A CHILD TRAIN WRECKER. - A twelve year old boy, named Preston Watson, who had been in jail here a few days ago awaiting trial for attempted train wrecking was adjudged too young to be amenable to the law and was discharged by the court on Wednesday.

On Monday of last week a west bound freight train on the Beech Creek railroad ran into a rail-road tie that had been placed on the track a short distance west of Gillilandtown, near Snow Shoe. Fortunately the tie was very rotten and the engine cut it in two without being derailed.

Three boys were arrested for putting the obstruction on the track. They are Preston Watson, Robert Cooper and William Shope, all of Snow Shoe, and about twelve years old. The two latter were released after young Watson had confessed himself as the culprit. He gave as his reason for doing it "I wanted to hear the engine screech." The little fellow must have had a very meagre idea of the seriousness of his crime, as he might have been the cause of the loss of many lives through his trying to make "the engine screech."

-Many little social entertainments had already told that the penitential Lenten period was over, but it remained for the Seniors of The Pennsylvania State College to end all doubt as to the length of time the gay set would refrain from dancing. Their spring assembly in the Armory, last Friday night, attracted a large number of strangers to the college. The dance was simply a repetition of the many delightful affairs morning. already given there under Senior patronage and every-one seemed thoroughly charmed with the time they had.

MORRIS MCCAFFERTY PROBABLY LOST HIS LIFE YESTERDAY AFTERNOON-One of the saddest accidents that has occurred in this town for some time was that by which pretty little Morris Mc-Cafferty has probably lost his life.

He is the 8 year old son of James McCafferty, who lives at the glass works, and met withthe accident while hanging on a freight car, just below the C. R. R. of Pa. station in this place, yesterday afternoon.

He had been over at the oil house until the local freight came in with a box car ahead. It stopped just below the station until the passenger train, that was made up on the main track ran out. Morris ran over and was just climbing on to the front of the box car, when the passenger started and at the Mrs. Ray Cameron, of Philipsburg, are same time the freight started to push up to the station. The jolt of starting sisters. knocked the little fellow off. He fell under the car and one wheel cut his left leg nearly off. It was just hanging on when conducter Hoag, of the freight, picked him up, atter both trains had been stopped. He was sent to his home, when Dr. Seibert did all in his power to relieve his suffering. Up to the time of our going to press last night reaction had not set in and it was unable to determine whether he would survive. If he does an
