

Mr. John W. Cooke, formerly a resident of Bellefonte, but who recently moved to Philadelphia, has sold his celebrated Woodland coal mines to a syndicate for $200,000.

While on a visit to his sister at Salona, Rev. Samuel E. Furst died at her residence last Monday night. He was about 55 years old and leaves a wife and children. He was the son of Samuel Furst and was born in Lamar township. He studied law with C. G. Furst, esq., at Lock Haven, but afterwards turned his attention to the ministry, and preached for many years at New Berlin, Pa. He was in charge of a church in Bedford county at the time of his death.

POISONING CATTLE.—A Beech Creek township farmer, who was in this city to-day, informed the Express that some miscreant is engaged in the despicable work of administering poison to the cattle that are herded every summer in the woods of the "Skootac" region. It is supposed that the poison is arsenic, and that it is mixed with salt and fed to the cattle. Eighteen head of steers have been found in the woods.—Lock Haven Express.

A SNAKE IN THE KITCHEN.—The Jersey Shore Herald is authority for the statement that last Friday evening, as the ladies occupied at the lumber camp of James O'Connor, on Pine Creek, were about to prepare supper a monster rattlesnake was discovered in the kitchen. It is unnecessary to state that further preparations for the evening meal were suspended at once. Harry Dunbar killed the reptile, which measured four feet in length and carried ten rattles.

DEFECTIVE ADMINISTRATORS OF THE LAW.—The servitors of the law seem to be in bad shape in Perry county, as it is announced that in the criminal court of that county last week one lawyer was convicted of assault a battery and breach of the peace, another of embezzlement, two others had true bills found against them for embezzlement, one justice of the peace was convicted of malfeasance in office, and two constables were returned for drunkenness and neglect of duty.

DEATH OF AN OLD CITIZEN.—In the death of James Duncan, Esq., which occurred last week from an attack of dysentery, Philipsburg lost one of its oldest and most respected citizens. Born at Duncansville, Blair county, in 1818, he was consequently in the 77th year of his age. He came to Bald Eagle, in this county, in 1857, and settled in Philipsburg in 1881, where he resided ever since. He had served as Justice of the Peace for about thirty years.

ABOUT CORONERS.—Recently the county commissioners of Dauphin county refused to pay the coroner for holding an inquest on the body of a woman who dropped dead in the city of Harrisburg. The coroner appealed to Judge Simonton, who in an opinion on the subject sustained the commissioners and denied the position of the coroner that it was his duty to hold an inquest on the body of every person who died suddenly. Other counties ought to follow the example of Dauphin in this respect.

NATIONAL ENCAMPMENT OF THE G. A. R.—The following order interests the veterans in this neighborhood:

Head Quarters Gregg Post, No. 95, G. A. R. Bellefonte, Pa., Aug. 14th, 1894. All members of the post are requested to be present at the next regular meeting, Saturday, Aug. 18th, 1894, to complete the arrangements for going to National Encampment at Pittsburg in September. The post will go in a body, and nine other posts of the county are expected to join with us and start from Bellefonte at 10.30 a. m., September 10th, the other posts to take the train at their most convenient stations. Old soldiers not members of the G. A. R., and others, are expected to go with us. Free quarters for 150 have been assigned to Centre county posts. CENTRE COUNTY FARMERS WOULDN'T DO A TRICK OF THIS KIND.—There is a suspicion abroad that some of the honest sheep raisers of Lycoming county are playing a game upon the county that would do credit to a heathen Chinese. It is alleged that when a sheep is killed the auditors are informed, and go away, but while the auditors are turning out of the lane, the owner of another flock of sheep will take the dead animal to his home, summon the auditors, have it appraised, and receive the money from the commissioners. Then one or two other men do likewise, until finally the county pays out about $20 dollars for that one sheep.

BELLEFONTE ACADEMY.—Next session of Bellefonte Academy will open on Monday, September 10th. Instructors—Miss Julia L. Reed, teacher in young ladies' room; Miss Emily Williamson, teacher in primary and intermediate departments; Mr. J. R. Hughes, teacher in charge of young men's room; Rev. J. P. Hughes, Principal, and teacher of mathematics. Students' tickets, at a reduced price, can be obtained on all the railroads coming into Bellefonte for pupils living out of town, who wish to avail themselves of the advantages of this institution.

