-The best time to cut corn is when the most forward husks begin to dry. The husk is a better guide than the leaves. When cut at such a stage the largest proportion of nutritious matter is secured.

-Before storing articles in the cellar take a day for the purpose, use a peck or more of sulphur, if necessary, and fumigate it two or three times, in order to purify the walls, floors, ceilings and bins.

Cull out the sheep and fatten those not desired in order to sell them to the mation. The order had taken no part best advantage. The flock should be in the fight during the last few months reduced to the number that can be most against the hiring of nuns as teachers

-It pays to keep something growing in the garden during the whole season. One crop should follow another and thus prevent weeds from taking possession. A garden that has been given over to weeds is a disgusting sight.

-There should be grapes on every farm and village plot. They need well space they occupy. Soapsuds is an ex-cellent fertilizer for them, because of the potash it contains.

-The hog is said to be nearly as good a scavenger in the orchard as the sheep, and if allowed to run there he will destroy the worm-infested fruit that falls to the ground, and in so doing he will destroy the worms. He will also enrich the ground.

-It is now so well established that the plum curculio, the cherry worm, the coddling moth, etc., may be desfinest varieties of every fruit.

A Louisville Man Who Blundered About His Headgear.

"Well, sir, said a well-known Main street man, "I had an embarrassing experience this morning. I invariably sleep until the very last moment, and then make a rush for the breakfast table and the car. This morning I had but five minutes to get through eating and catch the car that passed my door. I fairly poked things down my troyed by spraying with arsenical so throat, and hearing the clang of the lutions, that there is no longer an ex- motorman's bell I made a rush for the for that Congressional district the Comtinest varieties of every fruit. Thomas Jefferson's Old Home From the Boston Post. Jefferson Levy, the rich young New Yorker, who is a lineal descendant of Thomas Jefferson, and who is anxious to go to Congress, is the owner of the famous Jefferson estate. Montieillo, in Virginia, near Charlottville. It came to him by purchase not by inheritance, and he is spending a deal of money in keeping the buildings in repair. Recently he has entertained Vice-President Stevenson, Senator Hill, of New York, and others there. Mr. Castoria. Stevenson and Mr. Hill are very apt to held at Allentown. A resolution to increase the per cap-ita tax from ten to fifteen cents was de-Mr. Levy when they spent a night un-der the Jefferson roof. Mr. Levy is a man of leisure and will doubtless obtain the coveted seat in Congress from New York city at some future day. He does not spend very much time at Monticel-lo, and bought the estate to prevent it from going to peices altogether. It seems strange that none of the Virginia chieftons-Washington, Jefferson, Madison or Monroe left descendants who could worthily bear their name, as old John Adams did.

-The "gospel wagons" which are being introduced as a religious novelty in Philadelphia have long been used abroad and are familiar in the West. The idea back of them is that as Sunday amusements and attractions that draw from the churches increased new methods must be adopted by those who are interested in Christian work. In Chicago gospel wagons on Sunday nights are stationed near the theatres and other frequented places, and, after hymns are sung and a short address, the crowd is marshalled, and, headed by the wagon goes to the Christian Association building, where a large meeting is held.

While in Chicago, Mr. Charles L. Kahler, a prominent shoe merchant of Des Moines, Iowa, had quite a serious time of it. He took such a severe cold that he could hardly talk or navigate, but the prompt use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy cured him of his cold so quickly that others at the hotel who had bad colds followed his example and half a dozen persons ordered it from the nearest drug store. They were profuse in their thanks to Mr. Bahler for telling them how to cure a bad cold so quickly. For sale by F. P. Green.

We extend a most cordial invitation to our patrons and the public, in general, to witness one of the GRANDEST DISPLAY OF Light and Heavy Harness ever put on the Bellefonte market, which will be made in the large room, formerly occupied by Harper Bros, on Spring street. It has been added to my factory and will be used exclu-sively for the sale of harness, being the first exclusive salesroom ever used in this town, as heretofore the custom has been to sell goods in the room in which they were made. This elegant room has been refitted and furnished with glass cases in which the harness can be nicely displayed and still kept away from heat and dust, the enemies of long wear in leather. Our factory new occupies a room 16x74 feet and the store 20x60 added makes it the largest establishment of its kind outside of Philadelphia and Pittsburg.

of Philadelphia and Pittsburg. We are prepared to offer better bargains in the future than we have done in the past and we want everyone to see our goods and get prices for when you do this, out of self defense you will buy. Our profits are not large, but by selling lote of goods we can afford to live in Bellefonte. We are not indulging in idle philanthropy. It is purely business. We are not making much, but trade is growing and that is what we are interested in now. Profits will take care of themselves. When other houses discharged their work-men during the winter they were all put to work in my factory, nevertheless the big (f) houses of this city and county would smile if we compared ourselves to them, but we do not mean to be so odious, except to venture the as-section that none of them can say, as we can say "NO ONE OWES US A CENT THAT WE CAN'T GET." This is the whole story.

-Radical changes of food sometimes cause cows to shrink in yield of milk. When the food is green, and the cows not difficult if the use of dry food commences before the green food is gone. The pasture should not be relied upon at this season.

-It is the labor that costs on a farm and it requires just as much labor to keep a poor cow as it does to attend to a good one, but the good cow may produce twice as much as the other, and therefore reduce the cost of the labor one-half. Thousands of farmers save as much as possible in the food and waste labor and time in providing for animals that never do more than pay for their cost.
