THINGS ABOUT TOWN & COUNTY

—C. S. Grimm, of Madisonburg, is making hammock chairs for sale.

—A grove meeting will be held near Feidler, beginning on August 24th.

—W. S. Hess, of Feidler, fell from a wagon the other day and broke his arm.

—The Granger's picnic will be held at Centre Hall, September 17th to 22nd inclusive.

—There will be a festival in the Methodist chapel at Coleville this and to-morrow evenings.

—The Bellefonte band accompanied the Methodists of this place to their picnic at Clintondale yesterday.

—The Millheim band will picnic with the Booneville band in Strohecker's woods, near Booneville tomorrow.

—Frederick's stove mill on Phillips creek, near Millheim, burned down last Saturday night. It was the work of an incendiary.

—Cyrus Faust, a nephew of S. K. Faust, of Spring Mills, was struck by lightning and instantly killed, near Otto, Wyoming.

—Last week the WATCHMAN suggested the advisability of painting the High street bridge, and the work was begun at once.

—Miscreants set fire to the mountains north of Madisonburg last Friday and for awhile it looked as though much damage would be done.

—Week after next, Thursday, August 9th, the Logans will hold their big picnic at Hecla park. Wait for it if you want to have a good time.

—The P. O. S. of A. had a big time at Coburn last Saturday evening and a good program of amusements made fun for a large crowd of spectators.

—James McCafferty, of this place, having given up his job in the custom service at Philadelphia, John O'Conner went down Tuesday morning to take his place.

—Read Foster's predictions in last week's issue of the WATCHMAN again and see how accurately he foretold the weather for this week. It is a remarkable instance.

—It just took $22,593.65 to pay the N. G. P. for its services at Punxsutawney. When it is known that there were only two regiments in service the price seems quite large.

—Two hundred and fifty people were on the Reformed picnic train when it left the station at this place for Clintondale Wednesday morning. They had fine weather and an enjoyable time.

—The members of the Milesburg Methodist church and Sunday school will hold a festival Friday and Saturday evenings, July 27th and 28th, on the diamond in front of Mrs. Bradley's residence.

—While walking along Allegheny street, on Wednesday afternoon, Richard McCafferty, of Logan street, tripped and, falling on his face, injured himself so badly that he had to be carried home.

—The Phillipsburg board of trade banqueted president John Seesley, of New York, and other members of the electric street railway company of that town, on Monday night. The Potter House served it.

—The Bellefonte Methodists picnicked at Clintondale yesterday. The morning trains carried four hundred and fifty-eight passengers to that place, exclusive of the band and infant class which rode free.

—The Bellefonte Central passenger train ran off the track as it was backing into the station here, on Saturday morning. Before it could be stopped the coaches had run quite a distance over the ties scaring the passengers considerably.

—The Supreme court has decided that borough and township auditors are entitled to compensation for the time they take in preparing tickets for the February elections, under the Baker ballot law. The county is liable for the same.

—It is said that there were twenty-four hundred people at the I. O. O. F. picnic at Hecla park last Saturday. The Central had seventeen hundred and ten actual ticket sales to that point outside the cash fares taken on the train. Everyone had a good time too.

—While old John Reilly was going down Thomas street, on Saturday evening, his cane caught in a crack in the high board-walk in front of Crisman's residence and the old man pitched head forward into the middle of the street. He fell square on his head and the wonder is that his neck was not broken, but aside from some painful bruises about the head and neck and the loss of a finger nail he suffered no serious injury.

WITH THE MILITIA.—The condition and possible outcome of the middle which nearly resulted in the disbandment of Co. B. 5th Reg. N. G. P., stationed here, has been the talk of the town ever since the Guard returned from Punxsutawney. The fact that the commissions of both captain and 1st lieutenant expired last Friday evening lent more interest to the situation, for it was readily conjectured that an election, with the company in such a turmoil, would afford an opportunity of showing the bitterness that had been engendered.

On last Friday evening the line officers of the regiment met in Altoona to elect a lieutenant colonel and major, Col. Amos Mullen, of Bellefonte, and Major R. C. Elder, of Lewistown, having served out their commissions. Both Mullen and Elder were candidates for the former's office, Maj. Elder having been elected on the first ballot. The names of captain W. F. Reber, of Bellefonte, and captain R. C. McNamara, of Bedford, were presented as nominees for the office of major and two ballots were taken before the latter was elected.

