

Bad For the Tigers. This is an unfortunate year for tigers. The most celebrated animal of that kind in this country has its lair in New York city where for many years it was the undisputed master of the municipal jungle.

Another instance of misfortune befalling the tiger family occurred at Trenton last Saturday. The animal in this case was the one that has its lair in the collegiate jungles of Princeton, and had long been in the habit of committing its devastations on foot-ball grounds, where its frightful howls were often heard triumphing over the victims of its ferocity.

A Commercial Revival. The launching of the great merchant steamer St. Louis at Philadelphia last Monday was a timely performance, as it occurred at the beginning of a period when the ocean commerce of the world will be opened to the United States by Democratic reform in the tariff policy of the country.

American shipping has been almost obliterated by high tariffs. The American flag at the mast heads of American ships has been tarified off the ocean. But since commercial intercourse with other countries has been relieved from the ultra restriction of a Republican tariff, there is use for such ships as the St. Louis. Many more of the same kind will be built and will find employment in restoring the activity of American commerce that existed when the Democratic revenue tariff of 1846 whitened the ocean with the sails of a commercial marine which rivaled that of England.

When it Comes It Will Be Democratic Property. We sympathize most earnestly with the poor deluded workman who voted the Republican ticket on the 6th, in the expectation of getting steady work at living wages at once. He'll stand round shivering in the cold many a day before the promise that was given him is fulfilled; and when the opportunity to earn an honest and decent living comes to him, it will come despite the predictions and lying of republican calamity howlers, under and because of a Democratic tariff bill.

Supreme Court Affirms the Lower Court's Decision in the Gallitzin Case.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 13.—In the case of John Hysong et al. vs. the school directors of Gallitzin borough et al. better known as the "Gallitzin school case," the Supreme Court to-day affirmed the decision of the lower court, Justice Dean, in delivering the majority opinion says in part: "This bill was filed to restrain the School Directors of Gallitzin borough from permitting sectarian teaching in the common schools of the borough, and from employing as teachers sisters or members of the order of St. Joseph, a religious society of the Roman Catholic church."

In the six years of existence of our present school system this is the first time the court has been asked to decide; as a matter of law that it is sectarian teaching for a devout woman to appear in a schoolroom in new dress peculiar to religious organization of a Christian church. We decline to do so; the law does not say so. After a most careful consideration we see nothing of merit in any of the assignments of error. The decree is affirmed and appeal dismissed at the cost of appellants. Justice Williams handed down the minority dissenting opinion.

From the Mechanicsburg Free Press. Pennsylvania should lose no time in erecting a monument to the memory of Andrew Gregg Curtin, and in this movement the whole nation may properly join.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS.

Two farmers institutes have been scheduled for Centre county thus far. One will be held at Port Matilda, Tuesday and Wednesday, Dec. 4th and 5th. The other will be held at Millheim on the 6th and 7th of December.

Charles G. Garner, of Tyrone, is a candidate for a position as messenger in the executive department at Harrisburg. If honesty is any recommendation Charley ought to have no trouble in getting a job under Governor Hastings. He is a graduate of the Bellefonte High school too and hence is qualified for most any position he might ask for.

AN OPPORTUNITY.—There are many young men on farms in this community who have considerable leisure this winter which could be employed to the advantage of themselves and the community by learning all they can about the application of science to farming and to learn what is the best practice elsewhere. This winter courses in Agriculture, Horticulture, Dairying, Veterinary Science or Creamery Management offered by the Pennsylvania State College, located at State College, Centre county, or by a systematic course of home reading in Agriculture under the direction of the College. It will pay any young man intending to remain on the farm to look into this matter at once by writing to Professor H. J. Waters for illustrated pamphlets.

Thos. C. Bitner, a son of post master Bitner, of Flemington, died of typhoid fever on Tuesday morning. Deceased was 25 years old and unmarried.

The talk of continuing the Bellefonte Central rail road through Stone valley to Huntington is only talk. The officers of the road entertain no notion of such a project. They say it would cost a million dollars to either go over or under the Tussey mountains at Pine Grove.

