Raising Pecans in Texas.

A Profitable Industry Suited to the Arid Regions of That State.

After a careful investigation in 1886, says a writer in the Irrigation Age, I bought land for pecan culture on Pecan Bayou, in Texas, where I found the tree growing in its native state. I now have an orchard of 11,000 trees on my 400 acres that are from one to six years old. As nut culture is attracting attention in the arid region, and the pecan should thrive wherever the English walnut does, my experience may be of interest.

The pecan tree is valuable for its timber as well as for its nuts. Ax and hoe handles, gun stocks, furniture, and various other useful articles are made from the wood. The nut, besides being used as a dessert, is made into cakes and candies, and its oil brings the highest price in the market for clockmakers, gunsmiths, etc. The tree is of slow growth and long-lived; one on my place is over 100 years old in its wild state. The tree grows to the height of eighty or more feet, and its home is in the rich alluvial valleys, and will not succeed where the soil is not rich and deep.

There are two distinct varieties, known as the soft and hard shell. The best among the soft-shell varieties are known as the Swinden and Stuart. The wild varieties are hard shelled.

I have nearly 11,000 trees on my 400 acres, planted forty feet apart each way. As there is no enterprise but has its drawbacks, I must say I had them to begin with the first thing being the wood loose or ant, which attacked the yellow pine stake placed by every nut. They then went from the stake to the tree, and thus killed the young stem; but this was obviated by cypress boxes, eighteen inches high, tarred at the bottom, which also served the purpose of protecting the young tree from the depredations of the rabbits and other rodents which did me considerable damage. Squirrels will unearth the nuts when planted, and rabbits will gnaw the bark and cut off the tender sprouts.

The tree will come into bearing in eight or ten years. A tree at that age will produce one bushel or forty-two pounds which sell readily at $5. At fifteen to twenty years the yield will be ten bushels or more to the tree. I have seen trees produce as high as forty bushels, and I have paid $150 for the product of one tree. Thus we can readily draw the conclusion that the profits of the pecan will soon rival that of the famous Florida and California orange groves. The price of pecans varies with quality and size. The small wild ones are sometimes less than $2, while the extra large ones are in demand at as high as $8. There is no fear of glutting the market with these extra sizes, as few are willing to wait till they come into bearing. There is no safer life insurance than a well-established pecan orchard. There are men to-day deriving a good living from a few trees planted by them, and others I know of who are getting from $3000 to $5000 per year from trees planted by their fathers. The land between the trees need not lie idle while the trees are coming into bearing, but can be planted to hoed crops and made to pay. I have netted on an average over $1500 per year for the past six years from my land. I advise no one to plant in localities where there is too much rain, as the pollen is liable to be washed away, and thus keep the tree from fruiting and making fruit.

The New York World should direct its arrows of criticism at congress, not at the president, for the congress of affairs that forced the sale of $2,000,000 bonds at an advanced rate of interest above what the government would have to pay if congress had passed a bond bill. Congress is alone to blame for this waste of the people's money, and the World should have applied its whip to congress, not to the president, who did the only thing that could have prevented another serious panic and brought further discredit upon the government.

Last year the Christian Endeavor societies of the Presbyterian Church in the United States gave to missions $31,497.79. Of this, $18,607.17 was given to home missions and $17,790.32 to foreign missions. The general Endeavor Societies of the Christian Churches in the United States and Canada are requested to send their Christian Endeavor Day anniversary offerings for one of the following objects: (1) For building a church house in Tokio, Japan, or (2) for Franklinton School for Colored People at Franklinton, N. C.

General McCook said the other day, in the course of an address at a meeting of the Indian Rights Association at Denver, that in his 40 years' experience with the Indians he had always found a white man at the bottom of every difficulty. He said that his decisions in cases of trouble between whites and Indians had always been in favor of the Indians.

A robber who broke into a Tucson, Ariz., bank stole all the gold he could carry, but declined to take between $500 and $600 of silver which was within his reach. This is a discrimination in favor of the yellow metal which the silver mine owners and the Populists should resent in some way.

By using the canyons of arid California as storage reservoirs and building dams 200 or 300 feet high Colonel W. H. Hall, of San Francisco, believes it possible to bring 6,500,000 acres of land, now useless, under cultivation.

Now the spring elections are out of the way one must begin straightway to prepare for the November battle. Sometimes we are tempted to think the country would be greatly benefited if the elections were held only once every ten years. But that would not do in a republic.

"Which is my part in this duet?" asked the prima donna of her husband, who was the tenor.

"Your part? Here it is, of course. The one with the last words in it."

Rumsey—Blow de fire, mebber it'll come up.

Dumpsey—Naw, I tried dat once, an' nearly burnt to death.

We can't all be fathers of our country, but that needn't keep us from telling the truth."

WANTED. Give me a girl that I can trust, And to a home I'll lead her, I do not want her for myself, My wife and I both need her.

Birds for Ornaments.

Years ago I had a beautiful fan given me—a fan of white swans—down with a carved ivory handle. In the very center of the fan was a beautiful little yellow bird with its beak wide open. A dear little girl took the fan in her hand, looked at it very pitifully, tears welled up in her sweet brown eyes, and she said, pointing to the open beak, "That was where the last song came through." When you think of the free beautiful life of a bird, consider what wonderful creatures, birds are, how much they know, how much intelligence they devote to the building of their nests and the rearing of their young, how sweet their singing is, how much they do to save our harvest by devouring insects which would otherwise destroy the farmer's crop, you cannot but be sorry that thousands of them are annually killed simply to adorn the bonnets of women and girls. Each of you girls will be a woman before a great many years, and in childhood you might as well begin to take the stand for kindness and pity toward animals which all women should take.

