Familiar Phrases.
Familiar Sayings and the Source from Which They Arose—Expressions Used in the Works of Famous Authors
"To fire out," in the sense of a forcible ejection, is found in Shakespeare, in Sonnet 144.
The words "Emerald Isle," as applied to Ireland, were first used by Dr. Dreanran, in a poem entitled "Erin."
"Cups that cheer, but not inebriate" are first mentioned by Cowper, in the "Task." The allusion is to teacups.
"To put a flea in his ear," to indicate a sharp rebuff, is a proverbial saying, found in all languages having a literature.
"Facts are stubborn things" is an aphorism first enumerated by La Sage in "Gil Blas." It has since become proverbial.
"No flies on him," given as an Americanism, is found in "Don Quixote," where it occurs as one of the sayings of Sancho Panza.
The "Celestial Empire," referring to the domain of China, has a significance in the Chinese legend that the early rulers of that country were all dieties.
The word "flirtation," according to Lord Chesterfield, was manufactured by Lady Frances Shirley, who used it in the exact sense attached to it today.
The expression to "rain cats and dogs," indicating severe shower, is found in Dean Swift. It is supposed to be of proverbial origin, and much older than his time.
"Fiasco" means a bottle or flask. When the Italian glass blowers detected flaws in the vase they were blowing, they made an ordinary bottle of the failure, and hence the name.
"Familiarity breeds contempt," is a proverb found in one form or another in every English and Asiatic language having a literature. Its earliest form is believed to be the Sanskrit.
"To turn the cold shoulder" is probably a very ancient proverb. It first appears in a literary form in Scott's "Antiquary," where it is used with exactly the significance attached to it at present.
"Never less alone than when alone," has been traced from one author to another, and many claims have been made to its first employment. No earlier use can be found of it, however, than by Cicero.
The phrase "almighty dollar" was first used, so far as known, by Washington Irving. It has since passed into general employment to indicate the worship of wealth, both in this country and in England.
To "pile on agony" is popularly supposed to be an Americanism. It is, however, found in one of the letters of Charlotte Bronte, and was used in English popular literature before the beginning of the present century.
She Waved.
It was ten minutes before train-time. "You can't pass through here without a ticket, madam," said the ticket-taker.
"But I want to wave,"
"Can't help it," said the ticket-taker. "Step aside and let the others pass."
The diminutive woman addressed gathered herself together and clutched her companion by the arm as she replied: "I've come here to wave, and I'm going to wave. This is my sister Armita, who has been a'visitin' me for three weeks; and she'd been here longer if she hadn't lost flesh so fast, and I was afraid that if she staid any longer she'd get to be a livin' skeleton; and then she was away from home, and didn't know what might happen to the children while she was gone; so in spite of everything they could do to keep her she just packed up her duds this mornin' and said she must go back home. Don't interrupt me, for I don't know when I will see Armita again, it's so seldom that she can get away from home to visit me; and I can't get away from the city, although I'd like to ever so much, for I've only been here three months, and it's drefful hard gittin' around on the pavements, and I am jest mortally tired to death all the time, what with the noise and excitement and the goings on of my relatives here; but they will have me stay, and Armita would come too if it wasn't for the children; but they are going to school, you know, and take so much care, Jake especially, though he is a good boy, so seldom that he can get away from home. Armita will be glad to get back again, though I must say I want her to stay powerful bad, and—"
"Pass through!" roared the ticket-taker. And as he saw the superintendent of the road in the far corner of the room glancing at him furtively out of the corner of his eye, he added, reflectively, to himself, "What's the use of trying to keep a job like this, anyway?"

A Monument to an Apple.
The Baldwin apple is to have a monument erected to its memory by persons who believe that the tree that first bore that toothsome fruit did more for humanity than many men who have been honored in bronze. It is proposed to erect a shaft in Wilmington, near Boston. The inscription will read:
"This pillar, erected in 1895, by the Rumford Historical association, marks the estate where, in 1793, Samuel Thompson, Esq., while locating the line of Middlesex canal, discovered the first Pecker apple, later named the Baldwin; exact spot, 250 feet west, 10 degrees north."
The apple first received the name Pecker because of the woodpecker that flocked around the tree. Thompson found the Apple to be a new variety, and he and his brother, Abijah, caused many trees to be grafted with its scions. It was through the influence of Col. Laoni Baldwin, the celebrated engineer, that the apple gained a wide celebrity and soon became known as the Baldwin.