The election of the officers of Co. B. was held here Monday evening, at 8 o'clock, under the supervision of Col. Theo. Burchfield and Maj. Stayer, of Altoona. There was quite a gathering of military notables in the army when the men lined up preparatory to the vote, and among them were Lt. Col. W. Fred Reynolds, of the governor's staff; Col. Theo. Burchfield, Maj. Stayer, S. H. Williams, quarter master and his Searg. Thos. Benner, and adjutants Foster and Quigley all of the 5th Reg. Div. Com. Searg., R. F. Hunter; 2nd Brigade Com. Searg. Frank Williams and ex-Lieut. Col. Amos Mullen.

After Searg. Rider formed the line Col. Burchfield read the general orders from brigade headquarters calling for the election of a captain and nominations were in order. The names of Wm. F. Reber, L. T. Munson, Amos Mullen and Frank Williams were presented, then the colonel made the announcement that it would be useless to elect a man to the captaincy who had not had some experience in military service. This practically left Mr. Munson out of the field and as both Mullen and Williams declined to have their names used there was really only one candidate in to vote for. The result of the vote was Reber 39, Munson 12.

General orders calling for the election of a 1st lieutenant were then read and the names of Wilbur F. Reeder and Hugh S. Taylor were presented. Col. Burchfield again interposed an objection and announced that the nomination of Mr. Taylor for 1st lieutenant would not be accepted at that time, because he had been dismissed from the Guard on June 27th. Some one moved that the nominations close and a vote followed, resulting in the re-election of Lieut. Reeder by 42 to 8.

The office of 2nd lieutenant, made vacant by the dismissal of Mr. Taylor, was not filled owing to the fact that no orders had been issued to that effect, but the election will be held next Monday evening.

The failure of the line officers to re-elect Lt. Col. Mullen was possibly more of a disappointment to his friends here than to the Col. himself. He did not expect to be re-elected, but in his retirement the guard has certainly lost one of its most efficient officers. Col. Mullen had been attached to the Guard ever since its organization and aside from being thoroughly conversant with the military code, is a man whose fine personal appearance made him an ornament to any parade ground. It is to be hoped that he will receive an appointment on the brigade or division staff.

THE BAND TOURNAMENT A GO.—Already Mr. Meyer, the director of the Bellefonte band, has had a number of favorable replies to the invitations sent out last week to bands in Centre and Clinton counties to take part in a great tournament to be held at Hecla park, on the line of the Central railroad of Pennsylvania, Thursday, August 30th, 1894.

The tournament will be held and two prizes will be contested for. 1st prize, a $50 silver cornet; 2nd prize, a $30 silver slide trombone.

A pleasing feature of the occasion will be all the bands playing the same tune at the same time.

Dinner, supper and all kinds of refreshments will be served on the ground at reasonable rates. A permanent organization will be formed looking to an annual tournament. Band concerts and dancing will be part of the day and evening programs.

Any persons desiring to know the particulars regarding the tournament can do so by addressing W. T. Meyer, Bellefonte, Pa. It was originally intended to hold the tournament on September 6th, and in our last week's issue we gave that date as being the one decided upon, but later information from the projector is to the effect that the date will be as given, August 20th.

—The Williamsport and Jersey Shore horse gypsies, we mentioned last week, camped below Milesburg for quite a while. Bellefonte jockeys were dickering with them.

—Sixty-eight persons were admitted to membership in the first Methodist church of Tyrone, on Sunday last.

—Mrs. Armstrong Drye, of Tyrone, a sister of Mrs. James Whittaker of this place, died of dropsy of the heart.

—The Reliance fire company of Phillipsburg has placed an order with the Sibley company for a new steam fire engine.

—Elijah Burd, of Aaronsburg, paid $6,000 for that part of the Nittany valley turnpike leading from Millheim to the top of the mountain above Madisonburg.

—E. Pressler, a Williamsport carpenter, who was raised near Millheim, this county, has laid down his hatchet and saw to become city editor of Feidler's new paper, the Williamsport Journal.

—Since the completion of the Altoona & Phillipsburg railroad between Houtzdale and Phillipsburg, Samuel Langdon, its president, will start his coal mines at Houtzdale and ship via the Beech Creek railroad from Phillipsburg.

