THINGS ABOUT TOWN & COUNTY

Several circuses are headed this way.

C. C. Loose is moving his saw mill from Rebersburg to Sugar valley.

Communion services will be held in the Jacksonville Presbyterian church on Sunday, May 12th.

A handsome new soda-water fountain has been put in Krumrine's drug store on Allegheny street.

The Pennsylvania railroad company's uniformed employees donned their white caps on Wednesday.

A society of Christian Endeavor was organized at Fillmore last Friday night with George Seibert as president.

Benj. Gentzel is fitting up two acres of woodland on his farm near town which he will use as a deer park.

The Adelpia club of The Pennsylvania State College will give a dance at the University Inn on Friday evening, May 10th.

Hon. A. O. Furst, of this place, will deliver the Memorial day address to the John W. Geary Post, G. A. R. at Phillipsburg.

The Coalport bank has been closed since its president, Samuel Hagerly, died and it is said it will not re-open at all.

The Bellefonte band was out on Monday evening and its good music surprised many who thought the organization about dead.

After an absence of two years in Illinois Frank Rupp has returned to the bedside of his helpless father, George Rupp, of Aaronsburg.

The story about certain changes in the faculty of The Pennsylvania State College that is now going the rounds of the press is untrue.

Phillipsburg seems determined to have a ball team for this season and shows her good sense by contemplating making it a strictly local aggregation.

Tomorrow the curb market will be opened for the summer season in this place. Every one is acquainted with the rules that govern the conduct of the market.

Houserville is having a building boom, there are many busy carpenters up there and the marble yard and carpet factory are both said to be crowded with orders.

J. A. Lukens has been appointed supervising builder of the Phillipsburg electric street rail-way power house and car barns by the architect. The work is expected to be hustled along.

It is said that C. F. York, the Warriorsmark Malena man, is contemplating moving his manufactory to Tyrone or Huntingdon, his business having out-grown Warriorsmark facilities.

Lea's great London circus that was to have exhibited here on Monday May 13th, has decided to show at Milesburg instead. Room could not be procured here at the circus people's prices.

The superstructure of the old red bridge over Spring creek at the foot of Lamb street has been torn away to make room for the building of a new iron bridge. A temporary foot bridge will be built there for passengers.

A horse in a stable owned by John Long, near Spring Mills, became frightened last Friday evening and jumping against the stall pole broke it, hitting old Mr. Long breaking one of his ribs and bruising his face.

The advertisement of Dr. Salm's, specialist, dates for coming visits to Bellefonte appears elsewhere in this issue. If you contemplate consulting him on his next visit it would be well for you to remember that he will be here on May 15th.

The obituary notice of the late John Powers Sr., which appears elsewhere in this issue, was written and compiled by Lee Walker, the 10 year old son of ex-sheriff W. Miles Walker of this place, and a grand-son of the decedent. It is a particularly well written death notice for one so young.

The News tells a most deliberate lie when it says that there is not enough level ground in Bellefonte to accommodate Lee's circus. Barnum and Forpaugh both found enough for their big shows here, so what's the use of lying for the sake of a little wagon show that could pitch its tents in many of the private yards in Bellefonte.

Secretary Cota and ten other pedestrians left this place last Saturday morning for a little walk to Penn cave, thence to Hecla and back to Bellefonte. They covered the distance of thirty miles on foot and all returned here at 6 p. m. in good condition except Christy Smith, whose shoes got so full of feet at Hecla that he had to be shipped home by rail.

TWO BRILLIANT WEDDINGS.—YOUNGS AND MYERS.—The Rochester N. Y. papers say the wedding, last Thursday evening, in the third Presbyterian church in that city, of Miss Grace Myers and Frank A. Youngs was one of beauty and interest. The church, which is the largest in the city, was filled with guests to witness the ceremony at half past seven, which was solemnized by the Rev. Dr. Patton assisted by the Rev. Richard D. Harlan.

The six bridesmaids, three gowned in white morie antique Dresden design, and three in white morie, all wearing pink roses in bonnet effect and all carrying pink roses and maiden hair fern, separated on entering the church and proceeded up the side aisles followed by the ushers. Near the altar they met, and separated three bridesmaids and a like number of ushers standing on each side of the aisle facing the centre. The maid of honor, Miss Mable Myers, dressed in pink crepe and chiffon, and the bride supported by her father entered by the centre aisle passing by the bridesmaids and ushers, who followed after them and met the groom and his best man at the altar.

