DON'T BE TOO SURE OF HER.

When you see the sap a-flowin'
From the winter's withered trees,
And an early blossom goin'
On a racket with the breeze;
When you hear a bird a singin'
And the lark is in the loam, It's a joke that they are springin'— Keep your fires up at home.

When a violet is peepin'
With its blue eyes at the sun,
And honeysuckles creepin'
Where the rivers love to run:
When the vines commence their clingin'
And the doves begin to roam,
It's a joke that they are springin'—
Keep your fires up at home.

Canada's Opium Business.

An Industry That Depends Upon the United States for Its Support.

The manufacture of opium is one of the most profitable industries of British Columbia, as it employs some 400 or 500 men in making charcoal, which is used exclusively for cooking purposes, in addition to the cooks and other employees. The Canadian license for the manufacture of opium is $500 a year. The government, in addition to providing employment for a large number of people, and besides bringing into the country a great amount of money from the United States, derives a neat little revenue each year, all at the expense of the United States.

The development and manufacture of opium is an interesting study. The Chinese are the greatest consumers in the world. Next to that race come the Burmese and the inhabitants of the strait of Malacca, the latter consuming opium to the value of £1,000,000 annually. The cultivation of the poppy from which a juice is extracted and subsequently reduced by boiling until it becomes a liquid resembling molasses, when it is termed refined opium, is carried on in many parts of Asia, Persia, Turkey and some parts of China. The chief district is along the Ganges river, India, and embraces an area 600 miles long by 200 miles in width and is divided into two districts, Behar and Benares. The cities of Patna and Gazepore are the principal depots or shipping points, where the factories for making crude opium are situated. The producers are required to sell their product to the Indian government, which in turn supplies the great Chinese import-ing houses. Before the fields of India were developed, opium came from Turkey and Persia and was used for medicinal purposes for the reason that it contained more than 10 per cent of morphia a quality that is too rich for smok-Opium used for the latter purpose contains about 6 per cent.

The method by which opium is manufactured is interesting to observe, although a sickening odor pervades the atmosphere and will cause a novice to become deathly ill. The balls of crude opium are slit open, moistened with water and boiled to a paste. This paste is dried, remoistened and again boiled, after which it is strained. It goes through this process several times, each a rich brown color.

The drug is boiled in large, hemispherical brass pans about 20 inches in diameter. The other utensils consist of a bamboo filter, sprinklers, strainers and pots. When it is properly boiled down, it is sealed up in brass tins containing six ounces each. The factories in China can manufacture a better quality of opium for $2.50 less a pound than the factories on the Pacific coast. A good opium cook in China is paid $10 a month, and at Victoria $40 a month. A day's work consists of refining 21/2 balls of crude opium, each ball making 5 tael cans of prepared opium. For each additional ball refined it is necessary to pay the cook 50 cents.

The evil habit of opium smoking has obtained such power over the Chinese and some classes of white people in the United States that it is a physical impossibility to wholly stop the importalegislation that will check the growth of the habit and at the same time not defraud the government of a revenue that it is justly entitled to receive, and which heretofore has mostly gone into the private purses of the smugglers of the Pacific northwest.

Last Lottery Wiped out.

The Government Has Finally Killed the Louisiana Gambling Enterprise.

The refusal of the United States Postal department and of the express companies to transact business for it has caused the Louisiana Lottery company to suspend business here. When it was driven from New Orleans by the expiration of its charter and the refusal of the Legislature to renew it, the company was nominally re-established at Puerto Corez, Honduras, but its business was really conducted in the town, where i prointed its tickets, set up offices and held its drawings. It is the prevailing opinion now that the last lottery in the United States is completely ended, and that its Tampa building will within a year be sold for a cigar factory.

Our Progress in Astronomy.

In speaking of progress in astronomy, Prosessor J. Norman Lockyer of London says: "I am sorry to say that in this work the center of gravity of the activity has left our country and has gone out west. We have to look to our American consins for a great deal that we want to know in these matters, for the reason that they now not only have the biggest telescopes and most skilled observers, but also they have been wiser than we-they have occupied high points on the earth's surface and thus got rid of the atmospheric difficulties under which we suffer in England and especially in Lon-

Bishop Hardhead—"I can't give you both. Do you want a minister who will visit your homes, romp with the children, joke with the boys, pay com-pliments to the women folks, admire your pigs, praise your cattle, inquire about crops, and on Sundays put you to sleep; or do you want a preacher who will shut himself up with his books, burn the midnight oil, and on Sundays lift your souls with oratorical bursts that would thrill the throngs at a cathe-

Would He Collect.

In a certain interior town Michigan lives a politician who is no-torious for the difficulty he finds in meeting his small obligations. One day a visitor called to see the editor of the local paper and found the "devil" occupying the chair.

"I want to see the editor," remarked

"He ain't in," replied the boy.
"How long has he been out?"
"An hour or so, I guess."

"When will he be back?" "Dunno."

"Have you any idea when?"
"Not much. Just as like as not he von't never git back."

"Why, where has he gone?" "He went around to collect $4 from Mr.—and he said he was goin' to stay by him till he got it."

Drink Buttermilk.

Buttermilk is largely prescribed by physicians for chest and lung difficulties, and an exclusive buttermilk diet, the medical adviser says, has seemed to be a curative for Bright's disease. A continued use will satisfy and sometimes cure the craving for alcoholic liqors and strengthen the system. Buttermilk will often remedy acidity of the stomach and will relieve the oppression about the heart, from which so many old people suffer. It is, in fact, the stimulant for the whole system which old people need.

This shows the esteem in which that remedy is held where it has been sold for years and is well known.
