THINGS ABOUT TOWN & COUNTY

—Last Saturday was the end of the deer shooting season for 1894.

—More than thirty prisoners are now confined in the county jail.

—A special song service will be held in the Presbyterian church next Sunday evening.

—The church goes delight. The magician Kellar's entertainment at Jarman's next Saturday night.

—Tramps stoned a Bald Eagle valley freight train crew, on Monday, because they were put off the train.

—A Christmas entertainment will be held in the Evangelical church, on Willowbank street, on Monday evening.

—Anything that is salable will be gladly accepted at Temple Court any time next week where the Logan's hold their fair.

—A young son of David Thomas, who lives up Buffalo Run, was kicked in the face by a horse on Sunday and terribly injured.

—If you have anything that you can contribute to the Logan fair next week notify William T. Hillbish. He will either call or send for it.

—Rev. Lewis Robb, of Altoona, preached a trial sermon before the Reformed congregation of this place last Sunday. A successor to Rev. Miles O. Noll is wanted.

—The Fall session of The Pennsylvania State College closed Wednesday at noon and the streets were filled with students, in the evening, on their road home for the Christmas holidays.

—The Logan ball in the Armory, on New Year's eve will attract a large crowd. Are you going? It will be an excellent opportunity to see the pretty ball room decorated just as it was for the opening last Friday night.

—Harry, the twenty-two month old twin boy of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shearer, of this place, died of castor oil fever, on Monday afternoon, and was buried Wednesday in Mt. Bethel cemetery near Cedar Springs.

—To-morrow evening, Dec. 22nd, memorial services for the late Andrew Gregg Curtin will be held in the Court House in this place. General Beaver has had charge of the arrangements for the Centre county bar association.

—All of the mysteries of legerdemain, the remarkable mind reading and the spiritual visitations that can be seen at Kellar's entertainment at Garman's, next Saturday night, will repay you for going. A remarkable entertainment for everyone.

—A thief entered the premises of Robt. McCalmont at the lime kilns, below town, on Monday night, and when the big shepherd watch dog flew at him he shot it in the head. The ball put the dog's eye out and it will probably die. A reward of $50 is offered for the conviction of the thief.

—Charles Lohr, aged about twenty years, died at the home of his grandfather, William Lohr, in Centre Hall, on Monday. Deceased was an esteemed young man. Funeral services were held yesterday morning at 10 o'clock.

—While John Rossman and his daughter were driving through the streets of Spring Mills, on Tuesday, their spring wagon upset, in turning a corner, and the horses ran away. Mr. Rossman, being tangled up in the lines, was dragged quite a distance and painfully hurt, but his daughter escaped with a few slight bruises.

—Mrs. Rose Sternberg Lyon brought suit for desertion against her husband, Moyer Lyon, of the firm of Lyon & Co., of this place, on Tuesday morning. Defendant gave bail in the sum of $2,000 for his appearance at court. His attorney is W. F. Reeder while Orvis, Bower & Orvis and E. R. Chambers will prosecute the case.

—In the case of Chesta Miller vs. Daniel Garman, tried at the last term of court, at which the jury awarded her $150 for a broken arm sustained by falling on an icy pavement in front of the Garman home, in this place, Judge Archibald, who sat on the case, has reversed the jury's verdict and sets it aside, leaving the county to pay the costs even.

—On Monday morning ice man Amos Garbrick had a Hungarian arrested for carrying off things that did not belong to him. The Huns, who live in the vicinity of the Collins furnace, are reduced to a state of abject distress and have resorted to thieving in order to keep themselves. The arrest of the one was made more for an example to the others than anything else and it is thought now that they will behave themselves.

THE TEACHERS ARE HERE.

