Reese and Harry Schreyer are going into the grocery business, and a first class dry goods store is booked for Loeb's old room now occupied by Joseph's.

—James K. Barnhart, of north Thomas street, would doubtless be tickled to death if it were not for leaving his wife a widow and that little girl, that came last Friday night, an orphan. Jim's fellow book-keepers at the First National bank are having lots of fun at his expense, but he bears the ordeal bravely and is happy, just like any one else over their first born.

COURT STILL GOING ON.—The sessions of Court have been somewhat fitful this week, just about the time the wheels of justice get to turning properly the court room gets too cold and an adjournment is ordered. The Waple case from Phillipsburg went to the jury last evening, after having been stubbornly fought ever since Monday evening. The cases that have been tried since our last issue are as follows:

Com. vs. John Rishel, surety of the peace and maintenance. Pros. Alice L. Rishel. Continued to April term of court. Judge Archibald, who is presiding this week, ruled on Wednesday sustaining Mrs. Rishel's proceeding for maintenance.

Com. vs. Moyer Lyon. Pros. Rosa Sternberg Lyon, desertion. On motion of Wm. J. Singer, district attorney, H. H. Harshberger was appointed to take testimony and report at next argument court.

Mr. Tressler sued to recover full value of the cow. Mr. Beck held the animal was trespassing and that he was not liable. The directions of the court were against Mr. Beck. The jury found for the plaintiff the value of the cow, $17.50.

Carlin, Esq., and $1,200.48 by Jas. P. Frank; The same was found liable to attachment executions, with a question of law reserved.

The case of Thos. L. Waple vs. the borough of Phillipsburg to recover $20.00 damages for injuries sustained from a fall on a defective board walk in that place to the jury yesterday evening. Judge Archibald's charge was very favorable to the borough's defense. Plaintiff fell through a boardwalk on Sixth street and received a permanent injury to his leg.

COUNCIL IN SESSION.—Council met in its chamber Monday evening, with all members present but two. The work was hustled through in a very short time, owing to the small amount of business to be transacted. None of the committees except the finance had any report to make. This latter reported a balance due the treasurer of $10,675.49. Exonerations for taxes for 1891, were reported to be $964. Council approved the report.

The borough solicitor was instructed to settle the water tax with Spangler and Gephart, for the "brick row," on the same basis as last year. With 50 per cent off. Then Gen. Beaver moved that the borough begin quarrying stone for the purpose of giving poor people employment, provided the work can be done at a cost of fifty cents per cubic yard. The motion carried.

Council then took up the question of Bellefonte's centennial exhibition and formed the following outline for a program: On June 5th, the laying of the corner stone of the Curtin monument. On the 6th, the district firemen's convention. On the 7th, the dedication of the new city hall and the industrial parade. After ordering bills to the amount of $970.14 paid council adjourned.

—Frank Vashka, a Slavish miner was seriously hurt at Ramey, on Friday. He is now in the Cottage hospital at Phillipsburg, with a fractured skull and several broken ribs, the result of having been caught between a loaded car and a pillar at the mouth of the shaft.

—Cosgrove & Grant's comedians in "the Dazzler" are among the finest on the road. It will pay you to see them at Garman's next Tuesday night.

—Master Guy Kress, of Lock Haven, a graduate of the school ship Saratoga, has been appointed a page in the executive department by Governor Hastings.

—Williamsport will celebrate the centennial of Lycoming county, on July 2nd, 3rd and 4th next and an assessment of $25,000 has been laid to defray the expenses.

—That whirling farce comedy "the Dazzler" comes to Garman's next Tuesday night for the second engagement this season. It is a good show and merits a crowded house.

—Rev. S. H. McDonald, of Lewisport, died in that place on Jan. 18th, in the 85th year of his age. Deceased was admitted to the ministry in 1834, by the Presbytery of New Jersey. He was the oldest minister in the Huntingdon Presbytery.

—Rev. Harvey Graeme Furbly, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Tyrone, filled Dr. Laurie's pulpit in the Presbyterian church, in this place, for both morning and evening service on Sunday. He preached to large congregations and the general impression he made was that of a very able young divine.

TAKEN SICK IN THE JURY BOX.—While serving as a juror Will Woodward, of Howard, was taken violently ill and for a while the Court was thrown into a great excitement. He was sitting on the Phillipsburg case, which has been trying ever since Monday evening, and as the court room has been very poorly heated all week he contracted a bad cold. On Wednesday he took some medicine for it and apparently it was an over dose for just before noon yesterday he was seized with a violent fit of vomiting and did not recover for some time. He was excused from the jury as the counsel on both sides agreed to go on with the case with eleven jurors.