The bride who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Myers, is well known in this place where she has visited a number of times since the family made this their home. She is a tall, fine looking girl and looked exceedingly well in her gown of heavy white satin, duchess lace and tulle veil. She carried a bouquet of orchids and maiden hair fern.

After the ceremony a reception and supper were given to one hundred and fifty guests at the home of the bride's parents.

WARFIELD AND HARRIS.—No social event this season has created more interest than the marriage, last Tuesday evening, of Miss Emily E. Harris and Frank Warfield, which took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Harris.

Although only friends from a distance and those most intimate with the family had been invited to the ceremony. The house was crowded at half after six when Rev. Dr. Laurie of the Presbyterian church took his place in the reception room, which was beautifully, though not prettily, decorated with Easter lilies, white carnations, smilax and palms. Mary Weaver, the bride's niece, and Elizabeth Gephart, J. W. Gephart's little daughter, with ribbons outlined an aisle for the bridal party, composed of the ushers, John and Edward Harris, brothers of the bride, the groom and his best man, Charles Wilhelm, of Reading, the little flower girl, Mary Swoope of Curwensville, and the bride escorted by her father. The bride, who is a popular and well-known girl, wore a pure white satin gown. The bodice trimmed with real lace and a few sprays of orange blossoms. Her tulle veil was held in place by a diamond ornament, a gift from the groom, and she carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. The flowers and ribbon girls were in white and carried white flowers.

Most of the prominent people of the town attended the reception, which was given directly after the ceremony, and for two hours the rooms were thronged with friends congratulating the young couple, and enjoying the social occasion. Miss Margaret Snowden, of Philadelphia, played the wedding march and Deillo's orchestra furnished the music during the reception. The bride and groom left in a special car on the 9 o'clock train over the Central R. R. of Pennsylvania of which Mr. Warfield is the general freight and passenger agent. On their return they will go to house keeping in their own home on west Linn street. Many valuable and exquisite presents were received.

A GROWING TOWN.—The town of State College holds the same relative relation to The Pennsylvania State College, as the many villas surrounding them do the larger business cities. Year by year this centre of learning is attracting thither hundreds of young men in search of inexpensive education, the better fitting them for the battles of life, while many of the well-to-do farmers, retiring business and professional men are erecting beautiful homes and removing their families there; it accords them all the convenience of the larger towns while it opens to their children golden opportunities for the higher education at a cost within the reach of all. Surrounded by every home comfort and pleasure, this village has more than doubled its population within the past two years and business houses of every branch are springing up, to which has been added a well appointed hardware house conducted by genteel and obliging young men, who will be pleased to serve those who favor them with their patronage. See big advertisement elsewhere.

THE COLEVILLE BAND BALL.—Next Tuesday night the members of the Coleville band will hold their first annual ball in the armory in this place and a good time is assured all those who attend. Everyone who can should go and help the band along. The organization merits its encouragement.

Henry Scholl is remodelling his house in Rebersburg.

Many trout are being caught in Fishing creek and Cedar run.

Mrs. Al. Ewart, of Coburn, has become a patient at the Danville asylum.

J. W. Musser, of Millheim, has made an assignment, naming Dr. John F. Harter assignee.

Ira C. Eddy will move from his present home at Lamar to Williamsport where he will be a superintendent in a furniture factory.

Col. Morrell, Inspector General of the State, will help Major Paterson of the 2nd Brig. inspect Sheridan troop at Tyrone tomorrow.

The hardware store of S. W. Snodgrass, at Millinburg was broken into, early Friday morning, and $100 worth of cutlery stolen.

The Lock Haven normal school base ball club defeated the Bucknell University team by the score of 11 to 10, in Lock Haven, on Saturday.

Tyrone has a fully equipped fire patrol. A parade of the entire department in that place on Saturday celebrated the advent of the patrol paraphernalia.

Last Thursday morning burglars entered the store of Noah Hertzler, at Old Port Royal, Millin county, and stole $50,000 in stocks, bonds and money.

Lowell Meyer, the musician who has had a hand in the singing school business in this county for years, is critically ill owing to an incurable disease in his arm.

A student at the Central State normal school at Lock Haven picked up a seven pound salmon, that had stranded in shallow water along the river there last Saturday.

Will Reitmeyer, of Lewisburg, is instructing the Zion band and Jos. Gferrer is coaching the Bellefonte band. Both organizations are getting ready for the centennial.

Little Mary Stover, a daughter of Luther M. Stover, was badly burned at her home near Aaronsburg last Tuesday. She was making a fire when her clothing caught from the flames.

Jesse Wert was taken to his home in Aaronsburg last Monday with one of his legs broken in two places below the knee. He had been working on the mountains near his home.