—The forty-eighth annual session of the Centre county teachers' institute will conclude its sitting here at noon to-day. The institute opened Monday morning and during the week there have been 257 of the total of 269 teachers present. The sessions have been largely attended by persons interested in school work and much information has been culled from the various talks by those who were inclined to improve the time. It took nearly all of Monday morning to organize the institute and J. Calvin Morris, the enrollment clerk, was kept busy until noon getting the names down right. The officers and committees were announced as follows:

President, C. L. Gramley, County Superintendent; Vice Presidents, Rev. D. M. Wolf, Miss Bella Rankin; Recording Secretary, W. H. Lambert; Enrolling Clerk, J. Calvin Morris. Resolutions: A. C. Thompson, A. R. Rutt, J. F. Garthoff, Jennie Morris, Sarah Bechdol.

Elections: R. U. Bitner, L. H. Yocum, J. L. Holmes.

Memorial Committee: J. O. Harper, H. G. Meese, Clara Lukens.

Auditing Committee: David O. Eiters, H. C. Rothrock, H. A. Dutwiler. Permanent Certificate Committee: J. F. Harrison, W. E. Keen, D. E. Robb, Elias Hancock, Theo. Pletcher.

At the Monday afternoon session Hon. Henry Houck, Dep. State Supt. of Public Instruction, and Dr. A. E. Winship, of Boston, Mass., spoke on general educational topics; the former delivering a lecture on "Bound to Win," in the evening.

Tuesday's evening's session was taken up with talks by Supt. Lose, of the Phillipsburg public schools, whose theme "graduation of common schools" was well handled; Dr. Houck gave a practical talk on how to teach spelling and Dr. Winship then gave an interesting dissertation on "moral school work." The exercises were varied by singing which was led by Prof. Swift. In the afternoon the institute visited State College in a body, a special train over the Bellefonte Central carrying them. They spent the afternoon there pleasantly and returned in the evening in time to listen to Dr. Winship's masterful lecture on "Conversers and Orators" in which he held the questionable ground that conversation is more convincing than oratory.

Wednesday Dr. A. S. Draper, president of the University of Illinois, was added to the corps of instructors and a brighter man has never before addressed a Centre county assemblage of teachers. His talks were treats indeed. During the day he addressed the Directors, who met in the High school building and who were greatly pleased with the plain matter of fact way he talked sense on the public school question. His lecture in the evening on "The Spirit of the Teacher" was equally as able as his talks during the day.

Thursday's and Friday's sessions were characterized by large attendance. Prof. Chas. H. Albert, of the Bloomsburg State Normal school; Hon. Stockton Axson, representing the society for the extension of university teaching; and Dr. S. I. Handy, of Newark, N. J. aided in making the sessions interesting with talks on various matters of interest to the teachers.

During the trip to State College the members of the institute were given an opportunity of seeing the cadets drill, as well as of visiting the various departments of study. To say that they were delighted with their entertainment while at the College is expressing it mildly. Upon their arrival they were received in the pretty chapel, where President Atherton welcomed them. Supt. Gramley responded in behalf of the teachers, after which they divided up into groups and, with a professor in charge of each party, the various departments of the institution were hurriedly visited. Then they reconvened in the chapel, where Gen. Beaver and Prof. Sparks, of the Prep. Department, talked to them on industrial training. To use the words of Dr. Winship, of Boston, who knows the Boston Institute of Technology as well as we know State College, and who visited the latter place for the first time with the teachers on Tuesday: "I am surprised at the magnitude of the place. In a comparison of equipment and general facilities for doing a great work between our Institute and your College the balance of favor would be decidedly with the latter." Such an opinion carries something with it and makes us prouder than ever of the Centre county seat of learning.

The director's meeting was fairly well attended on Wednesday and certainly more instructive than it has been for some time. The institute in general was better, a better list of instructors were in attendance and better entertainment, with better attention, was the result. Though at times the order was very bad and Mr. Gramley's threat to lock the doors having failed to carry—for the simple reason that he had no right to do anything of the sort—people ran in and out as they pleased regardless of the disturbance they raised and the annoyance to speakers.

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENTS.

The following are the names of the various superintendents of this county: William Gibson, 1854-1857. J. I. Bunnell, 1857-1860. Thomas Hallahan, 1860-1866. R. M. Magee, 1866-1875. Henry Meyer, 1875-1881. D. M. Wolf, 1881-1890. *David O. Eiters, 1890-1892. *C. L. Gramley, 1892- *Resigned October 1, 1892. †Appointed to serve unexpired term. Elected 1893.

