

Pine Grove Mention

To all a happy Christmas greeting.

Last week Mr. Geo. Lutz moved onto the D. W. Shively farm now owned by Dr. Bates.

John K. From and wife of Tusseyville, Sunday with Jas. Gates, who is in poor health from pulmonary trouble.

Hon. D. L. Krebs and wife were in town the fore part of the week, visiting his aged mother and his brother Levi.

Paul Fortney came over from State College on Sunday morning to attend services and enjoy a good square meal at his uncle Jim's home.

The venerable Jacob Markle is suffering from an attack of paralysis. Only his tongue and his face are affected and under Dr. Wood's care the old gentleman is improving.

Mrs. Elizabeth Musser, widow of the late Wm. Musser, is confined to bed with a complication of diseases. Her medical attendant says no immediate danger need be anticipated.

Jacob Bortorfone of College township's successful farmers accompanied by his excellent wife tarried with Mrs. F. F. Bortorff who has been ill with bronchitis and a general breaking down of the system.

This week J. C. Gates laid aside his agricultural duties, brushed the hay seeds out of his hair and moved into the E. E. Young property on Main St. To Mr. Gates and his frau we extend a cordial welcome.

The portly form of that whole souled fellow, ex Recorder Harter, was seen on our streets in the early part of the last week, with his wife, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Meek and P. W. Burkett and wife he was visiting grandmother Glenn, who is remarkably well for one of her age, nearly ninety-four.

During the hunting season recently closed there were many deer killed. The Moteo gang keeping the belt. Peter Corl although known as an expert hunter came in on the heels of the hunt with a fine buck, while J. D. Tanyer, a prominent nimrod, has to be content with a pair of gobbler.

The State College band will be here during the holidays and will give an entertainment in the Reading Hall. This band is one of the best in the county and is deserving of patronage. Times are hard but everybody can help just a little and thus show the members that we are in touch with them. Enjoy good music when you have the opportunity.

This week J. Fred Meyers returned to the Jefferson Hospital to have an eye inserted. Mr. Meyers was accompanied by his wife who will no doubt return with a stunning city made bonnet. Word has been received from the same institution that G. W. McWilliams was obliged to have his eye out instead of having it treated as he expected, and that he stood the operation much better than was expected.

This week our musicians are busy training for the holiday entertainments in the several churches. On Christmas evening the Presbyterian Sunday school will give an entertainment of select readings and recitations by the scholars which will be followed by a treat of candy, nuts and oranges. On the same evening our Lutheran neighbors will dispense their gifts from the branches of a large tree in the church. While our M. E. friends will be content with a treat for the children later in the week.

On the evening of the 13th inst. Mr. George Burchfield, of Altoona, and Miss Cora J. McClellan, of Tusseyville, with their attendants, J. T. Detweiler and Miss Sarah McClellan armed with the required court papers, presented themselves at the Lutheran parsonage at this place and were made man and wife by the Rev. C. T. Aikens. After the marriage ceremony the party drove to Shingletown to the mansion home of John Jacobs where they were served with a royal dinner.

And still the wedding bells ring on. Mr. David Rider and his sweetheart, Laura Gates, drove in from Gatesburg on Thursday the 20th, and were joined in the holy bonds of matrimony by the Rev. C. T. Aikens. Mr. Rider is one of our sturdy farmers and can congratulate himself for securing for a helpmate this graceful lady who will do her part in making his home happy and comfortable. The happy couple will go to housekeeping in the Spring on the old Christopher Gates farm, which the groom recently purchased.

At a meeting in the Lutheran church of the Pennsylvan Lodge No. 276 I. O. F. on Friday evening the 14th, Rev. Miles O. Noll delivered a most excellent address based on "Love thy Neighbor as thyself." In well chosen language he traced the order from the small beginning on the banks of the Chesapeake nearly a quarter of a century ago to its present gigantic proportions, its aims and achievements and lastly urged the audience to be honorable citizens and faithful brothers. After the services the members and their guests assembled in the Lodge room where they spent the remainder of the evening socially.

At noon on Monday the 17th, at the comfortable and happy home of E. C. Fye his daughter Miss Armethea E. and Mr. J. Laird Holmes were married by the Rev. C. T. Aikens. To Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Minnie Tyson, Miss Lizzie Fye and Mr. J. C. Holmes followed by the bride and groom marched into the beautifully decorated parlors where the ceremony was performed. After the benediction and congratulations an elegant breakfast was served to the many assembled guests. Many beautiful presents were received, and before the bride and groom started on their wedding trip they extended a cordial invitation to all the guests to visit them at the State College, where the groom is in business.

Marriage.

KARSFETTER—ZEBBY—Dec. 13th, 1891, by Rev. James H. McGarrath, in the Bellefonte M. E. parsonage, Alfred Karsfetter and Emma Zebby, of Lock Haven.

Another Indian Outbreak Feared

PINE RIDGE, S. D., Dec. 16.—The Indians on the reservation are getting restless and the settlers are fearful of another outbreak. The Sioux have never been peaceful since the Pine Ridge incident. It is believed extreme measures will be necessary to prevent trouble this winter.

—Just received a big lot of men's and boys' yacht caps at 20c. Actual value 50c. Lyon & Co.