Six hams, a shoulder, a lot of dried beef and some sausages were removed from Henry Swartz's smoke house below Millheim on Sunday night. And the worst part of it is that Henry doesn't know who did it.

The bill authorizing the board on public buildings and grounds at Harrisburg to set aside a plot of ground on which the Soldiers Orphans Sixteeners can erect a monument to the late ex-Governor Curtin passed the house finally on Tuesday.

Harry M. Dry, the Tyrone fire works man, who has the contract for making a display here during centennial week, has an excellent reputation as a pyrotechnic manufacturer. He was connected with the display at the Chicago fair.

Miss Tressie Giles, an Irvonia girl who was carrying a loaded revolver that her brother had left lying on a down stairs table to his room on the second floor, tripped and fell, the weapon being discharged and a serious wound inflicted in her body.

Edward Humphrey a conductor of a log train on the Moshannon branch rail-road, was admitted to the Cottage hospital, on Tuesday, with his left arm ground to jelly and his head all battered up. He had run ahead of his train to open a switch, when he fell and was run over.

There are many swindles on their rounds just now. The slickest, they say, are the fellows who sell farmers seed wheat, guaranteed to produce fifty bushels to the acre. They article to take half the first crop in payment, but in some instances the articles have turned over entire farms to them.

STABBING AFFRAY AT MILLHEIM.—While drunk Coburn King, hostler at the Musser house stable in Millheim, got into an altercation with merchant A. Kessler of that place. Hot words brought on blows and King, drawing his knife, stabbed Kessler in the left thigh. Bystanders interfered then and the slasher was put under arrest, given a hearing and committed to jail for court, but while eating supper at the Musser house in the custody of constable Mensch the man made a rush for the door and escaped to the mountains. He is still at large.

Kessler's injury is a flesh wound about an inch deep and two inches long and is not serious.

CENTENNIAL 1795-1895.

Centennial! why certainly lets shove it right along. Memorialize our fathers 'twill cost us but a song. Let us wake from long oblivion glad memories of the day, But don't fail to draw conclusions as we glorify our way.

Let us see if we're advancing to the front or to the rear, Let us see if we're improving, as we plod on year by year. Let us take an inventory and a balance sheet prepare Let us see if we're richer much, and if so, where?

A ship 's a grand old object but, if anchored, never sails, 'The mill that grinds with water that has passed' always fails. Are we anchored fast or moving on prosperity's broad sea Do we grasp an opportunity or wait to see it flee.

Let us strike the bells of memory and listen to the chimes As they chant the names heroic of those men of olden times As they speak of their philanthropy, their push and enterprise And tell of lofty business views not seen through sleepy eyes.

They hewed the rock on which we build or see our structure fall They blazed the path which we must tread or not progress at all Are we building this or otherwise, Let's question, let us see? Are we on that path once prosperous or wandering aimlessly?

Has each man in this city, (as they did in days of yore) His energy, his intellect, e'en money from his store? Engaged in honest effort to broaden an enlarge The boundless gifts which nature puts unstinted in our charge.

If we answer in affirmative these queries straight and plain Lets have our celebration. Whoop her up with might and main! But if, with sharpened pencil, we can't solve the question,—yes, We'd best lay it on the table, or postpone it some—guess. H. C. V.

COURT NEWS FOR THE WEEK.—The work at court this week has been very slow indeed. Up 'til noon yesterday only two cases had been heard. They were:

Samuel Wolfart, of Loganton, Clinton county, Pa., against his brother's wife, Mrs. George Wolfart, of Miles township. Samuel had loaned his brother about $6,000 at various times and took a judgment note, and, in compliance with his brother's request, he never entered the same. Geo. Wolfart became involved and gave his wife a judgment note for money he had borrowed from her. She proceeded upon the same and secured title to her husband's property. Samuel entered his judgment but it was too late to secure anything. He claims this was a fraudulent proceeding. Verdict for the defendant, Mrs. Geo. Wolfart, was returned.

McAlmout & Co. vs. Eve Sharer, of Taylor township. An action to test title to property. McAlmout & Co. held a judgment against Christ Sharer and when an effort was made to sell certain property they supposed to be his, his wife, Eve Sharer, laid claim to the same. This case was given to the jury yesterday at noon. Verdict for Sharer.

The case of J. A. Lukens vs. Owen Jones, both of Phillipsburg was taken up then. Verdict for Lukens.

