Farm Notes.

early in the season, and gives a supply of greens when other kinds are not ready.

-Those who take prizes on vegetables at the fairs know the value of tertilizers. It is seldom that the expert growers rely on manure, though they do not discard it, but they are liberal users of fertilizers and apply it at the proper time.

-Worms in horses, says a writer, are often caused by hard work, poor food and general neglect. For ordinary cases of worms, common salt, nutritious food and pure water will prove satisfactory. Salt should always be kept in the stalls of horses.

-For many years the value of wool ashes as a portion of the diet of hogs near the Rio Grande, and crossing was unknown, but experiments have shown that when wood ashes are al-lowed with the food the bones are in the Panhandle of Texas. This lowed with the food the bones are strengthened. Ground bone also gave | Texas band is supposed to number onexcellent results when given to them.

-Upon the ordinary farm four cents will pay the cost of growing mutton a pound. Good mutton is made from good food ; ensilage is better than dry food, but a mixed ration is best, as it is for all stock. Sheep need a dry stable, though not necessarily a warm one.

Some plants prefer a moist location, but no crop can be grown on wet land that is at all times cold and undrained. Ditches are necessary, and should be kept open and clean, or the land should be tiled. There is much waste land that could be made serviceable at a small cost for drainage.

The buffalo were tame the early kinds as soon as it can be and paid little attention to travellers done. Kale is a plant that also grows so long as they did not catch their scent, but the buffalo to their leeward would be likely to take the alarm.

There are now practically no wild buffalo left, the last of the large Northern herd having been killed in 1883 on the Dry Fork of the Missouri, though there was another small herd further south that was killed a year or or two later by Indians and whites, on or near the Sioux Reserve. The butfalo now living wild, except for two little bunches, are not the plains form, but the mountain-buffalo, commonly called "bison" by mountain men. There are however, believed to be a few plains buffalo on the head of Dry Fork and Porcupine creeks in Montana, and another little band in Texas, into Mexico. These last are survivors ly thirty or forty, and those in Montana are even fewer. The mountain-buffalo which lives among the timber is of course, more difficult to find, and so more of this form have survived. In the timbered region about Peace River and to the south a few buflalo still exist, though how many no one can know. Men who should be well informed tell me they are few in number, not more than five hundred, though scattered over a vast territory. There is believed to be a little band of a dozen or more buffalo in the Big Hole country in Montana. These were seen a few years ago by a well-known sportsman, and I have heard rumors of them since. Remarkable Cure.

Four years ago, Mrs. Markham, who resides on First Street, corner of North Swan, noticed a sensitive spot on her left limb. It was apparently nothing serious, but soon develoyed into a sore and before long the limb was a mass of ulcers. Mrs. Markham emploped some of our best physicians, but obtained no relief. In fact, was told that nothing could be done for her, so for four years she suffered with these dreadful ulcers, which had eaten their way to the bone.

A little less than a year ago, an ac-quaintance told her about Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, and that he believed she would find relief in using it. Mrs. Markham's four years of suffering had made her skeptical, the more so, as she had obtained no relief from any of the physicians who had attended her.

The friend offered to send her a bottle of Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy if she would try it. He did so, and there was such a decided improvement that she concluded to give the remedy a fair test. To-day, not quite a year after taking the first dose, the ulcers have disappeared, all that is left to show what she has suffered, is a swelling on the ankle of the left limb, which is fast disappearing.

Mrs. Markham is naturally strong in her praises of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, and feels that but for it she would now be a helpless cripple, if