Pupils will be thoroughly prepared for teaching, for any college, or for a business life. Schedule of school studies will be arranged to harmonize with the schedule of trains, so that the studies of students coming from the neighboring towns and villages can be fully provided for.

ANOTHER BANKER GONE WRONG.—Altoona has been treated to a bank defalcation of large proportions and a first-class social scandal, in the going wrong of Harry G. Gardner, cashier of the Second National Bank, who has absconded from that city, taking with him a large amount of money belonging to the bank, and a woman who was not his wife. About the beginning of last week it got to be rumored on the street that Gardner had suddenly disappeared and suspicion was at once aroused that something was wrong. It was discovered that he had left on Monday night and it was said that the woman in question had accompanied him. When his disappearance became fully established Bank Examiner Miller appeared upon the scene, and upon his first examination of the books came to the conclusion that Gardner had taken at least $20,000 along with him, a sum which was greatly increased by further investigation. The woman in the case went by the name of Gordon and appears to have come from Philadelphia. The rumor associating her with Bellefonte is a foolish canard. Gardner left an interesting family, and before he left for parts unknown he wrote his wife a letter in which, among other things, he told her to kiss the baby for him. In addition to being cashier of the bank, Gardner was a member of the house furnishing firm of Harry Wayne & Co., but his defalcation does not appear to have involved that firm. The bank officials say that the bank is all right, the bad conduct of the cashier not having impaired its stability or caused any run upon it, so far.

Bank Examiner Miller has been working continually at the books since the default was discovered, and has as yet made no definite statement as to the condition of the bank, but believes that Gardner's shortage is at least $100,000.

Facts have been developed as to the direction taken by the cashier in his flight. Mr. Chas. T. Jacobs, who was on his way to Pittsburg on Monday night on fast line, met Gardner on the train. He first saw him at Greensburg, where the smoking car was detached from the train for repairs. Among the passengers who came out of the car before it was cut off was Gardner, who spoke to Mr. Jacobs as he went past and took the second seat behind him. After a time Mr. Jacobs got up and went into the rear car. As he past Gardner both men bid each the time of day the second time. Mr. Jacobs also remarked: "You must be taking a trip?" "I am," answered Gardner, smiling. At Pittsburg both men again met in the Union depot where they both took lunch, being not more than three or four feet apart. Gardner was attired in a light suit, wore a straw hat and carried either a package or satchel. He was last seen standing along side of a train bound for Fort Wayne.

The Directors of the Bank are making an effort to capture the absconder, having telegraph half around the world to all points where he may have taken refuge. The men who endorsed his bonds as cashier of the Second National bank were ex-Judge James Gardner and his son, Thaddeus Gardner, both deceased.

Gardner is a Knight Templar, treasurer of the Elks Lodge at Altoona, a Heptasop, a Juniata Club man, the leading social organization of the county, a member of the Patriotic Sons of America, besides being a regular Presbyterian church attendant.

His relatives will try to cancel part of the shortage.

—If the weather is favorable a very large crowd will be attracted to Hecla Park by the band tournament on the 30th of this month.

BLAIR COUNTY'S LOANS.—Blair county is largely a community of debtors. The thirty-two building and loan associations in Altoona, four in Tyrone, one in Bellwood, one in Duncansville, and one in Hollidaysburg, are roughly estimated to control loans aggregating $15,000,000. The Pennsylvania trust company, of Reading, has loaned an even million dollars in Altoona and Tyrone. The United Security life insurance and trust company, a Philadelphia concern, has loans for $750,000 scattered through the county.