WELL PLEASED WITH WHAT THEY SAW.—The House committee on Agriculture spent a day at The Pennsylvania State College last week, looking around the institution on matters of interest to their official duties. They came to Bellefonte on an afternoon train and visited ex-Representative James Schofield in a body. All of the members but one had been in the Legislature with him and were quite delighted to see their jolly colleague again. James showed them the various points of interest in the town and during their stay they left us to understand that they had all been very highly pleased with State College. The institution was an agreeable surprise to a number of the committee and it seemed their general belief that the College ought to have most anything it wanted in an appropriation line.

FOSTER PREDICTS THIS KIND OF WEATHER.—My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm wave to cross the continent from Jan. 1 to Feb. 4 and Feb. 6 to 10. The next will reach the Pacific coast about Feb. 11, cross the western mountain country by close of 12th, the great central valleys from 13th to 15th and the eastern states about the 16th.

This disturbance will be at its greatest force west of the Mississippi river, and the greatest precipitation will occur east of that river. The warm wave will cross the western mountain country about the 11th, the great central valleys about 13th and the eastern states about 15th. The cool wave will cross the western mountain country about the 14th, the great central valleys about 16th and the eastern states about 18th: SPRING DROUGHT.

The spring drought will begin a little later than it did in 1894. All the country east of the meridian 100 and north of the 40th degree of north latitude, also the country east of the Mississippi and north of Tennessee and North Carolina, will experience a drought in April and May. Not every locality in the country will be dry, but a large portion of the country mentioned. In a larger portion of the country east of the Mississippi river and south of the Kentucky and Virginia an excess of rainfall will occur in April and May. Readers must not construe the above to mean that a universal drought will occur in the north and a universal flood in the south. It simply means that a deficiency will occur in the northeast as a whole and an excess in the southeast as a whole. I have not yet determined what will be the rainfall for April and May between the Rockies and parallel 100. That country is in doubt.

The above forecast is not reliable for any one small locality, and it can only serve as an indication as to what the general effect on crops will be from a deficiency northeast and an excess southeast. Farmers and planters can make their own estimates and determine what crops will pay best with what weather conditions in the two spring months. The crop season of 1895 will be one of the most remarkable and uncommon that has occurred for years.

THE PENNSYLVANIA STATE COLLEGE FRESHMEN BANQUET THEMSELVES.—The Freshman class of The Pennsylvania State College has "scored on" the Sophs and while the upper classmen are cursing their luck the undergrads are happy in the thought that their class banquet is a thing of the past and not even a "scrap" marred the pleasure of its consummation.

It has been a custom of the College authorities this season to give each of the classes a sled ride and when it came the Freshmen's turn, last Friday night, there was never a suspicion of such a thing afoot, but those embryo students didn't do a thing but tumble in under the good warm blankets and come down here for their first annual banquet. The Bush House was their destination and when they reached that popular hotel proprietor Daggett and his corps of assistants were ready to receive them, for he had been notified long before and the banquet that was spread in the spacious dining rooms was a master work of culinary skill. Beside each cover laid a beautiful menu embossed in the class colors, a unique red and black "98."

Menu.—Blue Points on Conquille. Green Turtle a L'Anglaise. Broiled Spanish Mackerel. a la Maitre D'Hotel Sauce. Boulettes. Celery Salad. Apollinaris. Turkey, English Stuffing, Cranberry Sauce. Potato Chips. French Peas. Punch Cardinal. Haricots Verts: Chicken Cuit au Cresson. Lettuce. Orange Salad. Fancy Ice. Assorted Cakes. English Dairy Cheese. Edam Cheese. Coffee. Cigarettes.

When the last course had been served and the smoke from the cigars hung curling about the festooned chandeliers Roy Albert MacDonald, as toast master, rapped the class to order and called for responses to the various toasts proposed on the menu. The boys all had something jolly to say and when James Wallace White had put the last touches on his painting of the class' future they left the dining rooms and spent the rest of the night in little groups, scattered through the wide corridors of the hotel, recounting College experiences, singing songs and enjoying themselves in whatever way suited their tastes, for Mr. Daggett had insured them a good time and the house was theirs.