FOSTER'S PREDICTIONS.—My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm wave to cross the continent from the 11th to the 15th, and the next will reach the Pacific coast about the 16th, cross the western mountains by close of the 17th, the great central valleys from 18th to 20th and the eastern states about the 21st. Very warm and dry weather will precede, and not much rain may be expected to accompany, and a fall of fifteen to thirty degrees will follow this disturbance.

Mrs. Eliza Markel, formerly wife of Joseph McAfee, of Buffalo Run, died Nov. 7th at the home of her son Emory McAfee, in Stormstown, in her eightieth year. She was a devoted mother, a kind neighbor ever ready to lend a helping hand, and especially at the bed of affliction was she ready to administer all the aid possible for her to give. She was a member of the Methodist church some fifty years and was laid to rest in the cemetery at Halfmoon.

While out hunting deer on Sunday E. Daugherty and Pat. Dillon, of Cross Forks, Potter county, had a fatal lesson of their scierlegious work. The former, having sighted a deer, shot at it, breaking its leg. He then called his companion to come to him and Dillon hurried to the place, but in his excitement he stumbled an fall the load from his gun entering Daugherty's back. He lingered a few hours and died. A wife and three small children mourn his sad death.

A chrysanthemum wedding at Howard, last Thursday afternoon, set the society element of that place agog over its beauty. The nuptials of Elmer Schenck and Miss Tillie White, two well known young folks of that place, occasioned it. Ray Allison and Willie Hensly preceded the bridal party up the aisle of the church with ribbons then came Nettie House, a charming little flower girl. H. G. Pine Grove Mention

G. W. Ketchline one of our progressive farmers, who has been confined to his bed for the past month with inflammatory rheumatism is some what better.

We democrats prefer to talk about the weather rather than the majorities of the last election—although our vote in the E. P. was only nine votes short of Cleverlands two years ago, and every true loyal democrat has reason to be proud that Ferguson can still be counted among the solid democratic districts. Even if the opposition did resort to desperate methods and the kickers were many.

Last Saturday evening, the young people of Pine Hall and vicinity organized a Young People's Literary and Musical circle and elected the following officers, Pres. Wm. H. Kanarr; Vice Pres., Lizzie Fye; Secy., W. E. Stover; Executive Committee, Minnie Tyson, Lizzie Corl and O. H. Root, while Mr. Wm. Fye is to render a strict account of the cash received, with these able officers and many energetic and capable members the circle promises to be a factor for good in the community.

After a number of postponements, the reopening of the newly refitted Lutheran church at Pine Hall took place last Sunday in the presence of an immense congregation. The church has been re-seated with comfortable patent swivel chairs which are a decided improvement over the old time benches. The pulpit fittings are new and the ceiling and walls have been richly papered and a handsome new carpet covers the floor and the entire furnishing shows the good taste of the committee, who had the work in charge. The exterior was not changed only freshened and brightened with several coats of white paint. Rev. Aronfelt of Altoona preached the sermon and made an earnest appeal for the necessary funds which were promptly raised with some to spare causing everybody to feel happy.

FUNERAL OF S. F. ISHLER.—On the morning of the 5th, our life long friend Samuel Frederick Ishler, died at his home in Harris Twp., after a long and at times agonizing illness. Three days before he fell asleep he called his family to his bedside and tenderly kissing each one bade them prepare for the great journey which he was so soon to take, and which he entered upon submissively and hopefully, for had he not delighted in the service of the Master.

He was born in Boalsburg, Oct. 2nd 1837, where he spent his boyhood days working as a farm hand and assisting his widowed mother to keep the wolf from the door. April 14th, 1854 he was married to Susan Hoy, who with six devoted children five sons and one daughter, his brothers Em. Ishler of Altoona; John of Bellefonte Twp.; and ex-Sheriff Ishler of Bellefonte, survive him. The sympathy of neighbors and friends are with them in their time of bereavement and may the God of all fraternalties comfort and protect them.