Speaking of dead birds makes me think of living ones. Some of you have birds in cages. It is not cruel to have a little canary-bird in a cage, because for generations these birds have been accustomed to the life of the cage, and many of them would perish if they were set free; but when you have a pet of any kind remember that it will thrive or suffer according as you care for it wisely or neglect its comfort. All little creatures which are under our care need our love. If you undertake to look after any pet see that its home is pleasant, that it has its food and drink at regular times, that its bed is clean, that it has as much liberty as it wants, and, above all, talk to it and assure it of your presence and your pleasure in it. Pets suffer a great deal from loneliness. It is quite pathetic sometimes to see how glad a little dog or cat is when its mistress returns after an absence. The poor little thing has felt desolate while she was gone, and yet did not know how to express its yearning.—Harper's Young People.

Our young people should be taught to use their hands as well as their heads. We want intellectually developed people but the mechanical pursuits must not be neglected. The cunning hand is required as well as the cultured brain. Were more young men taught trades or trained in skilled labor, it would be all the better for them and also for the community than if they were brought up to seek their fortune in literary pursuits and to probably lead a shiftless life in poverty and in mental torture and distress and probably marred with crime.

Every opportunity we omit obscures some pleasure we might have known. A woman who is troubled with nervous headaches and omits to try and cure them by Ramon's Tonic Liver Pills obscures all the pleasure of perfect health. This famous remedy is the greatest specific ever known for the cure of biliousness, sour stomach, and all forms of disorder of the liver, and gently yet effectually. Give it one trial. It costs but 25 cents. C. M. Parrish, your druggist, keeps it. Sample dose free.

"There's a man outside with a roll of writin' paper ten yards long." "Just as I expected. Tell the plumber that I can't possibly pay him until the freeze is over."

That the blood should perform its vital functions, it is absolutely necessary it should not only be pure but rich in life-giving elements. These results are best effected by the use of that well-known standard blood-purifier, Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

SADLY AFFLICTED BOILS AND ERUPTIONS CAUSED BY IMPURE BLOOD. HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA MADE HER WELL, STRONG AND HEALTHY.

"When our little daughter was six months old an eruption of the skin appeared, and shortly large boils came which were filled with watery matter and which caused the child much suffering. She would scratch until the blood would flow, later crusting over. One physician said the cause was teething, and another thought it was scrofula. All treatments, remedies, baths, salves and plasters, were of no avail. Anna grew pale and became weaker, and from day to day

LINGERED AND SUFFERED until she was 4 years old. I was completely discouraged when I happened to notice a cure by Hood's Sarsaparilla of a boy suffering from a complaint similar to that of my child's. I bought one bottle and after giving it to Anna a few days I noticed satisfactory improvement. Before the bottle was entirely used she had greatly changed

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA CURES and after a few weeks the disease had disappeared. The child had a good appetite and became well, and

IS STRONG AND HEALTHY, without any ailment. I am very thankful for the benefit Hood's Sarsaparilla has been to our child and we heartily recommend it." CHARLES SMILER, 156 Antietam Street, Detroit, Mich.

Republican success in New York city has turned out to be something in the nature of a scalp match. The quarrel over the spoils of the vanquished has not been an infrequent means of turning sour all the fruits of victory.

USE IT IN TIME.—Ostarrh starts in the nasal passages, affecting eyes, ears and throat, and is in fact, the great enemy of the mucous membrane. Neglected colds in the head almost invariably precede catarrh, causing an excessive flow of mucus, and if the discharge become interrupted the disagreeable results of catarrh, will follow, such as bad breath, severe pain across forehead and about the eyes, a roaring and buzzing sound in the ears and oftentimes a very offensive discharge. Ely's Cream Balm is the acknowledged cure for these troubles.

A bright little boy of Representative Champ Clark, of Missouri, prayed as follows on the night after his father's election, in November last: "O, Lord," he said in his most fervent accents, "I thank you that papa is in." Then he paused a moment, and added: "O, Lord, please see that papa stays in."

A severe rheumatic pain in the left shoulder had troubled Mr. J. H. Loper, a well known druggist of Des Moines, Iowa, for over six months. At times the pain was so severe that he could not lift anything. With all he could not get rid of it until he applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm. "I only used three applications of it," he says, "and have since been free from all pain." He now recommends it to persons similarly afflicted. It is for sale by F. P. Green.

DISPATCH 10 CENTS A WEEK FOR THE DAILY, INCLUDING THE SUNDAY ISSUE, 15 cts -this is- A Decrease in Price! But not in Quality! -Every Number Contains- Twelve to Twenty-Four Broad, Bright Pages, -with-

ALL OF THE NEWS! ALL OF THE TIME! No paper within hundreds of miles of Pittsburgh has such facilities for the gathering and presentation of intelligence. The Reader is certain of getting everything that is going— from an accurate account of a ward meeting to a graphic description of the latest battle in the Orient—written on the spot.

THE DISPATCH holds that while the life news of the day is of the first importance, features in a lighter vein make an agreeable variety, and to that end arrangements have been made for a SERIES OF SHORT SERIAL STORIES. The list of contributors includes such names as A. Conan Doyle, Harriet Prescott Spofford, Julian Hawthorne, Stanly J. Weyman and a host of others equally noted.

No such value has ever been placed before the people of the three States of which Pittsburgh is the center. Not a household can afford to be without the GREATEST NEWSPAPER between New York and Chicago at the figures named.

10 Cents a week for the daily DISPATCH, including the Sunday Issue, 15 cts. 40-8