ACCIDENTALLY KILLED HIMSELF.—On Thursday of last week, Scott Beckwith, who lives near the foot of the Alleghenies, on the road from Port Matilda to Phillipsburg, was leading his rifle preparatory to going hunting, when the gun was accidentally discharged, the ball entering his jaw and penetrating the brain. The unfortunate young man lived only an hour after the accident occurred and his death was particularly sad since he leaves a bride of only a few months and an aged mother without husband, son or any apparent means of support. The shooting was witnessed by a little girl who was in the house at the time. Deceased was just 21 years of age and worked at anything he could find to do. An inquest returned the following verdict: Centre County SS.

Jury of inquest taken in the township of Worth, Centre Co., on the 31st day of January, 1895, before Justice Thomas Weston, the following named citizens were summoned to inquire on the part of the Commonwealth when, where and how, and in what manner Scott Beckwith came to his death: S. R. Pringle, S. S. Miles, McClelland Williams, Harry Laird, E. B. Jones and John Daughenbaugh, jurors summoned as afore said, being duly affirmed, do make the following report: That the said Scott Beckwith, on the 31st of January, 1895, and in the county aforesaid, came to his death by accidental discharge of a gun in his own hands and in his own house.

In witness whereof the aforesaid Justice and the aforesaid jurors have to this inquisition put their seals on the day and year first above mentioned. THOMAS WESTON, Justice of Peace. S. R. PRINGLE. S. S. MILES. McCLELLAND WILLIAMS. HARRY LAIRD. E. B. JONES. JOHN DAUGHENBAUGH.

DEATH OF A FORMER CENTRE CO. CITIZEN.—On Friday, Jan. 25, 1895, Henry Hoy, age 66 years, of Mammoth Springs, Arkansas, died at his home. He was the only brother of Hezekiah Hoy, of Benner township, this county, and also a brother of John Rishel, Sr., of Benner township; Mrs. John Houser, of Benner township; Mrs. Samuel Franel, of College township; Mrs. Michael Corman, of Walker township; Mrs. W. C. Miller, of Spring township; and Mrs. Jacob Hartman, of Mt. Carroll, Ill., who died in August, 1892.

In October 1865, he moved from Centre Co., to Mt. Carroll, Ill., and was engaged a number of years in farming. Then he sold his farm, and moved to Newton, Iowa, and a few years later to his late home at Mammoth Springs, Arkansas. For years he was a great sufferer from asthma, but, since he had been a resident of Arkansas, he had never been the victim of a single attack of his old trouble. He leaves a wife and five children, five being dead, all residents of Mammoth Springs. During the month of June, 1893, his nephew, and namesake, H. N. Hoy, of Benner township, paid him a visit.

Barney Zeigler, and Millie Goffinger, both of Phillipsburg.

DISTRICT TEACHER'S INSTITUTE.—The districts of Phillipsburg, South Phillipsburg, Rush, Snow Shoe and Burnside, will hold a district institute in the Phillipsburg High School room, Feb. 22nd and 23d, commencing at 1 P. M. on the 22nd.

The program will include the following exercises, with other work announced later: Class drills in grammar physiology, vocal music, primary geography, color teaching, electricity, inventional geometry, etc.; papers on "penmanship," "elementary science teaching," "habit," etc.; general discussions on the furnishing of the text books by the State. Friday afternoon exercises, literature in the common schools, supplementary work, township, high schools, school libraries, best method of distributing State aid. The burdens of the schools, control of class work by pupils, contests in spelling, pronunciation and rapid arithmetic, and specimen class work by pupils; addresses by prominent educators; and music.

Teachers should go prepared to assist with the music and to take an active part in all the proceedings. Any work they may prepare will be cheerfully placed on the programme.

School directors and all friends of education are cordially invited to be present and take part.

IN JAIL FOR ASSAULT.—On Monday afternoon August Prentis, a woodsman, who had been arrested at Mill Hall last week, after having eluded the officers for several months, was given a hearing in Lock Haven, charged by Miss Perry, a pretty school teacher, with having attempted an assault on her. She told the following story:

"She had been teaching school at Keating and one evening after dismissing her pupils she returned to the school house to get her pocketbook which she had forgotten. After she entered the building Prentis followed, closed the door and locked it. She requested that he open the door, which he refused. He then grabbed her, knocked her down, and when she attempted to rise he knocked her down again, when she made another attempt to rise; the third time he struck her, her head struck something and she became unconscious. When he was striking her she offered Prentis her pocketbook, containing twenty-five dollars, and a gold watch, with the hope that he would desist, but this he refused, with the angry reply that he would kill her if she would not succumb to his lecherous demand."