MEETING OF CENTRE COUNTY BAR ASSOCIATION.—A meeting of the Centre County Bar Association was held in the court room at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning to make preliminary arrangements in reference to the funeral of Col. D. S. Keller. Hon. A. O. Furst was selected as chairman of the meeting. Clement Dale was made secretary. On motion a committee on resolutions was appointed, consisting of Gen. James A. Beaver, C. M. Bower, Clement Dale, D. F. Fortney and John Blanchard. The committee was requested to have the resolutions prepared and to present them at a general meeting of the Bar and citizens to be held in the court house on Thursday morning at 9 o'clock. A committee consisting of E. R. Chambers, Ira C. Mitchell and Ellis L. Orvis was appointed to make arrangements for floral designs. Gov. Beaver stated that on account of important engagements of long standing he could not be present on the day of the funeral and desired at this meeting to express his sentiments and respect for Col. Keller. He paid a glowing tribute to the memory of the deceased member of the Bar and of the high respect he had for him as a man, a soldier and a lawyer. After some general talk the meeting adjourned to meet in the court room on Thursday morning at which time the public is generally invited to attend.

CLEMENT DALE, Secretary.

Pine Grove Mentions.

D. G. Meek and wife are among the vast throng at Newton Hamilton campmeeting this week.

The prolonged drought was broken last Sunday morning by several showers which wet the ground some inches deep.

In our last letter we misspelled our ball pitcher's name, so as to read Kope when it should have been Kepler, one of our practical farmer boys.

Mr. Ira Gates and wife of Orangeville, Ill., who intended spending some weeks visiting Centre county relatives, were hastily summoned home last Saturday by a dispatch stating the serious illness of Mrs. Gates' mother.

A few days ago one of our young sports was noticed driving through town with a placard on his buggy "Hunting a wife" and as there are a goodly number of marriageable ladies in our town, he should not be hunting long. We would advise him to advertise through the C. C. column and at least exchange postal auto-graphs.

On the 13th inst. the death of Joseph Grazer occurred at his home at Gatsburg, after a brief illness of dysentery having been confined to bed but a few days. His age was 80 years. Mr. Grazer was well and favorably known for his honesty and strict integrity. He leaves a widow and nine children to mourn the death of an indulgent parent, a kind husband and a most obliging neighbor.

Our young friend Cooper Miller has been elected teacher of the Central City grammar school. J. A. B. Miller has been elected to teach the Krumrine school which Nancy Thomas resigned. Walter Wry to teach the Guyer school, and John G. Miller has been changed to Baileysville. The Penna. Furnace school has been closed by order of the board, it being consolidated with the Baileysville district.

Our Pine Hall neighbors enjoyed an old-fashioned union Sunday school celebration. The Reform and Lutherans met in the picnic grove and spent a joyous time with the Pine Hall band for entertainment. In the evening a sociable was conducted for the purpose of purchasing a new organ for the Lutheran church. The treasury was handsomely replenished, but not until the fourth commandment was badly bent.

Last Friday the 10th inst. a telegram was received announcing the death of a lady well known here. Mrs. Fannie Imboden, who died at her home in Philipsburg, on the 9th inst. of heart failure aged 85 years. When our country's flag was assailed in 1861, she gave two of her sons to defend it and both were killed. Two sons, Erastus and Harry, and one sister Mrs. Rebecca Murphy of this place, and one brother Simon Sellers of Half Moon, survive this good old mother.

Catharine Kustaborder, wife of John Kustaborder, died at her home near Penna. Furnace on the 9th inst. She was well known in the neighborhood, having lived all her life within sight of her parental home. She was one whose influence for good was felt throughout the entire community. She was the second daughter of David Harpster. Two sisters, Mrs. Samuel Goss and Mrs. Solomon Gates, with Alex and David Harpster, her brothers and one son D. H. Kustaborder mourn the death of this old mother in Israel, who in her childhood connected herself with the church. Her pastor Rev. C. T. Aikens paid the last tribute to her memory on the 11th inst. at Gatsburg cemetery where she was laid by the side of her husband, who preceded her three years ago. Her age was 73 years 2 months and 16 days.

The harvest home picnic last Saturday at Baileysville, was a decided success. The hillside of old Sandy was covered with people to witness the base ball games that lasted most of the day. In the forenoon the Baileysville and Franklinville teams played a game which resulted in 14 to 38 in favor of the Baileysville boys. After dinner the Scotia and Pine Grove teams played for the championship of the day. For the first six innings the game was loosely pitched. Just then some one wanted pitcher Kepler's hair cut long, which was not needed considering his effective pitching, so the result of the game was a victory for Pine Grove 9 to 23. The balance of the evening was spent in a social good time.