—Three sharpers induced Milton merchants to advertise on fans to be given away to excursionists from that town to Eaglesmere. Twenty of the Miltonians took sale and paid for it, but when the train pulled out there were no fans and the "fakers" had fled.

—W. H. Young, who was sent to the western penitentiary from here in August 1893, for having robbed an Italian in Lyons store, has gone crazy and will be taken to the Danville asylum. He was originally from Union county.

—H. P. Hanson, who died in Altoona, on Tuesday, was in his 70th year. Until five years ago he was a blacksmith at Howard, this county. He was the husband of Margaret Council, of Beech Creek, and died at the home of his stepson, W. S. Council. His remains were taken to Howard for burial yesterday morning.

—Lizzie Antes, of Pine Station, was walking on the railroad track, on Sunday evening, on her way to church to practice children's day music. A train whistled, she looked around and an engine was upon her before she could move. Her skull was fractured and she lived only a few hours. Three companions escaped.

—The venerable John Delaney, of Central City, died at his home, in that place, on Tuesday afternoon, of cancer. Deceased was about 74 years of age, and leaves a widow with three daughters to mourn his death. Funeral services were held yesterday morning at 9 o'clock, interment having been made in the Catholic cemetery here.

—A farmer named Strunk, who lives near Millheim, gives the latest foolish exhibition in having tried to burn the lice in his poultry house without burning the house. Like most of the fools, who try this experiment, he failed and it was only by the efforts of half the population of Millheim that his big barn was saved.

—Joseph Miles, a fourteen year old Tyrone lad, attempted to jump on a moving freight train in that place last Thursday, and, missing his hold, he fell under the wheels. Both legs were so badly mangled below the knees that amputation was necessary. He could not stand the strain and died that same night. How many boys in Bellefonte are daily running the same risk of life.

—To commemorate the centennial of the founding of Dunnsstown, Clinton county, which was laid out September 5th, 1794, there will be a grand demonstration in that village on the day of its one hundredth anniversary. It is one of the oldest regularly laid out towns in the West Branch valley, and is just opposite Great Island and one mile from Lock Haven. Addresses by able speakers, a parade of military and civic organizations and other features will be arranged.

—Jim Moore came down from Fillmore on Saturday and while carrying around a right comfortable "jag" got into trouble with a young Smith from Milesburg. They scuffled in front of Blackford's restaurant on Bishop street, where Smith threw a whole brick at Moore's head with a force that would undoubtedly have seriously hurt him had it hit him. Both were arrested and on the way to the lock up Moore became unruly, a scuffle between him and officer Gares resulting. The prisoner fell on the step in front of Grauer's residence and the officer fell on top of him, the fall breaking Moore's nose. A doctor was called and dressed his injury after which he was taken to jail where friends called for him later. It was necessary to hand-cuff him to keep the bandages on his nose. A rumor found many believers here next day, that Moore had died from his injuries, but he is getting along all right.

SQUIRE SAMUEL J. HERRING IS DEAD.—There came in the death of Samuel J. Herring, which occurred at his home near Penn Hall, in Gregg township, on Tuesday afternoon, the end of a life that had been an extremely useful one in the community in which it was passed. Squire Herring had been in ill health for months, stomach troubles having impaired his strength so much as to make him almost an invalid for quite a time previous to his death, but with that hope that returns to realize the nearness of death his friends looked for his recovery and were shocked when the end came.

Deceased was born at the old homestead, in Gregg township, December 17th, 1828, and was the son of George and Margaret Herring. In 1854 he married Elizabeth Lohr, their union having been blessed with six children, three of whom are living, as follows: Horace B., Mrs. Emma J. Shook, and Mrs. Susan C. Hosterman. He took charge of the homestead farm in 1862 and managed it successfully until the time of his death.

Mr. Herring was perhaps the best known man in all of Penns valley and one in whom every one recognized an excellence of character rarely found. He was a broad minded, liberal man whose wealth of knowledge extended far beyond his particular vocation. Confirmed in the belief of Democratic principles he was one of the leaders of his party in the county and seven times in succession was he elected Justice of his district. He was an active member of the Lutheran church and was buried in Heckman's cemetery yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. A. G. Wolf officiated.