The Star Spangled Banner's Author.
Many interesting things about Francis Scott Key—the author of the Star Spangled Banner—are contained in a pamphlet, which may be obtained free from the Key Monument Association of Frederick City, Maryland, by sending one 2 cent stamp for postage. This Association is raising funds for a suitable monument to the poet, and they suggest, that in the schools and every where, upon or before Flag Day (June 14th), this subject be suitably recognized. Contributions, however small, are asked for. Everyone who loves the Flag, ought to have some small share in building this monument. The Governor of Maryland has strongly endorsed the movement. The names of all contributors will be preserved in the crypt of the monument, and published (without amount) in the history of the monument when completed.
The Period of Cleaning.
Many paused before the hand organ and listened to its rude melody.
"There's no place like home," droned the organ.
Tears sprang to the eyes of the man with the dusty hat.
"There's no place like home."
"I hope not," sighed the man, for his thoughts were with the bare, wet floors and a dinner of cold potato on the top of the sewing machine.
—Persons who sympathize with the afflicted will rejoice with D. E. Carr of 1235 Harrison street, Kansas City. He is an old sufferer from inflammatory rheumatism, but has not heretofore been troubled in this climate. Last winter he went up to Wisconsin, and in consequence had another attack. "It came upon me again, very acute and severe," he said. "My joints swell and became inflamed; sore to touch or almost to look at. Upon the urgent request of my mother-in-law I tried Chamberlain's Pain Balm to reduce the swelling and ease the pain, and to my agreeable surprise, it did both. I have used three fifty-cent bottles and believe it to be the finest thing for rheumatism, pains and swellings. For sale by F. P. Green, Druggist.
—The profits of the Standard Oil Company on the oil spurt are estimated at $50,000,000. If the figures are anywhere near correct it made enough in a few days to buy all the competing pipe lines which it was authorized to purchase by the recent act of the Legislature.
A FALSE DIAGNOSIS.—La Grippe is confounded by many persons with a severe attack of catarrh, which in some respects resembles the former. These individuals suffer severely with pain about the forehead, eyes and ears, with soreness in throat and stoppage of the nasal passages, and in fact, are incapacitated for work of any kind for days at a time. These are catarrhal sufferers. Ely's Cream Balm has been used with the best results in such cases. The remedy will give instant relief.

Given Eye Sight and Relieved of Pain After 20 Years Suffering by Dr. Salm.
For over twenty years my eye-lashes have been turning in, and consequently they rubbed on the eye-ball, keeping the same always inflamed and very painful. In order to have a little relief, I had to have the eye-lashes pulled out every few days. As the result of all this, my left eye went totally blind, and the right one was going the same way very rapidly, I put myself under the care of Dr. Salm, and to-day I am happy to state that I am not troubled any more with the lashes, as they grow in their normal direction, and the sight of the right eye has improved to a great extent, I am wonderfully cured.
JACOB EMBERT.
After Having Tried Five Different Doctors and a Wagon-Load of Different Patent Medicines I Grew Worse and Worse, and was at Last Cured by Dr. Salm.
For more than 8 years I was troubled with Dyspepsia and Intestinal indigestion, I suffered untold agonies; only six enough to keep me alive, and toward the last I could not move on my feet any more. During all this time I tried every kind of medicine, but none did me any good. Finally, I went to Dr. Salm at Tyrone. He told me at once what ailed me, and he was correct, for to-day I feel like a new man.

Once More Hale and Healthy.
For more than 5 years I have had a bad eye trouble, etc., miserable case of Dyspepsia, felt generally very bad, became very thin and pale and never had any appetite. But now, after only a few months' treatment with Dr. Salm, I have gained very much in flesh, my Dyspepsia is cured, and my eyes are as well as anyone, and I consider myself, thanks to the good Doctor, once more hale and hearty.

Suffered Untold Agonies for 15 Years—Tried 7 Different Doctors But Grew Worse.
For the last fifteen years I have been suffering very much; I have been treated by seven different doctors. Nearly all of them gave me a different name and gave me medicine accordingly. The result was that I became worse and worse until at last I went to Dr. Salm, who pronounced my disease to be of the eye, kidneys and stomach, and treated me accordingly with the most splendid result. He has done me more good in one month than all the others in fifteen years, and I feel once more like I did fifteen years ago; no feeling of tiredness and fatigue as heretofore, I can do my work and enjoy it; that was an impossibility heretofore.

MRS. NETTIE POORMAN.
Ailed for Twelve Years, and, Though Seven Different Doctors Failed, Dr. Salm Cured Me.
For more than twelve years I suffered tortures with liver, stomach and kidney trouble. Occasionally I had to go to bed for a week at a time, and was unable to work for years; but now, after only a few months' treatment with Dr. Salm, I feel better than I ever did before. I used piles of patent medicines, and had seven different physicians, but gradually grew worse. However, since I put myself under Dr. Salm's treatment I improved gradually, and now can do as good day's work as any one. I can certainly recommend the Doctor to those suffering from chronic diseases of any kind.