WILL GO INTO BLAST.—It is almost certain that the Valentine furnace at this place will be put in blast again on next Monday morning and the works will resume full handed in all departments. The fires had been banked for several weeks but the rolling mills and all the banks except Nigh, where repairs are being made, have been running right along. With wheat, oats, cattle, leather and other commodities all rising in price and increases in wages everywhere the good times seem returning for sure.

DICKINSON VS STATE.—This afternoon at 3:15 the Dickinson college base ball team will give the blue and white of State a chance to get even for the defeat the latter suffered at Carlisle on the opening of the season.

Dickinson has been playing very good ball this season and an exciting game will doubtless reward those who go to see it. Play will be called at 3:15 sharp, on Beaver field, at State College. Admission 35 cents.

BASE BALL AT THE COLLEGE.—Tomorrow afternoon the State College Preps will play the Lock Haven Normal school base ball club at the College. A special train will leave here at 1:30 One way fare for round trip. A good game can be looked for.

Next Wednesday the funny Cuban Giants, the jolly colored ball players, will play State's team on Beaver field. It will be a great game, well worth seeing and will be called at 3:30 sharp.

THE LARGEST TROUT OF THE SEASON.—Wilbur Twitmore Jr., caught the boss trout of the season on Wednesday. It is of the brown German species and measured 17 1/2 in. in length and weighed 1 1/2 lbs. He caught it on a sawyer worm just at the rear of the water works in this place. It was on exhibition in Green's aquarium until Mortimer O'Donoghue became its owner.

An Evangelical Sunday school was organized at Coburn last Sunday by Rev. Lohr.

News Purely Personal.

John Weber, of Howard, was in town Tuesday.

Landlord Willis Weaver, of Millheim, was in town on Monday.

John Hamilton, treasurer of The Pennsylvania State College, was in town yesterday.

Will Furst Esq., of Philadelphia, was a visitor at his parents' home here on Saturday.

Mrs. Mose Burnett, with her two cute little girls, left for Syracuse, N. Y. yesterday morning, intending to make an extended visit in that city.

Ex-county Recorder John F. Harter of Millheim, was in town during the fore part of the week looking about his old haunts in the Court House.

Edward Cowdrick left for Niagara Falls on Wednesday. He goes there to work with his brother, Will, who is in the building business there. He expects to move to Niagara later.

C. M. Sellers was in town during the week dressed up so fine that he hardly recognized in his dandified appearance the ruddy farmer who makes his farm near Fillmore pay. He was a juror.

'Tody' Rynder, the great Greenback agitator was an arrival in this place Wednesday from New York where he had been ill. The once Greenback candidate for Governor lives in Erie, Pa., now.

Hon. S. R. Peale came up from Lock Haven yesterday to guide a case through court here, but it was settled and those in attendance did not have the pleasure of listening to the brilliant jurist.

The venerable Michael Grove, of Lemont, was a visitor to this place Wednesday. Though well advanced in years he seems little older than he did a decade since and were it not for the snow white hair one would be led to believe him a far younger man.

Among the guests at the Rankin-Stott wedding last evening were, Mrs. D. H. Hastings and Mrs. R. A. Kinsloe, of Phillipsburg, who are sisters of the groom. Mrs. Hastings came Wednesday while Mrs. Kinsloe and her daughter, Miss Belle, have been in town all week.

Ex-county register John Rupp was in town this week as a juror. He is employed on a new lumber road that is being laid into Laurel run on the Seven mountains. The work is different from keeping county records but Mr. Rupp says he enjoys it more, his health being much improved.

County Superintendent C. L. Gramley was in town a while on Saturday taking a peep at the examination for permanent certificates that was being held in the Y. M. C. A. rooms here. The death of Mr. Gramley's accomplished daughter, Gertrude, several weeks ago, was a sad bereavement for him and Mrs. Gramley.

Harry Rote, who at one time was a typo in this office, but who is now a full fledged jeweler having graduated from the Horological school in Lancaster is home seeing his parents. He expects to locate at Chambersburg and to the good people of that town we can heartily recommend him, for never was a boy more obliging or polite.

Post-master Kennedy and Rev. Heany, of State College, got off a morning train on Tuesday and started up town as close together as if they were twin brothers in pulpit work, but then it was raining very hard and they had but one umbrella between them. Rev. Heany will leave the College circuit on May 1st and the Presbyterian up there have not called a successor yet.

Col. James Milliken came over from New York to be present at the Warfield-Harris wedding. While here he graced our office with a call, trying to make us believe that he has been in poor health for some time. He looks entirely too well to enlist much sympathy, but then it seems to be characteristic of Colonel to look well at all times. He departed yesterday.