TROUBLE IN THE PHILIPSBURG COAL REGIONS.—The excitement which had been stirred up among the miners in the Phillipsburg region over the attempt to operate the Coaldale No. 4 mine at the 40 ct rate culminated in the burning of the tippie there last Thursday night.

The mine was the only one in the region working at the old rate and the strikers, being unable to induce the men to quit, resorted to such lawlessness as arson to cripple the operation so that work could not be carried on. Besides the tippie several mine cars were burned and the loss to O. Perry Jones, the owner, is considerable. The tippie will be rebuilt at once.

The mob was made up of several hundred men from Ramey, Houtzdale and Osceola, armed with guns, clubs and revolvers. It was in command of a man named Walker and on reaching Coaldale they surrounded the homes of the working miners and with their yells and stone throwing frightened the inmates almost to death. Then they broke open the scale house and with two barrels of oil, taken therefrom, saturated the tippie and set it on fire.

The strikers were defiant and held a mass meeting on the spot even after the appearance of the officers. They condemned all miners who worked for less than 50 cts. a ton and burned the effects of a Hungarian who had just moved there and had been unable to get his furniture into a house.

Sheriff Cardon sent a deputy down from Clearfield who with Capt. Simler and Mr. Jones, of Phillipsburg, went out to the mine early Friday morning, and arrested Walker with a number of the other leaders.

A SUDDEN DEATH AT HOWARD.—While sitting on the porch of her home last Friday Mrs. Keuben Lucas, a well known woman, suddenly expired. She had been in her usual good health shortly before and had only laid aside her household duties for a few moments rest in the air, when death came; it is believed from heart affection.

A husband and five children survive. The latter are Thomas, of Chicago; Wm. of Dagus Mines; Clyde, Sallie and Mrs. Wm. Confer, of Howard. She was a sister of Mrs. O. T. Noble, of Lock Haven.

Deceased was a highly esteemed woman, whose sudden death was a shock to that community. She was well known for her gracious manner and many were the genuine tears of sorrow shed at her bier on Sabbath morning, when the funeral services were held.

DEATH OF DR. J. P. GLENN.—The death of doctor J. P. Glenn occurred from paralysis, in Altoona, on Tuesday evening. He had been stricken on the previous Saturday and did not regain consciousness until death.

Five years ago deceased was a practicing physician in Snow Shoe and he is well known in this county. A widow and six children survive.

The remains were brought here yesterday morning and taken on to State College, to the home of deceased's sister, Mrs. Scott Bailey. Burial was made at the Branch yesterday afternoon. Dr. Glenn was about fifty years of age.

—The power house and car stables of the new electric railroad between Phillipsburg and Houtzdale will be built in the former place. It required the subscribing of $50,000 in stock, however, before the projectors of the line consented to locate the plant in Phillipsburg.

—Joseph A. Gilman, of Woodland, Clearfield county, is a late pension beneficiary.

—A mass meeting of miners at Houtzdale, on Wednesday, decided to continue the strike until the operators agree to pay the compromise rate.

A HORSE BIT HIS FINGER OFF.—G. G. Fink, a farmer at Martha furnace, met with a mishap last Monday morning that cost him the thumb of his left hand. He was at the blacksmith shop having a stallion shod, when the horse suddenly grabbed his thumb at the first joint and bit it entirely off, the end of the thumb falling out of the animal's mouth afterwards.

Mr. Fink is a nephew of county Treasurer Miles and the horse had always been considered of a kind disposition.

SMOTHERED TO DEATH IN A CORN BIN.—Ambrose Beyer, the seven year old son of A. W. Beyer, climbed into a bin full of shelled corn in his father's mill, in Tyrone, on Tuesday afternoon, and a half hour later was taken out dead.

The bin was on the third floor of the mill and the corn was being run down into the hopper on the floor below. The boy's legs were drawn into the funnel and the corn above closing in over him smothered him to death. The boy's legs stuck out through the end of the funnel in the floor and gave the first warning of his awful predicament.