Mr. Ishler was a genial and companionable man and had a friend wherever he had an acquaintance. Most generous and kind he had few equals as a neighbor, and on the day of the funeral we heard on every hand "Sam will be missed not only in his hospitable home on the hill but in the whole community." Always ready to advance and support public benefactions he was loved and revered accordingly as immense concourse at his funeral.

Over one hundred conveyances were in line from the house to the Reformed church at Boalsburg, where the services were held. His four sons carried in the casket and placed it in front of the pulpit which was covered with floral emblems from the Sabbath school of which he was a zealous member, besides being an elder in the church, leader of the choir; Past Master of Oak Hill P. O. H. and a P. G. of Boalsburg Lodge I. O. O. F. Rev. A. H. Black delivered a touching sermon from "Arise and depart this is not your rest," after which Rev. Noll, of Bellefonte, paid a glowing tribute to the deceased and urged each and every one present to consecrate themselves to the Master before it was too late. Hundreds looked on the face of the quiet sleeper and while his comrades stood at parade rest he was carried between the open ranks to the silent city of the dead where he was laid to wait the final judgment. The services at the grave were under the direction of the Odd Fellows with W. F. Weber and Rev. Noll officiating. The funeral was one of the largest and most impressive ever seen in Boalsburg. Members of Patrons of Husbandry, Odd Fellows from State College, Lemont, Centre Hall, Pine Grove Mills and Boalsburg, friends and associates gathered to pay tribute to one who was loved and respected for his noble upright life and his helpful happy disposition. The family desire to extend their heart felt thanks for the assistance rendered by kind friends and neighbors during Mr. Ishler's sickness and death.

Books, Magazines Etc.

MARK TWAIN'S NEW BOOK.—Mark Twain's most popular and successful books have been sold by subscription and the American Fishing Company of Hartford, Conn., announce for early publication his new book "The Tragedy of Pudd'nhead Wilson and the Comedy Those Extraordinary Twins." The Tragedy and Comedy were at first a dual story—two stories in one—and the author's account as given in the preface, of the difficulty he had in writing the book, of the incompatibility of some of the characters and of his having finally separated them by pulling one of the stories out by the roots and leaving the other a kind of literary Caesarean operation, is certainly one of the most original, breeziest and cleverest chapters—choice fun—that has been written for many a day. We are told, that "There is a time to laugh" and "The Churchman says," "The reader will begin to smile at the very first paragraph."

The book will be sold only by subscription and as it possesses, in a pronounced degree the remarkable characteristics of the author's best works it is sure to have a large sale. Each page will be beautifully illustrated with marginal sketches, the work of one of our best artists, and the publishers have wisely decided to sell the volume at a popular price—bringing it within the reach of all.

J. W. Keeler & Co., of Philadelphia, Pa. have the exclusive right of sale in the states of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland and their advertisement for agents appears in another column. All applications for agencies in their field should be sent direct to them.

The hearty reception extended the Funk & Wagnall Standard Dictionary by the literary public in England is one of the literary surprises of the past year. The eminent English novelist, A. Conan Doyle, now lecturing in this country, recently wrote from London, to the publishers, as follows: London, 12 Tennyson Road, South Norwood. Gentlemen:—I wrote once before to commend your dictionary, but I feel bound to do so again after a longer experience with it. It has become quite a joke with us that we can not trip it up. We have several times been within that word, but have always failed. Within the last week I have had occasion to turn it up for "gyp," "coffin," and "coehring," always successfully. It is the second volume purchasable. Yours faithfully, A. CONAN DOYLE, August 20, 1894.

Hon. Justin McCarthy, the historian, and member of the House of Commons, London, England, recently wrote: "I refer to [the Standard Dictionary] every day—never once without feeling that it has given me a helping hand in my studies and in my writings. I regard it as a monument work—a work, thus far, perfect of its kind, and for its purpose destined to be a conclusive authority to the English-speaking peoples, and to other peoples as well, for many a generation."