Dr. Thomas Tobin, of Stormstown, didn't let Tuesday's rain interfere with a trip to this place to look after a little business that needed his attention. The Halfmoon people are all very sorry that Dr. Tobin contemplates moving to this place. In fact Dr. Thompson, of State College, has bought him out and Dr. Tobin will come to Bellefonte to practice. He has leased the Blair house, No. 11, North Spring street.

On Monday morning we were favored with a short call by our old friend Chas. F. McLaughlin who still retains his residence at Snow Shoe Intersection, though he has been employed at Winhorne, Clearfield Co., for a number of years. He came to Bellefonte very rarely now, but one thing is sure, his visits always adds a little to the editor's exchequer. Mr. McLaughlin was accompanied by his pretty young daughter.

Squire Archey came down from Pine Grove Mills again on Tuesday and went home with a new bridle bit in his pocket. The last time he was out horse back riding the bit on his horse broke and the horse went as if pleased for awhile, it being all the Squire could do to hold onto the animal's ears and keep his legs wrapped around its neck. The spectacle he must have presented in such a predicament must surely have had a funny side.

Among the fishermen who whipped Spring creek all through the rain, on Tuesday morning, we noticed merchant Simon Harper, of Centre Hall. He didn't seem to mind the water that went running down the back of his neck at all until he realized that there weren't many fish in the stream for him. The last we saw of Simon he was shaking himself under the awning at the always interesting end of the Bush House, and had we not known him so well we would surely have concluded, that being wet every place else, he had made up his mind to "wet his whistle" too. He did catch one trout about a foot long.

Dr. H. P. Armsby, Director of the Experiment Station at The Pennsylvania State College, was in town on Tuesday. Dr. Armsby is recognized as authority on cattle feeding both in America and Europe and it has been his judicious directorship that has brought the Experiment Station at State College into such repute with agriculturists, horticulturists and cattle raisers all over the country.

The story that Prof. H. J. Waters has resigned as head of the Department of Agriculture, to accept the directorship of the Missouri Experiment Station, is untrue. While Prof. Waters has been honored by election to the chair of the station at his old home at Columbia, he has not accepted it and won't do so either until he returns there to look over the situation. Prof. Waters is very popular at the College and his loss there would be felt.

AN HONEST BANK PRESIDENT.—The unexpected return home of James E. Long, president of the defunct bank of DuBois, has put quite a new light on the gloomy outlook for the creditors of that institution. He started on a trip abroad shortly before the bank closed its doors and the most natural conclusion was that he knew all about the impending crisis. Mr. Long says now the first he heard of it was on his arrival in Paris and further:

"The assets of the bank, I am told, will come within $40,000 of paying everything. But whatever they lack will be paid, if I have to pay every cent of it myself. If the sum needed is all I have and my wife has to sell her personal effects and jewelry, no man will suffer. On the marble shaft above my father is the legend: 'Here lies an honest man.' I am old and broken in health, but I will begin anew, without a cent, if necessary, to square off the accounts, and without staining that name."

ATTRACTIVE WINDOW DRESSING.—THE WATCHMAN has been telling its readers every week about the special bargain sales at the new Globe store in this place, but notwithstanding these sales are becoming very popular with buyers in this community there is another feature at the Globe that has attracted considerable attention. It is the artistic work of their window dresser.

It is well known that an attractive window is one of the best bids a firm can make for trade and in the face of such knowledge we are not surprised to hear of the increasing popularity of the Globe. Its windows have been artistic creations of real merit and if you appreciate anything like a tasteful exhibit of beautiful things a glance at the Globe window will always please, if the present standard is maintained.

This week a floral May pole charms the eye in the millinery window. It is an original design and certainly a pretty one.

Lyon & Co's, mammoth store in this place is crowded every day with people who are wise enough to take advantage of the great sacrifice sale now advertised by that firm.

WHERE YOU CAN BUY THE CHEAPEST.—It is a question of dollars and cents after all. No matter what people say it is as natural to save a penny in buying as it is to eat dinner at the dinner hour. Opportunities to make great savings are not often to be had, but Lyon & Co's, big advertisement in this issue affords just such a chance. Read it and profit by the bargains it holds out. A dollar saved is a dollar earned.

The ladies will be highly interested in our new department, Ladies' Shirt Waists and Chemisettes. Do not fail to call early as orders given now to the factory cannot be delivered before May 15th to June 1st. We have a good stock on hand now, but it will soon be broken up in size, if the present demand continues. Men's, boys' and children's clothing never so rich in colors and designs and never so low in price. If honest efforts should succeed, we ought to double our business this season. "Mothers Friend" Shirt Waists.
