof. Ellenberger will be the principal orator.

Our base ball boys accepted the Scotia team's challenge and in accordance went out last Saturday and played a game which resulted in the score of 18 to 39 in favor of the Scotia team. For a time it was thought the game would be a draw, however, one of our athletes has been nursing a black eye from the effects of a foul ball.

T. B. Jamison, one of Gregg Twp's Democratic hustlers and successful nursery agent for a Rochester firm, with his wife carried a few days in College and Ferguson Twp's, interviewing old time friends after an absence of a quarter of a century. Old father time has touched them tenderly but Tom's once sandy locks are now a beautiful silver, while Jane is still the same jovial lady as of yore.

The following named school teachers have been elected to wield the birch in this township.—Pine Grove grammar, G. W. Ward; Pine Grove, primary, Rebecca Bollinger; Branch A. J. Tate; Kepler, Wm. Fairbrook, W. H. Koush; Glades, John McWilliams; Baileyville, Al Musser; Tadpole, Annie Heberling; Gagesburg, Sarah Miller; Marengo, John G. Miller; Penna. Furnace to be supplied. Frank Bailey goes to Cole Run, Huntingdon county; N. T. Krebs, J. B. Krebs and M. E. Heberling, all experienced teachers, have been elected to schools in Half Moon Twp. We have no reason to fear not having a good report from that educational quarter next spring.

Books, Magazines Etc. Posing in photography is the subject of the opening paper of the August number of The Art Interchange, in which Mr. Charles H. Davis gives some valuable hints and suggestions to amateurs, and strengthens them by a number of beautiful pictures in his text. "Dreaming," and "In Wonderland," are unusual examples of artistic figure work. Charles G. Lebling continues the Lessons in Wood Carving, and Mrs. Cabell her notes on the Making of a House Artistic. Papers on Artistic Needle Work and China Painting, with numerous notes, and the usual departments, make up an annual summer number of this popular monthly art magazine. The color plates are attractive in themselves, and represent a Woodland Glen in Midsummer, and a clever picture of chickens, entitled Scratching for Dear Life, besides an attractive color study for plate decoration. Price 35 cents. Sold by all newsdealers. The Art Interchange, New York.

—As usual the publishers of The Century have given especial care to the August issue, the Midsummer Holiday number of the magazine. It will be particularly strong in its fiction, its sketches and familiar essays, and in its pictures. There will be a striking story, "Old Blue Vision," by the new Southern writer, Virginia Fraser Hoyle, and a still newer writer, Lucy S. Furness, goes to the same section of the country for inspiration for "Brother Rolly's Drawback." The extreme northeastern coast of North America furnishes the scene for George Wharton Edwards' "The Wooling of Hiss," and many other entertaining articles will be found in the August Century.

Masons Expel Breckinridge. CINCINNATI, O., July 22.—The Masons here, it is believed, expelled Colonel Breckinridge. An eminent Mason to-day showed a responsible gentleman a newly printed list of the members of Lexington Lodge, No. 1, issued since a recent meeting, remarking as he did so: "Masons are not permitted to divulge the secrets of the lodge rooms, and I can't say whether Colonel Breckinridge was expelled from our lodge or not, but here is a complete list of the present membership and you can see for yourself who are members."

An examination of the printed roll showed Colonel Breckinridge's name to be missing.