In default of bail Prentis was sent to jail. His bravado manner at the hearing has led many to believe him guilty.

News Purely Personal.

—Mr. and Mrs. George Brew were Phillipsburg visitors on Friday.

—Mrs. Frank Lukenbach, of Phillipsburg, spent Sunday at her old home in this place.

—Hon. John T. McCormick was in town part of the week serving the county as juror.

—Miss Mable Gramley, daughter of ex-County Treasurer Gramley, of this place, is visiting friends in Rebersburg.

—Mr. A. A. Pletcher, of Nittany, has been in town during the week acting as a juror at court. He has had a hard job of it, as he was unlucky enough as to get on that long drawn out Phillipsburg case.

—Mrs. Beaver, widow of Peter Beaver, the public spirited benefactor of Danville and Lewisburg—and indeed any worthy cause that was presented to him, is in town visiting at Mr. James Potter's.

—Mrs. Mary Nolan and her charming daughter Estelle came up from their home at Atlantic City, N. J. on Wednesday, and are visiting Mrs. Davidson, Mrs. Nolan's mother, on south Thomas street.

—Mrs. Henry Gentzel and her daughter Mame, who have been visitors at the home of Robert Gentzel, for the last two months, left yesterday for Spring Mills, where they will stay for some time before returning to their home in Adams county.

—Silvester Mignot, who is in from Frenchville for a months visit to his relatives in and about town, came in to see us Wednesday and made us twice thankful—first for the almighty dollar and second that we don't live in Clearfield Co., for he says it is colder there than here.

—Col. W. R. Teller is up from Blue Field W. Va. on a short visit to his wife, who has been most of the winter with her daughter Mrs. John M. Dale, of this place. He didn't say anything about our weather when he arrived, but we rather imagine he thought considerable.

—Trin Spear, the youngest son of Mr. W. T. Spear, of west High street, is home for a two week's visit to his parents after an absence of eight years. He is engaged in electrical work for the Thompson Houston Co. and has lately been putting up plants in Louisiana.

—Wm. C. Patterson, Sup't. of The Pennsylvania State College Experiment Station farm has been trying (?) to get on a jury all week, but with the exception of a little sitting on Monday his attempts have failed. Then the court didn't seem to have much faith in the ability of that jury to decide the matter in question, for it made a verdict without the jury.

THE WEEK IN TRADE.—In summing up last week's business record Dunn's Review put the situation as follows:

"Things look better near the close this week, because it is believed that a new loan will be negotiated. There was need for relief, since January closed with the heaviest exports of gold ever made in any month, and the heaviest withdrawals of gold from the Treasury, $43,368,108, the hope of a new loan being the one thing which has lifted prices during the past few days. January leaves behind it the lowest average of prices for all commodities ever known; for cotton, iron and its products, wool and silver, the lowest monthly average ever known; and for wheat a range above the minimum, but yet declining rapidly toward that point. Industrial operations have not materially diminished, though it has been a disappointing month because the general revival expected has not come."

RENOVO'S BIG FIRES.—On Saturday night fire broke out in George J. Koser's drug store in Renovo, just as the place was being closed. In attempting to blow out a Rochester lamp the fire was blown down into the oil and an explosion occurred. The building and its contents were burned. The store loss is estimated at $35,000 while all of the owner's household effects were burned also, as he lived above his store. Insurance on all $13,000.

Between 9 and 10 o'clock Sunday morning a defective fuse set fire to banker James Murphy's handsome dwelling in Renovo, and it was completely gutted. Loss $5,000.

—Lyon & Co's., mammoth store in this place is crowded every day with people who are wise enough to take advantage of the great sacrifice sale now advertised by that firm.

ASSISTANT ADJUTANT GENERAL REEDER.—It is with pleasure that we announce the appointment of Wilbur F. Reeder Esq., of this place, former law partner of Governor Hastings and ex-Republican County Chairman, to be Assistant Adj. General of the National Guard with rank as a Lieutenant Colonel. Mr. Reeder's position is wholly an honorary one and we know of none more deserving nor of any who could bear the honor with better grace. He is to be congratulated on this unsolicited recognition of his services to his party.

—There is a great opportunity for you to make a nice saving in your purchases. Read Lyon & Co's., advertisement and see the inducements they offer you.