THE ANNIVERSARY OF THE GATESBURG ACADEMY SCHOOL.—Saturday August 4th the people of Gatsburg and vicinity celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of the organization of their Sunday school. It was organized in the old red school house that stood near where the Lutheran church now stands. In 1842 the community was visited by a colporteur in the employ of the American Tract Society by the name of Benj. Fought, who went to the family of David Scotia and conversed on the subject of religion and sold and distributed the society's publications. At that early day preaching was but once a month, and frequently only every two months. It was largely through the study of the tracts that the young folks urged the organization of a Sunday school. Rev. Daniel Moser, the pastor, consequently set Aug. 4th 1842, for the first Sunday school meeting at Gatsburg. The date is still fresh in the minds of some, for the day previous old "daddy" Gates with his spanking six horse team hauled a crowd of men and boys to Bellefonte, packed in the big wagon like corn brooms on end, whose sole business it was to cheer for Polk, Dallas, and Shunk, and the tariff of 42 at this late day what they were for a happy crowd returning after midnight weary and tired, early the next morning they were forewarned by their mother and started off to Sunday school, as none of the fathers were able to attend this first meeting. Rev. Mr. Moser was chairman, secretary and treasurer, as the scholars were timid and not altogether certain that it was what they wanted in such a movement. Mr. Moser drafted the constitution which was long enough to govern a state, consequently the first meeting was a long one, taken up in explaining the by-laws to teachers and pupils. Within a year the school had grown to such a size that the first organization consisted chiefly of the families of Jacob and Solomon Gates, Jacob and John Ellenberger, Geo. and Wm. Rider, Geo. and Jacob Lumberg, Joseph Gates, Michael Rider, James Ross, George Kollinger, John Frank, John Krider, David Filer, Frederick Amos, E. Clemson was elected superintendent and at once set about to establish the school, the small children were taught the alphabet, the larger boys and girls were placed in a separate class, and the older persons comprised the Bible class. Their lessons consisted in reading from the Bible without note or comment.

In 1847 the M. E. people organized a school in the same house, this drew what must be the first organization; but still much interest was manifested. In 1848 the M. E. neighbors raised the cry what must we do to be saved, and in August held the first campmeeting on Half Moon Run which resulted in many conversions. Many of the first converts were members of the Lutheran church of Rev. Mills who had the meeting in charge. Quite a number of the converts were Methodists, and the older persons organized a separate school in 1849, each school has been conducted on the denominational plan, being well supported and attended. We are sure saying that a larger percentage of children and young folks in this vicinity are enrolled and instructed in the Sunday school, than in any like community with the same population.

Some thirteen persons were at the anniversary, who were present at the organization half of a century ago, and who are still working in the Sunday schools. The retiring superintendent Mr. Clemson enjoined them as brethren to be steadfast, immovable, always abounding in the work of the Master, he was not weary in well doing for in due season we shall reap if we wait not. Prof. Ira Ellenberger principal of the Tyrone High School was the orator of the day. He told for his encouragement, "If a man die shall he live again," he handled it so well that the audience were sorry when his hour was up. After the exercises were over a general hand shaking took place and as the hospitable people of Gatsburg had prepared full and plenty for all the strangers. The day was spent pleasantly as well as profitably.

Books, Magazines Etc.

—The illustrations in The Art Amateur, 23 Union Square, N. Y., (August) are, as they ought to be, largely suggestive of the coolness which views of the water gratefully produce in the matrix heat of the dog days. They include a reproduction in color of Edward Moran's "Lightship," full-page black-and-whites of Lionel Walden's "Toiler of the Sea," Haquett's "Against the Tide," and Bellinger's "The Open Sea," and some capital pencil and pen drawings by Theodore R. Davis: in addition to which there are sketches of water-lilies and the fourth of Mr. Volkmar's fine-series of plates for china painters. The pictures, however, are by no means all marines; there is a grouping of Butterflies (one of the color plate) a portrait of Kosuth (frontispiece), and various interiors, specimens of carved work, embroideries, etc., besides the numerous supplementary working-drawings for which this magazine is so favorably known.