THE OPINION OF A PHILOSOPHER.—Mr. Shannon McCormick, whose age is about 77 years, is among the interesting citizens living near Pine Hall. He is moreover, considerable of a philosopher, and, though a farmer, does not believe that the agricultural community are entirely justified in the complaints in which they indulge regarding the low price of wheat. While wheat is low, he says that almost twice as much can be raised now per acre as formerly. He says the farmers are receiving a living price for butter, eggs, corn and potatoes, that, on the whole, their condition is tolerably good. What have other farmers to say of this?—Magnet.

News Purely Personal.

—Miss Maggie Cooney, of Braddock, is visiting her parents here.

—Miss Petriken, of High street, journeyed to Lewisburg Wednesday morning.

—Frank Lukenbach, of Phillipsburg, spent the fore part of the week visiting his parents here.

—Miss Emma Aikens, of Allegheny street, visited Miss Hamilton, in Tyrone, during the week.

—The Tyrone Herald has it that Mrs. Samuel Ryan, of this place, is visiting friends in Tyrone.

Richard, the High street jeweler has returned from an extended trip to New York, where he selected and purchased the best collection of jewelry, silverware, clocks, watches, etc., ever exhibited in this town. Those wishing anything in his line will find it to their advantage to call and examine the fine lot of novelties which he is displaying now.

—H. H. Meyer, of Lloydsdale, after spending Sunday with his parents in Milesburg, returned to his work Monday evening. He is agent for the Pennsylvania and Northwestern railroad at Lloydsdale and though quite a young man, fills that responsible position in the most acceptable manner. He reported the coal trade picking up again in that region and all the mines at work.

—Among the Bellefontes who have enjoyed the surf bathing at Atlantic City lately are A. C. Mingle, wife and daughters, Roxey and Helen, Jared Harper, Mrs. Joseph Cozdars and daughters, Mamie and Helen, Miss Rose Fox and J. W. Houser. Mrs. Willis Weaver, of Millheim, is enjoying a season at the shore. All these Centre countians are guests of the "Ocean Queen" Mrs. Mary Nolan's new hotel there.

A CHALLENGE TO MISS NORRIS.—Since publishing the account of the little girl at Fillmore, who made such a creditable record in the hay field lately, we have received the following letter from a correspondent at Dix Run who tells of the wonderful work in building a load of grain accomplished by a young lady of Unionville.

Mr. Epton.—Seeing a local last week about the expert hay building of a little Miss at Fillmore, I thought it a good time to report to your paper a thrilling, and much more expert piece of work on the part of Miss Susie Stover, a little girl of Unionville, who built a load of wheat for John G. Hall on his farm at Dix Run. Mr. Hall had difficulty to get some wheat off a hilly piece of ground, as no one could build a load to stay on the wagon. Miss Susie bet she could build a good load and remain on the wagon down the declivity to the barn.

When the load was on, both wheels were chained and brakes drawn tightly, and then with several men on each side of the load with forks to steady it, the wagon moved down to the barn while Susie is milling, and with folded arms, had the laugh on them. It was well done and old harvesters skulked away and hid. Own Who Lerr.

A WAGON RAN OVER HIM.—Johnson's heavy dry ran over James McCusley, who lives on Logan street, on Wednesday afternoon, and crushed his breast so terribly that there is danger of his not getting over it.

The unfortunate man had been down at the Central rail-road station and as he is badly crippled with rheumatism he asked Curt Johnson, who was just driving away from the station, to haul him home. Mr. Johnson told him he would do so and wanted to help him up on to the seat, but Mr. McCusley preferred to sit on a box in the wagon. He rode along until Brockerhoff's feed store, on Bishop street, was reached and then he fell off, the back wheel of the heavy loaded wagon passing over his breast.

He was picked up and carried to his home where he is now suffering great agony. It is supposed that a jolt of the wagon threw him off.

Aug. 1st, joining excursion train at Montandon. Tickets read Atlantic City, Cape May, Sea Isle City, Ocean City, Anglessa or Wildwood.

H. L. HUTCHINSON, Agt.

SHE JUMPED INTO THE CISTERN TO SAVE HER CHILD.—On Saturday afternoon the twenty-one month's old daughter of A. Boyd Cowher, of Fillmore, fell into the cistern at home and would have drowned had not its mother heroically jumped into the water and rescued it. Notwithstanding the cistern is 16 ft. deep and there was 5 ft. of water in it neither mother nor child were injured. They were taken from the water later by Mr. Cowher.