—The Logan's will hold a fair in Temple Court all of next week. Do what you can to help them along.

—Wise, the Tyrone scenic artist, is exhibiting his great pyrotechnical play "Herculesum," on the island of Cuba.

—The refined entertainment, the wizard Kellar, comes to Garman's as the star attraction of the holiday season. Saturday evening, Dec. 29th.

—A Warriorsmark dude tells his parents that he is "going to watch a deer lick," shoulders his gun and marches off to a neighboring farm house, where he sits by the side of his girl the blessed night.

—Mr. Ernest C. Moore, of Columbia College N. Y., will address the men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Subject: "Slum life in New York City." Every man in Bellefonte should hear this interesting address. All are invited.

—The shovel factory, owned by Charles Metz, at Phillipsburg, was totally destroyed by fire Wednesday morning of last week. The building and contents were estimated to be worth $7,000 on which there is an insurance of $3,000. The fire was of incendiary origin and it is not known whether the plant will be rebuilt or not.

—The Bellefonte school board has passed resolutions commanding the working of the new free text book law. It is claimed that the attendance is larger and more regular and that more progress is made by the scholars. The board claims that many children now attend school, because they have books, who seldom went before and that there is a marked improvement in scholarship. Department is better since the law requires scholars to take good care of their books.

—A lot of drunken negroes got into a fight in a shanty, just off Pine street, on Monday afternoon, and chairs, stoves and rocks went flying through the air in a way calculated to scare the whole neighborhood. Two new coons who had just come to town went to call on a married lady of their acquaintance, whereupon the trio got gloriously full. The lord of the mansion came home and fussed of course. The revelers all piled on him and now he is carrying his head in a sling while the two visitors are in jail.

—The meeting of the public school directors of the county, on Wednesday, attracted quite a number of those interested in educational matters to town. Among the number we noticed Mr. Henry Whiteleather, of Abdera, and Mr. James Carner, of Hubersburg, two gentlemen who believe that it is the duty of a school director to be progressive as well as of the scholars under their control. Both of them were pleased with Dr. Draper's address, but regretted that the crowd made it impossible for them to get into the institute during the afternoon session.

THE ARMORY OPENED IN GRAND STYLE.

—Co. B's new armory, of which the WATCHMAN gave a full description in a recent issue, was opened with a brilliant military reception and ball last Friday night. The elite of the town was there to mingle with the military dignitaries from a distance, who honored the company with their presence. The reception lasted from 8 until 9 o'clock and during that time the half thousand people who filled the vast dance hall spent the time in an exchange of pleasantries and in admiration of the appearance of the place. The decorations were artistic and effective, the prevailing colors being red, white and blue. From every girder or truss of the great roof hung bunting in graceful folds and the stage was a perfect bower of rare plants the delicate perfumes of which pervaded the entire hall.

The patronesses stood at the right as you entered and the guests were presented, by Sergeant James R. Hughes, first to Governor Pattison then to Mrs. D. H. Hastings, Mrs. W. W. Greenland, Mrs. W. Fred Reynolds, Mrs. J. L. Spangler, Mrs. Wm. F. Reber and Mrs. Wilbur F. Reeder and Mrs. E. W. McCaskey who were the patronesses and with whom the following gentlemen received. General D. H. Hastings, Adj. Gen. Walter W. Greenland, Brigadier General John A. Wiley, 2nd Brig., Lt. Colonel W. Fred Reynolds, Governor's staff; Col. Edward Morrell, 3rd Reg. of Philadelphia; and Col. Case, 3rd Reg. Philadelphia.

Promptly at 9 o'clock the grand march was formed and moved down the centre of the hall. A more distinguished looking party of people than the ones who took part in it would be hard to imagine. Adj. Henry Quigley with Miss Merry, a daughter of Hon. Joseph Merry, of Beech Creek, led the march, though Governor Pattison and Mrs. Hastings, who followed, had been accorded that honor. After the figures of the march had been concluded the dance began and old and young together mingled on the floor, while the band kept their movements rhythmic. It was a pretty sight indeed to watch from the galleries. Gallant officers and beautiful women in the joyous whirl of the dance. The former commanding in glittering epaulets, the latter radiant and beautiful in exquisite gowns.

At midnight refreshments were served in the gun room in the basement, where Cedar's deft hands had prepared everything to the taste of the most fastidious. A detail from the company, looking airy in white duck trousers, served the guests in a manner that left no doubt in the minds of strangers to military life, that the order and discipline so often heard of is not mere talk and is an accomplishment at such affairs as well as in soldierly life.

The dance continued until 3 o'clock, when, late as it was, everyone was loath to leave. The evening had been so delightfully spent and the pleasant memories of the affair will be cherished by all who were there.

It was easily the finest dance ever given in this part of the State and the appearance of the place during the grand march was one long to be remembered. There were eighty-four couples in the march, though it included not more than a third of the dancers who were on the floor later.

The Second Brigade band of Pittsburgh, seated on the stage, furnished the music.

By giving such a ball Co. B. 5th Reg. N. G. P. has proclaimed itself the leader in social life of the guard, while maintaining their high position in active duty. Everyone was charmed with the manner in which they managed the affair, and officers and privates alike are to be congratulated. Suffice it to say that we heard many of the distinguished visitors say that they were never more brilliantly entertained in their lives.

The list of strangers and other details of the dance was given in last week's issue of the WATCHMAN.

DRUNKEN NEGROES RIOT ON A TRAIN.

—A party of drunken negroes boarded an evening passenger train at Osceola, on Saturday, to go to Tyrone. They had been engaged in grading a railroad near Osceola, under contractor M. J. McMennamin. A fight was started by a white passenger's resenting a blow from one of the crowd, and car seats were broken, windows smashed and the whole train was in an uproar. Conductor Allison Haupt tried to stop the fight, but was handled very roughly and when the train reached Tyrone he had them all arrested. They were locked up there until Monday morning, when they were brought to this place and given a hearing before justice Linn. He held them all over for court, so the jail is pretty well filled with black birds.

Two of the crowd was released, but before they left town they got whisked up, on account of their freedom, that they got into a fight on Pine street and were soon landed in jail.

Warrants were issued for more of the rioters and every day a few of them are being picked up and brought here to jail.

—Bob Larimer, our old time type, who is just now living a life of idleness in Clearfield, was in town during the latter part of last week visiting his mother and brothers here. His former partner in the grocery business, Mr. Livingston, was with him. They sold out their store in Clearfield some time ago.

—Rev. W. A. Henck formerly pastor of the Methodist church here, arrived in town from his new home in Haddon, on Tuesday afternoon and with Jacob Linn, Rev. Dr. Lester, of Philadelphia, and Rev. Pardo were callers at Gen. Hastings' home. They were interviewing the next Governor concerning the stand he ought to take on the Sabbath observance law. Mr. Henck looked in the best of health.

JOHN HARRIS DEAD.—After an illness that has lasted for years John Harris died at his home, on East Curtin street, early Wednesday morning, at the age of 60 years. Consumption was the cause of his death. At one time he was owner of the Krumrine drug store on south Allegheny street, and after disposing of that business he retired to his farm, below town, where he devoted his time to raising blooded horses.

Deceased was a brother of Mrs. Eliza Bianchard, of Linn street, and of Mrs. Wister Morris, of Overbrook. He is survived by his wife who was a daughter of David Wagner, Dec'd; at one time Bellefonte's leading merchant; Joseph D., of Fort Wayne; Edward G., Charles M., Jennie, George, Anna and May at home. The funeral will take place Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the house.

JAMES SOLT IN THE SHOE BUSINESS.—James Solt, who is so badly crippled as to almost totally incapacitate him, has purchased Michael Burger's cobbler shop, on south Allegheny street, just above the Brant house. He will be in the shop from 7 o'clock in the morning until 10 o'clock at night and will be ready and glad to do repairing neatly and at moderate prices. If you can turn a little work his way, do it, and thus help those in need.
